BRIAND MAY RESCUE FRANCE

HOW EX-KAISER HAD FINAL WORD ON HINDENBURG

Freed Candidate from Royal Oath.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, April 11.—The efforts of former Kaiser William to disclaim [illegible] any influence to make Field Marshal von Hindenburg the candidate of the German nationalists for the presidency prove that the former autocrat still nurses the delusion that his word is sufficient to make the world believe that black is white and white is black, according to Republican leaders.

Up until Tuesday the field marshal had not been relieved of his oath of allegiance to the former kaiser, but he was formally released by the exile at [illegible] at 7 o'clock Tuesday night. Gen. von Hindenburg has the mind of a soldier, to whom a word of command [illegible] sacred as an oath. He knew that he would be forced to swear an oath to support the Weimar constitution if he was elected president of the republic and therefore he could not accept the nomination until he was released from his former oath to the kaiser. If he had not obtained this release from the former kaiser he might have been accused of perjury.

Sees Wilhelm's Influence.

Realizing that the world fears a return of the old monarchy and its im[illegible] the [illegible] of Gen. von Hindenburg are trying to [illegible]

[illegible] THE TRIBUNE [illegible] and Capt. von [illegible], assistants of Gen. von Hindenburg, and Count Wesel, when interviewed in the field marshal's home on Tuesday admitted awaiting word from the kaiser. Gen. von Hindenburg himself was sick in bed and could not receive visitors, but a visitor was admitted to the corridor of his room as Baron Altmann was going in and out and he submitted some questions to the general.

The field marshal was asked whether he would swear an oath of allegiance to the German republic.

"Yes, if released from my former oath," he replied.

"Have you written to his majesty?"

"I am awaiting a reply," he answered.

Must Back Constitution.

The field marshal sees ahead of him a task in which he can use the wisdom of his years and perhaps cool off the [illegible] unruly elements. Those who see sinister plotting in the fact that Field Marshal von Hindenburg asked his former war chief to release from his oath, forget the fatherly rôle played by the old man during the last five years. If he is elected he must take the following oath of allegiance to the Weimar constitution:

"I swear to devote my strength to the German nation and to help it in its [illegible]. I will protect and enforce the constitution and the laws of the nation; I will do my duty conscientiously and I will do justice by every [illegible]."

In his Easter appeal to the nation Gen. von Hindenburg clearly outlines his policy and shows that at the same time he believes that the nation is [illegible] him, which is by no means the [illegible].

"[illegible] Germans of all districts [illegible] nominated me to the highest office in the republic," he said. "I [illegible] this call after earnest meditation [illegible] fidelity to my country.

Will Forget Parties.

"[illegible] life is an open book to the [illegible]. I believe that I did my duty [illegible] hard days. If my duty compels [illegible] act as president according to [illegible] constitution, without consideration [illegible] party, person, origin, or profession, I shall not be found wanting. As [illegible] I had the entire nation in my [illegible] party. The highest executive [illegible] be above parties and rule [illegible] of them for the benefit of [illegible] German.

"[illegible] no longer young enough to [illegible] sudden changes of affairs. [illegible] insurrection in Germany it [illegible] our fettered nation unhap[illegible] by discord. It will take [illegible], and peaceful work."

[illegible] appeal winds up with this dec[illegible]

[illegible] Germany's first president, an [illegible] of the constitution, Herr [illegible] denied that he came from [illegible] of the socialistic workers, so [illegible] expect me to abandon my [illegible] opinions.

8 TIME PREMIER AGREES TO TAKE JOB IN CABINET

Slate Painleve to Head Government.

[Copyright: 1925: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, April 12.—[1:30 a. m.]—The French political situation at 1 o'clock this morning is as follows:

President Doumergue last night asked Paul Painleve, president of the chamber of deputies, to form a government to replace the Herriot cabinet which resigned Friday night. M. Painleve was requested to try to form a government which would enlist the support of the bloc of the left parties in the chamber, of which M. Painleve is one of the leaders, and at the same time enlist strength further to the right in order to be able to stand before the senate on the measures necessary to solve France's desperate financial situation.

M. Painleve agreed to have a try at it and late last night sought the aid of former Premier Briand, to whom he offered the post of foreign minister. President Doumergue called M. Briand to the Elysee and made a special plea to the veteran statesman to help solve the crisis. The eight times premier of France finally agreed to accept the post.

Seeks to Avoid Election.

The selection of a Painleve-Briand combination represents an effort by M. Doumergue to avoid dissolution of the chamber and the consequent turmoil of a parliamentary election. Of course, M. Painleve can get [illegible] majority in the chamber, but it is almost certain that a pure left bloc government would meet the same fate before the upper house as did M. Herriot.

M. Briand, who is generally respected, would probably get a majority in the senate were he to head the government, but it is doubtful if the chamber would give him a favorable vote—certainly not if the bloc of the left parties carries out its threat to oppose any government not headed by one of its leaders.

Therefore it is apparent, so far as parliament is concerned, that a Painleve-Briand combination has excellent chances of being allowed to get under way, for the senate would realize that M. Briand would not allow any cabinet in which he was a member to accept the conditions of the unified Socialists to the same extent as did M. Herriot.

Offers Doumer Finance Post.

M. Painleve asked Paul Doumer of the senate to take the finance ministry.

M. Painleve has stipulated that he shall have in his cabinet four members of the unified Socialists on the ground that they should share the responsibility. The unified Socialists have called a meeting of the national committee to rule whether the party should desert its principle of not taking ministries unless they have the whole government.

If, as is expected, the Socialist leaders refuse, the failure of M. Painleve's combination is predicted. In such an event it is believed President Doumergue will ask M. Briand to form a new government. The crisis will probably last four or five days.

The Painleve Slate.

The Matin this morning will print the following predictions of the composition of the Painleve cabinet:

M. Painleve, president of the council, without portfolio.
Anatole DeMonzie, minister of justice.
Aristide Briand, minister of foreign affairs.
Paul Doumer, minister of finance.
Paul Boncour, minister of war.
J. L. Dumesnil or M. De Kerguezec or M. Lemery, minister of the navy.
Camille Chautemps or M. Schramek, minister of interior.
Leon Blum or Daniel Vincent, minister of education.
M. Daladier, minister of the colonies.
Alexandre Varenne, minister of public works.
Pierre Laval, minister of labor.
Daniel Vincent or M. Pasquet, minister of commerce.
M. Dalbiez, minister of the liberated regions.
M. Queille or M. Dariac, minister of agriculture.

Paul Boncour, Leon Blum and Alexandre Varenne are socialists.

In Addition to Which They Steal the Cop's Star

While a socially inclined policeman sat in another room two robbers late last night raided the room of Mrs. Pearl McSherry, lodging house keeper at 1729 West Monroe street, and forced her at the points of their guns to give up $1,500 worth of jewels and $60. The policeman's star was also stolen by the thieves who found it in a coat in the room. The patrolman, Michael Broderick of the Austin station, was questioned by detectives.

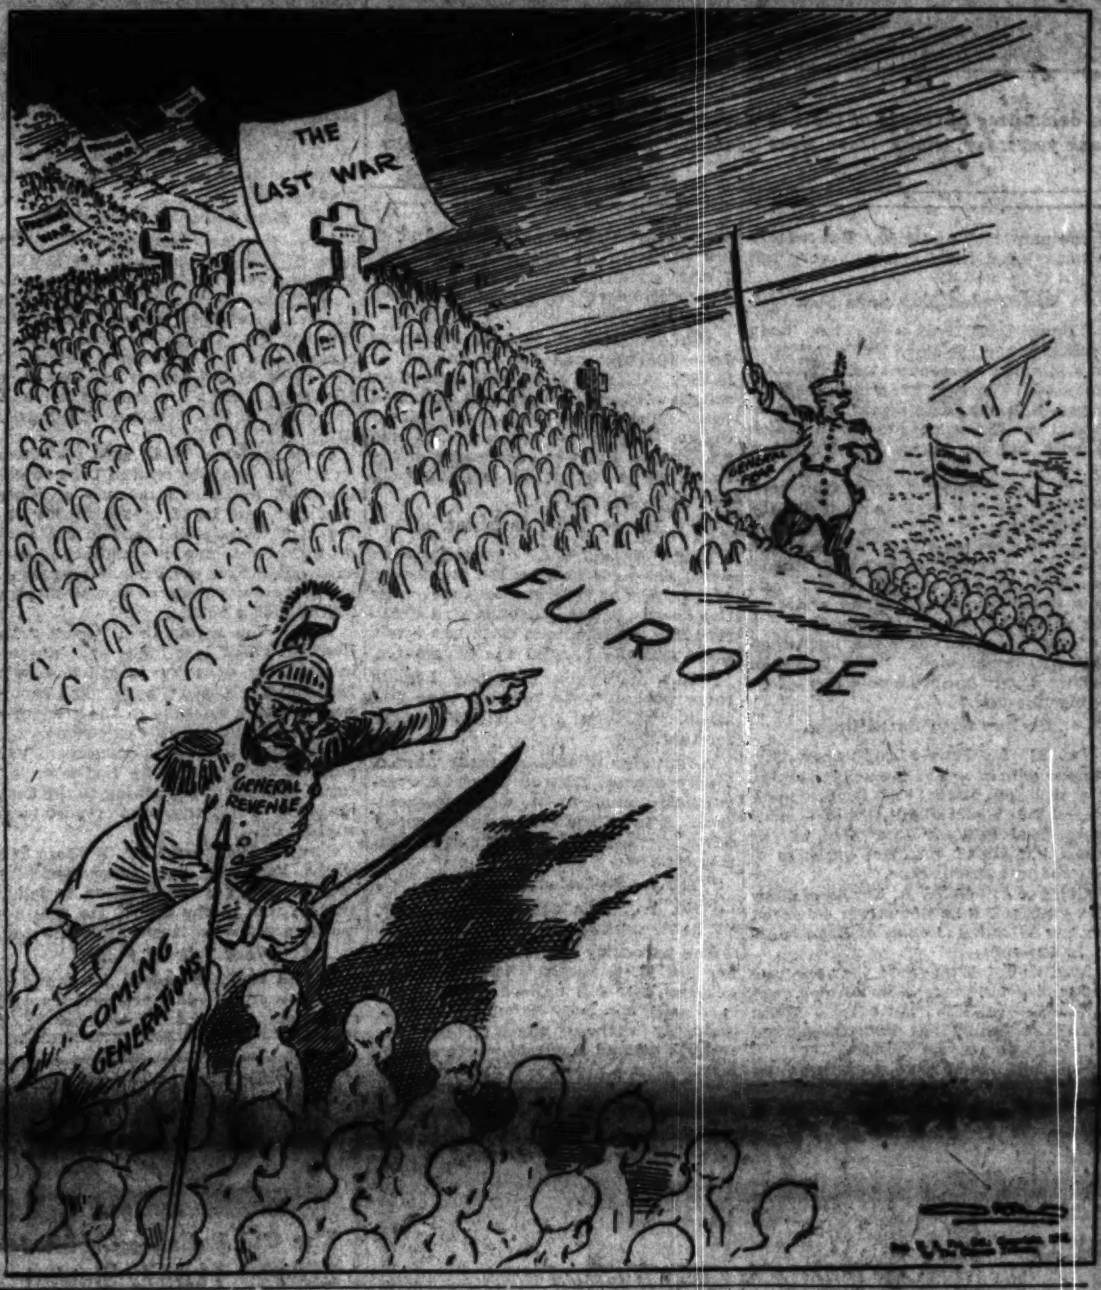
BRINGING UP REINFORCEMENTS



Mrs. Gizycka Wed to Elmer Schlesinger

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—Mrs. Eleanor Gizycka, granddaughter of Joseph Medill, for many years editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, was married this morning to Elmer Schlesinger, well known lawyer, formerly of Chicago but now of New York. The marriage was performed in the marriage chapel of the municipal building here by City Clerk Cruise. Mr. and Mrs. Schlesinger left on the steamship Conte Verde this afternoon for Italy.

The bride is the daughter of the late Robert W. Patterson and Mrs. Elinor Medill Patterson of Chicago and a sister of J. M. Patterson of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Mr. Schlesinger is a member of the law firm of Stansfield & Levy, and for a number of years has resided at the Ritz-Carlton hotel.

BOTH MARRIED BEFORE.

Both Mr. Schlesinger and his bride have been married before and divorced. The bride was born in Chicago, went to school at Farmington, Conn., and spent a number of her younger years in Vienna and St. Petersburg visiting her aunt, Mrs. Robert S. McCormick, whose husband was ambassador to those courts during the Roosevelt régime. At the court in Vienna she met Count Joseph Gizycki, a Polish nobleman, to whom—in April, 1904—she was married in Washington. Of this marriage, one child, Felicia, was born in 1906.

Two years later the countess returned to America and on June 30, 1917, she finally obtained an absolute divorce after a long contest over the custody of the child, a contest which she finally had won.

Mrs. Gizycka in recent years has lived much of her time in Washington, where she has a house, and part of the time in Chicago with her mother.

Felicia, the 19 year old daughter, was married on March 13 of the present year in Long Beach, Cal., to Drew Pearson of Swarthmore, Pa.

A Native of Chicago.

Mr. Schlesinger was born in Chicago in 1880, the son of the late Leopold Schlesinger, head of the old dry goods house of Schlesinger & Mayer in State street. The son was a nephew of Levy Mayer, the lawyer, and after his graduation from Harvard in 1901 and from Harvard law school in 1903, entered the Chicago law firm of which Mr. Mayer was the head.

On Oct. 20, 1911, Mr. Schlesinger married Miss Halle Schaffner, daughter of Joseph Schaffner, one of the founders of Hart, Schaffner & Marx. There were two children born of this union—Halle, now 13 years old, and Elmer Schlesinger Jr., aged 7. In October, 1922, Mrs. Schlesinger sued for a divorce in the Chicago courts, charging that in September, 1920, her husband abandoned her. She testified that "we did not quarrel, but that he simply refused to live with me."

The decree, with custody of the children and substantial alimony, was granted to Mrs. Schlesinger on Nov. 2, 1922. Since then she and the children have lived in New York.

Formerly with Shipping Board.

Mr. Schlesinger was general counsel of the United States shipping board during 1921-'22, during the régime of Chairman Albert D. Lasker. Since his resignation from that position Mr. Schlesinger has practiced law in New York.

Real estate news will be found on pages 16 and 17, part 2.

Wife, "Tired of Being Ill," Ends Life by Inhaling Gas

Leaving a note to her husband stating she was "tired of being ill and am going to end it all," Mrs. Martha T. Scott, 36 years old, 1700 Juneway terrace, committed suicide last night by inhaling gas through a gas hose. She was found dead by her husband, George Scott, an insurance man.

Sidney Smith's Wife Found Dead in Bath

Mrs. Sidney Smith, wife of the famous TRIBUNE cartoonist, was found dead early last night in the bathtub of her city apartment at 1019 Bryn Mawr avenue. The body, lying on the right side, was submerged, and physicians who were called said the indications were that Mrs. Smith was seized with a sudden heart attack or fainting spell while taking a bath—an attack which itself either killed her or caused her to be drowned.

The body was found at 8 o'clock in the evening by Jesse Green, chauffeur for the Smiths.

After Effects of Flu?

Dr. George J. Asta, who had been attending Mrs. Smith for her fainting spells since she had the flu several weeks ago, and Dr. David Fitzgerald, who lives in the apartment above the Smiths and is a close family friend, both examined the body and gave it as their opinion that she was the victim of heart disease or apoplexy or that, as the result of one of her fainting spells, she collapsed, was submerged, and drowned.

Sidney Smith, who went last Friday to Atlantic City, N. J., leaving without Mrs. Smith, who felt still too ill to accompany him, was notified of his wife's sudden death by telegraph and telephone and is expected home tomorrow morning.

On Friday Mrs. Smith visited Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Harwood, 755 Buena avenue, and remained overnight at their apartment. She left the Harwoods about 11 o'clock yesterday morning, they said, in a happy frame of mind and in apparent good health, and was to return at 1 o'clock for luncheon.

Friends Become Worried.

At 1 o'clock Mrs. Smith failed to appear, and when she had not come at 3 o'clock, Mrs. Harwood became alarmed and telephoned for her. There was no response, and Mrs. Harwood then telephoned the country residence and asked the chauffeur to come with the key to the apartment. On arriving at 8 o'clock, the chauffeur found her, and at once notified the physicians, who, when they saw they were too late, notified the coroner. An inquest will be held on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith had been married a number of years. Their son, Robert, was brought to the city from Lake Geneva last night. Mrs. Smith was Miss Gertrude Craddock, daughter of J. C. Craddock of East Palestine, O. She was 38 years old.

Seek Chicago's Best Citizen of Year 1950

The best boy in the city of Chicago is to be scientifically sought out and labeled as "Chicago's best citizen in 1950." One hundred of the city's civic and business leaders are to name the conditions this boy must meet and he will be honored publicly during boys' week early in May.

This was the announcement last night of John H. Witter, executive secretary of the Chicago Boys' Week federation.

If the plan proves as revealing as the federation believes it will, an effort will be made to have a national contest later and find who will be the nation's most valuable citizen in twenty-five years.

Age Limits 14 to 18 Years.

Boys from 14 to 18 years old will be scrutinized in the Chicago contest.

Among those who have added to the composite standard which will guide in the citizenship potentialities search are Mayor Dever, Joseph E. Otis, Melvin A. Traylor, David R. Forgan, C. H. Markham, W. G. Bierd, Elmer T. Stevens, William McAndrew, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, Dr. Walter Dill Scott, Dr. Ernest D. Burton, Marquis Eaton, Charles W. Folds, W. Rufus Abbott, W. J. Jackson, Harry Eugene Kelly, A. M. Willard, Frank G. Logan, Joseph B. Strauss, Chesley R. Perry, and Thomas E. Wilson.

As soon as the standard by which the boy will be chosen is completed, various [illegible] organizations will be [illegible] to make their candidates [illegible] honor of being the [illegible]

Not Decisive Contest.

The committee is aware that the contest will not be decisive, but feels that it will call attention to the value to a metropolis like ours of cultivating qualities in the youth that will build citizenship, the announcement says.

"It would take a prophet to answer the question of who will be our best citizen in 1950," said Mr. Witter. "But it is possible to determine our conception of the qualities required and to set them forth as a standard.

"Great care will be taken that the recognition accorded the winning boy will serve as an inspiration to him toward better things and not to serve in any way to spoil him.

Citizenship Greatest Asset.

"It is time, however, that while attention is being called to physical and mental achievements, the greatest recognition should be given to those virtues which make for the best citizenship. Chicago's greatest riches are in its youth—our girls and boys far outweigh material or cultural advantages."

DON YOUR EASTER FINERY, BUT BE READY FOR COLD

"Wear the new Easter suit and the rest of the scenery, but back 'em up with heavies," was Fashion's translation of the weather man's forecast for today.

The weather bureau bulletin simply said it would be generally fair and slightly cooler than it was in midafternoon yesterday, when the mercury reached 58 degrees after being somewhat higher during the earlier hours of the day.

If everything works out according to schedule there will be more sunshine today than there has been on any Easter for several years. Although the forecasters don't give guarantees with the advance comment on April precipitation, it was said to be reasonably certain that there will be no showers, at least through the parading hours of the day.

HAD ARSENIC, WIDOW ADMITS IN DEATH QUIZ

Son, Potion Victim, Fights for Life.

A decision to exhume tomorrow for examination the bodies of David Cunningham, formerly of Valparaiso, Ind., and of four of his children was made yesterday following an all day grilling of Mrs. Anna Cunningham, widow of Cunningham, and a consultation of physicians at the bedside of a sixth member of the family, her son, David Cunningham, following discovery that the body of the latter contains arsenic poisoning.

The plan to exhume the bodies, which are buried at Blachly Corners cemetery near Valparaiso, was announced after a feverish all day inquiry conducted by Coroner Oscar Wolff, assisted by Coroner A. O. Dobbins of Porter county, Indiana.

Arsenic in House Habitually.

Quickly after his arrival at the Cunningham home at 458 Buchanan street, Gary, Coroner Wolff discovered that large quantities of arsenic, of the quality [illegible] to be present in young David's [illegible] vital organs, [illegible] the heels of this discovery, Mrs. Cunningham, the widow, under severe grilling at the hands of Assistant State's Attorney Robert E. McMillan, nervously admitted that she always maintained a supply of the drug "to kill rats and other vermin."

The death of David Cunningham Sr., the head of the family, occurred on July 2, 1918, while the family was living on a farm near Valparaiso. The deaths of the children, a grown daughter and three sons, occurred at intervals thereafter, the latest, Walter, 19 years old, dying on Aug. 28, 1923.

As the investigation progressed, a chain of circumstances developed which, officials say, point unmistakably toward possible foul play in the string of deaths.

Each Had Life Insurance.

One factor that officials hint may have deep significance before their investigation is complete is that each of the victims at a time of death carried life insurance.

The son, David, now fighting for his life, likewise carries a small amount of insurance, it was learned.

Last night, still steadfastly denying all knowledge of the source of the poison believed to have been administered to her son with homicidal intent, Mrs. Cunningham suddenly collapsed. Hours later physicians at the county hospital pronounced her still unconscious and in a serious condition.

Added significance was given the investigation when it was learned that one of the possible poison victims—Harry Cunningham, a 23 year old son of Mrs. Cunningham—was within two weeks of his prospective wedding date at the time of his death in 1921.

Calls Indianan Indifferent.

Local authorities who were intensely active in the case throughout the day were a bit taken aback last night by an apparent show of indifference by State's Attorney Bremer of Lake county, Indiana. Through Chief of Police W. A. Forkin of Gary, the state's attorney's office was informed that Mr. Bremer was not particularly concerned about the immediate return of Mrs. Cunningham to his jurisdiction. The state's attorney, it became known, purposed a several days' investigation on his own account before deciding whether he desired the presence of Mrs. Cunningham.

Mr. Bremer's reported attitude caused embarrassment to Mr. Crowe's office in view of announcement by Dr. Roger T. Vaughan of the County hospital that he believed the woman to be shamming illness and that she should be in condition to return to Indiana today. Provided Mr. Bremer declines to accept custody of the woman, Mr. Crowe's assistants were at a loss as to what to do with her. It was understood she might be given her liberty today should Mr. Bremer persist in his attitude.

One report was that Mrs. Cunningham is planning to engage an attorney and fight any effort to take her back to Indiana. This, it was agreed, might entail lengthy and costly extradition proceedings and, incidentally, tend to force Indiana officials to show their hand in the case.

PLANTING FOR THE FUTURE

of each of the victims which, in the light of the discovery as to young David's case, could mean the presence of poison, Coroner Wolff declares.

"With enough poison in that house to kill a whole town of people and with admissions already made by the mother, the only proper course is to dig up the bodies and examine them," the Cook county coroner advised Coroner Dobbins.

Springer to Be in Charge.

The exhumations are to be supervised by Dr. Joseph B. Springer of Coroner Wolff's staff. Dr. William D. McNally, coroner's chemist, will make the analyses.

Mrs. Cunningham, the mother, was taken to State's Attorney Crowe's office for questioning early yesterday following information from George Arnold, 4736 North Kilpatrick avenue, and from the latter's sister, Mrs. C. K. Williams, 740 Barry avenue.

The two are nephew and niece by marriage to Mrs. Cunningham. And Arnold is a former chauffeur to State's Attorney Crowe and is now a clerk at the state's attorney's office.

Suspect Mental Abnormality.

They informed the prosecutor that for a number of years—in fact, from shortly before the first death, that of the husband and father, occurred in the Cunningham family—Mrs. Cunningham has exhibited traces of mental abnormality.

The woman's mental disability apparently had its inception, they said, from shock at the accidental killing of a neighbor boy by young Charles Cunningham, later one of the mystery death victims, in the spring of 1918.

"Something in Aunt Ann's brain seemed to snap," said Mrs. Williams. "She was never the same afterwards."

Two attempts were made to have the woman committed to a sanitarium. But in each instance her children, or such of them as still survived, objected. They insisted to physicians that "mother is all right."

"But she clearly has been getting worse all the time," declared Mrs. Williams. "A month ago she had a particularly severe attack. She threatened with death everyone who came near her. She would shriek and collapse into uncontrollable hysteria.

"Only one person, the pastor of her church, could soothe her at such times."

Illness Stirred Suspicion.

Arnold and his sister said they immediately became suspicious upon learning that young David Cunningham, 24 years old, sole surviving son of the family, had fallen ill. They hastened to Gary, where David had been employed as a machinist by a steel plant, and to which town the family had moved after the sale of the farm five years ago.

David, they found, appeared to be suffering from a stomach ailment with symptoms startlingly similar to those of the five who had so mysteriously died. He was first seized several weeks ago after eating lunch prepared by his mother, but had seemed to recover, only to be stricken again after eating a dinner also prepared by his mother.

Objected to Hospital Plan.

It was insisted that David be removed from the Methodist hospital, at Gary, and brought to the Columbus hospital at Chicago and placed under the care of Dr. Thomas A. Carter. This, over vehement protests on the part of the mother, was done, with the result that the arsenic poisoning was quickly discovered.

"Oh, what's the use of worrying about him? He'll soon die anyway," Arnold and his sister quote the mother as saying when the removal was suggested.

"It appears a little odd to us now, in the light of the turn in David's case, to recall that the others all died at home," said Arnold. "David is the only one given hospital care, and he would not have got it if his employers hadn't demanded it."

Death Laid to Many Ailments.

Various maladies were given as causes of death by attending physicians in the cases under investigation. The father died of stomach trouble, records show. The next victim, Isabelle, 20 years old, dying on Dec. 31, 1920, supposedly of luetic meningitis.

Harry, a 23 year old son, died on Oct. 13, 1921, with endocarditis as the assigned cause. The other two deaths, that of Charles, 18 years old, and Walter, 10, quickly followed, Charles supposedly succumbing to peritonitis.

It is considered significant that in each case the victim was ill for only a few days, invariably complaining of acute abdominal pains.

"Surely, we've always had arsenic about our place—plenty of it," Mrs. Cunningham readily admitted in reply to Mr. McMillan.

The practice of keeping the drug had began years ago at the farm, she said, and they had never been without it since.

"Why, just last February I bought at least a pint of the stuff from a druggist. It was old stock and he let me take the whole thing for 50 cents—a bargain."

Explains Keeping of Arsenic.

The poison was kept under the front steps at the Cunningham home and used for the spraying of plants, she explained. She also admitted she had sent the daughter, May, to purchase another small supply from another druggist. This was used to kill rats.

The daughter, questioned, admitted buying the poison and said she later saw her mother mix it into a paste. And the daughter also at about this time became violently ill for a few days of what appeared to be stomach trouble.

Insurance May Be Factor.

One circumstance admitted by investigators to be of possible significance is the fact that each of the death victims, as well as young David, carried considerable life insurance with the mother as beneficiary. In each instance, it was said, the policies were arranged for and the premiums paid by the mother, and in one case the policy was taken out only a brief time before the holder's death.

"About six weeks ago after eating my lunch I got sick," was young David's story to the coroner. "I had to go home, but got better and went back. But nearly every time I eat the lunch that my mother put up for me I felt ill. I felt sick after my meals at home, too.

"When I got worse my mother waited on me, feeding me and bringing me drinks and other things.

Had Mother Examined.

"You see she is a little queer and insisted on it. We had her examined four years ago and the doctor said she should go to an asylum.

"But thought of this frightened her, and so we let it drop. The doctor later refused to attend her unless we sent her to a sanitarium, but another doctor said she was all right.

"My sister that died and my brothers when they died had the same trouble I have—they fell sick and became paralyzed and died. But mother always loved them and was very sad when they died."

Transfusion May Save Son.

Young David, who has lost forty pounds in weight since becoming ill, is in a fair way to recover, Dr. Carter announced. The lad's life may have been saved, it is said, as a result of a transfusion operation on Friday in which Arnold, his cousin, sacrificed a quart of blood.

The boy, suspected as having been selected as the sixth victim in the weird string of fatalities, was questioned by Coroner Wolff. He had high praise for his mother, being all unsuspecting that she was in custody and was being questioned in an effort to get at the bottom of the mystery.

"Poor mother," said the boy when she was mentioned. "She has had such a hard time with so many of us dying like this."

Doctors Gave Small Doses.

Dr. H. H. Harris and other physicians who attended young David and his stricken sister and brothers declared that small quantities of arsenic were used in their treatment of the cases, but not of sufficient quantity to be apparent at this time.

Chief of Police W. A. Forbis of Gary has assigned four detectives to assist State's Attorney Bremer of Lake county in the case.

Mrs. Cunningham said that she was before her marriage Miss Anna Lebke of Manitowoc, Wis., but several Manitowoc families of that name disclaimed all knowledge of the woman.

Frequent and large purchases of arsenic by Mrs. Cunningham, and at her direction by the sole other surviving child, May a 17 year old daughter, were corroborated by two Gary druggists.

While Assistant State's Attorneys John Sbarbaro and Joseph Savage, at State's Attorney's Crowe's direction, sought evidence at Gary and conferred with Lake county, Ind., officials at Crown Point, Mrs Cunningham was undergoing hours of questioning at the hands of Assistant State's Attorney Robert E. McMillan.

Mother Falls in Faint.

Stony faced and dry-eyed, even when flatly accused by the prosecutor of suppressing information concerning the deaths of her husband and children, Mrs. Cunningham until late afternoon skilfully parried the prosecutor.

"How dare you insinuate I gave them poison!" she retorted time and again. "I loved them all too dearly for that."

A first sign of emotion came when a kindly hearted matron slipped a sympathetic arm about the woman's shoulders. A tear, and then another, rolled down her withered cheeks and her lip trembled.

"Tell me," pleaded the matron.

"No, no," was the faltering reply. "I know nothing to tell."

She nervously clasped and unclasped her toil worn hands. Stray wisps of graying hair fell unheeded about her face and her body shook with sobs. Suddenly without warning, the distraught woman toppled over in a dead faint.

BOY FALLS THIRTY FEET TO CEMENT FLOOR; IS KILLED

MICHAEL PASCUCCI.

Falling thirty feet through a skylight to a cement floor, Michael Pascucci, 12 years old, 1015 South May street, was instantly killed late yesterday afternoon.

The boy had climbed with several playmates to the roof of the Morand Bros. factory at 906 South May street. He was peering through the skylight when the glass gave way and he plunged through.

A physician said the boy's neck had been broken and he had died instantly.

STATE TO SEEK EARLY TRIAL FOR W. D. SHEPHERD

Date Depends on Time Allotted Defense.

Trial of William D. Shepherd on the indictment charging the murder of William N. McClintock by typhoid germs and other poisons will begin when it is considered that a reasonable time has been given to prepare a defense, First Assistant State's Attorney George E. Gorman said yesterday.

He said Chief Justice Jacob Hopkins will be asked to set an early trial date, but that under a decision of the Supreme court the defendant must be given a reasonable time to prepare for trial. Upon what length of time Judge Hopkins decides is reasonable will decide the date.

In some instances a month has been held as ample, in others a bit longer, it was explained, and the circumstances must govern in this case. Attorneys William Scott Stewart and W. W. O'Brien, Shepherd's defenders, may be able to delay on several pleas, it was pointed out.

Must Conclude Inquests.

First, they may be engaged for many days in the conclusion of the McClintock inquest and in the two other inquests joined with it, the inquiries into the deaths of Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock and Dr. Oscar Olson. It is regarded as possible that the coroner's jury may hold Shepherd in the Mrs. McClintock death and concur in his indictment in the William McClintock death.

Coroner Oscar Wolff said his chemist's report may be read in time to call the joint inquests tomorrow or Tuesday. He said he is only awaiting the report of what was found in the body of Dr. Olson, the preliminary report having indicated mercury being present in the doctor's body as it was in Mrs. McClintock's body.

There was a mistaken report from Coroner Wolff last night that arsenic in sufficient quantity to kill had been found in Dr. Olson's body. The report was due to a mistake in the transmission of a message to the coroner and immediately upon his return from Valparaiso, Ind., where he had been engaged in matters pertaining to the Cunningham poisoning, the report was withdrawn.

Coroner Wolff said Dr. William McNally had not yet progressed far enough with his examination to tell if arsenic was in the body. He was not ready to say what it contained, he said.

Wolff Tells of Plans.

Should another poison be found it may complicate the proceedings and cause considerable delay, Coroner Wolff said. It will be shown that Shepherd was a constant companion of Mrs. McClintock prior to her fatal illness, which enabled the $1,000,000 fortune to pass to William McClintock and upon his death to be bequeathed to Shepherd. It will be shown that he visited Dr. Olson the day prior to his death, according to the plans indicated.

Then, according to Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court, all the other circumstances will be brought out before the jury and it is possible action may be taken on Dr. Olson's death.

It is understood that Shepherd will be brought to the inquests. His attorneys said they might decide to ignore the coroner's proceedings, but the prosecution expects the defense lawyers to be on hand to cross examine witnesses and learn first hand the testimony against their client.

Month's Delay Is Seen.

Because of these possibilities the opinion of the prosecutors is that the trial may be delayed for more than a month. While the attorneys were seeking before three Cook county judges and the Supreme court to get Shepherd released from the county jail on bail that time could not be considered as time in which to prepare a defense, according to the opinion.

The best estimate, therefore, emanating from the prosecutor's office is that Shepherd will be put on trial within thirty days after the finish of the three inquests and later if other indictments are recommended.

Servant Girl Confesses Looting Homes of 17

Miss Gloria de la Vier, 112 North Ashland avenue, a maid, confessed yesterday before Judge Walker to stealing jewelry and clothing from seventeen former mistresses, all of whom were in court. She pleaded she was the dupe of Mike de Bartelle, 28 years old. The case was continued to April 23.

PRINCE CANCELS NIGERIA VISIT, DUE TO PLAGUE

ACCRA, Gold Coast, West Africa, April 11.—[By Associated Press.]—An outbreak of plague has made imperative a change in the plans of the Prince of Wales and his intended visit to Lagos, crown colony west of Nigeria, has been canceled.

The prince was eager to adhere to his program and suggested that the risk of infection might be avoided by using an alternative route, but this was found impracticable, and the prince's medical attendants advised abandonment of that part of the tour.

The prince will remain in the gold coast colony until April 21. Today he made a seventy mile motor ride from Bosusa, on the railway in the interior to Accra. Fifty miles of the road is cut through a luxurious jungle. At one village he was greeted by the chief, who wore a golden crown and escorted the prince back to his car under a massive multi-colored umbrella.

Wales also alighted at Nsawan, where another gorgeously arrayed chief presented him with a gold ink stand and pen. The chief also gave him an antelope, which was slaughtered and eaten.

RABBI GORDIN DIES SUDDENLY AT HIS PRAYERS

Chief Rabbi Jehuda Loeb Gordin, head of the Chicago Orthodox Rabbinical association, last night stood at his wall in the old fashion of the patriarchs and said his evening prayer.

He was 71 years old. Years of pursuit of knowledge—the rabbi is rated by his race as one of its greatest Hebrew scholars—and the toil of his religious service had weakened his heart.

As he softly intoned the sonorous prayers for the evening, his voice quavered into silence. The venerable body slid to the floor. Heart disease was given as cause of death.

Rabbi Gordin had charge of the Tiféreth Zion synagogue. He had written many books and had achieved fame in orthodox Jewish circles on an international scale.

SARGENT FINDS PIPE AND TALKS OF HIS BOYHOOD

alls Work the Best of Discipline.

is the second cf the talks by three new members of Uncle Cal-cabinet on "The Boy I Grew Up ' Secretary of Agriculture Jar-the Rocky mountain boy, them in last Sunday's Trib-Now speaks the Vermont farm Attorney General Sargent, and. Jardine, he is all the time keep-mind the boy now growing up—work, discipline, amusements, am-, and spending money, and his of himself on his life work.

plugging along. I always have plugging along.
JOHN G. SARGENT (AT 65).

JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Spe-]—"Well—Mr. Bennett—HOW—you—FEELING?"

The tone was a melodious, leisurely, and the intimation it carried "I haven't been worrying about exactly, but it's been on my mind find out how you were feeling."

As the person whose well-being was under inquiry was merely and only one new reporter in the life of the attorney general of the United States, you are right in inferring that reporter instantly took to his new friend, who twenty seconds before had been a stranger.

Meanwhile, John Garibaldi Sargent casting eyes at once contemplative and questioning over the several square yards of his document strewn top desk in the department of justice, and he said:

"Mr.—Bennett—do—you—see—my—pipe—anywhere?"

In short, there you are. The man is as unassuming and easy as an old shoe and has a genius for friendliness.

Wears Honors Easily.

You instantly appreciate that kind of man in Washington, where so many men that once were square and genuine get heady with the pomp of power.

John G. Sargent won't get that way, although for the next few years he will wield power enough to make many a man either pompous or patronizing. Ponder on that power: Today Sargent is not only legal adviser to the President of the United States and to the heads of all departments but he is counselor and advocate of the government in all suits in which the United States is concerned—that is, he and his assistants throughout the land are. For the last fiscal year those cases totaled 84,000.

As to Sargent's aspect, if you can imagine him as a big, benevolent old St. Bernard with wise, kindly wrinkles around the eyes and a friendly rumble for every passerby, then you have a better picture of him than if somebody merely told you that the face of this bulky man of 6 feet 3 inches is a noble, old, reflective face with the grand lines of sixty-five placid, fruitful years in it.

Pipe Found, He Is Happy.

The pipe having been found—in the washroom, where he had left it—we bent to our work of sketching the background of the Vermont boy he grew up with—for the benefit of the American boy now growing up.

He spoke:

"Well, I can't understand it all—all this analysis of my life and you men's interest in my character! I've never done anything except keep right along at work. The work I did became a little more important year by year, I suppose. And—well, that's all. I'm plugging along. I always have been plugging along."

Musingly, fondly, as old men will, he sketched his boyhood background—the fields, the barn, the sugar camp in south central Vermont, twenty-five miles from Rutland, in the '60s, and he bringing in the sap buckets to the boiling kettle, and keeping the fire going under the kettle, and "helping mother around the house," and driving horses, and plowing with oxen, and drawing poles to mend the fences, and filling the wood box, and feeding the calves, and gathering the eggs.

Work Best Discipline.

If you ever read that book—a beautiful book for youngsters or oldsters—Charles Dudley Warner's "Being a Boy," you know everything that Mr. Sargent was musing upon.

After Mr. Sargent had mentioned those tasks of his boyhood he got to the nub of the matter, and he emphasized it over and over again, just as his cabinet colleagues, Jardine and Kellogg, whom I already had seen, had done. In the talks that all three have gave THE TRIBUNE the emphasis and iteration were on the disciplinary value to a boy not of punishments and penalties but of WORK.

They seem to revere that word.

Mr. Sargent said:

"Every boy and girl among the boys and girls I grew up with in the '60s had something to do. That was about the first principle of their upbringing. Every boy had his farm chores to do. They were duties. If he neglected them he was reminded, and if he half did them he had to do them over again.

"It was the law.

"It did not become a matter of punishment and the boy did not have to be nagged all the time and told to do this and that. To do his work became a part of his nature.

Accustomed to Work.

"When I was a boy our work did not seem irksome, because we grew up with it.

"Anybody who does things easily and naturally does 'em that way because he started in early with 'em.

"And I suppose that it was because we were bred to respect our work, instead of to hate and that there wasn't the craving for amusement that there is now. It comes back to me that the finest amusement of my boyhood was to lie on the floor on my belly and read the Youth's Companion. And we'd listen to father reading aloud from Greeley's New York Tribune and from the Boston Journal. There was a great deal of discussion of men and measures in those papers—more in proportion than in the papers now—and father would discuss the discussion. They were reflective men—my father and his neighbors. They did a great deal of reflecting, and we boys got the benefit from it.

Forum for Local Voices.

"The old fashioned local lyceum where the neighbors met once a week at the village hall for a program of debates, recitations, and singing was no contemptible cultural medium for the boy of the '60s and '70s. One of the debates brought out an illustration that stayed by me to this day. The question that night was 'Which is the more necessary to the welfare of mankind, capital or labor?' Well, after both sides had got through an old soldier got up—old fellow straight as a ramrod, I remember—and he said, 'Friends, capital and labor are like the two sides of a sawhorse—can't either one of 'em stand without the other.'

"I've thought of that many times. He said all there is to it."

Then the attorney general went back to the work theme—speaking admiringly of a poor Russian who came into his countryside a few years ago and settled on an old farm.

Working, Minding Own Affairs.

The story of the foreigner's struggles and his slow clearing away of the mortgage was long and I quote only the attorney general's winding up of it because it so neatly epitomizes him. It was:

"I asked about those folks just the other day and what I heard was that they're getting along fine—working and minding their own business. I think that's great!"

There's the New England ideal in essence—to work, and mind your own business.

The man who in twenty-seven years has made his way from the attorneyship of Windsor county, Vermont, to the attorney generalship of the United States would not concede that he had any struggles. He thinks it was all the work of a kindly world.

"I've always had the best friends," he said, "and then, too, I've always felt a great respect and regard for men older than myself. It happened that there were always such men I could turn to for advice when I was young. And finally the time came when I was the older man, and the ultimate responsibility rested on me, and I had to turn to myself. That's the way it was, Mr. Bennett—I had become the senior counsel at last."

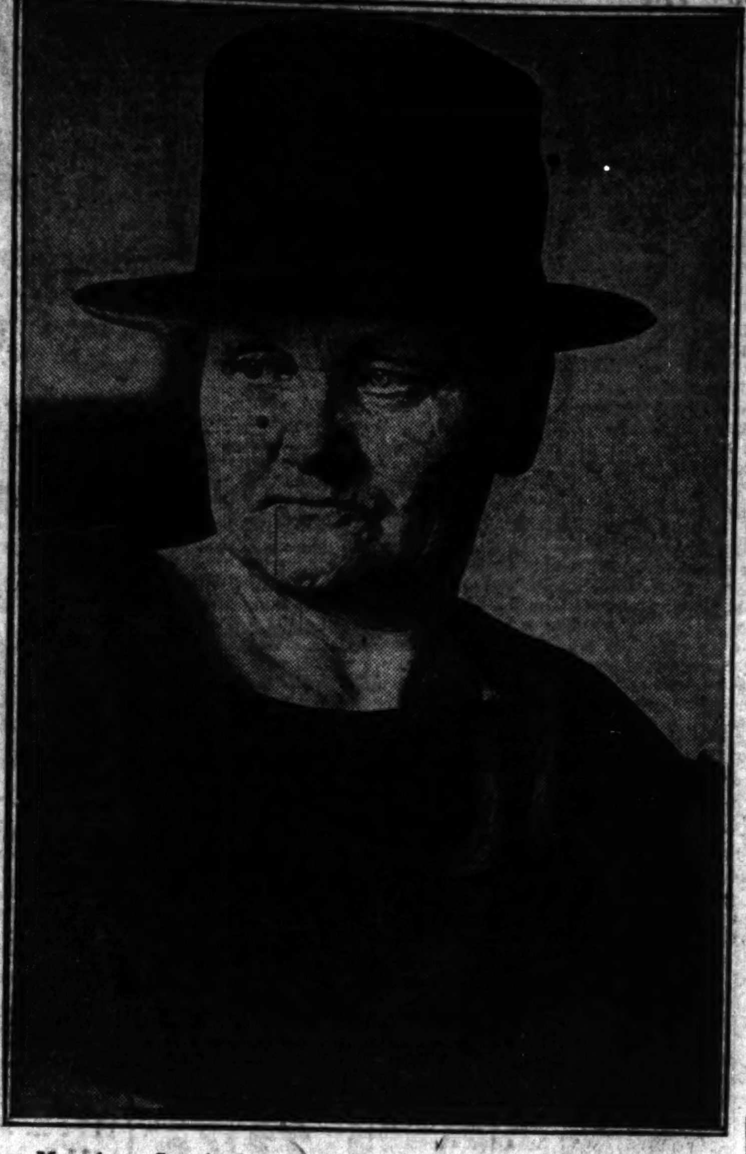
FIVE DEAD IN ONE FAMILY—MOTHER IN CUSTODY



Mrs. Anna Cunningham, whose husband and four children died under mysterious circumstances, is questioned in state's attorney's office. She admitted that she had maintained a supply of arsenic in her home to kill rats.

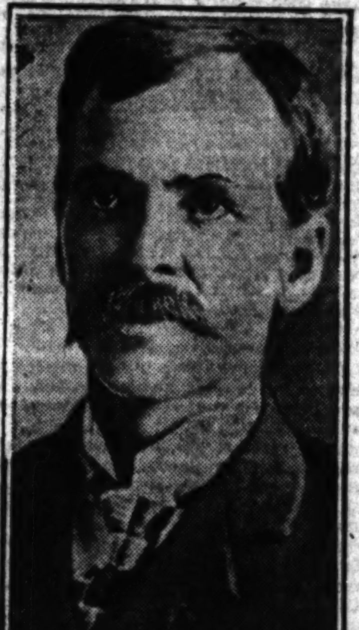
Lieut. William Lang of the state's attorney's office (at the left) questions Mrs. R. C. Williams, a relative of the family of the late David Cunningham, in which five deaths have occurred under mysterious circumstances, and George Arnold (at right), who brought the case to the attention of the authorities.



David Cunningham, late husband of woman now held, whose death authorities believe may have been due to foul play.

Harry Cunningham, son of Mrs. Anna Cunningham, whose death is being investigated.

Mae Cunningham, daughter of Mrs. Anna Cunningham, is the only member of the widow's family, with the exception of David, now suffering from arsenic poisoning, who is alive.

ALL WELL ABOARD THE ARCTURUS, MESSAGE FROM AID OF BEEBE

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 11.—Members of the party of scientists aboard the ship Arcturus are well, according to a message received here late today from J. F. W. Pearson, University of Pittsburgh graduate, who is with the expedition.

Pearson, in a message to Prof. H. D. Fish of the university, said: "Communication established. All well."

For several days friends of the scientists have expressed fears for their safety, no word having been received from them. Last night the navy department announced in Washington it had received a message indicating the Arcturus was safe, although her location was not known. The message, it was believed, was relayed by two other vessels.

Water Fonts Barred from Churches by Mexican Law

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

Mexico City, April 11.—Holy water fonts must disappear immediately from all Mexican churches, according to a law promulgated today. The law declares the fonts are insanitary, and also prohibits the kissing of images of saints for the same reason. Priests and bishops are made responsible for enforcement of the law.

POLITICIAN HELD AFTER RONDOUT MAIL THEFT QUIZ

Little Rock, Ark., April 11.—Verner Heath, former Pulaski county tax assessor, was being held under $8,000 bond here tonight, charged with aiding in the concealment of approximately $100,000 in Liberty bonds, comprising a portion of the loot obtained by Herbert Holliday and several confederates in the $2,000,000 mail robbery at Rondout, Ill., in June, 1924. He will be given a preliminary hearing on April 18.

Heath was taken into custody by postal inspectors last night, entering a plea of not guilty to the charges when arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Longstreth today. The warrant specifically charged him with feloniously receiving, concealing and aiding in the concealment of four Liberty bonds of the second issues to the value of $5,000 each, knowing that they were stolen from the mails.

Italian Plans 34,155 Mile Flight to Australia

ROME, April 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—The proposed flight of Commander Francesco de Pinedo, chief of the Italian air staff, from Italy to Australia and Japan, will be made in hydroairplane in eighty hops, covering a distance of 55,000 kilometers (approximately 34,155 miles).

Vast Farm Building Plan to Be Submitted April 24

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Definite plans for the building of the American Agricultural mart at the south end of the Link bridge on Michigan boulevard will be presented to the nation's leaders in the field of agriculture, industry and finance at a dinner to be given here April 24 on the top floor of the Furniture mart, 666 Lake Shore drive. More than 200 invitations were sent out last night by W. E. Skinner, originator of the agricultural building idea and chairman of the invitations committee, to presidents and deans of the Mississippi valley agricultural colleges, heads of national and state farmers' organizations, representatives of the agricultural press, breeder organizations, various associations of poultry, vegetable and fruit, and representatives of commercial groups.

The dinner will be held preliminary to an announcement to be made by Lawrence Whiting, president of the Boulevard Bridge bank and financial head of the building project. He will give details of the plan and the part each agricultural group will play.

Promoters Sure of Feasibility.

The plan, which was prematurely announced three months ago under the name of the American Agricultural temple, is now taking definite shape and its promoters are positive of the feasibility of the scheme.

In his announcement, Mr. Skinner says that the "meeting is called solely for the purpose of acquainting you fully and definitely with facts about the building and its purpose. Construction is assured and the time when the formulation of policies that will effect the building's importance to all agriculture has arrived."

A board of governors will be nominated at the meeting to determine the elegibility of the agricultural organizations to be housed in the new building and the policies of the whole institution.

Mr. Whiting said yesterday that in the building of the American Agricultural mart, which is to cover nearly five acres along the south bank of the Chicago river, leaders were hopeful that they had found a solution to the agricultural industry's marketing difficulties that now confront farmers.

Air Rights Appraised.

Valuation of the air rights over the Michigan Central, New York Central, and the Illinois Central railway tracks which terminate at the river have been made by Gilbert Scribner of Winston & Co., Whitney Warren of Warren & Wetmore, New York City, who built the Grand Central terminal in New York City entirely on air rights, is now studying the air rights plans to work out a valuation of the proposed site for the mart building.

"The air rights over the Illinois Central tracks alone, capitalized on the basis of $50 per square foot, are worth more than the entire outstanding capital stock of the system. If the Illinois Central is able to develop its air rights here in Chicago at the same time the proposed station and terminal is built, it can secure sufficient money to build and pay for its new $130,000,000 terminal project," declared Mr. Whiting, head of Whiting & Co., financial agents through which the money to build the agricultural mart will be raised.

"The Van Sweringen group arleady has made arrangements with the Illinois Central to run the Chesapeake and Ohio and the Nickel Plate trains into the new station, and this should encourage other great railway systems to join with the Illinois Central in the development of a great terminus. This would include the development of a great market and freight terminus as well as a passenger terminus, linking up the railroads with the great lakes-St. Lawrence waterway," added Mr. Whiting.

GUN ROBBERIES GAINING FASTER THAN MURDERS

Scattering of Effort in Beer Cleanup Blamed.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Robbery at the gun point shot up even faster than the murder rate in Chicago during the first ninety days of 1925. Holdups at present are far more numerous even than in 1920, when an epidemic of stickups was attributed to an after the war spirit of lawlessness.

Search for the possible reason leads to the tight lid police method. By throwing the emphasis on the closing of beer joints and pinochle games, police effort has been scattered and security of persons and property has undoubtedly suffered. The enforce-every-law policy has apparently been attended by a serious lowering of police force morale. The records denote a marked reduction in the efficiency of the police as a protective agency, the chief thing for which it exists.

To take up the figures: The police records show 636 robberies in the first three months of 1925. This is 36 per cent more than in the same period of 1924 and 47 per cent more than in 1923. It is more than in 1920—a bad year—when 600 were recorded in the first ninety days.

Robberies Increase Each Month.

And since New Year's robberies have been growing each month. In March alone there were 225, according to the police records. This was almost twice as many as Chicago had in March, 1923, when 119 were listed. In March this year Chicago had 35 per cent more robberies than in March, 1920, when there were 167.

Burglaries have fallen off greatly. Housebreaking is becoming less fashionable among the criminal class. The technique of the underworld has changed. The swing is from burglary to holdups. There are many reasons. For one thing the stickup is faster, easier, and generally more productive of loot, while the getaway in an automobile is more certain. Most people use the bank nowadays, and about all a burglar gets is articles of value, the money in many a well to do home often being represented by a week's carfare and the small change for the iceman. So burglary as an applied art is diminishing. But burglary and robbery losses together are much worse.

Taken together, the number of burglaries and robberies shows an apparent decrease. The police records show 406 burglaries for the first ninety days of 1925, as against 602 for the first quarter of last year, 915 in 1923, and 1,452 in 1920.

But here is the great difficulty in getting an accurate statistical line: Many a stickup and burglary is never entered on the books by the captain of a station.

New Type of Holdup Man.

Not only has the technique of crime changed, but a new type of holdup man has developed. Police authorities say most of the stickups are young fellows, who work in gangs of two to five, often under protection from some super gunmen or syndicate. In many instances they are young fellows who have got easy money through bootlegging. When this is made difficult they seek other ways of getting money. With an automobile, generally stolen, they prowl. They lurk in the cabarets and spot a woman with expensive furs. They meet her as she alights at her door and take the wrap at the point of a gun. For a woman to wear an expensive fur coat nowadays is tantamount to extending an invitation to the holdup men.

It is indeed difficult for the observer to escape the deduction that the increase in holdups is directly linked with police method. Under Chief Fitzmorris the emphasis was thrown upon safety for the public. The main idea drilled into the force was to "make Chicago safe so that an unprotected dressmaker may travel at night from Edgewater to South Chicago or Oak Park without molestation." This is the traditional method in other large cities.

Emphasis on Rum and Gambling.

The present police method under Chief Collins has taken its direction from Mayor Dever's dictum "enforce all the laws." Activities have been focused on liquor, gambling joints, dives, card games—these are given the emphasis rather than protection of life and property.

Chief Collins declares the method is successful. "I would like to call attention to the fact," he said yesterday, "that practically all the prominent bootleggers, beer runners, alcohol peddlers, and hijackers are either in prison or are under sentence which will be executed in a few days."

But despite this, likker is easy to get, and last week the loop had what was almost an inundation of real Canadian ale from across the border.

In the first ninety days of 1925 Chicago had forty-nine murders. This embraces only premeditated killings and is outside of manslaughter cases and justifiable or unavoidable homicides. In these forty-nine murders, at least eight, and perhaps ten, of the victims were killed by stickup men for resisting or not being fast enough in holding up their hands.

JUDGE ANSWERS OLSON HEATEDLY ON VICE RECORDS

Municipal Judge Howard Hayes replied heatedly last night to the charges made against him by District Attorney Edwin Olson in connection with records seized in a raid upon a booze and vice syndicate at 2136 South Michigan avenue last week.

The records were first impounded by Judge Hayes and then ordered returned to attorneys representing the men arrested in the raid. District Attorney Olson said he was not notified of the court hearing at which the records were returned and declared that Judge Hayes had violated a promise made to notify him before the records were disposed of.

"Mr. Olson's charges are unfounded," said Judge Hayes. "There were two district attorneys and an assistant state's attorney in court at the time I ordered the records returned. And I did that because the law forced me to do it. There were no federal cases against the men arrested. They were charged only with disorderly conduct."

RIGHTS OF WAY LACKING TO RUSH HIGHWAY WORK

Illinois Slackens Pace in Construction.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Illinois leads all the states of the nation in permanent concrete highway mileage. It built more miles last year than any other state. It has awarded contracts for more miles to be built year than any other state.

Yet no roads designated in the $100,000,000 bond issue have been constructed or placed under contract. It is improbable that any of those roads will be built this year.

Contracts have been awarded this year for 630.7 miles, and it is reported in Chicago that about 300 more miles will be awarded. That, it is said, will be the limit of the mileage which will be constructed this year. This is comparable with 1,113 miles actually constructed last year and 1,041 miles built in 1923.

Rights of Way Lacking.

The reason why so much progress will not be made this year lies in the reported lack of rights of way for the roads. The state highway department has not procured the necessary rights of way to permit the work to go ahead, although having had several years in which to obtain them.

When the $60,000,000 bond issue law was passed it designated certain roads to be constructed. War came on and the price of materials and labor went up. It was not possible to construct all the roads named in the law providing for the $60,000,000 bond issue. The $60,000,000 has been exhausted and not all of the roads have been constructed.

So, when the $100,000,000 bond issue for highways was passed it was provided that the leftover mileage of the $60,000,000 law must be constructed first. All of the contracts awarded this year have been for these leftover roads. When these jobs are completed there will still be left about 650 more miles of these leftover roads before a start can be made on the roads designated in the $100,000,000 bond issue law.

Brakes on Construction.

The state has not obtained the rights of way for these leftover roads, and consequently the brakes will be applied to the construction work this year as compared with the progress of the last two years. Therefore no work will be done on the $100,000,000 roads this year if the state follows explicitly the provisions of the act authorizing that bond issue.

As recited, Illinois was the leader in concrete road construction last year, as well as having more miles than any other state in the Union. The following table shows the miles constructed last year and the miles in each state of road 18 feet wide:

State—	Built 1924.	Total Jan. 1, 1925.
California	177.9	3,465.9
Illinois	1,113.5	4,104.5
Indiana	384.2	1,535.2
Iowa	97.4	536.4
Maryland	103.2	986.2
Michigan	576.2	2,042.2
New York	551.2	2,794.2
Ohio	243.2	1,646.2
Pennsylvania	624.2	2,707.2
Washington	49.7	1,029.7
Wisconsin	260.2	1,921.2

These figures relate only to concrete highways. Before cement gained its present position as a material for hard surfaced roads other materials were used. It must not be assumed that because Illinois leads the nation in concrete roads it is also the leader in surfaced roads throughout the nation. Its totaled "surfaced roads," as road constructors use that phrase, is 12,435. Indiana and Ohio have three times as many miles of "surfaced roads," and California, Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania, Washington, and Wisconsin have more miles each. Some of them have nearly twice as many miles as Illinois.

REED RAPS PETTY ROLE FORCED ON FEDERAL COURTS

Kansas City, Mo., April 11.—Congress has thrust upon the federal courts "the petty and abominable business of the police and justice courts," declared Senator James A. Reed of Missouri here tonight.

"The federal courts were established to enforce the just laws of the United States, enacted in pursuance of the constitution," he said. "They have always been the fortress of refuge to which the citizen has fled, when about to be deprived of rights and liberties guaranteed by the constitution.

"But in an evil hour all was changed. The Mann act, the Volstead act—divers and sundry other reform nostrums were concocted. The judges of the federal courts were appointed doctors general to, by force of arms, administer to a protesting, rebellious, and helpless people the abhorent and noxious remedies."

100 MEMBERS OF K. OF C. TO STAGE MUSICAL REVUE

More than 100 members of Commodore Barry council of the Knights of Columbus will participate in a musical revue to be staged in the Majestic auditorium, 5241 West Madison street, April 14, 15, and 16.

MISS VIRGINIA HERNON.

The proceeds of the production are to be added to the fund for the construction of a new clubhouse. The fund now totals $40,000.

Edward Beck is supervising the show. Among those who will present dancing and singing specialties are Miss Virginia Hernon, Miss Margaret Fitzgibbons, Miss Marian Pankau, and Miss Mary Cochran.

ROB FURRIER STORE OF $225.

While Thomas Markos, a furrier at 5719 West Division street, was preparing to close his store last night three armed men entered and rifled the cash register of $225. The robbers then escaped in an automobile.

Adding Style Leadership to a Reputation for Performance

An amazingly large percentage of all customers are buying the New Franklin without once riding in it or even looking at the engine. Could there be any finer tribute to Franklin's new style leadership and to its world-wide reputation for fine performance and high quality?

People instinctively recognize the correct style of the New Franklin, instinctively appreciate its outstanding beauty. They know it can be depended on to give unusual comfort, handling ease, economy and long life. In design, materials and workmanship there has been no compromise between what is merely acceptable and what is the best obtainable.

Five closed and two open models, all ready for the road—fully equipped with appropriate accessories, spare tire and cover—at the catalog price. Only tax and freight are extra.

MOTHER NEAR DEATH, MUNDING HEARS AT TRIAL

Defense Seeks to Prove Riding Master Insane.

BY JOHN HERRICK.

JUDGE WILLIAM J. FULTON.

Told that the mother of George W. Munding was dying in Toledo came yesterday to the courtroom of Judge William J. Fulton in Wheaton, where the Chicago riding master is on trial for the murder of his common law wife, Mrs. Julia Abb Douglass, last September.

The mother of the man who killed because of other men probably will never know what verdict a jury picks—freedom, insanity, imprisonment, or death. For the wire that brought the news predicted death within forty-eight hours.

Once more Munding broke down and tears streamed across his cheeks. His sister, Miss Edith Munding, who was to have been the defense's star witness of the day, sat in the front row of the spectators' seats, crying, too, and unable to take the stand.

Relatives Leave for Toledo.

The mother, Mrs. Anna Munding, would not attend the trial, the defense announced at the very outset, because of her severe illness. The word yesterday said that the 65 year old woman had suffered a hemorrhage of the brain. Ernest Munding, the father, and a sister, Mrs. Clara Cooper, left the trial immediately to return home.

While the man they are trying to save choked in his sobs with a wadded handkerchief, Attorneys Clarence Darrow and Charles W. Hadley put on witnesses, one after the other, to support their contention that Munding was crazy with jealousy and drink when he fired the two fatal shots on the farm near Hinsdale.

The man in the defendant's chair might have been alone for any interest he showed in the expert legal skill that examined and cross-examined the men and women at the other end of the table. He looked out of the window, perhaps just at the outdoors, perhaps at the bars of his cell window in the jail opposite, and seemed to be reading his future outside the courtroom instead of in the jury box.

Chauffeur Defense Witness.

Harry Le Bohn, a chauffeur, was the first defense witness of the day, and he told of the six weeks in the Tuxedo hotel at 732 Cornelia avenue, when Mrs. Douglass had occupied the room next his.

"There were two men that I know of who stayed all night with Mrs. Douglass," was the theme of his story. He told of seeing the woman and her visitors, partly clothed, in the hall.

It was such occurrences as that, the defense brought out, that caused Munding to slip.

"He came to me and asked about the men," said the witness. "He had had a quarrel with Mrs. Douglass and he showed me his thumb where she had bitten it to the bone. He was a calm man when I first knew him. Later he seemed always to have something on his mind. He would walk away in the middle of a conversation without finishing a sentence."

Miss Boyer Attracts Attention.

The courtroom sat up and paid attention when a woman they had heard about before in the trial appeared in person, Miss Marie Boyer of 4319 Kenmore avenue. Munding had stopped at her flat to return a pair of riding breeches when Mrs. Douglass arrived. Miss Boyer's father, before his death, had been a member of the Board of Trade, she declared.

"George and Mrs. Douglass used to fuss a lot," Miss Boyer explained. "Sometimes his face was scratched. Once they had been fighting over her going out with a man who owned a garage on Clarendon avenue."

Then came the day of the double visit.

"We were housecleaning, my mother, a man, and two decorators," she recalled, "when George came in. Right afterward Mrs. Douglass came in. She told him to get right out and called him names. My mother ordered her out, then Mrs. Douglass said she was Mrs. Munding; that he was a married man, and the father of her child.

Janitor Stopped Quarrel.

"They quarreled outside the apartment. There were lots of swear words. Then the janitor came along and stopped them."

Munding was always telling about fighting with "Jule," said Miss Boyer. He seemed "half crazy, a nervous wreck."

On cross-examination State's Attorney Chauncey W. Reed brought out that Munding had gone out with Miss Boyer several times before he met Mrs. Douglass.

"Mrs. Douglass told me she wanted a good time. She said she knew a man who would buy her a Rolls-Royce and give her a swell apartment," was the contribution to the defense made by Richard Horlick, 712 Grace street, proprietor of a riding academy in Racine.

Horlick told of seeing Munding and Mrs. Douglass in their flat above the riding stable at 5217 Broadway, living as man and wife. He told of an occasion when Mrs. Douglass had chased a woman patron from the riding academy, when the woman had sought Munding to pay her bill. Mrs. Douglass, he said, had spoken of a man from her old home in Gay, Mich., with whom she had been at various hotels.

Henry Bleidt, 5347 Wayne avenue, came next. Mrs. Douglass evidently had a habit of telling people her marital troubles. For it was at his first meeting with her, he said, that she told him that she and Munding were married, but didn't want any one to know about it.

And again the defense succeeded in getting a picture of the man it claims was insane when he shot.

Munding's Actions Described.

"During the time just previous to the shooting," Mr. Bleidt testified, "George never paid any attention to business. He would get into his car and drive away. Then he'd come back for, say, fifteen minutes. Then he'd jump in his car and shoot away again.

"He was always on the go, always jumping around, and wouldn't listen to reason."

There were two more pictures added to the string.

"He was despondent, drinking heavily, and neglecting his business. He said he loved his wife too much to give up," said Miss Margaret Hand, 7421 Parkhurst avenue, a former rider at the school.

"I saw Mrs. Douglass on the 'L' with another girl and two men, and she told me not to tell Munding," was the testimony of Gerald Shea, former butcher at 5210 Broadway.

The defense will continue tomorrow. Munding, himself, will take the stand on Tuesday, it is expected. The alienist's testimony will conclude the trial.

The above is a photographic reproduction of a check for $7,500 received yesterday by Mrs. Anna M. Gower of Janesville, Wis. It was for the full amount of a travel accident policy issued under The Tribune-Federal Life Insurance company plan for which William E. Gower had paid a premium of $1.

WIDOW OF TAXI MAN PAID FIRST $7,500 POLICY

Husband Carried Tribune-Federal Insurance.

Mrs. Anna M. Gower of Janesville, Wis., is the first beneficiary of THE TRIBUNE-Federal Life Insurance company full $7,500 travel accident policy.

Because her husband, William E. Gower, early in March clipped a coupon from THE TRIBUNE and sent it in with $1 as a premium for one year, Mrs. Gower, now his widow, received a check yesterday for the full amount of the first part of the policy—$7,500.

The broad protection of this policy extended to Mr. Gower, although he operated a line of taxicabs in Janesville, and was driving one at the time of the accident in which he met his death on March 31. Under the ordinary accident policy the passengers in public vehicles are protected, but the operators are not.

Dangerous Occupations.

THE TRIBUNE-Federal Life policy covers all these dangerous occupations. Its policy includes such occupations as taxicab drivers, motor men, bus drivers, policemen, and firemen.

Mr. Gower was driving a cab with two passengers. In crossing the tracks of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad at Janesville his cab was struck. Mr. Gower and one woman passenger were instantly killed. Under the terms of the policy his widow, upon proper proof of death, received the full amount of the policy.

Covers Three Fields.

THE TRIBUNE-Federal Life policy is divided into three sections, covering a wider field than any other similar policy offered.

The first part applies to all accidents in public vehicles, whether occurring to passengers or operators.

The second part applies to the drivers and passengers in private vehicles. This pays at the rate of $2,000. The third part carries protection of $1,000 for pedestrians. This also covers drowning, burning, tornadoes, etc.

A fourth section gives weekly payments of $10 for fifteen weeks to any one disabled and kept from work by accidents occurring in the manner specified in the preceding sections.

Kidnaps Own Children, So He Escapes Arrest

Greenville, S. C., April 11.—Guy R. Maloney, superintendent of police of New Orleans, requested the police here to locate and arrest Thomas P. Morgan, 40, on a charge of kidnaping two children, 6 and 3 years old. Morgan was found, but police discovered that the children were his own and that the matter was a family affair. No arrest was made.

CAL SHAKES 57 HANDS A MINUTE FOR NEW RECORD

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[United Press.]—President Coolidge today broke his record by shaking hands with fifty-seven persons a minute for seventeen minutes. When the last of the 980 Easter visitors passed through his study at the White House, the President's grip was apparently as firm as when he shook the first hand in the line.

To make this record, Mr. Coolidge took advantage of a heavy couch in his study, against which he braced his left foot as he used his right hand to pull his callers through in double quick time.

Mabelle Gilman Corey Falls in Barbed Wire; Cut

PARIS, April 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—Mrs. Mabelle Gilman Corey, formerly the wife of William E. Corey, once president of the United States Steel corporation, suffered a serious accident recently near Dijon while returning from the Riviera. When alighting from her automobile she tripped and fell headlong down a steep embankment into a mass of barbed wire. She was picked up unconscious and is suffering from deep flesh wounds in addition to injuries to her eyes.

SUNNY DAY GIVES HUGE CROWD FOR CIRCUS OPENING

Glinting of spangles and silver and gilt trappings, snorting of ponies and trumpeting of elephants, all unmistakably of the atmosphere of the "big top," ushered in the season's opening performance of the Sells-Floto circus at the Coliseum yesterday. The sunny day brought out the crowds, and the performers worked with a will to gain their meed of applause.

From the boxing kangaroos and the clowns, who furnished many of the laughs, to the pulse quickening performance of Miss Kathryn Thompson, equestrienne, and her high school horse, "Kirby Dare," the show followed the time honored program for circuses, even to the peanut man who haunts the vicinity of the elephants in the menagerie.

The entire force of the circus, both human and animal actors, participates in the spectacle, "The Bride and the Beasts," which opens the show. It is a pageant of ancient Egypt, upon which the producers have lavished their best efforts.

The show will fill a three weeks' engagement at the Coliseum.

HEAVY QUAKE IS RECORDED HERE; LASTS 3 HOURS

Washington, D. C., April 11.—A very heavy earthquake, at least 6,500 miles from Washington, was recorded early today on the seismograph at Georgetown university.

The tremors began at 6:02 a. m. and continued until 8:35 a. m., with the maximum reached at between 7:03 and 7:05. The Rev. Francis Torndorf, director of the observatory, said he was unable to calculate the direction of the disturbance from Washington. He described the earthquake as "very heavy."

SHOCK RECORDED HERE.

The United States weather bureau seismograph at the University of Chicago, yesterday recorded an earthquake beginning at 5:02 a. m. and ending at 8:15 a. m., central standard time. The maximum disturbance was recorded at 6:11 a. m.

DAY SEEKS TO DIVORCE BRIDE WHO THREW ACID

Mrs. Darby Day, Jr.
[P. & A. Photo.]

The tempestuous six months marriage of Darby A. Day Jr., 21 years old, and his youthful bride, Mrs. Bernice Lundstrom Day, which culminated a few weeks ago at Los Angeles, Cal., when she threw acid into his eyes, may soon be ended, it was revealed yesterday when the husband filed a suit for divorce in the Circuit court. The bill will probably be contested, it was announced by Mrs. Day's attorney in Los Angeles.

Young Day, son of the wealthy head of the Life Insurance Underwriters' association, charges his 20 year old wife with extreme and repeated cruelty. The acid attack, which will probably cause the loss of sight in one eye, was merely the climax of a series of assaults, he says.

The young couple were married last September, surprising their parents, and left for Los Angeles. Soon, Mrs. Day begun to display an ungovernable temper, the bill states, often striking her husband.

A Mystery

Allesandro della Spina was a Dominican monk of Pisa. He died in 1313.

This monk made spectacles and was the first public optician, distributing them "with a benevolent and cheerful heart", the monastery archives tell us.

"He perfected spectacles which were first made by someone who would divulge nothing regarding them", we are also told.

Who was the "someone"? If we knew, we would know the inventor of spectacles, in Europe, and doubtless the year of their discovery.

Was it Degli Armati, whose friends prayed for his soul as the inventor of spectacles? He and Allesandro were friends.

Another monk of Pisa mentions spectacles in a sermon delivered in 1305 and says that he has seen and conversed with the man who first made them.

Whoever it was would be amazed in any Almer Coe Store today at the discoveries that have since been made—and still are being made—toward the perfection of eyeglasses.

Of course there is a reason for it—

We use the greatest care in buying, in order to give people clothes that are distinctive and yet offer them in a range of prices within reach of every one. The everyday wage earner who is short of cash finds a credit account here helpful, and the busy business man and business woman who realize that the money which they would have to pay for a spot cash outlay of clothes can be invested to bring good returns, open accounts here and arrange for weekly payments. Why don't you open an account, too?

ROME THRONGED WITH PILGRIMS; GREETS EASTER

Striking Church Rites Mark End of Lent.

BY GEORGE SELDES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ROME, April 11.—Hundreds of thousands of pilgrims who have been pouring into Italy since the first of the holy year today are flooding Rome in order to participate in the elaborate Easter services of song and sermon. Hotels and boarding houses are full and prices are up 25 to 50 per cent. About 80 per cent of the visitors speak German.

Hundreds of persons, including many Americans, judging from their rubber heeled shoes, climbed the steps of St. John of Lateran church on their knees today. These are the marble steps from the house of Pontius Pilate, which Christ ascended several times. They are now covered with wood because otherwise they would have been entirely worn away by now through the wear of hundreds of thousands of knees.

Each pilgrim climbing the twenty-eight steps, reciting a prayer at each step, receives dispensation from all his sins for nine years.

Display Sacred Relics.

At St. John of Lateran the visitors today viewed the heads of St. Peter and St. Paul, and also the boards of the table on which Christ gave "the last supper."

Cardinal Merry Del Val will celebrate mass at St. Peter's tomorrow, where the largest existing collection of sacred relics will be on display. Pope Pius has invited several intimate friends to attend mass, which he will hold in a special chapel at the Vatican.

Every other church and chapel in the holy city is also planning special services to mark the day of the resurrection and the end of Lent.

Dr. Stone Preaches in Jerusalem.

[Copyright: 1925: By the New York Times.]

JERUSALEM, April 11.—Easter this year finds Jerusalem bathed in sunshine and crowded with pilgrims. The climax of Holy Week's prayer and processions will be reached Sunday when thousands representing all religions and sects will jostle for standing room around the Holy Sepulchre.

A distinctly American touch is lent by the visits of hundreds of American tourists to the orphanages of the American Near East Relief at Bethlehem and Jerusalem. The children from the American orphanages in Saint James' monastery on Mount Zion and the Holy Cross convent are making pilgrimages to the holy places.

Dr. John Timothy Stone, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church of Chicago will conduct a special Easter service for Americans.

SEGREGATION OF CRIME NEWS NOT YET CONCLUSIVE

Des Moines, Ia., April 11.—The Des Moines Register, which a week ago instituted the policy of segregating crime news on an inside page tonight announced the plan would be temporarily continued.

"The Register has received hundreds of commendatory letters, telegrams and telephone messages," the announcement said. "Unquestionably these have been sincere. Whether they indicate the verdict of the public, as a whole, or only the verdict of a conscientious, intelligent and articulate minority, is another question."

Consequently, subject "to an emergency calling for extraordinary treatment," the policy will be maintained.

Decatur Also Trying It.

Decatur, Ill., April 11.—After a week's trial of segregation of telegraph crime news, to the lower left hand corner of the front page of the Decatur Review, each column headed by a small head, "crime," opinion differs widely as to this method of handling such news.

The majority of ministers contend that undue attention is called to it, while a few have said that it places it where it can be skipped without reading.

WOMAN'S DEATH A MYSTERY.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gorski, 35, 3431 North Monticello avenue, died yesterday in the Columbus hospital. She was found April 9 in a warehouse at 3358 Avondale avenue and is thought to have taken poison.

SET WEDNESDAY AS BUNDLE DAY FOR NEAR EAST

Plans were completed yesterday by the Illinois committee for the Near East relief bundle day Wednesday. Eight hundred bundle stations will be open in Chicago and other Illinois cities for the reception of clothing for suffering orphans and refugees in Bible lands.

Part of yesterday's meeting was the reading of a cablegram from Dr. John Timothy Stone, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church, who is now in Jerusalem. He declares that relief work "must be continued if thousands of children are to be brought to useful citizens."

A final meeting of the committee will be held tomorrow mornig in the offices of Superintendent of Schools McAndrew.

NEW VITAMINE MAY BE KEY TO BIRTH CONTROL

Sterilizes and Fertilizes, Too, Doctor Says.

Madison, Wis., April 11.—[Special.]—A new vitamine, which has been given the chemical classification of E, may prove the means of checking sterility and probably curing cancer. Experiments conducted at the University of California by Prof. Herbert Evans, who lectured here this week, show that when the vitamine is denied to animals they become sterile. If eliminated in the food of cancerous animals it may cure the cancerous growth, says Dr. Evans, professor of anatomy at California.

The western professor is working in the same field with Prof. H. Steenbock and Prof. E. B. Hart of the University of Wisconsin, who have experimented with the injection of another vitamine into food through the ultra-violet ray to build up animals and human beings and to cure rickets.

Experiments on Rats.

Dr. Evans has experimented for a long time with this new vitamine on a colony of rats, has made female rats sterile through extraction of his vitamine, and has made them repeatedly fertile by feeding them with an oil of wheat rich in vitamine E.

The death of the embryo and its absorption by the body tissues when vitamine E is denied were described by Dr. Evans in his address. Then he showed how when one drop of wheat oil containing vitamine E is fed the apparently sterile rat it will deliver a normal litter of nine progeny and will continue doing so if the drop is repeated at intervals.

Thinks It Will Affect Humans.

Purfied starch and milk containing casein, as well as lettuce and other green vegetables, contain this vitamine, Dr. Evans says. Its effects, he believes, are exactly the same on human beings as on rats, though human beings are not easily available for experimentation.

Dr. Evans is to begin research in the application of the effects of vitamine E to cancer as the next step in his study.

CULLERTON PAYS DIVORCED WIFE; WRIT IS DROPPED

MRS. MARY CULLERTON.

All accounts between John F. Cullerton, former fire commissioner, and his divorced wife, Mrs. Mary Cullerton, including a matter of $5,000 overdue alimony, have been settled, Cullerton informed Judge Harry Lewis yesterday. A writ of ne exeat against the former fire official was dismissed.

Cullerton was arrested some months ago and housed in jail over night. He declared then that he couldn't pay the alimony. Some days ago he was again arraigned and explained that his recent honeymoon trip to Europe had cut heavily into his bank account.

He was then confronted with the prospect of going to jail or paying up. He chose the latter course.

TELL WHY MANY THOUSANDS HAVE 'OFFICIAL' STARS

Officials Say It Is to Aid the Police.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

Shiny stars and badges, meant to carry special privilege and to impress alike the police and the public, are being given out promiscuously in thousands, it was revealed yesterday, by every manner of official and organization from Mayor William E. Dever's office down.

The mayor's office became involved when a well known public utility official telephoned THE TRIBUNE that a big automobile bearing a large star with "city official" printed on it stood in a stall near his own car in a garage. He said the car bore state license No. 94,868.

Investigation showed this license had been issued to Bertram J. Cahn, secretary-treasurer of B. Kuppenheimer & Co., clothiers of 415 South Market street. Mr. Cahn lives at 257 East Delaware place. He was called on the telephone.

Admits Carrying Star.

"Mr. Cahn, we are told you have a large star bearing the title 'city official' on the front of your car; is that right?" he was asked.

"Yes," he replied.

"Are you a city official, Mr. Cahn?"

"No," Mr. Cahn replied; and he was then asked how he got the star. He suggested a visit to his office on Monday; he didn't want to discuss it over the phone. He was told he was being asked for publication on Sunday morning.

"Well," he said then, "I got it through the mayor's office."

He was asked how he happened to get it, by what reason—an explanation, if he cared to give it; and he hung up the receiver.

Peddled by Two Organizations.

Two other organizations were found yesterday to be giving out stars in numbers. The first of these is the state constabulary organization known as the "department of constabulary"—the inference being that it is an official state department instead of a private organization.

The second is the Illinois police reserves.

Both these organizations are chartered by the state under an old law enacted years ago for the apprehension of horse thieves. The former has a membership of about 2,500 in Chicago, and an additional membership of some 8,500 more out in the state.

The Illinois police reserves organization has a membership, according to Walter P. Stuart, superintendent, of only about 400.

Both Stuart and William E. Timms, superintendent of the so-called department of constabulary, say their organizations are good organizations. Both insist they examine the records and character of their applicants carefully, that they constantly instruct them against the display and illegal use of their stars, and that they oust all members promptly when they find them misusing their stars.

Stuart organized what is now known as the department of constabulary, later pulled out of it, and organized the police reserves, which he now heads. He says his organization is a body of men of high character organized to help put down strikes and riots and to do police duty when police are called upon to do emergency duty.

Few Have Gun Permits.

Stuart says he pulled out of the department of constabulary because he did not like the gun permit features of that organization. Timms says Stuart pulled out for other reasons, but adds that he does not wish to discuss Mr. Stuart.

Mr. Timms says only about one-third of his Chicago members have revolver permits.

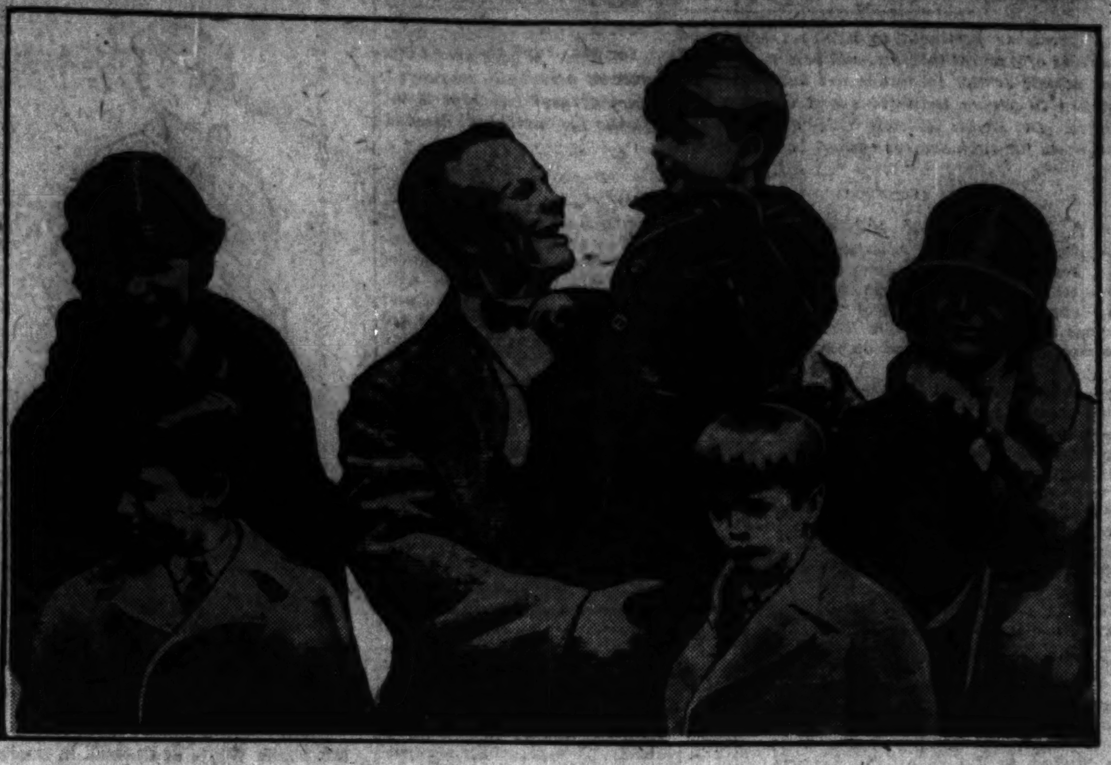
"We help them get permits only when they do a lot of active, hazardous duty," he said. "We consider carefully before we recommend them for a gun permit, and we are always on the lookout for misuse of authority."

"Our men are authorized simply to help enforce the law in emergencies," Mr. Stuart says. "We train them in what the laws are; we have never had a case of irresponsible use of authority."

Charles Ringer, member of the board of assessors, yesterday asked that THE TRIBUNE publish the fact that he withdrew more than a year ago from the firm known as Cannon, Carolan, Ringer, Graham & Hoffman, of which Sheriff Hoffman is a member, and which is paid the fees for bonding all special deputy sheriffs.

James A. Kearns, chief clerk of the Municipal court, asked that it be published that he has never believed in issuing special stars of any sort and that he has never done so in his terms of office.

BIDDING HIS FAMILY GOOD-BY



Theodore Roosevelt, who with his brother, Kermit, sailed yesterday aboard the Leviathan on the first leg of exploration trip to northern India, bids good-by to his wife and children. Photo was taken on the liner.

OPEN NATIONAL DRIVE AGAINST SPITTING HABIT

To curtail the spread of germs scattered by those addicted to the spitting habit, a national campaign against spitting will begin today and it promises to become an annual affair. The Chicago Tuberculosis institute is handling the local campaign and will be assisted by railroads and other industries through the use of posters and advertising. Chief of Police Collins has issued orders to arrest persons who persist in spitting in public places. The safeguarding of children is the especial object of the campaign.

TIKHON'S WISH ON CHURCH RULE TO BE FOLLOWED

MOSCOW, April 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—In his dying testament, the Most Rev. Dr. Tikhon, head of the Russian Orthodox church, requested that the Metropolitans Agaphangel of Yaroslav, Cyril of Tambov, and Peter of Moscow, be named a council to carry on the duties of the patriarch, and the church authorities will observe his wishes.

The question of a permanent successor will remain open until a special conclave of all orthodox churches is called, the metropolitan Peter said.

It is scarcely possible, however, that such a conclave can be convened since neither the soviet government nor the "Living Church" recognizes the followers of Dr. Tikhon. Consequently the office of patriarch may disappear for the present.

Final preparations were made today for the funeral of the patriarch Tikon, who will be interred in his robes of office in a specially built vault under the floor of the oldest chapel of the Donskoy monastery.

2 OF OLD T. R.'S CUBS HIT TRAIL OF MARCO POLO

Death Awaits—Yet They Call It Fine Sport!

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—Watched by the world, two Roosevelts—chips off the old block—sailed today on the journey of their lives. They are Col. Theodore and Kermit.

They're off to Kipling's country, to the roof of the world, where "every mile stands on end" and time and eternity stand hand in hand, where space and infinity slumber side by side.

They go to the land of strange beasts and stranger gos, where nothing has happened but wind and snow, avalanche and blizzard and falling rock, since Marco Polo shinneyed over "the world's white rooftree" in the thirteenth century.

Eager to Hit the Trail.

"It's a fine jaunt," said Kermit today, and his eyes brightened like a boy's at word of a school vacation.

A fine jaunt, indeed; six months' exposure to nipping cold and snow slides and all the uncatalogued dangers. And they call it sport!

Late in the summer their wives will sail for India and meet them as they forge their way through Leh Pass into the valley of Kashmir.

Just a week ago there sailed on the Roosevelt line freighter Homestead Charles K. Cherrie, hunter and explorer, a muscular man of 60, with mild eyes gazing through benevolent, gold rimmed glasses.

On Marco Polo's Path.

The Roosevelts will join Dr. Cherrie at Srinigar, in the valley of Kashmir.

Oddly enough, there were two Roosevelts with Dr. Cherrie on a trip some years ago into Brazil, when the River of Doubt was found, and the two Roosevelts were "T. R." and Kermit. This time it is T. R. and Kermit again—without the quotation marks.

$200,000 ASKED OF LOS ANGELES TIMES FOR LIBEL

Los Angeles, Cal., April 11.—Francis J. Heney, prominent California attorney, filed suit here this afternoon against the Los Angeles Times for $200,000 for alleged libel. Complaint was based on an editorial commenting on Heney's employment by United States Senator Couzens, Detroit, to aid in the investigation of Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury.

Heney appeared in several big cases before the United States Supreme court. He claims in his suit that on several occasions he represented the President of the United States in the investigation of trusts.

He was special prosecutor for the government in San Francisco in 1906 when Mayor Schmidt and Abe Ruef were prosecuted on graft charges. Defendants in the action include Harry S. Chandler, publisher; F. S. Pfaffinger, Harry Andrews, Mrs. Marian Chandler, and Mrs. Mabel Otis Booth, stockholders.

THIS IS THE MURDER CAPITAL.

Chicago recorded 108 homicides in the first three months of this year. That sets a record. In the same three months, New York, which has twice as many inhabitants, had only 75 killings, less than two-thirds as many. We cannot defend ourselves by accusing the Sicilians, the Negroes, or some other racial group. They have the same kind of people in New York in about the same proportions. We live in the most murderous city in the civilized world and there is no excuse for us.

The shameful record is the result of a mistaken policy in the administration of the police department. Obviously, in a city in which crimes of violence are common occurrences, police activity should be concentrated upon preventing crimes of violence. Nevertheless, in Chicago the police have been exhausting their energy in harassing gambling, vice, and the traffic in beer. However serious these matters are, they stand as minor derelictions of conduct alongside murder, rape, and robbery.

The theory was that by closing the haunts of the gunmen, the gunmen would leave the city for more congenial climes. The murder figures tell a different story. There were 66 killings in the first three months of 1923. That was before Mayor Dever introduced his idea. In the first three months of 1924 there were 91 killings, a record until this year's count of 108. The mayor's idea is wrong; it has been proved wrong. He is enforcing the wrong laws.

It is impossible to enforce all the laws. Every executive who takes his oath to enforce them all has his tongue in his cheek. The modern American executive is more than an administrative officer; he is a lawmaker, for he decides which of the laws shall be enforced and against whom they shall be enforced. A choice must be made and he must make it.

The murder record shows the mayor's choice has been the wrong one. If more than a few of the victims of the killers had been men of prominence, Mr. Dever would long since have been forced to change his attitude. When murders slacken it will be time to bother about slot machines and beer.

THE SHORTER BIBLE.

The Shorter Bible is much shorter. Its compilers were obviously drys, and, being drys, undoubtedly fundamentalists. Mr. Bryan is the country's best known dry and best known fundamentalist. He is certainly both. The belief of the fundamentalist is in the literal meaning and inspirational source of the Bible intact. They do not require an ecclesiastical interpretation or tolerate a scientific one. The words are as they stand, mean what they mean, and are accepted as in themselves definite and final.

Some fundamentalists will quarrel with that statement and say that interpretation is needed, but they are safe only when they insist that the literal meaning is plain and to be accepted. The dry fundamentalists in shortening the Bible edited the favorable mention of wine out of it, particularly out of St. John and St. Paul, striking out the miracle of the wedding feast at Cana and St. Paul's advice that a little wine was good for the stomach. They also, among other things, eliminated the account of the regrowing of the grapevine by Noah and the consequences of that. They also approved of "raisin cake" as a better translation of the original than "wine." To shorten a work you must take things out, but this shortening took out things which the drys could not reconcile to a dry dogma. They ceased being fundamentalists when they found something they did not want to believe. The Word is not literal to them when it conflicts with opinion.

MAN IS AS THE GRASS.

The world is in the seventh year of peace after the war. It has not been unbroken peace, but for most of Europe and for America it has been peace, and the most shattered parts of Europe have been free from the destruction to which they were subjected.

Each year has added to adult activities youth which was not in the war. Some was ready to step in when it stopped. Some was still within the borders of childhood. Much adult manhood was crushed. We thought of the flower of the warring nations as being annihilated or maimed and of the lasting consequences this might have on the finest breeds of civilization.

In Germany there were winters in which malnutrition was affecting the future. Babies without proper food were said to be introducing elements of weakness into the breed. Children with rickets and with disease tendencies as adults would produce a deteriorated stock.

Lands were ravaged. Living things were swept off them, and where there had been productivity there was a desert. Could the land recover? Could the human breed survive? With one season of rain and warmth the grass was over the scars in the ground. It grew around the shell holes and in them. It covered graves and went into the trenches. The plow was back in the battle field and there was grain again where there had been armed men.

The countries were full of maimed men and some one was lost in nearly every home, but the new blood of the nations was coming from the untouched youth. When we are staggered by the devastation of war we forget the greater strength of nature in recuperation.

The Thirty Years' war made central Europe almost a desert. It pushed human endurance almost to the breaking point at which there could not be recuperation, but the grass again grew and youth came up and the recovery was complete after a long and painful time. The Napoleonic wars are supposed to have had an effect on the French people because Napoleon took the best of the youth for so many years, but a hundred years later, and after other wars, France was strong.

Nature has tremendous strength in rejuvenation, both in man and materials. A greater Chicago followed the Chicago fire. A greater city followed the overthrow of San Francisco. If this city suffered such an overthrow it would be greater when it arose again. Man is puny when destruction hits him, but he gets up and he and nature build again.

DEFLATING A JAPANESE SCARE.

A good deal is made of statements that Japan is carrying through an extensive aircraft program, buying heavily in Europe, and building feverishly at home. The rumors are warlike, and they do not lose anything in repetition. THE TRIBUNE will not be accused of sleeping on questions of national defense or of having any too altruistic ideas of motives and objects in international affairs and world conduct, but it does not believe in spooky bedtime stories to scare the children.

Japan is foolish if it is neglecting its air defense. America is doing so and it is foolish. America is a very rich nation and Japan is not. That makes our course inexcusable. THE TRIBUNE has made inquiries as to the Japanese aircraft activity, and it believes the information given is as authentic as can be obtained. Within the last two years Japan has not purchased a large number of planes, less than a hundred of all types in this time. In Japan the production is not up to the capacity of the Japanese factories. There is no reason to believe and no information to indicate that there is any inordinate Japanese activity in building up a super aircraft force.

This is the best information THE TRIBUNE has been able to get, and its sources are good. There are enough reasons for the United States to be sensible in its own air protection, but we need not aggravate the relations of this country and Japan by promoting an unfounded story that the air preparations of Japan promise an early bombing trip to Hawaii or San Francisco.

ELECTING A GERMAN PRESIDENT.

In the German presidential system two elections are contemplated as a possibility and, with a number of parties, the second election may be regarded as almost an inevitability. The German republic is electing a successor to Ebert, its first president. The first voting failed. The second voting is April 26.

In the first voting the successful candidate and party must have a majority. A multiplicity of parties will make that next to impossible. We regard a preliminary election which does not produce a majority choice as an elimination. The two high candidates go into the run-off and a majority election is assured. That is the way Chicago elects aldermen. That is the way Texas elected Mrs. Ferguson governor.

The German second election is just the opposite. New candidates may enter. A majority is not required. The high man wins. To our way of political thinking that seems to defeat the apparent object of the first election.

In the first election in this German campaign the monarchist was high man. The moderate republican Socialist was about 2,500,000 votes behind him. Then with considerable strength but trailing were other parties and the result no election. In such a case American politics would produce some tricks, but the Germans think it forces coalition which means compromise and conciliation, the real base of democratic government. It is apparent that if every partisan were stiff necked for the second election the monarchist would win, although the possible combinations which could be made against him by conciliation and gathering on a common ground might defeat him.

For the second election these partisans are drawing in from the extremes on the right and left towards ground near the center.

Democratic government asks that partisans shall accept political defeat. The parties must not be so far apart that one cannot abide government by the other. An election must be accepted as a determination for a stated period and not used as a reason for revolt or secession.

The extremes in German politics are very far apart. We have never measured in our politics the distance between a monarchist and a Red. Germany, as it has been governed, has been an opportunist, theoretical Socialist republic. Actually it has been under the dominion of its industrial genius which now presents it as a state restored from the war with a sound currency and a flourishing industry.

By great struggle Germany has recovered. The second German election is momentous. If the coalition against monarchy can win it promises an acceptance of a frontier with France and a guaranty against aggression. The German republicans, nominally Socialists, are willing to regard peace as desirable. The monarchist is an irredentist. He cannot come to a peaceful understanding with France. He must have back the frontier of 1871. That is the old quarrel.

Not even the German republicans can afford to say they will accept what the treaty did to the German eastern frontier. Lloyd George said the eastern frontier had five Alsace-Lorraines—Eastern Galicia, White Russia, Vilna, the Danzig corridor and Silesia.

If the monarchists win in the second German election there is an irredenta east, west and everywhere. If the republicans win there may be peace struck with Great Britain and France in the west and a peaceful Germany trying for a while at least, for a generation or two, to find some way out, other than war, for the troubles in the east.

There have been few elections which so much concerned the gates of Janus as this German presidential run-off.

AT A DIME A GLASS.

There are two things that make good Americans cuss the government. One is prohibition and the other is income taxes. They moved in at about the same time and they've been living on the family ever since. They have their places at table, but nobody calls them by their first names or passes them the salt until they ask for it. Even Grandma, who was so fond of Prohibition, has been seen slipping him a dirty look. She doesn't like his manners and his bootlegging relations.

The way to get rid of both is two-seventy-five beer. If congress lets us have it—as it has every right to do under the eighteenth amendment—the grouch against the government for interfering with our private affairs will be forgotten. The beer will be sold at 10 cents a glass. That is twice as much as it used to cost, but everything else has gone up, too, including coffee, which used to cost a nickel and now costs a dime. Extra-tasty stuff for the clubs would sell at 15 cents, and the boys in the upholstered chairs would be happy to pay it. With the training the nation has had in bootleg prices—two bits for beer and a dollar for Canadian ale—it will seem like giving it away.

Say it costs a cent to manufacture a glass of beer. Another cent or two, maybe, to transport and sell it. The rest is taxes, federal and local. The federal government used to take less than half a cent from every nickel. With beer at a dime the government could take a nickel. The local governments could still get theirs in license fees. Chicago used to raise $7,000,000 a year that way.

Canada is showing us how. Ontario voted dry, but they're opening up beer saloons in Windsor, across from Detroit, and the Detroiters are falling over each other to buy summer homes on the Canadian side. The Detroiters are happy, and so is the Ontario finance minister.

Here are some figures. In the last year before Volstead the United States government took $124,000,000 from beer. Double the price of a glass of beer and that 124 millions would read closer to 750. Nobody would kick except the professional drys. It would be as pleasant to give that money to the government as to take a cool glass in July. Everybody would be as happy as a schoolboy when teacher tells him he doesn't have to stay after school after all. Patriotism would cease to be irrational. There'd be some reason to love the government.

Last year's income taxes of both kinds—on individuals and business houses—totaled $1,841,000,000. The beer tax—which it would be a pleasure to pay—could take care of half of that. We can foresee the day when it will be possible to think kindly of the government even in the fortnight before March 15.

THE COMMUTER'S TICKET.

The woodpecker is all over the woods these days, not the red head but the hairy. The red head doesn't care much for the oaks. He comes in once and a while, but he's soon off for the more open country, the farm lands and roads, orchards, wood lots and fields. The hairy and downy woodpeckers are wintering birds, but when the hairy fellow gets spring in his blood he has something to tell the world.

Sap is running and there is a theory which at least offers cause and consequence that the woodpecker gets jingled on fermented maple juice. Maybe he gets larvæ out of a tin drain, but we doubt it. He has a fancy for one and will work around the house at sunrise. The only plausible explanation is that he is just getting home and wants to express himself before calling it a night. It may perfect the technique with which he can beat a tattoo with his marvelous riveter. The parent woodpeckers must hard boil their eggs before they are hatched.

The householder cannot get angry with him. Whatever issue lies between him and the tin drain it is one which is on his conscience, but we imagine it never will come to a determination. The woodpecker is spirited but the drain is stubborn. The argument is carried all around the house and the householder gets up.

Editorials of the Day

"THERE GOES THE SNAIL."

[New York World.]

The Pennsylvania railroad in deciding to give names instead of numbers to its freight trains is tardy but none the less right in rendering justice to the revenue end of the railroad business. Tardy, because long years ago, Milton H. Smith, the president of the Louisville and Nashville, knew his freight trains by name and his passenger trains by number. That is as it should be. Passenger trains, all shiny coaches and shimmering window panes, can attract public attention and love with a mere number. But the lowly freight, shunted onto a siding to let the express roar by, has no gilt and tinsel with which to draw throngs down to the depot.

Now all that is to be changed. "The Broadway Limited," flashing eastward out of Fort Wayne, will pass, puffing on a side track, not the CP-1 but "The Circe," bearing a load of swine to New York. "The Congressional Limited," bearing its precious cargo of statesmen and oil magnates down to Washington, will give a whistle of recognition to "The Spruce Forest," carrying to the capital tons of paper for congressmen to print their speeches on. "The Lark," soaring along the rails from Los Angeles to San Francisco, will toot politely to "The Celluloid Special," hauling films down to Hollywood. And each worthy caboose hereafter will house a crew in overalls as proud as those who, in gold and blue, come through the passenger trains four times in two hours to punch tickets already perforated like Swiss cheese.

Possibly in time the chief crewman of the freight will have a secretary, like a passenger conductor has, and as he checks off his cargo will dictate the result to a liveried brakeman.

A POTASH MONOPOLY.

[Philadelphia Public Ledger.]

The report that French and German potash interests have made agreements regarding both markets and price levels is not good news for American farms. Long before the war American farm organizations were protesting against the high prices of potash fertilizers, maintained by the German Kali Syndikat. This German group virtually controlled the American potash supply, and fields starved for it because of the high prices. Washington did the best it could to relieve the situation, which was not so bad then as it is now. Nor is it so bad at present as it is likely to be when the new Franco-German syndicate gets its hand in and divides the world markets while setting world prices. The American customer who carries the load will not be able to see much difference in paying a Frenchman high prices for Alsace-Lorraine potash that used to be German and paying a German equally high prices for the potash that remains in German hands. The best the potash user in America will get will be the worst of it.

THINGS LOOKING UP.

An old farmer sat on his back steps and moodily regarded the ravages of the flood. A neighbor pulled up in a rattling wagon.

"Whoa!" yelled the neighbor. "Say, Jed, your hogs was all washed down the creek an' they're all dead."

"How about Flaherty's hogs?" asked the farmer.

"They're gone, too."

"And Larsen's?"

"Washed away."

"Umph!" ejaculated the rustic, cheering up. "Tain't as bad as I thought."—American Legion.

A REPORT ON MILK.

THE International Association of Dairy and Milk Inspectors has recently issued a report on the necessity for pasteurization of milk and various modifications of milk. These are the essentials of the report on milk.

MILK.

Properly supervised pasteurization is of invaluable service in protecting and conserving milk supplies in the following respects—namely:

Pasteurization facilitates maintenance of abundant supplies.

Pasteurization is the only adequate safeguard.

Pasteurization assists in providing a safe supply at prices lower than would otherwise be required.

Communicable disease infections do not survive pasteurization in actual practice.

The association quotes from a report by Campbell Brown on some research work to determine whether the pasteurization kills tubercle bacilli. He selected tubercle bacilli because it is the hardest to kill of all the bacteria frequently found in milk. He experimented with twenty-five strains of tubercle bacilli—some human and some bovine. His conclusion is that pasteurization, properly carried out, can be depended on to kill tubercle bacilli.

"Until bovine tuberculosis can be carried out at its source, proper pasteurization of milk is the only safe method of rendering milk safe as a diet for human consumption. The bovine tuberculosis eradication program — tuberculin testing and the herd and county accredited plans are a part of what Campbell Brown means by stamping out at its source.

CREAM.

The report says that all cream should be pasteurized before distribution. Skimmed milk, buttermilk, whey, and cottage cheese—all of these products or the milk from which they are made, should be pasteurized before they are fed to human beings or to animals.

ICE CREAM.

Ice cream manufactured from raw milk products has all the proclivities of raw milk and cream for spreading communicable diseases. Pasteurization of the ice cream mix correlates well with manufacture as practiced by large and well operated establishments. There are advantages in the pasteurization of the whole mix rather than of milk ingredients only.

CONDENSED AND EVAPORATED MILK AND MILK POWDERS.

These products are heated beyond the pasteurization temperature in the process of manufacture. No further safeguards are required.

BUTTER.

The association quotes Schroeder as follows: "High priced fancy butter made from raw cream is not necessarily safe. The very general adoption of pasteurization by creameries making butter has reduced the live disease producing bacteria found in market butter very materially."

CHEESE.

Cheese that requires fifty days or more to ripen rarely, if ever, contains true living disease producing bacteria when it is marketed. It is practicable to manufacture good cheese from pasteurized milk and cream. Pasteurization is desirable for the milk ingredients entering into the manufacture of cottage cheese, cream cheese, and other cheeses that are not stored fifty days or longer before being marketed.

TO GET PURE MILK.

A. R. A. writes: Would you please give me your views on which is the best milk supply for a city—pasteurized or tuberculin tested raw?

Which do you consider the safer for all around use?

REPLY.

Pasteurized milk is the safer since it protects against milk borne typhoid, scarlet fever, diphtheria and septic sore throat as well as against tuberculosis. The use of milk from tuberculin tested cows should also be encouraged.

A good plan is to require milk from tuberculin tested cows and then to also require pasteurization.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

Letters to this department must be signed with names and addresses of writers.

WAR TERM INSURANCE.

Chicago, April 8.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—I have let my war risk insurance drop but have been told lately that I was very foolish not to keep it up. What could I do to reinstate it, or is it too late? What do you consider the chief advantage of this policy? E. M.

Under the provisions of the world war Veteran's act of June 6, 1924, ex-service men who are in good health may reinstate their war term insurance any time before July 2, 1926. Disabled men must make their reinstatement on or before June 7, 1925. Payment of two month's premium on the amount you wish to carry is required.

Probably the most advantageous feature of this policy is that it provides insurance for ex-service men whose physical conditions are such that they would not be eligible for other kinds of insurance.

The Insurance Section of the U. S. Veteran's bureau, located on the tenth floor, 111 North Canal street, Chicago, is equipped to handle medical examinations, and to assist with application blanks and collection of premiums.

SCARLET FEVER PATIENT.

Chicago, April 4.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A friend who was employed for four years in a loop hotel was taken to a hospital with scarlet fever. She was discharged after four weeks. The hotel housekeeper said she should have been kept seven weeks and has nailed up the girl's room to keep her out, thinking that the girl still carries germs. What can the girl do to get into her room? F. S.

The ordinary legal remedy in such case is to employ an attorney.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

VISITING CANADA.

Chicago, April 6.—[Friend of the People.]—I am an Englishman and have lived in this country for over three years. I have my first naturalization papers and a receipt for head tax. What other papers will I need in making a short visit to Canada around Easter time? Would a passport stamped at Ellis island, also help? Will I have to pay head tax? H. F. S.

If you visit Canada for a period of less than six months and submit proof that you were previously legally admitted to the United States you will not be required to pay head tax. If you were admitted at Ellis Island for permanent residence your passport visaed by the American consul and indorsed at Ellis Island should be sufficient evidence of your previous legal admission.

HOWARD D. EBEY,
District Director of Immigration.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

60 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 12, 1865.

NEW YORK.—The Herald publishes the list of officers surrendered by Gen. Lee to Gen. Grant. They include three lieutenant generals, seventeen major generals, and sixty-one brigadier generals. Among them are Gens. Anderson, Echols, Ewell (already prisoners), Finnegan, Heth, Bushrod, Johnson, Kershaw, Longstreet, Mahone, McCausland, Mosby, Ould (the exchange commissioner), Pemberton, Pickett, Rosser, Sorrell, and Henry A. Wise. The number of men surrendered was between 20,000 and 30,000.

NEW YORK.—A Washington special to the World says it is reported that Gen. Joseph E. Johnston has surrendered on the same terms as Gen. Grant accorded Gen. Lee. Another report, however, is that Johnston is retreating towards Virginia, with Sherman after him. The Herald says: "There is the best authority for the statement that Kirby Smith and his rebel trans-Mississippi army are ready to surrender."

WASHINGTON, D. C.—It is understood that Secretary of War Stanton will resign immediately upon conclusion of peace with the south. Ill health will be his plea. Politicians, however, say that his purpose is to avoid connection with questions that will inevitably result from Mr. Lincoln's settlement with the rebels.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Secretary Seward's injuries, received in a recent runaway accident, have assumed a serious character. He is unable to partake of any food and has to be sustained on stimulants.

CHICAGO.—Maj. Gen. Banks paid us a visit yesterday. He is looking remarkably well. The general and his family are stopping at the Sherman.

CHICAGO.—Ebenezer Whyte of Chicago and Miss Sophia Pritchard of Brooklyn, N. Y., were married at the home of Addison Bryant in this city.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 12, 1900.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—By a vote of 161 to 153 the house passed the Porto Rican bill as it came from the senate, and the measure now goes to the President, who will sign it.

LONDON.—The suspicion that the Boers who have been encamped in the Biggarsberg range ever since the relief of Ladysmith have grown tired of the inactivity and have started out to force Gen. Buller into a fight is confirmed by late dispatches regarding the last engagement at the Sunday river camp.

CHICAGO.—Charles W. Dahl, proprietor of the Leland hotel, has disposed of his interests to H. W. Dildine, a hotel man of Sioux City, Ia.

CHICAGO.—The sanitary board yesterday decided to spend $3,000,000 for the improvement of the Chicago river within the next year.

BRUSSELS.—In the chamber of deputies the premier, M. de Smet de Najer, read a communication from King Leopold, in which his majesty presented to the nation the whole of his real estate.

EVANSTON.—Attendance at the Evanston public schools is being affected by an epidemic of mumps which is sweeping over this town.

CHICAGO.—The completion of a boulevard system joining the parks of Chicago is in sight. The Lincoln park board decided to let contracts at once for the remaining sections of Diversey boulevard. When the work is done the boulevard connection by way of Jackson boulevard will be complete around the city.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 12, 1915.

NEWPORT NEWS.—The converted cruiser Kronprinz Wilhelm, the elusive raider of commerce in the south Atlantic, slipped into this port and asked for fuel and provisions. Should it be interned Germany will not have a fighting ship left on the high seas. Its officers said it was forced to steal its way past four allied cruisers off the Virginia capes to reach this haven. Its record is that it has sunk fourteen ships.

WASHINGTON.—The German note criticizing severely President Wilson's policy in dealing with the French and British blockade and censuring the continued exportation of munitions of war to the allies was made public. In effect it demands that the United States supply food to Germany or stop the sale of arms to the allies.

LONDON.—The French attack in the Woevre district, according to Paris reports, continues to make progress. The German reports, however, maintain that all the French attacks have been repulsed.

LONDON.—The Petrograd correspondent of the Times says: "The Russians have captured the last Austrian position on the main Carpathian range along the Russian advance."

CHICAGO.—"Stop the war" was the cry of the woman peace delegates who started for The Hague conference. Just before leaving Miss Jane Addams said: "We women of the neutral countries hope eventually to bring peace in Europe." Other delegates who left yesterday were Miss Sophonisba P. Breckinridge, Miss Grace Abbott, William H. Tuthill, Miss Emily Napieralski, Mrs. Robert Kohlhammer, Mrs. Julius Loeb, Mrs Herbert E. Willett, and Dr. Alice Hamilton.

CHICAGO.—"Billy" Sunday was called a modern Judas by the Rev. F. A. Moore, pastor of the Church of the Redeemer, Universalist, in a sermon on "Reasons Why Mr. Sunday Should Not Be Brought to Chicago."

REVENGE ON FISHERMEN.

Kankakee, Ill., April 7.—Inform every one connected with your great paper that a few more intimations to the effect that France should make a conveyance of real estate in the form of Miquelon and St. Pierre islands will surely play havoc with any fishing and hunting privileges that Yankees might now enjoy on their balmy shores. JAMES M. BALL.

BUY THE SOCIETY ISLANDS.

Chicago, April 7.—The suggestion that France pay her debt to this country by a cession of island possessions is a very good one. However why not, instead of asking for a few islands in the West Indies, ask for the Society group in the South seas as well. Even with this group thrown in the total value would not equal one-tenth of the $4,500,000,000 advanced to France to save her from ruin.

The Society group, composed of Tahiti, Marquesas, and the Paumotos, have more potential wealth than those in the West Indies, and Tahiti is directly in the path of what is some day to become a very important trade route between the Panama canal and Australia and New Zealand, and we should for once look ahead more than one week, if such a thing is possible in Washington, and include this group in any deal that might be made.

The United States took these islands from England as a prize of war years ago, but the senate let them slip away, and finally France simply moved in and claimed them. To those who do not know, let us inform them that Tahiti is almost as large as Oahu of the Hawaiian group, on which is located the city of Honolulu, and the natives are Polynesians, not Negroes.

ORLANDO C. ANDERSON.

DON'T WEAR YOUR DIAMONDS.

Chicago, April 7.—When I read that Mrs. Blank has been cornered, in the vestibule of her apartment, and relieved of a mink wrap valued at $1,000, a wrist watch valued at $500, rings totaling in value to $1,500, and cash amounting to $280, I feel no pity for her loss, in cash value.

My pity centers mainly in her lack of sense and breeding. No woman of sense and discrimination wears her jewels in street cars, in "L" trains, in shopping tours. No afternoon affair, in any strata of Chicago society, requires or gives occasion for the blatant display of diamonds and platinum seen in the streets of Chicago today.

Diamonds are an excellent investment, but should, along with stock and bond certificates, be kept in vaults.

Sense and good taste, in street dress, by the women of Chicago is an important factor in the solution of the holdup problem.

EARS STAINED RED.

Galena, Ill., April 7.—Now it's monkey fur and the poor monk will lose his skin, just because the French style for ladies' hats demand it. Poor monk, how can we inform the poor fellow to hibernate until the style of wearing monkey fur on ladies' hats change to some other mode. Recently while in the Tri Cities I saw young damsels with handsomely painted faces and ears stained a bright red. Wonder what's next?

GUS E. BROWN.

MEMORIAL TO 1893.

Hammond, Ind., April 7.—Mr. Johnson says: "We Americans don't want the German building." Well here's an American who does, for its quaint architectural beauty, picturesquely set on the lake front. Then many, as well as myself, remember the World's Fair and appreciate the value of the building as a memorial to the fair, not to Germany.

Chicago and America welcomed this building in 1893. Why not preserve it now in memory of the most wonderful exposition the world has ever known?

ARMENIAN LITERARY INSPIRATION.

Chicago, April 7.—After branding the writings of Arlen almost immoral and foreign to the thoughts of the English speaking world, THE TRIBUNE finds satisfaction in the fact that Michael Arlen is an Armenian, consequently he is following his racial inclinations.

Could THE TRIBUNE produce any evidence that Armenian mental activity is responsible for this kind of literature? Armenia has a literature and literary men, but their sources of inspiration have been principally religious, love of nature, and the unhappy pages of their history.

As to the merits of Arlen's literary work, he got his inspiration in the English speaking world and it is the English speaking world that is admiring his art and patronizing it. H. K. [illegible]

SYMBOL OF FRIENDSHIP.

Elmhurst, Ill., April 7.—The German building should be restored as a symbol of our friendship to the people who are creating the new German republic, besides preserving it as a work of art. W. H. [illegible]

THE ESSENCE OF AMERICANISM.

Chicago, April 7.—I was born in Chicago of German parents. My father and I served in the American army. Quite naturally, I grew angry on reading Mr. George B. Johnson's comments on the old German building, and the Germans in particular. My anger soon turned to pity. Pity for a man with such a warped and distorted mind as calls himself an American, when the essence of Americanism is tolerance for another man's race or belief. [illegible]

TO THE LIMIT.

Chicago, April 7.—I quite agree with George B. Johnson in his attack on the German building in Jackson park. I will go further and say that not only should the German building be destroyed—the symbol of the enemy of America, but, since we were at war with England, once, and with Spain, all their institutions should be destroyed and all immigrants from those countries should be barred. L. G. [illegible]

AMERICA FOR AMERICANS.

Princeton, Ill., April 6.—I'll say amen to George B. Johnson. Let the Germans go back to Germany and take their grand old building, and if they can't get out of a scrap long enough to build a building. We [illegible] America for Americans. [illegible]

ONLY DEMOCRATS PUT ON COUNCIL'S CHIEF COMMITTEE

G.O.P. Aldermen Ignored; Precedent Broken.

ALD. J. B. McDONOUGH.

The city council committee on committees, named yesterday in a caucus of the aldermen, leaves Tuesday for Miami, Fla., where, supposedly free from local political influences, it will draft a slate of committee assignments in time for submission to the new city council, which meets for the first time on April 27.

Council precedents, which give a minority political faction proportionate representation on the slatemaking group, were shattered when the twelve Republicans in the council were ignored and all five committee places were given to Democrats.

Democratic Action Hit.

City hall observers denounced the Democratic grab of the slatemaking places as a violation of the principle that the council committees shall be nonpartisan, as the council is supposed to be. Veterans pointed out that not since 1899, when the council was placed on a nonpartisan basis, has one political party been denied equal representation on the committee on committees.

With the exception of the battle staged by Ald. Arthur Albert [43d] to prevent the selection of Ald. Dorsey Crowe [42d] as the delegate on the committee of the north side wards, none of the fireworks predicted for the caucus materialized.

The suggestion of Ald. Ross A. Woodhull [7th], chairman of the finance committee, that the aldermen bind themselves in advance to ratify the assignments to be made by the committee on committees caused a flurry that indicated that whatever slate is finally made up will be given close scrutiny by the rest of the council before it is approved.

McDonough Is Chairman.

Ald. Joseph B. McDonough [13th], selected by the aldermen of the group of wards from the eleventh to the twentieth inclusive, and a leading candidate to succeed Ald. U. S. Schwartz [4th], who is retiring from the council, as chairman of the local transportation committee, was chosen chairman of the committee on committees. Ald. William R. O'Toole [14th] was designated as his alternate.

Other members of the committee on committees and their alternates are:

Wards 1 to 10—Ald. R. A. Woodhull [7th]; alternate, Ald. Ernest M. Cross [10th].

Wards 21 to 30—Ald. Dennis A. Horan [21st]; alternate, Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th].

Wards 31 to 40—Ald. Edward J. Kaindl [34th]; alternate, Ald. Max Adamowski [38th].

Wards 41 to 50 — Ald. Dorsey R. Crowe [42d]; alternate, Ald. E. I. Frankhauser [49th].

Frankhauser Is Eliminated.

As the aldermen went into their informal session six of the ten north side aldermen were avowed candidates to represent their division on the committee on committees. Ald. Frankhauser, a Deneen Republican and an early favorite for the place, was out of the running when Brundage-Barrett-Crowe Republicans in the same group threw their support to Ald. Crowe, a Democrat. Ald. Thomas J. Bowler [41st] and Leo M. Brieske [45th] had thrown their hats in the ring, but withdrew in favor of Crowe, who polled eight votes of the ten. Ald. Frankhauser refused to vote and Albert cast his ballot for Frankhauser to the last.

Ald. Woodhull's attempt to line up the council in support of the committee assignments before they were made drew fire from half a dozen of the aldermen.

"Inasmuch as it is customary for the council to agree beforehand to accept the report of the committee on committees, I would suggest——" began Ald. Woodhull.

"I guess not," broke in Ald. Albert. "That report will be nothing more than a committee report at its best, and it must be submitted to the council in regular fashion for approval or rejection. There are forty-five other aldermen who are interested in the makeup of the new committees, and we will ratify the slate if we think the assignments are right and only then."

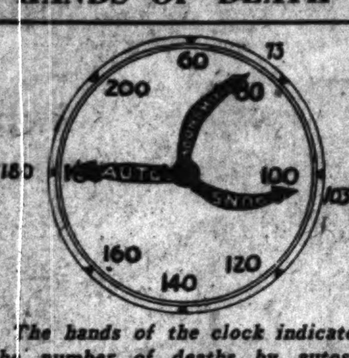
Ald. John J. Coughlin [1st], a council veteran of many years' service, declared he had never heard such a suggestion made before. Ald. Frankhauser declared he would not relinquish his right to question the wisdom of any appointment the committee on committees might take, and Ald. Woodhull withdrew the suggestion.

In order that the legality of the work of the committee on committees might not be debated, the members and alternates were sworn in as members of the new city council by City Clerk Al Gorman yesterday afternoon. The aldermen will be inducted on April 27.

KILLED BY AUTOS

ANTHONY LANZITO [945 Vernon place.] GEORGE PAPPAS. [638 Sangamon St.]

HANDS OF DEATH



The hands of the clock indicate the number of deaths by autos, guns, and moonshine in Cook county since Jan. 1. Yesterday was the one hundred and first day of 1925.

CHICAGO TO BE AT ONE END OF FORD AIR LINE

The Ford Motor company will soon begin operation of what is said to be America's first exclusively commercial air line between Dearborn, Mich., and Chicago, it was announced yesterday. The plane, with which the line will be opened, is Maiden Dearborn, an all-metal airplane, purchased two weeks ago. Another plane will be ready in two weeks, it was said, and will be placed in operation with the Maiden Dearborn on a schedule of one trip daily each way. The operation of the first plane will be experimental for a few weeks. The run will be made in two and one-half hours.

At first only Ford company mail and freight will be carried between the Detroit plant and the assembly plant here. The plane is capable of carrying a 2,000 pound cargo.

Ex-Congressman, Friend of Coolidge, Dies in Panama

BALBOA, Canal Zone, April 11.—United Press.] — Former Congressman Lewis Dewart Apsley of Massachusetts died in a hospital at Colon today of diabetes. He was an intimate friend of President Coolidge and the late Theodore Roosevelt. He was president of the Firestone-Apsley Rubber company of Hudson, Mass.

FOUR PERSONS DIE, VICTIMS OF SPEED CRASHES

Chicagoan Is Killed in Kenosha Accident.

Three more were killed by autos in the city yesterday, and a third Chicagoan, Edward Kruger, 3426 West 61st place, died in Kenosha, Wis., when his car somersaulted after he had spent the night in a roadhouse.

EDWARD KRUGER.

A Club cab struck Frank Ciamciarula, 73 years old, of 506 North Green street, as he tried to cross West North avenue. He died instantly.

Austin Friel, 43 years old, of 4317 South Michigan avenue, died of injuries received on April 7. Frank Mristo, 130th street and South Park avenue, driver of the car which hit Friel, is charged with manslaughter.

Mrs. Edna Meddowcroft, 923 Ainslee street, nearly paid for her life when she pushed a baby in its carriage out of the way of an auto that swerved onto the sidewalk at Argyle and Kenmore streets. Mrs. Meddowcroft was knocked down and sustained internal injury. The child, daughter of Mrs. J. Yacer, 5117 Kenmore avenue, was saved, although the car crushed the handle of the carriage.

Peter Voight, 65 years old, 2438 Augusta street, a peddler, died of injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile while attempting to cross the street in front of 2060 North Robey street.

MRS. LOCKWOOD, PROMINENT HERE, DIES IN CONVENT

Mrs. Mary F. Lockwood, 80 years old, niece of J. Y. Scammon, one of the prominent men in the early days of Chicago, died yesterday at the convent of the Sisters of the Cenacle, 513 Fullerton parkway, where she was visiting. Mrs. Lockwood had been living in New York with her sons.

Mrs. Lockwood was born in West Point, the daughter of Brig. Gen. E. P. Scammon. She came to Chicago forty years ago. She was a charter member of the Fortnightly club and was widely known in artistic and literary circles.

Funeral services will be held at the convent tomorrow morning, followed by burial in Calvary cemetery. Mrs. Lockwood is survived by two sons, Walter and Louis Lockwood, and a daughter, Mrs. Mary Baldwin of Peoria, Ill.

POLISH NAVAL OFFICERS HELD IN GRAFT QUIZ

WARSAW, April 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—After lengthy investigations into the accounts of the Polish navy, in which charges of graft were levelled against high officials, Naval Commander Bartoszewicz has been arrested and Vice Admiral Porembski, chief of the Polish navy, suspended.

Both officials are charged with lack of proper surveillance, while nine other officials and controllers in the department have been dismissed or reduced in rank.

Commander Bartoszewicz, who was formerly in the Russian navy, is also accused of treason.

WRIGLEY PLANS RESORT CITY ON CATALINA ISLAND

Los Angeles, Cal., April 11.—[Special.]—Catalina island is to have a new city, of which the nucleus will be a $1,000,000 hotel built by William Wrigley Jr.

Wrigley completed the plans before starting to Chicago two days ago. The new city is to be built four miles northwest of Avalon. The site is a pure sandy beach at the mouth of a valley a mile wide and running four miles back into towering mountains.

The city will follow the general style of architecture of the hotel, which will be French renaissance. A golf architect is now laying out a course on the site. The name of the city has not been selected.

No Matter Where You Live, Call Hursen

Every day there are "Hursen" funerals being conducted in various parts of Chicago and even in the far suburbs. It is the tremendous Hursen organization that has made it possible for thousands of families to obtain the utmost in elegance at funerals, no matter in what part of the city they may be located.

Without this Hursen "power" these families would have to be satisfied with what they were offered by a funeral director in the neighborhood. "Hursen" organization brings Hursen as near to you as your telephone. It enables any family to secure the famous "Hursen" elegance, at the "Hursen" level of prices, which have placed "Hursen's" far in the lead among all undertaking establishments in America!

An added convenience to Chicagoans is the existence of the 3 Hursen "funeral-homes," one each on the North, West and South Sides of the city. Each of these "funeral-homes" is a palace in itself. There is nothing that equals them in this country.

An important feature of all funerals is the quality of automobile equipment. The "Hursen" funeral-autos for passengers, and the new-idea "Hursen" limousine-hearses are the "finishing touch" which makes all "Hursen" funerals an evidence of your supreme love and devotion. With all this, the charges for "Hursen" funerals are far less than the charges usually made elsewhere. Call Hursen, of course!

GRAPPLE WITH GUNMAN WINS TRIBUNE AWARD

William Quilter Is Given Police Hero Prize.

POLICE HERO

Officer William Quilter of the East Chicago Avenue station, who wins The Tribune's $100 bravery award for March. He captured a gunman single handed in a dark cellar.

Policeman William Quilter of the East Chicago avenue station, whose capture of a murderer after a desperate struggle in a dark basement won him high commendation from Chief of Police Collins and Acting Captain Daniel Murphy, is awarded THE TRIBUNE'S $100 prize for bravery during March.

Quilter and Policeman Fred Jelly were standing in front of the police station at about 4 o'clock in the morning of March 15, when the crack of three revolver shots fired in quick succession echoed through the air.

Quickly deciding on the probable scene of the shooting, Quilter and Jelly leaped into the station zone squad car and drove rapidly south in the alley just west of Clark street, arriving in Superior street in time to surprise a man with a still smoking revolver in his hand as the gunman darted down the alley toward Huron street.

Fires as He Runs.

His command to surrender ignored, Quilter pursued the man, firing as he ran. Up one alley and down another the chase led until finally the gunman took refuge in a basement at 122 West Huron street, challenging Quilter to follow him.

Without a moment's hesitation, the policeman groped his way into the basement and, flattening himself on the floor, crawled noiselessly through the dark, with the man's heavy breathing as his only guide. When only a few feet remained between them, Quilter suddenly lunged upon his man, hoping to wrest the weapon from him.

For several minutes the two battled back and forth until Quilter, freeing one hand from the gunman's grasp, raised his own revolver and brought the butt down in a skull-cracking blow on the other's head. Dragging his prisoner out to the street, Quilter found him armed with a heavy automatic revolver with four unused bullets in the clip.

Identified as Noted Gunman.

Taken to the station, the man was identified as Phillip Edwards, 747 North Clark street, a notorious character, who a few minutes before had shot and fatally wounded Louis Cella, another well known gangster. Cella had died in the Passavant hospital while Quilter and Edwards were grappling with each other in the basement.

Others Given Honorable Mention.

Among several acts indicating exceptional bravery and devotion to duty in the face of danger, submitted to THE TRIBUNE for consideration, the work of Policemen Guy Willoughby and Roy C. Kindt of the First district is deserving of creditable mention.

Willoughby and Kindt, traveling their post at South Water and River street early in the evening of March 21, observed a number of men fleeing in great haste from a building at 311 River street. Some were running down the fire escapes, while others were tumbling out of the doors. Suddenly three men emerged from the main entrance, firing as they came.

The two policemen, targets for the shower of bullets, returned the fire, seriously wounding two of the men, while the third escaped, although it is believed he also was wounded. Investigation revealed that a meeting of the Iron Workers' union in the building had been thrown into a panic when the trio, heavily armed, attempted a holdup.

TAX PUBLICITY FIGHT RENEWED IN HIGH COURT

Will Be Curtain Raiser to Congress Bout.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—Events are shaping up for a battle royal over publicity of tax information.

As a curtain raiser for the fight in congress, arguments will take place before the Supreme Court of the United States at the term commencing on Monday in the pending tax publicity cases.

The decision, which is looked for before the court recesses in June, will have a bearing on publication in the newspapers of amounts paid by taxpayers this year. It will not affect, materially, broader issues relative to publicity which are to be fought out when congress undertakes a general revision of the revenue law in the fall.

Defeated in Lower Courts.

The treasury met defeat in the lower courts in the suits commenced against newspapers for publication of amounts paid by taxpayers last year. Appeals by the government from decisions in cases involving newspapers in Kansas City and Baltimore have been set for argument before the Supreme court during the coming week and a final determination is in prospect as to whether or not congress, in the 1924 revenue act, intended to permit publication of the tax lists which caused such a furore over the country last fall.

Prior to the passage of the 1924 revenue act this law provided merely for the posting of names and addresses of taxpayers. Opening to public inspection of amounts paid was inserted in the bill by senate and house conferees, as a compromise, at the time of the rejection by them of the Norris amendment approved by the senate providing for complete publicity of tax returns.

The house bill had made no provision for publicity either of amounts or of tax returns. The senate finance committee, at the instance of the Democratic member, had reported a bill with a provision for public inspection of amounts paid, but this was eliminated on the floor of the senate when the broader Norris amendment for full publicity of returns was put through by a combination of radical Republicans and Democrats.

Whether the compromise section, which was not contained either in the house or senate bill and thus was not discussed to any extent except in the secret sessions of the house and senate conferees, was intended to permit publication of the amounts paid by taxpayers in the newspapers is the question confronting the Supreme court.

Publicity Ruling Expected.

If the ruling affirms the decisions of the lower courts that the law is broad enough to permit newspaper publication, then the treasury will instruct collectors of internal revenue to make available to the public tax lists which have been held up since the filing of the March 15 returns. Such a ruling seems to be generally expected. In the event of a contrary ruling it also will be necessary to make the lists available for public inspection, but prosecution will follow the publication of the information by any newspaper.

The controversy in congress will center on three different phases of the publicity question, as follows:

Repeal of the provision throwing open to public inspection amounts paid by taxpayers.

Broadening of the provision to give full publicity to all tax returns.

Curtailment or repeal of the provision authorizing congressional committee to obtain information from tax returns.

ASSAIL COOLIDGE FOR BLUNT NOTE TO PERUVIANS

BUENOS AIRES, April 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—Commenting upon President Coolidge's note to Peru, in which he declared the Tacna-Arica award was final, the Buenos Aires Herald, an English language newspaper, refers to the bluntness of the President's message as "entirely at variance with South American ideas of statecraft." It expresses the opinion that "no South American republic will ever again appeal to Washington to solve its problems."

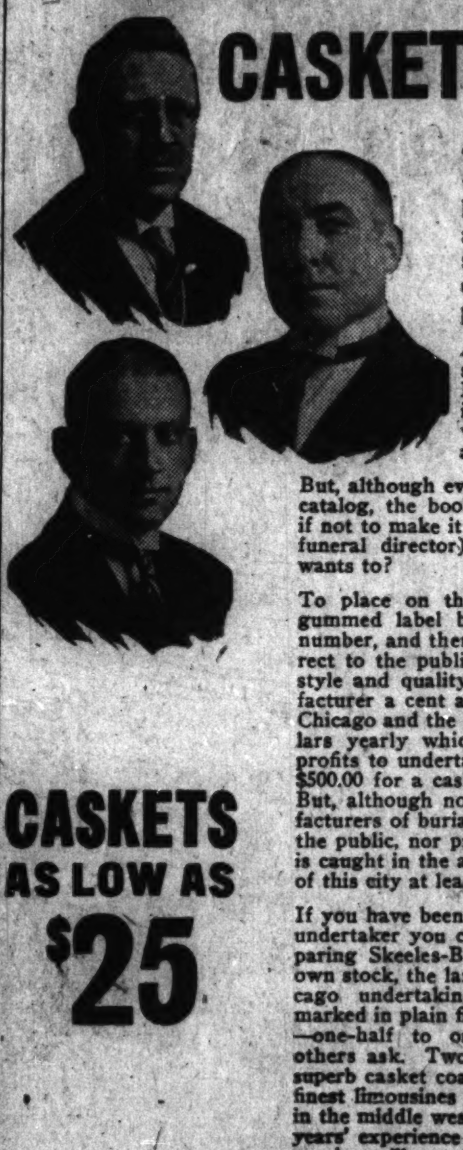
The Herald asserts that President Coolidge "may be pardoned for feeling surprised that the decision which he thought final has been questioned. That, however, is because President Coolidge does not understand Latin-American psychology—he cannot be expected to understand it.

"The damage now has been done. We believe that had Peru thought such summary judgment would have been pronounced, she never would have submitted the problem to arbitration."

Make Texas-Wisconsin Air Flight to Funeral

Dallas, Tex., April 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Protheroe arrived here today by airplane from Wautoma, Wis., where they went by plane to attend the funeral of Mr. Protheroe's mother. The trip was made without mishaps, stops being made on the return at Kansas City and Muskogee.

MANUFACTURERS COULD PROTECT CASKET BUYERS



There is no reason why the prices of burial caskets could not be standardized exactly as are the selling prices of motor cars and many other products.

Any dealer who might try to sell either a Ford or a Rolls-Royce for three or four times its standard retail price would quickly be called to account.

But, although every maker of caskets prints a catalog, the books contain no prices. Why, if not to make it easy for the middleman (the funeral director) to practice extortion if he wants to?

To place on the bottom of each casket a gummed label bearing its name or catalog number, and then to advertise and publish direct to the public the price of each different style and quality, would not cost the manufacturer a cent and would save the people of Chicago and the United States millions of dollars yearly which they now pay in excess profits to undertakers who charge as high as $500.00 for a casket sold to them for $100.00. But, although nobody can compel the manufacturers of burial caskets to play square with the public, nor prosecute the undertaker who is caught in the act of profiteering, the people of this city at least are not helpless.

If you have been overcharged by a curbstone undertaker you can quickly prove it by comparing Skeeles-Biddle prices. We carry our own stock, the largest to be found in any Chicago undertaking establishment, each one marked in plain figures that anybody can read—one-half to one-third lower than many others ask. Two magnificent free chapels, a superb casket coach of the newest design, the finest limousines used by any funeral director in the middle west—these facilities and our 45 years' experience are your assurance that our service will not fail to satisfy in every way.

MILWAUKEE AVE

Between Ashland Ave. and Lincoln St., Offers You Advantages That No Other Community Possesses

Milwaukee Avenue with its more than fifty women's and misses' wearing apparel and millinery stores, is the largest shopping center in the world. Its accessibility, via surface lines, elevated and motor traffic ways, is unequaled . . . its mammoth selection of merchandise is unrivaled . . . the quality of the goods it sells is the best, and the prices charged for these goods are lower than you will find in any other community.

For years Milwaukee Avenue has been famed as the shopping center of Chicago for women of wisdom and thrift who shop nowhere else. Every section of Chicago is represented in the vast throngs that visit this "thoroughfare of economy" daily. You owe it to yourself to become one of the thousands who patronize Milwaukee Avenue.

No matter where women live they know they can provide their apparel needs on Milwaukee Avenue at savings that demand no little of their time and attention. And the magnitude of the stocks carried is an advantage every woman appreciates. Complete variety is one of Milwaukee Avenue's great assets.

Following the custom of many years the members of the Milwaukee Avenue Merchants' Association have again completed preparations to make the week following Easter Sunday the greatest economy week of all the year. Substantial price reductions will be offered on all Spring merchandise during the forthcoming week. And we dare say it will be a gala week—motor cars from every direction will be speeding towards Chicago's greatest bargain center—women by the thousands will be pouring from Logan Square and Humboldt Park elevated trains at Division street—Surface lines on Milwaukee Ave. will be taxed to capacity bringing the eager shoppers. Many will come early and stay late, but most everyone will be on Milwaukee Ave. some time during the week beginning tomorrow. WILL YOU?

WAR DECLARED ON WISCONSIN "RUM REBELS"

Sawyer Revolt Arouses Dry Officials' Ire.

Madison, Wis., April 11.—[Special.]—The prohibition department today announced that it had declared war on Sawyer county and its moonshiners, and that it would put down the rum revolt that has continued with success for several years, "if it takes all summer."

The ultimatum came following the beating up of two state prohibition officers at Draper when they refused to heed orders to leave town. The officers fled after the beating, but will return with reinforcements as soon as they recover from their injuries.

For more than two years Sawyer county has defied the state to enforce the dry laws. There have been a few convictions in federal court, but state officers have been helpless. Twenty men have been charged with liquor law violations in the last two years as a result of state investigations but no warrants could be obtained in the county.

Dietz Defy Recalled.

The rum revolt places Sawyer county in a wild west rôle for the second time in its history. It attained wide notoriety some years ago when John Dietz defied the law in the Cameron dam case.

Harold Lampert, acting prohibition director, declared today that deputies had reported to him that conditions in the county are worse than they ever were at Hurley. Outlaws are in control of Draper and other towns of the county, he asserted.

"We were informed that conditions were rather bad in Sawyer county and for this reason two of our most reliable deputies were assigned to work there under cover this week," Lampert said. "They were on the job Monday morning, reporting to the present district attorney, who fixed them up in proper disguises and advised them what they should do and where they should go.

Suspicious of Strangers.

"The two deputies arrived at Draper about the middle of the afternoon. Draper is a town of about 100 inhabitants and boasts of four saloons. The inhabitants of Draper, especially the 'lookouts' in the saloons, were very suspicious of strangers for the reason that some of the men who had just returned from serving sentences in the house of correction for violations of the Volstead act. Evidence had been obtained in these cases by federal men last December. About a half hour after arriving in Draper the deputies were ordered to leave town. They refused to do so. They visited the various saloons and were able to buy some drinks. There was plenty of evidence that moonshine flowed very freely.

"Town Bouncer" Appears.

"They left one of these places after being ordered out and were sitting in front of another place when the 'town bouncer' came along with his crew. They were all under the influence of liquor. They picked a fight with our men and the result was one of our deputies was rather roughly handled. After the fight they were again ordered to leave Draper under threats of violence, so they left and walked to the next town, where they hired a rig and returned to Hayward.

"One of the men was badly in need of medical attention, which he received that night. Next morning a warrant was sworn out for the leader of the gang, who was brought to Hayward and was bound over to the Circuit court on the charge of assault to do great bodily harm."

WATCHMAN FOUND DEAD.

John Quinn, 80, watchman for the Chicago Junction railway, was found dead, supposedly of heart disease, at West 42d street and the railroad yesterday.

John C. Watson, director of the taxation department of the Illinois Agricultural association, and Jacob Viner, taxation expert, will speak tomorrow at the Legislative round table luncheon in the City club.

PROHIBITION LAW IS CALLED JOKE BY JUDGE DAVID

And Its Backers Are Labeled Hypocrites.

"Hypocrites" was the mildest term applied yesterday by Superior Judge Joseph B. David to advocates of the prohibition law as he issued a writ of mandamus, forcing the mayor to restore a license to Stanley Peredena, proprietor of a soft drink parlor at 12000 Emerald avenue.

The eighteenth amendment works against the poor man only, Judge David declared. The law should either be properly enforced or abolished, in his opinion.

"The present prohibiton law is a joke," Judge David said. "The courts are cluttered up with such petty cases as this one where some poor man is found with a couple of drinks in his place and dragged into court.

"But no one ever hears of the wealthy man with a cellar full of booze being dragged into court.

"There are a lot of holier-than-thous in this town who shout from the house tops about the value of prohibition and demand the enforcement of the act and then go down to the cellar and have a drink from their private stock."

There were other peppery comments made by the judge in regard to the dry act and its enforcers.

"No one in this country really wants prohibition," he said. "If they did, there would be a real enforcement of the law and it would be impossible to get a drink in a year."

And again, "It's the little fellow who invariably gets hurt. The big bootleggers are safely guarded.

"The ministers, the reformers, the prominent citizens who cry for prohibition are hypocrites as well as the congressmen who made the law," he concluded.

ACTORS TO AID BENEFIT SHOW FOR CHARITY

Performers from most of the theatrical attractions in the loop have donated their serivces for a midnight frolic at Cohan's Grand opera house tomorrow night. The proceeds will be given to the Charlotte Cushman club, which is building a home for chorus girls in the east.

Fred Stone and Dorothy Stone will put on anumber, the male chorus from "The Student Prince" will sing the famous drinking song, Miss Lotta Miles from "I'll Say She Is" will sing. The four Marx brothers from the same company will present a special act.

Others participating will be Miss Olga Cook, Miss Madge Kennedy, Miss Mary Bay, Gregory Kelly, Allan Dinehart, and Walter Connolly.

ROB FILLING STATION OF $70.

A lone bandit yesterday morning robbed Elmer Wiatt, manager of a Standard Oil company filling station at West 58d and Loomis streets, of $70.

NORWEGIANS LAY EXTENSIVE PLANS FOR CELEBRATION

Chicago Norwegians are laying elaborate plans for the centannial of Norwegian immigration to America, which will be celebrated May 17.

The Norwegian National league has reserved the Broadway armory, where will be heard nationally known speakers and where old folk dances will be given. Women's and men's drill teams will compete and track events will be staged.

Festivities will begin with a children's parade to Humboldt park. From there an automobile parade will go to the armory.

The national celebration of the Norse centennial will be marked by the presence of President Coolidge at the official celebration in Minneapolis and St. Paul. Norse postage stamps and medals are being issued by the government.

The New STUDEBAKER

Big Six Duplex-Phaeton

THIS is the time when there is pleasure in motoring that can be obtained only in an open car. And among open-type cars, there is one that stands out above all others—the new Studebaker Big Six 7-Passenger Duplex-Phaeton, with its exclusive roller side enclosures which provide instant protection. It can be compared only with cars much higher in price.

Studebaker builds seven times as many cars as any manufacturer having a car in the Big Six class. The small overhead per car, plus the savings of complete manufacture, explain its low price. Come in—see this new Studebaker before you buy.

F.O.B. Factory

The price of the new Studebaker Big Six Duplex-Phaeton includes an extra balloon tire, tube and tire cover. Bumpers, front and rear. Motometer. Safety lighting control. Automatic spark control. One-piece windshield, sun visor, automatic windshield cleaner, rear-view mirror. Cowl and dome lights, extension lamp and stop-and-tail light. Clock and gasoline gauge grouped under glass with other instruments. Biggest balloon tires used on any automobile.

The CABLE Midget Upright

A Piano That Is Quite Different

Today the clever woman who would make her home distinctive chooses a Cable Midget Upright because she has discovered that it is the most artistic Piano for the room of average size. The old style Piano is too big to look well in the modern small apartment. It is out of proportion.

The Cable Midget Upright gives you all the musical qualities of the older style Piano—the same rich, mellow tone, resonance, volume and a full 88-note keyboard—in a small case that lends itself to the artistic arrangement of the modern apartment. Made in beautiful woods and enamels of almost every color, it can be adapted to any plan of decoration.

When made in our special mar-proof, Fumed Oak finish, the Cable Midget Upright is ideal for the school, the church or the club.

Don't Move Your Old Piano

If you are moving this Spring and have a big, old-fashioned Piano, why not exchange it for one of our Baby Grands or Players, so attractive in the cozy apartment? We'll save you the trouble and expense of moving your old Piano and give you a liberal Credit Voucher for its full, fair valuation. After you are settled in your new home, you can come to our music rooms, and at your leisure select a new Upright, a dainty Baby Grand, or a fine Player.

Liberal Exchange Privilege

At any time within a year, should you desire to exchange your Midget for a new Grand or Player, every cent you have paid will be credited on the Piano you select.

$350 and $365

You need not pay cash. We will accept your old Piano as first payment—the balance on convenient terms.

As low as $8 a month

ROME "DE LUXE" QUALITY Dealers offer you real HEALTH

INSTEAD of medicine, most people need only to take Nature's warning and get better sleep.

Many people never suspect their bedspring may be faulty. They do not realize that it may be undermining their health. They do not know how a sagging bedspring distorts their bodily organs, twists the spine and cramps the muscles—and neither do they realize the dangers of unhealthful sleep.

But doctors can tell you the direct connection between good sleep and good health. They can tell you how a night of deep, restful sleep builds up the tired or sick body. They know that complete relaxation of the bodily organs, complete freedom of the nerves, and unhampered circulation of the blood are needed to clear your system of fatigue poisons, and build you up to enjoy another day.

That is why De Luxe dealers offer you real health in the genuine Rome Quality, De Luxe, the bedspring luxurious. It is scientifically designed to support every part of the body in such a way that the spine is straight, the muscles relaxed, and deep, wholesome sleep is the blessed result.

You truly save money on De Luxe bedsprings. They are so honestly and substantially built that they keep their resilience for a lifetime—giving you the same health protection year after year. For the sake of your health, discard your old, sagging bedspring now, and replace it, once and for all, with a genuine De Luxe. You can get these remarkable bedsprings from the good dealers everywhere.

MICHAEL ARLEN HERE; IMPRESSED BY OUR COUNTRY

And He Wonders What Temperament Is.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

He's famous for the green hat he designed, but he's not a dressmaker.

He's on his first visit to Chicago, but he says nary a word about the lake.

He's fond of women's clothes, but he's not a feminist.

He's an Armenian; they call him "Mike," and some folks herald him as the greatest living "English" writer.

Holds American Viewpoint.

Michael Arlen, the 28 year old author of "The Green Hat," arrived in Chicago yesterday on the Century, with English clothes and an amazingly American point of view on many things: money, work, celebrities, etc.

They asked him what he thought of American women, and the literary creator of several of the season's most talked of women said frankly:

"All I can say are the banalities. They are pretty, they are well groomed; they are charming."

They asked him about American characteristics.

And the traveler who has been in this country some few weeks replied, quite zestfully.

Impressed by Courtesy.

"I am most impressed by your courtesy over here. In fact, if I ever write a book about America I think I shall call it 'You're Welcome.'"

Asked for examples, Mr. Arlen brought out incidents of "reciprocal courtesy."

For instance, says the author, "When the boy in the lift deposits me at my floor, I always, as a matter of course, say 'Thank you.' At home that is taken as a matter of course. Over here the lift boy always says, 'You're welcome.'"

But the United States will probably not have an opportunity to welcome this book, for Mr. Arlen admits he has "already made enough money out of America," and doesn't plan a book based on his flying trip over here.

He Begs a Question.

"The Green Hat," for all its vogue with some 200,000 English speaking readers, has hardly been placed along the shelf with the Elsie books or Rollo in Scotland. So, when its author was asked, "What do you think Queen Victoria would have said about the book?" he begged the question thiswise:

"I am much more interested in knowing just what Queen Mary thinks of the book."

Temperamental litterateurs amuse Mr. Arlen tremendously, he pointed out yesterday as he sat in his suite at the Congress and discussed the Chicago opening this evening at the Selwyn theater of the dramatization of "The Green Hat."

What Is Temperament?

"I don't know just what a writer means by temperament," Mr. Arlen reflected. "But if he means that he waits for an inspiration to go to work I can only ask him if the stock broker waits for an inspiration before he operates, or if the bookkeeper waits for the divine moment before he begins to do sums."

Mr. Arlen, with "These Charming People," "Piracy," "The London Venture," and others to his credit besides the more famous "Green Hat," now writes about three months a year.

The rest of the time he spends, "in my own way," dodging authors.

Mexican State Moves to Make Orientals Farmers

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

Mexico City, April 11.—The state of Chiapas has an original way of using Asiatics. Gov. Cesar Cordoba has decreed foreigners in Chiapas must invest 30 per cent of their capital in agriculture. Chiapas is overrun with Chinese and Japanese, who carry on petty trading in towns. The new law is aimed to make these traders producers and eventually drive them into the country. Chiapas has millions of acres of excellent, arable lands, but not one-tenth is under cultivation.

CHURCH CREED UNDER FIRE AT STUDENT CONFAB

Delegates Ask Freedom for Consciences.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 11.—[Special.]—The Westminster confession of faith, which many in the Presbyterian church believe essential to its perpetuity, fared ill today at the National Presbyterian Students' conference.

The conference broke up into four groups. One discussed the attitude the church should take on war; another the attitude the church should take on denominationalism and creeds; a third the religious problems of the campus, and the fourth race relations.

The group on the creed took a vote as to the attitude of its members. Sixteen voted in favor of abolishing the Westminster creed, one favored retaining it with the same literal interpretation it has had since 1643, and eleven voted to retain the creed out to allow individuals to put their own interpretation on it. Finally, seven of the sixteen who asked abolishment agreed they were willing to retain the creed providing individuals could interpret it according to their own judgment and conscience.

Asks Church Action.

The question also came up in the main meeting of all delegates. It was presented in a proposition from John Paul Jones, student at Union Theological seminary, New York.

"Do you think a memorial could be presented to the Presbyterian general assembly," said Dr. Evans.

The center of most interest was the discussion on what nationalism is and whether a nation has a right to decide questions in its own interest without reference to other nations.

To Fight or Not to Fight?

A petite blonde young woman introduced the question of whether it was not right for Christians to do all they could to prevent war. But, she added, if war comes in spite of their opposition, would they not then be justified in refusing to have any part in it?

One young man said: "Our forefathers came to America because of religious convictions. They had to fight the Indians, then other nations, to maintain their rights. Ought they to have refused to fight and to do as others wanted them to do, even against their consciences?"

WOMAN ORDERED TO HANG TO LIVE IN JAIL TILL END

Atlanta, Ga., April 11.—Mrs. Ida Hughes, sentenced to be hanged on April 24, for the murder of her mother-in-law, Mrs. M. C. Hughes, in December, 1923, escaped the gallows as a result of the decision of Gov. Clifford Walker today in upholding the recommendation of the Georgia prison commission that the condemned woman be granted life imprisonment.

In the clemency order of the governor, which states that although from the record of the case, "Mrs. Hughes is guilty of murder," and that the chief executive has "no sympathy with the maudlin sentiment which seeks to make a heroine of a woman guilty of a horrible crime," the governor declares that after a thorough study of the case he has reached the conclusion that there are mitigating circumstances which justify clemency.

MEETS BODY OF MOTHER; SEIZED ON CHECK CHARGE

Henry Hartman, wanted for passing worthless checks, and who had successfully evaded the police for eighteen months, was captured Friday when he went to the Chicago and Northwestern railroad station to claim the body of his mother which had been brought here from Portland Ore.

Hartman was charged with operating a confidence game. He had cashed worthless checks totaling nearly $3,000 it was said. When Hartman went to the station to await the coffin, the police were anonymously informed.

Just as Hartman was signing the delivery receipt for the coffin, they seized him.

Above is a vivid picture of the tremendous buying demand created throughout the country by the Nash Special Six and Advanced Six Models.

Total automobile sales for the entire industry, month after month, are registering severe decreases as contrasted with corresponding months last year.

On the other hand, Nash sales are monthly sweeping far beyond the records for last year.

It is a dramatic and convincing national tribute that buyers are paying to the downright superiority in beauty, in performance, and in value of the Nash product.

COURT TO PASS ON PRESIDENT'S RIGHT TO FIRE

Must Decide Authority Contest with Senate.

Washington, D. C., April 11.—Another contest of authority between the President and the senate is at hand, and will be heard before the Supreme court Monday.

Having recently reasserted, in its rejection of Charles Beecher Warren to be attorney general, the claim to the right under the constitution of refusing to confirm those selected for office by the President, the senate will now appear through counsel before the highest court to contend that congress has the constitutional right to prescribe the conditions under which the president may remove those he has appointed to offices it has created.

Precipitated By Wilson.

The controversy between the executive and legislative branches of the government reached the judicial branch for adjustment in a case from Oregon brought by Frank S. Myers, who was appointed postmaster at Portland by President Wilson. He was removed by President Wilson in January, 1920, and the nomination of his successor was not sent to the senate until July, 1921, when his four year term expired.

Myers contested the action as illegal, and when the four years ended sued the government in the court of claims for back salary. That court found he had been guilty of laches in not prosecuting his claim with sufficient promptness, and dismissed it. From that decision he appealed to the Supreme court.

Must Have Consent of Senate.

To enable the senate to be represented by counsel, the court ordered the case reargued, and designated Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania to appear for the senate in the capacity of a friend of the court.

In his brief filed with the court today Senator Pepper pointed out that congress, in providing for postmasters of the first, second, and third class, had authorized the President to appoint and remove them "by and with the advice and consent of the senate."

Robber Shoots Victim, Then Wounds His Pal

Failing to raise his hands quickly enough at the command of two bandits, Andrew Johnson, 45, dishwasher in a Lemont, Ill., restaurant, was shot in the hip yesterday. When the first bandit heard the shot, he turned quickly and accidentally shot his companion. The two robbers then escaped in an automobile without taking anything.

Flowers for War Vets

[Melvin A. Sykes Photo.]

Mrs. R. E. Hutchison, president of the Central council of American Legion auxiliaries, which yesterday distributed flowers to wounded war veterans.

Seventeen hundred flowering plants were distributed yesterday by women of the Central Council of American Legion Auxiliaries of Cook County among world war disabled veterans in hospitals in and around Chicago. As a result the spirit of Eastertide is today apparent in the hospitals.

Since the beginning of the American Legion it has been the province of the women of the organization to supply the personal touch of thoughtfulness needed by the disabled. The work of the auxiliaries in the hospitals and among the families of the disabled is covering a wider field with each year.

Through their services gifts of chess and checker sets and other games, of stringed instruments and phonograph records, of fruit and home made jellies and cakes, of puzzles and books and magazines, have found their ways to the men in hospitals. A decidedly practical gift by the Central Council consisted of a supply of overalls and shoes for those men now sufficiently recuperated to perform light work in the hospital gardens and greenhouses.

Mrs. W. D. Smith, 7725 North Marshfield avenue, of the Rogers Park auxiliary and first vice president of the Central Council, has charge of the hospital work and has served as rehabilitation chairman for the last three years. Mrs. R. E. Hutchison, 5619 Wayne avenue, of North Shore auxiliary is president of the council.

British Missionary, Held as Hostage in China, Freed

PEKING, April 11. — [Associated Press.]—A message reaching here today from the China inland mission says that the British missionary Tomkinson, who was held as hostage for the safety of the town of Shenkiu, in the province of Honan, has been released.

LILY BRIDE AND YOUNG GROOM TRICK CROWDS

Five hundred persons who crowded the Garfield park conservatory yesterday morning to see the marriage of Mrs. J. Addison Campbell, 50 years old, to J. Dempster Weaver, 21 year old elevator boy, were disappointed. The bridegroom shying at publicity, had set the ceremony forward an hour and when the crowd arrived, he and his wife had gone.

Dempster, modishly attired in Easter gray, and his middle aged bride, garbed in dark blue silk and a henna hat, arrived at the conservatory before 9 o'clock. The marriage service, performed before an altar of 10,000 lilies, was hasty and simple. Then the newly married couple jumped into a taxicab and drove off.

Shortly after the crowd began to arrive. Then a policeman announced that the wedding was over.

PADLOCKED BEER PLANTS BEGIN TO STEAM UP

Temporary injunctions that have kept many Chicago and outlying breweries idle for a year are seen to expire, and plant engineers are reported to be getting ready to fire up their boilers.

The reported activity yesterday caused Chief Prohibition Enforcement Officer Charles W. Vursell to call in his crack beer squad, composed of Al Johnson, Archie Benson, and Oscar Sandberg, and outline an enforcement campaign which will give the beer sleuths the services of the entire prohibition staff when necessary.

All of the breweries now under injunction were closed on evidence obtained by Johnson, Benson, and Sandberg.

Meantime, it was reported beer runners who have been tiding over the beerless era with imported ale have curtailed their shipments.

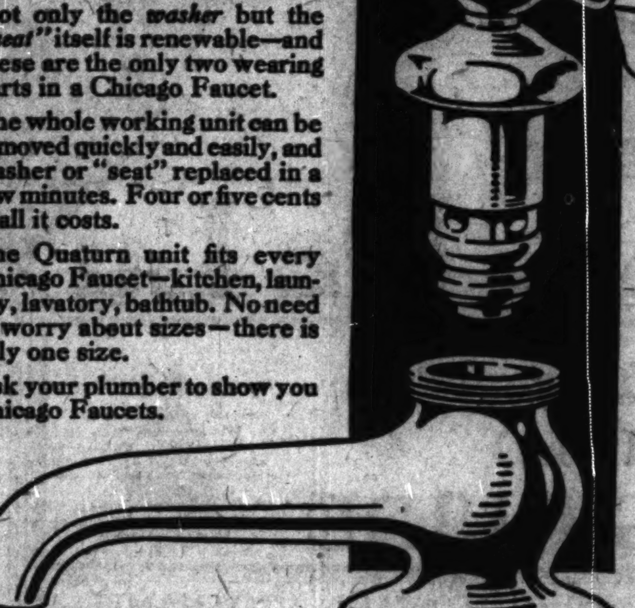
Village Policemen Seize 2 Gunmen, 1 Wounded

Two Western Springs policemen early yesterday morning held up a pair of Chicago gunmen, took their artillery, and put them in jail without firing a shot. One of the men, Edward Baker, 23 years old, 3200 Walnut street, was bleeding from a scalp wound. The other was John Sullivan, 128 South Canal street.

Widow, Willed Estate of Hale, Steel Co. Official

The entire $250,000 estate of the late Samuel Hale, retired officer of the Interstate Iron and Steel company, is composed of personal property, an inventory filed in the Probate court yesterday revealed. He owned no real estate. The estate is given to his widow, Mrs. Esther M. Hale.

Everlasting



The reason Chicago Faucets never wear out is because they have the Quaturn Renewable Unit which stands all the wear.

Not only the washer but the "seat" itself is renewable—and these are the only two wearing parts in a Chicago Faucet.

The whole working unit can be removed quickly and easily, and washer or "seat" replaced in a few minutes. Four or five cents is all it costs.

The Quaturn unit fits every Chicago Faucet—kitchen, laundry, lavatory, bathtub. No need to worry about sizes—there is only one size.

Ask your plumber to show you Chicago Faucets.

Your Kitchen is not complete without a Classic Sink Fixture—our handy mixing faucet. Helps you do everything more easily.

BRITAIN MOLDS NEW EMPIRE FROM WAR LOOT

Tightens Grip from Red Sea to India.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, April 11.—Some one once said that the British empire was an accident, and it is also an axiom of British history that when Great Britain wins a war she acquires a new empire. This is now working out in the east, where it is hardly noticed by political observers; but it is a fact that Great Britain has acquired a new empire in the middle east which she is not likely to let go, whether she wants to or not because of force of circumstances.

This new empire is the whole vast tract from the Mediterranean to India, which has fallen under British control or influence as a result of the war. It includes the mandate territories, Palestine and the puppet Arab kingdoms of Irak, Trans-Jordania and Hedjaz, as well as the desert kingdom of Nejd, even though the kings of Hedjaz and Nejd are now at war.

It also includes the moribund empire of Persia, where British influence is predominant, and the kingdom of Egypt, which, while nominally independent, is as much a British dependency as India.

All for India's Protection.

It is only fair to state that when Great Britain entered the war she had no idea that this would be the result. She was forced to take control of these territories to protect India and the eastern trade routes, first from Germany and her Turkish ally, and then from soviet Russia, which is steadily pushing south and east in an effort to bolshevize India. After the war she found herself in possession of these territories, and, like a man who has a bull by the tail, she is afraid to let go.

A further element in the situation is now arising. These territories may become the source of wealth and power in the course of time, but the British are beginning seriously to consider whether the cost of development will be worth the possible return.

Airplanes Cut Police Costs.

The value of Egypt and the Sudan is beyond doubt as producers of cotton, apart altogether from their importance as the protectors of the Suez canal. Irak was once the garden of the world and with the effects of Turkish misrule removed, it again may become a great reservoir of foodstuffs. Persia, under British exploitation, may become a source of food supplies, while both Persia and Irak are rich in oils and minerals.

It is also beginning to be pointed out by British imperialists that the cost of running the empire is being reduced by modern inventions. The productivity and prosperity of these countries depend on the introduction of law and order. In the old days this required armies and navies with all the trouble of policing vast territories by resident troops and punitive expeditions.

Today a few squadrons of airplanes are keeping order in Irak, while Palestine is policed by Jewish forces under the guidance of a very small British gendarmerie.

Now, with the trifling exception of French Syria. British power is supreme in all the vast territory from the Red Sea to the Indian frontier and it is likely to continue and to consolidate.

Report Movie Actress Has Settled with Dennistoun

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS, April 11.—It is reported that Lois Meredith, American movie actress, has dropped her suit against Col. Ian Onslow Dennistoun. Dudley Field Malone, Miss Meredith's lawyer here, has abandoned his trip to London and announces that he is going to New York Wednesday. A representative of Lois' New York lawyers has just arrived in Paris to confer with Mr. Malone. A big money settlement is hinted.

EX-KLAN LEADER LOSES POINT IN CASE GIRL FILED

Indianapolis, Ind., April 11.—D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, today lost the first move in his legal fight to prevent trial on indictments charging him with attack upon Miss Madge Oberholtzer of this city, when Judge James A. Collins in Criminal court sustained demurrers to pleas in abatement of the indictments. His attorneys immediately countered with a motion to quash the indictments, and hearing was set for April 18.

Meanwhile, the condition of Miss Oberholtzer, who is in a critical condition from poison taken following the alleged attack, showed slight improvement today, Dr. John K. Kingsbury, her physician, said.

The cases of Earl Klinck and Earl Gentry, alleged companions of Stephenson and indicted with him on a charge of conspiracy to kidnap, were disposed of the same as in the Stephenson case. Formal arraignment of the three defendants will await disposal of defense attacks on the indictments.

AUTO COLLISION IS FATAL.

Cedar Falls, Ia., April 11.—[Special.]—Andrew Thompson, 30, of Waterloo, was killed when his automobile collided with a car driven by B. H. Stiles of Cedar Falls. He lived thirty minutes.

MAN DIES OF SPEED INJURIES.

Green Bay, Wis., April 11.—[Special.]—Theodore Van Egren, 47, died in a hospital of injuries received when an automobile in which he was riding took to the ditch to avoid striking another machine. Russell De Pas, 21, the driver, is expected to live.

R. H. L. AND BRIDE ARE LOCATED IN THE TRI-CITIES

Details of Wedding Are Now Revealed.

Davenport, Ia., yesterday scooped Chicago on the news of Richard Henry Little's marriage to Miss Helen Melton.

A telegram from that city told Chicago friends of R. H. L. that the genial conductor of THE TRIBUNE "Line o' Type or Two" and "Helen Henna," one of his contributors, had been married in Chicago Friday evening just about the time that everybody was scurrying about trying to learn whether or not he was a bachelor or a Benedick.

Lunch in Davenport.

Dick and his bride arrived in Davenport yesterday morning, lunched with Henry Hubers, a Line contributor, and then went to Rock Island to be guests at the home of Mayor Walter Rosenfield. They will be off today for a four weeks' honeymoon in old Mexico.

Chicago typewriters, scooped on the story for something like ten hours, yesterday picked up these reminiscent details of the Friday night nuptials.

R. H. L. and "Helen Henna" were guests at a dinner given Friday at a quiet inn on the south side by a half dozen or so of the Line contributors. At 9:30 the party adjourned to the Church of the Disciples of Christ, a few blocks away, and the Rev. Winfred Ernest Garrison performed the marriage ceremony.

The Wedding Party.

Miss Gertrude Zeigle, an old friend of Miss Melton's, was her maid of honor. Mel-O'D, who has sometimes contributed to the Line, was Dick's best man. "Snowshoe Al" gave the bride away.

Among the other guests were the following, with their Line names: Phantom Lover, Bitterroot Bill, and Peter Pan.

When Helen Henna had said "I will," and R. H. L. had said "I will," and slipped a platinum and diamond wedding ring on the lady's finger, the Line escorted the bride and bridegroom down to the Rock Island train and waved them good-by.

Upon their return it is expected that Helen Henna will continue her work on a book about George Washington which is in the process of composition.

Gun Toter Given Year in Jail and Fined $200

Charged with assault with a deadly weapon, Thomas O'Connell, 2332 Ogden avenue, was sentenced yesterday by Municipal Judge McCarthy to serve one year in the House of Correction and pay a $200 fine. O'Connell attempted to hold up William Beale in a rooming house at 1623 West Madison street. When Beale resisted, O'Connell shot at him and missed. The bullet penetrated a wall and wounded Vernon Gilbert, 11 years old, asleep in his room at 1635 West Madison street.

DRIVE 20 IN ICE BOX; ROB BUTCHER.

After driving more than twenty customers in the meat market of Paul Losman and John Hirsch at 4554 South State street into an ice box, two colored bandits last night robbed the cash register of $190 and escaped.

RADIO OPERATOR IS PICKED FOR TRIP TO ARCTIC

The last and one of the most important members of the arctic expedition headed by Capt. Donald B. MacMillan was chosen yesterday morning by Capt. MacMillan and Eugene F. McDonald, head of the National Broadcasters' association.

He is John L. Reinartz, who will serve as the expedition's radio operator. Reinartz was chosen from more than 2,000 amateur operators, all of whom applied for the post from all parts of the world. Reinartz is 31 years old and for fifteen years has been connected with the Cheney Silk company at South Manchester, Conn.

Besides seeking new data in the polar regions it is the hope of the expedition to make scientific experiments with radio. To this end it has been decided to broadcast daily progress of the party on a twenty meter wave length because of light conditions.

The twenty meter wave, it was explained, is inaudible under 500 miles, but at a greater distance it transmitted signals more strongly than was possible with higher wave lengths.

The expedition, which will carry two planes, will leave St. Johns on the Labrador coast the latter part of June.

Aurora Zoning Law to Be Argued Over More

Springfield, Ill., April 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Supreme court today granted a rehearing in the Aurora zoning case, decided against the city of Aurora at the last session. The decision in the case was regarded as prejudicial to zoning laws in many Illinois cities, and the motion for a rehearing was entered in order to obtain clearer interpretation of the law and, if possible, save the zoning ordinances.

Radium Is Restoring Health to Thousands

The wonderful curative power of Radium has been known for years. However, the benefits of this precious health-giving substance have in the past been only within the means of persons of wealth.

Since the invention of Degnen's Radio-Active Solar Pad, any man or woman, poor or rich, can afford this treatment which offers so much relief from suffering and disease.

Degnen's Radio-Active Solar Pad is worn next to the body day and night. It pours a constant stream of radio-active energy into the system while you work, play or sleep, helping to build up weakened nerves and tissues to a strong, healthy condition. It creates a vigorous circulation of blood, thus removing congestion, which is the real cause of most diseases.

To prove just what this remarkable treatment can do for you, we will send our appliance on trial with the understanding that we will not charge you a cent if it fails to give satisfactory results. This offer is open to any person who has pain of any kind, nerve weakness, high blood pressure, stomach, kidney or liver complaint, bladder trouble, or disease of the lungs or heart.

No matter what your ailment or how long you have had it, we will gladly let you try the appliance at our risk. Write today for free literature giving complete information. Radium Appliance Co., 845 Bradbury Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif.

PAIGE
JEWETT

Here's Action That Thrills—
Comfort That Rests You—
Style That Sparkles—
Silence That Endures

WE ask you to ride in the Jewett De Luxe Brougham! Or drive it if you like! No matter what car you drive or have driven, there's something refreshingly new in store for you.

We stand ready to prove to you personally what Jewett stock cars have proved conclusively—the country over—

Jewett Will Outperform Any Stock Car Within $500 of Its Price!

That means your idea of performance—the things you want in a motor car. Agility! To slip gracefully through heaviest traffic—2-3-4 miles an hour in high without bucking—then to top speed in a flash without shifting gears.

You will be impressed by the smoothness of this performance. You have never felt such smooth-flowing power and absence of vibration. Front-end chain drive with automatic take-up, big counter-balanced crankshaft, full high-pressure oiling contribute to this smoothness and insure its permanence.

The extra size and extra power of the Jewett motor mean more to you in better performance at any speed you desire to use. It means reserve strength, never overtaxed or overstrained, and extra long life.

Giant Strength—Comfort

This car's fine qualities are not all in its performance. It has strength—stamina! It is built with the staunchness of quality sedans. You never saw stouter or finer finishing.

The seating has been so carefully arranged that five ride in the cozy intimacy so much admired in this type of car—and ride in perfect comfort.

And when you ride, you'll smile at your former ideas of motor car comfort. Here is new comfort—due to balloon tires and a brand new type of spring suspension—to get the full benefit of these tires.

Qualities That Last

Like all Jewetts, this De Luxe Brougham is built for years of service. Its many fine qualities are permanent. Its smooth quietness in action—its vitality—its remarkable comfort—all are the result of engineering for permanence. So they are qualities that endure for years.

We ask you to ride in or drive the Jewett De Luxe Brougham! It's the aristocrat of moderate-priced cars.

6 NAVY OFFICERS FACE SCOFFLAW COURT MARTIAL

Wilbur Orders Trial After Raid on Transport.

Washington, D. C., April 11.—Six officers were ordered court martialed today by Secretary Wilbur in connection with the arrival at Hampton Roads Feb. 24 of the naval transport Beaufort, from the West Indies, with liquor aboard.

The officers are Commander D. W. Fuller of Rockland, Me.; Lieut. (junior grade) R. D. Hill Jr. of Norwich, Conn.; Lieut. Fred M. Rohow of Sturgeon Bay, Wis.; Lieut. Clarence W. Baker of Newport, R. I.; Machinist Frank M. Hendricks of New Haven, Conn., and Chief Pay Clerk J. P. Gallagher of Norfolk, Va.

The court is expected to convene soon at the Hampton Roads naval base. Commander Fuller, it was stated, will be charged with negligence, while the charges against the others will involve possession of liquor.

All those to be court martialed were attached to the crew of the Beaufort, none of the passengers being included. The intoxicants, in considerable quantity, were found by a raiding party of marines led by naval officers soon after the Beaufort docked. Whether the raid followed any specific information has never been divulged.

During the raid efforts were said to have been made by several on the Beaufort to throw liquor overboard, but the arrival of the marines was sudden, their work quick, and a cordon was thrown about the transport so that no one left it until the search was completed.

RICH AGAIN HEADS SOUTH CENTRAL.

The South Central association, composed of business men and property owners on the near south side, has elected new officers. Elmer Rich was reëlected president; Joseph L. Strauss, vice president; R. T. Badger, treasurer; and George F. Iliff, secretary.

GIRL, 7 YEARS OLD, EMPTIES HER BANK TO AID STORM VICTIMS

When Bernice Majewski, 7 years old, learned about the tornado that devastated southern Illinois and Indiana, she robbed her own savings bank of its last penny for the storm victims. Then a difficulty bobbed up, for neither Bernice nor any of her family can write English. Nothing daunted, she carried the $1.50 to an obliging neighbor near Kedzie and 62d place, who bought a draft and wrote the note that reached THE TRIBUNE-Legion fund with yesterday's contributions.

A total of $152.01 came in to the fund's treasury yesterday, making the latest total $124,543.74.

The following contributed:

$15—Ladies' Aid Society of the Forest Glen Congregational church.

$11.02—Alice Shilling.

$10—Phi Gamma Psi sorority: E. Hipple.

$5—John F. Henry, D. J. Dowling, Westmont Girls' club.

$1.50—Bernice Majewski.

Belated contributions may still be sent to the fund.

FLOCK OF RUM SHIPS ON COAST

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—Reports from Atlantic City and other points along the New Jersey and Long Island coasts today stated at least fifty steamers and schooners loaded with liquor are now at anchor in Rum Row. The line extends from Montauk Point to Cape May. All fly the British flag, except a few of French registry.

Hundreds of coast patrol boats keep a constant watch for blockade runners and it is extremely difficult to land liquor in large quantities, government agents declared. Small shipments are being brought in under cover of fog and darkness and landed on the beaches, however.

Report Swedish Minister Will Leave Post in U. S.

STOCKHOLM, April 11.—[Associated Press.]—It is stated authoritatively that Axel F. Wallenberg, Swedish minister to the United States, will leave his post in September or earlier and return to Sweden to look after business affairs.

RARE TREASURES IN ARCHITECTURE FOUND IN GREECE

Washington, D. C., April 11.—Conduits which supplied the fountain of Glauce, erected to the wife of Jason, the Argonaut, in ancient Corinth, have been rediscovered by an American exploration party.

Several pieces of statuary and pottery in excellent condition also have been unearthed, the Hellenic information service announced today, while more important finds are expected from the operations of a second party, at work "at the site of the Argive Heraeum, near Mycenae in Argolis."

Both expeditions were financed by a gift from the estate of the late J. C. Hoppin of Boston.

Man Dies on Track After Clinging Onto Pilot

Hammond, Ind., April 11.—Joseph Cannon, well known Hammond man, was killed by an Indiana Harbor Belt locomotive this afternoon at a street crossing. His attention was engaged by a passenger train on another track. Cannon hung onto the pilot for twenty-five feet, but lost his hold and fell under the wheels.

DRIVE UNDER WAY TO PRESERVE JEFFERSON HOME AS U. S. SHRINE

New York, April 11.—Monticello, historic Virginia home of Thomas Jefferson, will be freed of debt and preserved as a public shrine under plans announced today by the Jefferson centennial committee.

The 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence and the 100th anniversary of the death of its author, Jefferson, both will be observed next year in New York and in Philadelphia.

The centennial committee of New York announced that tomorrow it would begin an active campaign for success of the centennial. In many states voting contests, at 10 cents a vote, are being conducted to select young women who will make a trip to France under auspices of the committee this summer. This contest is expected to provide part of the funds necessary to pay the debt on Monticello.

CZECH LEADERS FEAR TO BREAK WITH CATHOLICS

Power of Church Halts Separation Move.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, April 11.—The importance of the clerical party in the coalition government of Czecho-Slovakia is preventing Dr. Edouard Benes, foreign minister, and President Masaryk from carrying out their plan for complete separation of church and state, and consequently the Catholics are still enjoying privileges not granted to other religious bodies.

The Catholic clergy under the old Austrian empire were state employés and to a large extent this situation continues under the republic, although the church property was seized by the state. Priests in many parishes also are teachers in state schools.

These same priests, who thus are government employés, are tied to the old aristocracy by still closer bonds. Under the old Austrian system certain nobles were responsible for churches on their own domains. The state supplied funds which were not always sufficient and the nobles often built churches and assisted in their upkeep. In many parts of Czecho-Slovakia this responsibility is still recognized by the aristocracy, many of whom are members of the clerical party.

Can Overthrow Leaders.

The coalition which keeps Dr. Benes in power consists of the Social Democrats, the National Socialists, Dr. Benes' party, the National Democrats; the Farmers' party and the Catholics. The latter have only twenty deputies, but the number is sufficient to overthrow the government if they join the already large opposition.

Dr. Benes recently has been seeking to replace the Catholics in the coalition with one of the opposing parties and to that is ascribed his flirtations with the two German groups. If he succeeds in swinging one or the other into the coalition he will replace the Catholics and accomplish complete separation of church and state without endangering his cabinet. He does not want to call new elections, for there is every indication that the church party would come out at least 25 per cent stronger and perhaps more.

Hold Key to Government.

The Catholics of Czecho-Slovakia thus hold the key to the government. As far as the city of Prague itself is concerned, the situation is different. The city enjoys autonomy. The majority of the members of the city council are Socialists. The national government has held up school legislation disadvantageous to the Catholics. The Socialists of Prague got tired of waiting for a solution of the question as a national one and they themselves brought it to a head this week when they passed new legislation touching religious taxes.

Under the new regulations, Catholic parents must pay a religious tax of 67 crowns for each child, while national church parents pay 17 crowns, the Jews 14, and the Czech brotherhood 13. The Socialists base their action on the ground that while the Protestants and Jews have their own religious funds and do not draw heavily on the state and city the Catholics receive most of their funds from the government.

The Catholics are threatening to carry the local fight to parliament and make it a national issue.

This religious strife has not been without its amusing features. Imagine a solemn parliamentary commission sitting to determine whether the miraculous preservation of the tongue of St. John of Nepemuk was a true miracle or whether the Jesuits put over a hoax.

St. John of Nepemuk was the confessor of Wenzel II. Tradition says that he was thrown from Karl's bridge to his death because he refused to tell the jealous king what his wife had confessed regarding a love affair. Three hundred years later John was canonized by the Jesuits. His canonization was based on the ground that when his body was disinterred after 300 years a living tongue was found among the bones.

POETESS AMY LOWELL ILL; LECTURE TOUR OF EUROPE IS CANCELED

AMY LOWELL.
[Moffett Photo.]

Brookline, Mass., April 11.—[United Press.]—Amy Lowell, poetess and sister of President Lawrence Lowell of Harvard university, is seriously ill at her home tonight. Latest word from her physicians was that she was resting as comfortably as could be expected and that her condition was not critical. Miss Lowell's European tour, on which she was to have embarked next Wednesday, has been canceled. The lecture schedule was to have included Eton, Oxford and Cambridge.

FEAR VIOLENCE TO GOV. ROSS; GIVE HER GUARD

GOV. NELLIE TAYLOE ROSS.

Cheyenne, Wyo., April 11.—[United Press.]—Fear that "some outrage" would be perpetrated against the person or property of Gov. Nellie Tayloe Ross, caused a guard to be thrown around the Wyoming executive mansion last Saturday night, N. C. Wachtel, state commissioner of law enforcement, said today.

Violence according to Wachtel, was expected to come from quarters where Gov. Ross' activities against liquor and narcotic vendors have been most strongly felt. Underworld characters who have been operating in Wyoming oil fields are at the root of the trouble, Wachtel indicated.

"Investigations of this office," Wachtel said, "have convinced us there are plots against Gov. Ross. I ordered the guard on duty against the wishes of our governor. It will be kept on the job until we have the matter in hand."

Wachtel denied, however, that the finding of an artillery shell "bomb" in the Salt Creek oil field had any connection with the guard assigned to the governor. The "bomb" was exploded by rifle fire when artillery officers at Fort D. A. Russell refused to take it apart.

At the office of Gov. Ross, it was said she refused to take the matter seriously. Efforts to get her views were unavailing.

ANNUAL CLEARANCE SALE

High Class, Dependable Upright Pianos | Handsome Baby and Parlor Grands | Personal Expressive Player Pianos | Welte Mignon Reproducing Pianos | Most All the Good Makes of Phonographs

ALL MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES AT DEEP CUT PRICES ON CONVENIENT TERMS

REASONABLE REASON

We want you to know the reason for the very deep cut in piano and phonograph values at this time.

In the course of a year's business we naturally have left on our hands quite a number of fine new Grands, players and uprights, comprising factory samples, odd styles, and models that will not appear in our 1925-26 catalogue; these together with a large number of fine uprights, players and Grands taken in exchange on Kimball Reproducing Grands, make this offering the most formidable array of good pianos at the lowest prices and on the easiest terms ever offered to the people of Chicago.

For years we have maintained an absolute ONE PRICE SYSTEM, but when we DISCOUNT IT COUNTS. This sale will be conducted on this plan, showing actual reductions, so that a child can buy as advantageously as the shrewdest shopper.

AN INVITATION

Old Patrons—We especially invite old patrons, sons, daughters and grandchildren of folks to whom we have sold instruments to in the past 70 years, and the general public as well, to attend this very EXTRAORDINARY SALE, take advantage of the big discounts, and the extremely easy terms offered.

To you who contemplate the purchase of a fine BABY GRAND this is your opportunity. The home with a piano and no one to play it, this is your best chance to turn in your silent piano and get a player piano, a semi-reproducing Grand, or a Kimball Welte Reproducing Grand or Upright.

To the mother with children that should be taking music lessons and no instrument to practice on will find THIS SALE a great boon to her savings account, for we shall take this occasion to CLOSE OUT, regardless of cost or former values, a very large number of good used pianos that are all right for beginners and practice purposes. See examples below:

MRS. PIANO BUYER: For the children's sake it will pay you to attend this sale. If a good used piano from $50.00 to $90.00 suits your purpose for the children to practice on you will find it here as advertised and we will be as pleased to sell it to you as a $1,000.00 Grand.

BELOW WILL BE FOUND CONCRETE EXAMPLES OF THE BIG SALE SAVINGS ON THE HIGHEST CLASS AND MOST DEPENDABLE PIANOS, GRANDS, PLAYERS, UPRIGHTS AND PHONOGRAPHS

IMPORTANT—Any used piano, Grand or Player, purchased at this sale, may be returned to us in one year for credit at what you pay for it on any new instrument of higher price. Now while waiting for your new Kimball Grand or Player take one of these good used instruments.

BENES ASSERTS PEACE PERILED IF HINDENBURG WINS

Czech Leader Tells Views on Frontier Issue.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, April 11.—"Gen. von Hindenburg's nomination by the nationalists has cleared up the German situation, with the result that the election will give the world a standard whereby to measure Germany's intentions," Dr. Edouard Benes, foreign minister of Czecho-Slovakia, said today.

This spokesman for Europe's small nations, and the driving force of the little entente, is alarmed and at the same time pleased at the selection of the old war chief as candidate for the highest office in Germany.

Will Show German Position.

"It is well they nominated him," Dr. Benes continued. "His choice prepares for a return to a monarchy. The elections will show the world the definite line of cleavage in Germany. If he is beaten it will be a great victory for the republic. If he wins it means an end of the security pact and a check to the European peace plans, but it will at least give the world a standard whereby to judge the German people. If they return the old army leader they will definitely choose the forces the world fought to crush—the monarchy. It is all very well whichever way the fight goes. I believe, however, that Dr. Marx will win the election."

Discussing reported proposals to reopen the question of boundaries, Dr. Benes said:

"We never accepted and never can accept action by a court of arbitration on frontier disputes. The question of the frontier between Germany and Czecho-Slovakia has not been raised. I am ready to admit arbitration on other matters on the basis of the peace signed with the former enemy countries after the Paris conferences. But we never could permit Germany to bring up the boundary question before a court of arbitration."

Hedges on Poland.

"Will you feel bound to support Poland's boundary?" I asked Dr. Benes.

"We have no treaties on that subject with Poland," he replied.

I gathered from Dr. Benes' answer that he will fight the German government's attempt to create a court of arbitration to settle the eastern frontiers of Germany through a proposed security pact.

"If Poland is drawn into a war over its frontiers, do you feel bound to support it under the treaty of Versailles?"

"No more and no less than the other powers who signed the treaty."

There is no doubting Dr. Benes' attitude toward the German memorandum. As THE TRIBUNE correspondent in Berlin understands, these proposals called definitely for a court of arbitration to settle the frontier dispute if and when it arises.

Brings Woman's World's Fair Exhibit

Mrs. Howard Linn, chairman of the art gallery committee of the fair, with bust of Anna Pavlowa, by Melvina Hoffman, which will be exhibited in the American Exposition palace starting April 18.

Bride of 63 Announces Marriage to Youth of 25

Washington, D. C., April 11. — The marriage of Mrs. Flora Ritter Cortner, 63, to Carver Forrest, 25, was announced here today. The bride is a sister of William M. Ritter, retired lumber millionaire who turned his business over to his employés last winter. The groom is a member of a local orchestra.

LOS ANGELES TO CARRY MAIL ON TRIP TO BERMUDA

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—The postoffice department has arranged with the navy department to have 200 pounds of fully prepaid unregistered letters and post cards carried by the airship Los Angeles, which is expected to leave Lakehurst, N. J., for Bermuda about April 14.

Letters in their usual and ordinary form must be paid at the rate of 2 cents for each ounce or fraction thereof, and post cards 2 cents each. No more than 200 pounds of mail will be carried.

Letters and cards must be plainly marked on the face "Air Mail by Airship Los Angeles from Lakehurst, N. J.," as letters and post cards for Bermuda not so marked will not be included in this dispatch.

WOMAN'S SPHERE IS EVERYWHERE, FAIR TO SHOW

Exposition Opens Saturday in Furniture Mart.

Cleopatra was a wonder but she couldn't mend a leaking faucet.

Helen of Troy had that face which launched a thousand ships, but she'd probably have made a terrible mess of prospecting for clay in Canada.

Portia knew all about tempering mercy with justice, but it's ten to one she couldn't typewrite her briefs.

All of which shows that women have made considerable progress since those good old days to the time of the Woman's World's fair, which opens next Saturday at the Furniture Mart.

All Walks of Life.

Women plumbers, and women miners; women dancers and women inventors; women legislators and women clergymen. Hundreds of women from all parts of the country, representing seventy different occupations and professions, and demonstrating their enterprises in 300 booths, will contribute to the pageant of woman's activities, which will be in session for a week, Sunday excepted.

Miss Helen Bennett, the managing director, plans to make the fair both a record of what women have done, and a forecast of what women can do. Accordingly, a group of girls from the Collegiate Bureau of Occupations, in cap and gown, will be on hand to give information to every undergraduate who comes in for vocational guidance. The women in each of the booths will have hours assigned to them, when they will meet the girls who wish to choose their profession and will tell them about it.

It looks as if there wouldn't be a job, or an occupation or a profession which won't be represented.

For instance:

Mrs. O. L. McCracken of Denton, Mont., lives nineteen miles from the postoffice. But she has a busy time making dolls out of the cottonwood roots she finds near home. More that 200 of her dolls will be at the fair.

Helene Pachal of Regina, Canada, is the only woman ceramic engineer in this country. She did clay modeling, but didn't like to wait for the special clay to be imported from England, so she bought a miner's kit and started prospecting in Canada. Now she has discovered the best clay possible, she maintains.

Jane Magan is Chicago's woman plumber. She doesn't leave her tools at home, she claims.

For Stylish Stouts.

Maude Oliver, professor of dress designing at the Nicholas Senn High school, is going to give first aid, and mighty sensational aid it is, to stylish stouts. For years the plump ladies have worn vertical stripes, hoping to seem to elongate themselves.

That's all wrong, Miss Oliver asserts. "Wear stripes running around, not up and down. That will make the stout person look slimmer." Miss Oliver has consulted with Lorado Taft and several prominent architects, and they say that it is a sound architectural, if not dressmaking, principle.

Then there's Mrs. Mary Ettbauer, who used to be a retail coffee dealer. She didn't like the scales that weighed the fine coffee going into containers. So she up and invented a special kind of scales.

Mrs. Arthur Farwell will bring down a herd of goats from her famous goat farm.

Mrs. Medill McCormick's prize cow will be at the fair. She will be milked four times a day, and the milk given away.

Mrs. Minna Schmidt, the costumer, will have a series of figurines portraying women from the days of Cleopatra to the 1925 successor to the 1924 flapper.

Mrs. John Alden Carpenter is in charge of the decorations, and plans to convert the Furniture mart into a tent. Mrs. William Vaughn Moody will run a French tea garden. Mrs. Parmalee McFadden is chairman of the ticket committee, and Mrs. Clair More will supervise the transportation arrangements.

The fair opens Saturday at 12:30, when President Coolidge will deliver a speech over the radio and Mrs. Coolidge will press a button which will fling open the doors of the mart.

Dr. Sun a Communist? Yea, Nay, Say Honolulu Solons

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

HONOLULU, April 11. — The question of whether Dr. Sun Yat Sen was a communist arose in the territorial senate today during the discussion of a resolution to adjourn until Monday out of respect to Dr. Sun. Senator James Russell declined his support on the ground that Dr. Sun was a communist, but the senate adopted the resolution. Senator Tavares insisted that Dr. Sun was born in Hawaii and was a true patriot.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Sufferers From Indigestion or Stomach Trouble CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by chronic acid stomach," says a well known authority.

Burning hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastritis accompanied by dangerous stomach ulcers. Don't dose an acid stomach with pepsin or artificial digestants that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the sour, fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestines.

Instead, neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little hot water and Bisurated Magnesia and not only will the pain vanish but your meals will digest naturally. There is nothing better than Bisurated Magnesia to sweeten and settle an acid stomach. It soaks up the harmful excess acid much as a sponge or blotting paper might and your stomach acts and feels fine in just a few minutes. Bisurated Magnesia can be obtained from any reliable druggist in either powder or tablet form. It is safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use, is not a laxative and is not at all expensive.

For those who do not want or are not ready for the Eight-in-Line, ELCAR Fours and Sixes permit a wide choice at a wide price-range.

IN an industry with a history filled with spectacular successes (and equally spectacular failures) ELCAR'S success is without a parallel. Unaided by a stupendous capitalization, enormous production or freakish designs, ELCAR has moved steadily and quietly into the first rank of fine car builders. Lacking the aids described above, such achievement could come about only through quality, through workmanship, and through performance superlatively good.

That ELCAR has these qualities none can deny who have seen and driven any ELCAR model.

Most enthusiastic, perhaps, in their acknowledgments, are those who have purchased the new 5-passenger Eight-in-Line Sedan, pictured here. Priced on a level with the 7-passenger Touring Car on the same chassis, it is an unapproachable value.

FREE STATE OF IRELAND PLANS BUSINESS ERA

Smiddy Predicts Great Industrial Growth.

Where the River Shannon flows in Ireland is to become the center of a great industrial development, giving cheap light and heat to every house in the Irish Free State, according to Timothy A. Smiddy, minister from that dominion to the United States, who spoke yesterday before the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations at the Congress hotel.

The Irish Free State government, he said, is now occupied with the development of the power of the River Shannon, following the reports of two commissions of expert engineers.

With insurrection put down, a new body of state police, unarmed but effective, a new form of judiciary, and law and order prevailing, the new state is now turning to industrial and agricultural problems, the minister said, with the hope of solving these so well that eventually Ulster will come into the union and Ireland will become at last a united republic.

Result of Treaty.

He sketched the events that led to the signing of the treaty of December, 1921, with Great Britain, and said that the result of this treaty had been to make the Irish Free State a coequal with Great Britain in the commonwealth of nations.

"The imperial crown and the imperial parliament," he said, "are the symbols of unity, not the British monarch."

While the crown and parliament, Mr. Smiddy said, give a formal unity, in actual practice they do not amount to much in the life of southern Ireland.

As to the right to secede, he quoted the late British premier, Bonar Law, on a similar question regarding Canada and Australia. It was a matter which the free commonwealths must decide for themselves, Mr. Bonar Law is reported to have said. Mr. Smiddy applied this to the Irish Free State.

"If Canada and Australia can secede, so can every other unit," he said. He held out no prospect of this, however.

Free to Make Laws.

"We are the masters of our own household," he said. "We are free to make any laws we choose." The British empire no more interferes in the management of our affairs than do you. Great Britain has kept the letter and the spirit of the treaty. We can send a diplomatic representative to Washington and have absolute international recognition.

"The Irish Free State has now turned to internal problems. A land act has been passed which will transfer to those tenants in Ireland who have not yet purchased their land the balance of the land. The landholders will become the landowners. This will affect 100,000 tenant farmers. In addition, by purchase of untenanted land, we will transfer small farmers from the congested districts.

"A live stock act has been passed which will greatly improve the breed of cattle. The Irish cow now gives 200 gallons a year less than the Danish and Dutch cows. In three or four years we expect to increase the government income $45,000,000 a year.

Plans for Country.

"We intend to make the country more self-subsistent. The growing of beet sugar roots is encouraged, as are factories for sugar making. Our economic balance is now on the wrong side. If Ulster was in, we would not have this condition.

"We have considered introducing a tariff. The government has decided to experiment. A tariff was put on twelve commodities last year.

"The problem of Ulster is the great one. Ireland is now divided politically, with six counties under the jurisdiction of the north and twenty-six under the Irish Free State. The northern parliament is subordinate to Great Britain.

"The only settlement is unity. This can be brought about only by achievement, by the determination of the Irish Free State to make good, to develop the country and make good laws, reduce taxes, mind our own business, and give an economical administration. It may take three years or twenty-five years, but what is that in the life of a nation? Unity with Ulster is our next step in the life of the nation."

U. W. THESPIANS ARRIVE TODAY, PLAY TOMORROW

More than eighty University of Wisconsin students, members of the Haresfoot club, which will present the annual school play, "Ivan Ho!" at the Eighth Street theater tomorrow night, will arrive in Chicago this morning and will stay at the Auditorium hotel.

Several middle western cities have been played by the collegians in their spring tour. From Chicago the company will go to Racine, Milwaukee, and then Madison, where six performances will be played.

The musical comedy is based upon Scott's medieval romance. The male lead is taken by Thomas W. Morony, president of the dramatic club, and "By" Rivers plays the female lead.

BIDS TO CAPITAL HELD SURRENDER OF BOLSHEVIKS

Russia Ready to Yield on Old Policies.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

RIGA, Latvia, April 11.—The soviet government's recent decision to reintroduce the late Premier Lenin's new economic policy on broader lines to restore normal trade through promotion of private enterprise, the release of imprisoned merchants, the return of expelled nepmen (profiteers), and invitations to foreign capital, has caused great excitement here and is considered as a capitulation of the bolsheviks, especially the militant communists.

Former business men are being urged to enter trade again, and inducements are being offered for the formation of companies, for which the soviets promise financial and other assistance.

Merchants Offered Aid.

Private merchants are being informed that they will get financial aid, soviet banks have been instructed to finance private trade and industries and to discount bills, the soviet tax departments have been ordered to revise and reduce taxes handicapping private businesses, and rents on business buildings and residences are being reduced considerably.

Everything is being done to induce the recently persecuted business men to come and revive Russia's economic life. High class business men, however, are cautious and distrustful, not believing in the sincerity of the bolshevik's present attitude. It is recognized that without foreign capital and assistance little success can be achieved, and herefore it is expected that the bolshevik's external policy will be modified considerably soon.

Official soviet circles are seriously contemplating the transfer of a number of large manufacturing plants, mines, and other enterprises to private hands, while a favorable decision is expected soon whereby many government enterprises will be offered to foreign capitalists.

Leaders Talk Changes.

A change for a more rational system of government is being discussed broadly by virtually all soviet leaders, including MM. Stalin, Rykov, Kameneff, and Djerjinsky. All agree on the impossibility of continuing longer under the present conditions. Poverty, starvation, riots, and strikes and the rapidly growing opposition of the peasants and workmen are believed to have forced the bolsheviks to change their fundamental policies.

A new constitution is now being drafted, and great changes are expected to occur in Russia in the near future.

Deaf? A postcard brings joy of good hearing again

Amazing Invention enables deaf to hear instantly
Sent on Ten Days' Free Trial

Some folks imagine that deafness is merely a personal annoyance. But it's far more than that. It ruins the disposition. Upsets the nerves. And taxes the health.

Now science has proven it is needless to remain deaf. A remarkable little personal hearing aid has been perfected by a group of New York scientists. Immediately restores good hearing even to the poorest ears. Results are immediate—there is no waiting—no delay—no danger. You hear at once—clearly, distinctly, naturally.

The inventors are so sure you will be elated with this wonderful little discovery that they offer to send it to you without a string of any kind—for ten days' free trial No red tape—no deposit—no C. O D.'S of any kind. To take advantage of this liberal trial offer, simply write to the Dictograph Products Corporation, 1230 Lytton Building, Chicago, Ill. In justice to yourself, please do this now.

If you have lost hope through other methods, we are even more anxious to have you try this remarkable little invention. For it will not fail you; and there is nothing for you to lose. Simply send name and address now.

"SERVICE AND SUCCESS"

The mission of a merchant is not merely to sell goods on which there is a momentary profit. He must go further and meet a need and give genuine service.

Guided by these twin policies, service and helpfulness, he may be certain that his business will succeed, not only for a year but for a century.

If he disregards them, he is doomed to join the failures, for short-sighted policies make for short-lived careers.

MAJORS RIP OFF BALL LID ON TUESDAY

BRIDE LURES DEMPSEY FROM RING

CHAMPION ALSO SOUR ON SPLIT WITH KEARNS

Fear of Bruised Nose Is Another Factor.

BY FRANK SMITH.

Put it down in your little red book, fans, that Jack Dempsey, sporting the title of heavyweight champion boxer of the universe, will not don the mitts this year in defense of his title, and perhaps never.

One doesn't have to look far for the reason. Despite reports that friend wife is not concerned in the pugilistic activities of her spouse, you can take it from us and from many of his close acquaintances that the big fellow wants to retire with the honors he has worn for six years.

Jack Dempsey doesn't like to train for a fight. It is too much work, and especially does he find it so since he has stacked up oodles of dough that can't be taken from him. Recently the writer saw the big fellow mulling around the gymnasium he opened in Los Angeles in order that he might get a run from his male relatives for money spent on them. He opened the training quarters that his brothers might work a bit for the alms passed out to them.

Champ Far from Fit.

The champion was far from being fit to enter the ring and admitted that it would take him a long time to get into proper shape to withstand possible bruising blows from some adversary. In our humble opinion we do not believe he could get in shape to fight as he once did if he trained for a year. This may sound nonsensical, yet we say it and believe it. He might be able to enter the ring and put up a good battle, but he never will be the same Jack Dempsey that knocked Jess Willard flat at Toledo.

Dempsey has become imbued with the idea that he is a movie actor. He has been inoculated with this bug as a result of his courtship of and marriage to Estelle Taylor. It is a known fact that he had his nose made beautiful at her behest, and she would hate like the Old Harry to see it flattened again. Not only do both of them realize that it would mar his new beauty, but they have been told by physicians that if paraffin was used in building up the proboscis, there is danger of blood poisoning if the member is injured.

The paraffin is labeled with death if it courses through the veins and finally reaches the heart, which it is bound to do unless strenuous measures are adopted to prevent it.

Not a Movie Star.

It may take a long time for Jack to realize that he is not fitted for the stage. It is stated on good authority that the recent serial featuring Dempsey was a financial bust, and that the champion lost instead of earned money on his contract. In future he must take a chance with the producers and work on a percentage of the profits. In the ring Jack is a drawing card, but on the screen—not so good.

In addition to his hatred of ring engagements and his love for his actress wife, Dempsey has had a row with Jack Kearns, his astute and conniving manager. Despite stories to the contrary, one can bet the bank roll that the breach caused by the quarrel never has been healed and never will be. Ever since Dempsey and Kearns got together, they have split the earnings of the fighter fifty-fifty. For a long time Dempsey's kin have begrudged Kearns his share of the firm's earnings. They seem to have overlooked the fact that Kearns got more for Dempsey's services than possibly any other manager could have done. Whether one likes or dislikes Kearns, he must give the devil his due. Up until just before his marriage Dempsey never growled over the financial arrangements.

Tells of Split.

According to a story from Los Angeles, Mrs. Lottie Dexter Dempsey, 22 year old ex-manicure girl, who became Dempsey's step-mother by marriage to 6 year old "Pa" Hyrum Dempsey, and then divorced him, has publicly stated that one of Dempsey's brothers approached Kearns with the announcement that all of Jack's kindred agreed that the fifty-fifty split must be rearranged. Kearns, according to her story, shrugged his shoulders and walked away. That was before Dempsey married Estelle, and that is exactly where the situation rests now.

According to a story from the coast, Dempsey and Kearns have had a conference to straighten out their business arrangements. They got nowhere. Both are stubborn men, and it would not be surprising to see their joint property interests put on the market and a split of the proceeds made.

Reasons for Quitting.

Friends who profess to know say Dempsey's retirement can be accepted [illegible] on the following basis:

1. Jack hates to train.
2. Jack believes he can pick up a comfortable living as an actor.
3. Jack will not announce his retirement, because the title "champion of the world" is a tremendous asset in the movies, stage, or personal appearances.
4. Jack is prepared for adversity with a trust fund of $250,000, which [illegible] him an income of about $15,[illegible] as long as he lives.

BADGERS LOSE TO GOLDEN BEARS ON TRACK, 65 TO 39½

Berkeley, Cal., April 11.—[By Associated Press.]—The University of California ran up 65 points in a triangular track and field meet here this afternoon for a victory over the University of Wisconsin and an all star team from the southern California inter-collegiate conference. Wisconsin finished second with 39½ points, while the composite squad scored 20½.

The meet was closer than the score indicates, for Wisconsin and the all stars kept the issue in doubt until a large number of the events had been contested. Wisconsin went into an early lead, but the well distributed power of California soon began to assert itself.

Relay Race Close.

The final event, the relay race, was a sizzler. The first three men finished their laps almost in a dead heat. Johnson, California's fleet Negro, finished second but was disqualified because he took the baton outside of the allowance point.

McAndrews of Wisconsin was high point man with 11 points. He won the 100 yard run in 9 9-10 seconds, considered phenomenal time in view of the somewhat slow track, due to a heavy rain yesterday. The Badger sprinter also took second in the 220 yard dash and second in the broad jump.

Bears Win Six Events.

California won six events, the 220 yard run, two mile run, 880 yard run, high jump, discus throw and broad jump.

Schwarze, the huge Wisconsin weight tosser, heaved the shot 48 feet 7½ inches for a first place. Kennedy, in addition to running in the relay for the Badgers, captured the quarter mile race. Summaries:

100 YARD DASH—Won by McAndrews, Wisconsin; Barber, California, second; Mingey, All-stars, third. Time, 9 9-10.

120 YARD HIGH HURDLES—Won by Maxwell, All-stars; Becker, California, second; Turner, All-Stars, third. Time, :15 6-10.

220 YARD RUN—Won by Barber, California; McAndrews, Wisconsin, second; Francis, Wisconsin, third. Time, 22.

440 YARD RUN—Won by Kennedy, Wisconsin; Johnson, California, second; Crane, California, third. Time, 51 4-10.

880 YARD RUN—Won by Borden, California; Chase, California, second; Bergstresser, Wisconsin, third. Time, 2:03.

MILE RUN—Won by Carter, All-Stars; Schutt, Wisconsin, second; Ross, California, third. Time, 4:22 1-10.

TWO MILE RUN—Won by Schwabeda, California; Piper, Wisconsin, second; Perry, Wisconsin, third. Time, 9:54.

220 YARD LOW HURDLES—Won by Alderete, California; Maxwell, All-Stars, second; Becker, California, third. Time, :24 8-10.

JAVELIN THROW—Won by Bates, All-Stars; Hodson, California, second; Anderson, All-Stars, third. Distance, 182 feet.

DISCUS THROW—Won by Francis, California; Gerkin, California, second; Schwarze, Wisconsin, third. Distance, 131 feet 3¼ inches.

POLE VAULT—Hill, California; Carter, California, and Graham, All-Stars, tied. Height, 11 feet 11 inches.

SHOTPUT—Won by Schwarze, Wisconsin; Gerkin, California, second; Clark, All-Stars, third. Distance, 48 feet 7½ inches.

WOMEN OWNERS.

FIVE women are listed among those who nominated 3 year olds for the fifty-first running of the Kentucky Derby at Louisville May 16. They seek to repeat the success of 1924, when Black Gold, owned by a woman, Mrs. R. M. Hoots of Oklahoma, captured the rich prize. The only other such happening was in 1904, when Elwood won, running in the name of Mrs. Lasca Durnell, wife of "Boots" Durnell.

Horses entered by the fair sex this year are:

Nicholas, owned by Fair stable (Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt II.).

Hedge Fence, Stirrup Cup, and Chantey, owned by Greentree stable (Mrs. Payne Whitney).

By Hisself, entered by Walter M. Jeffords (owned jointly by Mr. and Mrs. Jeffords).

Brilliant, owned by Mrs. W. J. Potter.

Temar and Afris, owned by Mrs. L. Viau.

Of this array Hedge Fence, Nicholas, and By Hisself are the more prominent. Hedge Fence is a Whisk Broom II. colt which was not raced as a 2 year old, but showed fine form over a distance of ground and won the Derby at Tijuana. He is among the favorites in the future betting.

Nicholas was such a promising 2 year old that Mrs. Vanderbilt, owner of Sarazen, which beat Epinard in the third International and possibly would have taken the 1924 Derby if he had been ready at that time, paid $60,000 for him last August. He is not thought to be as good a prospect as was Sarazen, and in addition was of uncertain temper last year.

By Hisself is a scion of the great Man o' War, out of Coletta. He ran some creditable races, but generally was outfooted in tests against the leading 2 year olds.

At this writing Hedge Fence offers the best chances of those named for a woman owner to repeat.

NAVY TEAM WINS NATIONAL TITLE SWIMMING MEET

TEAM STANDING

Navy	21	Columbia	5
Northwestern	20	Illinois	3
Minnesota	10	Chicago	1
Princeton	8	Washington [St. Louis]	1
Iowa	7

BY HOWARD ROBERTS.

The big guns of the navy roared through the Patten gymnasium pool last night in the national collegiate meet and dethroned the Northwestern swimmers as national champions. The Purple put up a great battle before being submerged by the midshipmen, but the best Capt. Breyer and Dick Howell could produce could not ward off the defeat.

Although no official team championship is awarded by the rules committee, the midshipmen clearly demonstrated their superiority. On the point basis of 5, 3, 2, 1, the navy registered 21 points, nosing out Northwestern by a single marker.

New Records Are Scarce.

The meet proved to be a dud so far as record smashing performances were concerned. From the list of individual stars entered the eastern and western record holders at the various distances, it was freely predicted every national mark would be discarded. But only one new mark was established and one old record equaled.

The sole mark to fall went to Rule of the Navy in the 150 yard back stroke. The big midshipman churned his way through the tank in 1:49, lopping two-fifths of a second from the former record set by Jim Hill of Minnesota. The Gopher swimmer trailed Rule by slightly more than a yard, being unable to maintain the terrific pace.

Rule Ties 50 Yard Mark.

The same middie equaled another national record in the 50 yard free style, when he swam the distance in :23 9-10 to tie the mark he set a year ago. Rule got off to a fast start and gained a margin of about two feet over Breyer of Northwestern on the first length and managed to hold his advantage to the end.

The fancy diving title went to Kristall, Columbia, eastern collegiate champion. The chunky seaboard diver re-

WHITE SOX MEET TIGERS AT DETROIT; CUBS OPEN WITH PIRATE GANG HERE

Collins May Elect Thurston for Slab Duty.

THE BATTLE LINES

FOLLOWING are the initial engagements in the 1925 major league race that get under way next Tuesday:

NATIONAL LEAGUE.
Pittsburgh at Chicago.
St. Louis at Cincinnati.
Philadelphia at Brooklyn.
New York at Boston.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.
Chicago at Detroit.
Cleveland at St. Louis.
Washington at New York.
Boston at Philadelphia.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 11.—[Special.]—There is good reason for loyal White Sox fans on the south side in Chicago to look forward to the coming baseball season with enthusiasm. They suffered last year when injuries and ill luck knocked the boys out of the race and hung on to them until they finished in last place.

A lot of dope on the chances of the White Sox this year may be gathered when they tangle with Mr. Tyrus Cobb's Detroit Tigers in the Michigan city next Tuesday. The boys will get their first taste this year of big league opposition, after romping through a long series of wins over minor league aggregations, and the hitting and defensive strength will be better known after that opening encounter.

There is no real reason to expect the White Sox to climb from last to first place this year, but the dope indicates the team will have a chance to finish in the first division, and at the same time the White Sox can be called the darkest dark horse in the race. Anything can happen.

Flock of "Ifs" in Dope.

It is this uncertainty of the strength of Mr. Comiskey's team that should keep the fans enthused, at least as long as the boys go along within striking distance of the leaders. It is the kind of a team that will play as much smart and inside baseball as any of them, and if two or three improbable but still possible things should happen it is a team that might go right out to the very front.

For instance, if the veteran Red Faber should happen to come back and pitch as he did a few years ago before he had any elbow trouble, and if Charley Robertson should do the same thing, and if Ray Schalk should happen to keep his bare hand out of the path of foul tips all year and catch more than a hundred games, the White Sox would be right up fighting for the pennant.

But Sox are Sluggers.

The White Sox can hit. It is a team with a punch. The infield is O. K. now that Ike Davis has come through as a shortstop with little McClellan on hand for emergency. The only doubtful thing about the team three days before the season is to open, is the pitching staff.

Figuring that Faber will not be the Faber of old and that Robertson too, will not be able to go at his old time pace and that Schalk will not catch more than seventy-five of the games, still the team rates far above the team that struggled through the 1924 season. Consequently on reasonable dope, the Sox should figure to finish as good as fifth and if by any chance those stars come back, it will be a contender for the flag.

It is hardly likely that all of those good things can happen. Manager Collins, who had hoped for much from his pitchers, admitted two days ago that he was a bit disappointed in the results shown on the training trip, but was still hopeful. He isn't one bit troubled about any other part of the team.

Thurston Rated As Ace.

There is fine looking material among the extra men, especially in Ted Blankenship and Ted Lyons and perhaps in Leo Mangum, the former Minneapolis star, who couldn't win for us after his transfer of last [illegible].

Holly Thurston, the young man who stepped out last year and turned in twenty victories with the last place club, is the ace of the staff as things figure.

Another good left handed pitcher would work wonders for the Sox pitching staff. At present only Mike Cvengros hurls from the port side. Last year he was good and bad. He hasn't given any indication this spring of being good all the time.

Additional strength has been added to the team by young Spencer Harris, the kid outfielder, who is likely to be in Harry Hooper's place for the first few weeks of the season. The boy looks like a coming star, both as a hitter and fielder.

The punch of the White Sox lies in the hitting strength of Johnny Mostil, Eddie Collins, Earl Sheely, Bib Falk and either Harris or Hooper, whichever is in. These fellows are .300 punchers, sure 'nuff, and there are five of them in the game every day.

Infield Defense Good.

The infield defense is as good as any with Kamm on third, Davis on short, Boss Eddie at second and Sheely at first. The catching is of the best with Schalk and Crouse.

It looks as if the Sox surely can beat out Cleveland, Boston and Philadelphia. They might beat out St. Louis, too, and get into the first division, and it isn't impossible to beat Washington if the [illegible]

RENEWED INTEREST IN BASEBALL PREDICTED BY BAN AND HEYDLER

BOTH President B. B. Johnson of the American league and John Heydler of the National league forecast renewed interest in baseball in their preseason statements yesterday. President Heydler expects the golden jubilee year of the National league to be the greatest in the history of the organization, while President Johnson declared that the American league would stage a great race, despite the fact that injuries would hamper some of the teams early in the season. The statements follow:

JOHN HEYDLER—"Our golden jubilee year not only will start with the promise of greatly improved and more evenly balanced clubs, but with the personnel of the eight clubs in the best of physical condition, aside from the injuries suffered by the Chicago team. For the first time in history, the prize money for final positions in the race will include the fourth place club. Added stimulation for the individual player also is assured by the league's golden gift to the player who proves himself most valuable to his club."

B. B. JOHNSON—"I believe there are five clubs in the American league sufficiently equipped to be tremendous contenders for the pennant. The public can count on a splendid race and much excitement. With Eddie Collins, the peerless second baseman of nearly a score of years, leading the Chicago club, White Sox fans have renewed interest in the local team. I look for a great race and a great season."

M'COY LOSES RING NAME FOR PRISON NUMBER

San Quentin, April 11.—"Kid" McCoy, dapper Beau Brummel of the prize ring, known to few by his real name, Norman Shelby, is tonight convict No. 46,716. He became a prisoner today.

Much of the nattiness of the former pugilistic idol disappeared this afternoon as McCoy went through the penitentiary routine. He was brought here clad simply in the county jail overalls he had worn in Los Angeles, but maintained nevertheless his jaunty, carefree demeanor. A session with the Bertillion expert, the photographer, the doctors, the official barber, and the showers, and then the regulation prison uniform, served to dampen his spirits and change him completely.

WILL PAY BIG

THE nation will pay considerable to take in the major league openers on Tuesday. Given fair weather in the eight cities selected for the inaugurals, indications are that approximately 275,000 fans will come across with about $200,000 for the privilege of getting a glimpse of the athletes. Eight teams will not have their at home openings until next week, so that means another $200,000 day. Tuesday's attendance figures will run about as follows:

At Chicago	32,000
At Cincinnati	31,000
At Brooklyn	27,000
At Boston	20,000

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Kansas City, Mo., April 11. — [Special.]—Turned back by the whimsical Lady Luck at a time when prospects were brighter than they had been for many years, Bill Killefer's Cubs still boast the qualities that have stood them in good stead for the last couple seasons — gameness and aggressiveness.

Winning a bunting is not a matter of gameness and aggressiveness, but such things count and the Cubs intend to make the best of them starting next Tuesday when they battle the Pirates in the National league opener on the north side lot and continuing until the distant days of next October.

The loss of "Rabbit" Maranville and Denver Grigsby naturally has removed pennant dreams from the Cubs' minds, but there are other berths in the standing worth fighting for and with a break in the luck, which they deserve, they have hopes they may come galloping home next fall with at least four teams in their wake. They'll have to hustle to do it, but it is possible and Killefer's lads have the spirit that makes 'em go after a possibility.

No Whirlwind Start.

One thing seems certain, and that is the Bruins will not get away to a flying start. First of all, Killefer must depend on an emergency layout pending the return of his two injured stalwarts. Being deprived of the services of those two fellows was disastrous enough but on top of it came a lot of California rainfall that unraveled a lot of hard training and left the pitching staff in none too finished a state. Neither was the vacation, brought on by the rain, helpful to the batting eyes of the other men.

The one slabber who appears ready to "go" is Old Alex. His rubber arm, that seems to defy advancing years, is showing as much as at any time in recent seasons and the veteran probably will be asked to display before the multitude in the north side park next Tuesday. The only thing that can keep him out of action on that auspicious occasion is cold weather and if Alex doesn't start, then Killefer will have to gamble with one of the several fellows who, so far, haven't indicated anything like real form.

Infield Is Question.

Unless he is overtaken by a last minute change, Killefer will start with Weis, Statz, and Heathcote guarding the outer works. Statz will be tried again, despite the fact he went miserably last season. In his hitting he still displays the fault that changed him from a good hitter to a poor one last year, but if the real battles don't bring back his former effectiveness it is likely Hack Miller will be given the job. Hack, of course, is going to break in when a left hander hurls for the opposition and that is just what the Pirates may dish up on opening day.

The infield will, at least, be a matter of interest for the Cub adherents. Had Maranville been spared his fractured ankle, the inner defense would have been a knockout. There is no better fielder in the business than the "Rabbit." Jimmy McAuley, who must fill the vacancy, is a question mark until he has a chance to prove himself. He is said to be a good fielder and thrower and a fairly good batter in the pinches.

Good Hitters Missing.

Grimm, who is to make his formal debut as a Cub, takes nothing from anybody when it comes to fielding around the initial corner. He is erratic as a hitter, so you can't dope him. He might hit .260 and then again might bang the ball for .325. Adams, moved to second, will be a better man than at short, and he's not a bum hitter. In fact, over a long stretch he may prove more valuable than did George Grantham. Friberg, with his ailing leg, may be slow in getting into his stride as a third corner fielder, but he'll have to do better as a hitter than he did last year.

As a whole, the team that Killefer will be forced to employ for the first month or six weeks of the race will be good enough in a fielding and throwing way and speedy enough for the present style game, but not so good on offense. The Cub team has a number of average hitters, but the big punch isn't there and that is the thing that appears to block their path to the [illegible]

BRITISH RUNNERS LEAD PENN TEAM HOME BY 5 YARDS

LONDON, April 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—An all-British quartet of Cambridge university runners won the triangular mile relay race at the Queen's club today from the University of Pennsylvania team by five yards. The Oxford university team, composed of two Americans, one Cadanian and one Englishman, finished last, one yard behind Pennsylvania. The winning time was 3:22:5.

When the race began about three thousand persons who had gathered to watch the international relay sandwiched between public school sports had visions of another American sports victory. Pennsylvania won the toss, and E. R. Wolf, on the inside of the track held a narrow lead around the first bend. He was two yards in front of Oxford and Cambridge runners, but when the 220 yard mark was passed he set himself too strong a pace and weakened as he entered the stretch.

Penn Loses Lead.

Fifty yards away was C. E. Rogers, who was waiting to take the baton from him, but Wolf was passed by both Oxford and Cambridge, and Pennsylvania began the second lap in last place, four or five yards behind D. M. Johnson of Oxford, who led throughout the second lap.

The third lap decided the race. With a gallant sprint down the stretch, Lord Burghley, who two weeks ago won both high and low hurdles for Cambridge in the Intervarsity sports competitions, captured the lead. Waiting for Burghley's baton, was the Olympic champion, D. G. A. Lowe, and, with a five yard lead to start, Lowe raced around the track with every one confident that he would win.

Victory Pleases British.

Running against him in the final quarter was W. E. Stevenson, ex-Princetonian, for Oxford, and F. O. MacDonald of Pennsylvania, another Olympic star. There was little hope for either of them taking the fast-footing Lowe, but they made a beautiful battle for second place, and in this MacDonald beat his compatriot.

The victory of Cambridge greatly pleased the crowd for it was a British victory, which would not have been the case had Oxford won. British victories in International sports have become so rare that each one brings pronounced pleasure to sports followers here. Burghley and Lowe were carried off the field on the shoulders of enthusiasts.

THREE RADICAL CHANGES MADE IN CAGE RULES

New York, April 11.—[By Associated Press.]—Three radical changes in the basketball playing rules were adopted by the joint committee of the Y. M. C. A., the A. A. U., and the National Collegiate Athletic association at its annual meeting here today.

The changes include the abolition of all zones, the elimination of the hand behind the back rule in case of a jump ball, and a provision that a ball which hits the edge of the back board will be considered in play unless it caroms out of bounds. These alterations were made to unify the playing code, and to standardize the game as played in the east and west.

Districts Varied Rules.

The rule makers were confronted with the task of satisfying all sections of the country in regard to the rule changes. The previous rules had been modified by the Western conference, and the game changed to suit conveniences in that section. The Eastern Intercollegiate league also had taken some liberty with the playing code.

The rule which abolished the placing of the hand behind the back was modified so the same result is obtained. The law makers inserted a clause in this rule which read:

"Any use of the hand, not used in tapping the ball, shall be construed as a personal foul."

Supplement Zone Rule.

The committee found the Western conference had completely abolished the former rule without substituting another for it. The Eastern Intercollegiate league also had modified the rule.

The rule abolishing the zones was supplemented by a rule which reads: "When a player is fouled in the act of shooting for a goal in any part of the floor two free throws shall be awarded to the player fouled."

This rule was changed at the request of the Eastern Intercollegiate league, which last season abolished the zoning rule.

Avoids Bids for Fouls.

Oswald Tower of Andover, Mass., editor of the official guide and a member of the joint committee, said this rule also was changed because it was found players were taking advantage of the zones by drawing fouls in the restricted areas by deliberately teasing opponents to foul them.

Another rule was changed to read: "When the ball hits the edge of the back board and rebounds into the playing court it shall still be in play."

The word "face" was insertedlin the rule covering the painting of the back board. The former rule made it mandatory for a team to paint its back board white, but teams evaded the regulation by painting the back white and leaving the face its natural color. Under the new rule teams will be forced to paint the face of the board white.

Overtime periods in high school games will be three minutes long instead of five.

FINN ACES RACE IN LOYOLA MEET ON NEXT SUNDAY

With stars of Olympic prominence entered in event Loyola university's carnival will be inaugurated at Park stadium next Sunday, day. The clash of Paavo Nurmi Willie Ritola in a special run will be the outstanding the program. This will be the first door race of the season for both and they are anxious to set a record the distance.

The Flying Finns met twice on eastern boards, each winning one. won the decision in New York, 17, when Nurmi was forced to quit cause of an attack of cramps after had set a killing pace the first half the route. Paavo later evened up outlegging his rival at Buffalo.

Osborn Out for Record.

Jackson Scholz of the New York A. C., Olympic 200 meter champion, has entered the special 100 yard dash. Pitted against him will be several of the fastest sprinters of this section, including Tom Wiley of Columbia college, Dubuque, Ia., who won the sprints at the Western Intercollegiate conference meet last spring in fast time.

Harold Osborn of the I. A. C., world's champion high jumper, will strive to better the mark he established in Texas last month. [illegible] University of Chicago, who tied for first in the Big Ten indoor meet at Evanston, is another outstanding entry in the high jump.

The relay races will bring together fast teams in all four sections, university, college, academy, and high school. Georgetown, winner of the mile and two mile relays at the University of Illinois meet, will match strides with Holy Cross in a special two mile race.

Fast Relay Entries.

Notre Dame, Missouri, Marquette, Creighton, De Paul, Columbia, Loyola, St. Louis, John Carroll, and probably the University of Chicago, are other leading relay entries. Jimmy Cusack, the Maroons' star middle distance runner, is entered in the 880 yard run. Lloyd Hahn of the Boston A. A., Ray Dodge of the I. A. C., and [illegible] of the Finnish American A. C. will be among Cusack's rivals.

Ray to Race in Mile.

Joie Ray of the I. A. C. and Jimmy Connolly, former Georgetown star, who have been Nurmi's leading opponents on eastern boards, will start in the millel run. Hahn, Schmisk of Marquette university, and Larrivee of Holy Cross also are entered.

HUSKER TRACKSTERS SINK COLORADO, 107-23

Boulder, Col., April 11.—The University of Nebraska smothered the University of Colorado track team here today, rolling up a total of 107 points to 23 for the Coloradoans.

Colorado track men took down but two first places, the high jump and the discus throw. Locke of Nebraska was high individual point man, with three first places and a total of fifteen points.

Three Rocky Mountain intercollegiate track records, for the mile, the 880 and 220 low hurdles, were broken. Ed Weir, all-American tackle, broke the low hurdle record, topping the sticks in 24.9 seconds. He also ran the hurdles in 15.3 seconds, which was one-tenth of a second faster than the conference record. However, it was disallowed when he knocked down three hurdles. Summaries:

PAIN IN SIDE FORCES RITOLA OUT OF RACE

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—Willie Ritola, the Finnish-American A. C. distance runner, who has broken numerous records at indoor meets during the winter, was taken ill in one of the feature races of the Military Athletic league meet at the 106th infantry armory, Brooklyn, tonight and was compelled to leave the track after running a little over one mile of a two mile race. Ritola was evidently in pain and was holding his right hand to his side as he finished the mile. He stopped running for a few seconds, started again, but left the track before he had completed the twelfth lap. Ritola ran the first mile against Ben McCready, N. Y. A. C. runner, whom he defeated in 4:33 4-5 by about forty yards.

Although Ritola was ill when he left the track he was able to dress and leave with Paavo Nurmi, Willie Plant, and Ugo Frigerio for Kansas City, where they will take part in a meet on Monday night on their way to the Pacific coast.

Hinsdale's One Man Track Team Cops Six Events

Hinsdale High school track team defeated Austin High, 69 to 53, yesterday at Hinsdale. The meet was closely contested throughout, the home school's victory resulting from the individual efforts of Borsom, who captured six first places. He displayed unusual versatility by winning the 70 yard dash, 60 yard low and high hurdles, and coming back for victories in the pole vault, high jump, and broad jump.

Crane Junior College Beats Kent Law, 5 to 1

Crane Junior college defeated the Kent College of Law nine in a practice baseball tilt at Jones and Baumrucker field yesterday afternoon. The score was 5 to 1. Neither team was able to accomplish much with the stick, although the Crane men did the best with 4 hits. Score:

Navy Wins National Title Swim Meet; Purple Second

peated his brilliant performance of the night before and took first honors with ease. He displayed unusual grace both on the board and in the air and cut the water cleanly. Dorf, Chicago, conference title holder, appeared to be bothered by the board and came in a poor fourth, trailing O'Brien, Illinois, and Bird, Minnesota, former conference champion.

220 Yard Race Great Duel.

The diving was conducted under a new system of rules adopted by the rules committee in the afternoon. As each diver performed, the judges announced the points scored at once. In this manner the final results were known within five minutes after the close of the event, and the spectators were able to follow the event with ease.

The 220 yard free style developed into a great duel between Howell, Northwestern, and Hayes, Princeton. Coach Robinson's big ace took the lead at the start, and was never headed, although closely pressed throughout.

Capt. Breyer, Northwestern, took the 100 yard free style in easy manner, although he did not seriously threaten his own national mark.

Rule High Point Man.

Rule, the Navy crack, was easily high point man with two firsts. Breyer and Howell tied for second honors with a first and a second apiece. After his strenuous workout in the 220, Howell attempted to come back and take the 440, but proved unequal to the task, Hawkins of Princeton leading him by a full length.

Johnny Faricy, stellar breast stroker of the Gopher squad, disappointed the crowd, which jammed the galleries, when he failed to break his own national mark in the 200 yard breast stroke. Allen of the Navy kept at his heels throughout.

In the afternoon session of the rules committee, several important changes were made in the rules governing dual meets. The 440 yard free style was added to the program, replacing the 220, which was discarded. The plunge for distance also was thrown out, and mile relay added.

The committee is composed of Henry Ortlund, U. S. Naval academy; T. E. Daubert, Iowa State; E. J. Manly, Illinois; Frank Sullivan, Princeton, and T. W. Luehring, Minnesota.

50 YARD FREE STYLE—Won by Rule, Navy; Breyer, Northwestern, second; Wyckoff, Navy, third; McClintock, Iowa, fourth. Time, :23 9-10 [ties national collegiate record].

FANCY DIVING—Won by Kreissel, Columbia; O'Brien, Illinois, second; Bird, Minnesota, third; Dorf, Chicago, fourth. Winner's points, 103.7.

220 YARD FREE STYLE—Won by Howell, Northwestern; Hayes, Princeton, second; Wyckoff, Navy, third; Cressy, Navy, fourth. Time, 2:23 7-10.

200 YARD BREAST STROKE—Won by Faricy, Minnesota; Allen, Navy, second; Harkins, Chicago, third; Specht, Washington, fourth. Time, 2:40 6-10.

150 YARD BACKSTROKE—Won by Rule, Navy; Hill, Minnesota, second; Ashton, Iowa, third; Bonnell, Northwestern, fourth. Time, 1:49 [new national intercollegiate record].

100 YARD FREE STYLE—Won by Breyer, Northwestern; Wyckoff, Navy, second; McClintock, Iowa, third; Manovitz, Northwestern, fourth. Time, :55.

440 YARD FREE STYLE—Won by Hawkins, Princeton; Howell, Northwestern, second; Corbett, Northwestern, third; Lambert, Iowa, fourth. Time, 5:24 5-10.

PURPLE SWAMPS BOILERMAKERS 14-4 IN OPENER

Bunching hits with bases on balls and errors, Northwestern university baseball team opened its conference season with a 14 to 4 victory over Purdue yesterday at Evanston. The Boilermakers, who were weak with the stick, were charged with eight bungles.

The Purple opened up with batting sprees in the sixth and eighth innings to pile up a comfortable lead after the visitors had threatened with three counters in the fourth. The fielding of Solheim and Christman, who covered second and short, respectively, was the feature of the N. U. brilliant defensive work. Both also contributed timely hits. Score:

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 11.—[Special.]—Eddie Collins and his gallant crew of White Sox players beat a good ball team today for their eighteenth straight victory of the spring training trip. They met the sturdy Indians of the American association, the team which raised ned with the leaguers in Florida this spring, and the Sox dumped them neatly and decisively by a score of 8 to 5. The Indians deserved only three of their five runs.

Not only that, but Boss Eddie Collins is feeling a bit better about the Sox pitching staff after watching three of his regulars perform. This is especially true of the veteran Red Faber, who hurled the first three innings. Old Red looked stronger and steadier than in any of the previous games he has toiled and he was firing today at some pretty good hitters.

Red in Fine Form.

Red was steady and true all the way. He had the ball right in there all the time with plenty of stuff on it. In the second inning two of the enemy got hits when, after two were out, Clark poled a two bagger just inside the right foul line. Schreiber followed with a single to center, scoring Clark. In the first and third rounds Red set the Indians down three in a row. He fanned one in the first and one in the third.

Hollis Thurston took his topping off drill by pitching the next three rounds. The Indians never should have scored off him, but they got two runs in the fourth because Bib Falk and Johnny Mostil got a bit tangled up on which one should catch a long drive to left center. Neither got it, and it went for a triple. This followed a double by Allen, and only one man was out, so the infielders came in, hoping to cut off the tying run at the plate. Clark, however, got a scratch hit on a smash which Davis was barely able to knock down, and the tying run came in.

Connally Finishes Job.

No more damage was done to Thurston during his period of work, though he walked a man in the fifth. He is ready to go and may draw the assignment for opening day.

Sergt. Connally hurled the last three innings and the Indians scored in the seventh on two singles, with a pass sandwiched in between. They scored again in the ninth on two doubles, but the game was packed away for the Sox by that time.

This was the first game of the year here and the weather was superb. About 4,000 persons attended the pastime. Another game will be played tomorrow and then the gang moves on to Detroit.

'RABBIT' EAGER TO HELP CUBS WALLOP BLUES

Walter (Rabbit) Maranville, field captain of the Chicago Cubs, who is in Chicago for treatment for his broken ankle, wants to throw away his crutches and go back to Kansas City to help his teammates put across a win in the final of the series with the American association club.

"Rabbit" is subjecting his leg to the massage treatments prescribed by Dr. Ryerson. He was much pleased yesterday to learn that the veteran Grover Alexander and Cooper shared the pitching honors and declared this pair is going to make things interesting for other pennant contenders.

"My physical condition could not be better and that is going to be a big card in my favor. You notice how I can wiggle the old toes"—and he moved them up and down. "There is not the slightest pain, and I tell you it will a great relief to get that weight off the leg."

CIVIC CLUBS OF WASHINGTON TO DINE SENATORS

Washington, D. C., April 11.—Baseball fandom here is going to testify to its expectation of another pennant this year by tendering a "confidence dinner" to the members of the Washington club at the first opportunity of their return home on April 21, after playing the first two series of the schedule in New York and Philadelphia. The civic clubs sponsoring the dinner have invited a number of celebrities in and out of baseball, including Vice President Dawes and Kenesaw M. Landis, to speak on the occasion.

JACK RYDER, B. B. WRITER, MARRIES IN LOUISVILLE

Cincinnati, O., April 11.—[Special.] Jack Ryder, widely known baseball writer of the Cincinnati Enquirer, and Susannah Leach of Cincinnati were married in Louisville yesterday. It was the couple's intention to have been wed in June; but, as the hitherto cynic-proof Jack confided to friends: "It was a long time until June, so I wired my sweetheart, and she said she was lonesome, too."

Macks Buy First Baseman to Replace Joe Hauser

Winston Salem, N. C., April 11.—Poole, former first baseman of the Portland club of the Pacific Coast league, left today to join the Philadelphia Athletics. He announced that he had been advised of his sale to that club to replace the injured Joe Hauser.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Kansas City, Mo., April 11.—[Special.]—Young Joe Bush, who has been looked upon as second choice for the flinging job in the opener next Tuesday, exploded with a large and magnificent bang in the closing moments today and the Cubs were nosed out of a struggle that seemed as good as clinched.

What Joe did was to let the Kaws soak him for three runs that tied the score in the eighth, and then after the Cubs had resumed the lead in their final half, Bush did some more hurling gymnastics and the locals hopped on him for two runs and the ball game. The final count was 5 to 4.

Kaws' Boss Breaks Leg.

The Kaws paid a huge price for their triumph, however. In the ninth Manager Johnny Lavan, ex-major leaguer, caught his foot on first base while running out a sacrifice and was carried off the field with a fracture above the right ankle.

Tony Kaufmann started the struggle and went five rounds, with three hits and no runs chalked against him. He didn't even walk a man, but what he did was to plunk Ferdie Schupp, the Kaws' left hander, on the pitching elbow with a wide pitch, causing the former Giant to knock off work. It required the services of three more Kaw hurlers to bring the pastime to a conclusion.

Cubs Light with Stick.

Aside from Bush's work being off color, the Cubs also gave another exhibition of light hitting. Although the pitching against them was wild and erratic, they were able to collect only six taps, and to make matters worse they hit into four double plays. Hack Miller would have swelled the hit total if two hot line drives off his bat hadn't been speared by vigilant Kaw fielders.

The tilt started as though the Cubs were about to have a busy but enjoyable afternoon. A pass to McAuley and a double by Weis inaugurated the show and both these runners scored when a Kaw infielder made two errors on one play. The hits by Grimm and Weis scored one more Cub in the fifth and the three run lead appeared to be sufficient.

The Disastrous Finale.

Bush got himself into trouble by passing the first batter in the eighth. Then a couple others singled and one doubled, and the score was tied at three apiece. The Cubs got their advantage back again in the ninth when a hit by Statz and three passes forced a run in, but a few minutes later Murray singled, Scott walked and stole and Snyder sent both over the counter with a clean smack to center.

President William Veeck of the Cubs arrived today and conferred at length with President Harvey of the Wichita Falls, Tex., club. One or two Cubs may be sent to the latter place in the near future.

20,000 Fans See Browns Win from Cardinals, 7-6

St. Louis, Mo., April 11.—Approximately 20,000 persons saw the St. Louis Browns defeat the Cardinals, 7 to 6, in the first of their two game spring series here this afternoon. Vangilder, who pitched for the Browns, held the Cardinals safe until the ninth inning, when two singles and Mueller's home run put the National leaguers out in front. Duster Mails, former Cleveland hurler, started for the Cardinals, but was relieved in the first inning, after the Browns had scored three runs. Dickerman succeeded him and pitched creditably until the ninth, when he was relieved by Sherdel, who yielded the winning runs.

The Question.

Who do you pick to win the pennants in the American and National league baseball races this year?

Where Asked.

Grace street and Broadway avenue.

The Answers.

Joseph Felten, 1432 North Clark street, salesman — My pick to win the American league pennant is Detroit. From time to time, I thought the team was a very clever squad, especially with Ty Cobb as the leader. In the National league the New York Giants or Brooklyn should win the title, as both teams have old heads leading them.

John Butterly, Barry Bachelor apartments, manager — This is an early date to pick a winner in either league, as we have not had a chance to see the teams work. In my mind, inasmuch as I came from New York, I think John J. McGraw has the National league pennant cinched. I do not think that "Buck" Harris and his Senators can repeat in the American league.

A. J. Conrad, 3340 North Halsted street, president of the Acme Amusement association—I think the White Sox will win the American league pennant with Eddie Collins as their leader. The Sox have had no injuries to their players during their training trip, and with their fast fielders and their wonderful twirling staff they should cop the flag.

Andy Alnert, 3422 Elaine place, chemist—There is no question in my mind that the Yankees will win the American league pennant. If Babe Ruth gets back in the game and starts hitting his home runs, and with Miller Huggins giving orders, they should finish in first place. In the National league I select Brooklyn to do the big work and finish out on top as the final curtain is drawn.

Capt. John Johnson, 729 Roscoe street, retired sea captain—I believe Killefer and his Cubs will win the National league baseball pennant this year if the jinx remains in the discard. That team is due to win. If the new players on the team do the good work which is known to be in them, the north side Chicago team should certainly prove a pennant grabber.

Senators Get Revenge, Trounce Giants, 9 to 4

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—The Senators got revenge today on the Giants for spoiling the world's champions' home coming in Washington yesterday, the Griffmen winning, 9 to 4.

LIFE OF EASE STAKED ON DERBY CANDIDATE

BY FRENCH LANE.

How men will gamble on the glorious uncertainties of racing was never better illustrated than in the case of J. J. Troxler and his Kentucky Derby candidate, King Nadi.

Carrying on his struggle through the ups and downs of the turf, Troxler until a few months ago could not be regarded as belonging to the more prosperous of Kentucky owners of thoroughbred establishments. To class him as a poor man would be getting nearer to it.

Yet he believes so strongly his 3 year old King Nadi will win the Kentucky Derby May 16 and a fortune for him that he has turned down more than one offer lately of $50,000 for the colt.

Bets Ease Against Wealth.

With $50,000 J. J. Troxler probably could live a life of ease for the remainder of his days in Kentucky. Or with such a bankroll he could get together the kind of racing stable he always hoped to own, but probably never expected to possess.

But along comes King Nadi making Troxler a member of the $50,000 class almost overnight, and rather than take it and part with his speedy colt, he decides to gamble for the $200,000 or $300,000 that will go to the 3 year old winning the championship of the division this year.

Colt Gives Lee O. Cotner a Race.

King Nadi may bloom in May and fade as quickly as the scores of other $50,000 3 year olds. Or he may go on to a championship. Whatever the fate of King Nadi so goes the fate of J. J. Troxler. If he fails, Troxler will probably try again with many other colts, but it is only once in a lifetime a $50,000 racing nag comes to the owner who can pay little more than a song for him.

King Nadi is a son of King James-Nadinette, the latter by Fitz Herbert. Through his veins flows some of the richest English and American racing blood. He is bred to run all day at heavy weights and as a 2 year old gave every indication of living up to the fine lines of his breeding.

He was at the post ten times last year. On four occasions he came romping home in front. He beat the best of his western rivals with the exception of Captain Hal and Lee O. Cotner and ran them so close at different times there was little to choose between them.

Flashes Sensational Speed.

Then to bring his 2 year old career to a successful close he downed such noted sprinters over the Futurity course at Lexington as Pindar Peel and Alice Blue Gown, running in so sensational a style the race brought an official investigation by the stewards and resulted in Troxler's being set down for a time.

A bad race in a previous start was responsible for this probe, but a little later both King Nadi and Troxler were restored to good standing.

Since the day the ban was lifted King Nadi has been pointed for the Kentucky Derby. The clock watchers say he has stepped out in training gallops in such a way that Troxler's refusal of the rich offers for the colt is justified. But old time Kentuckians think $50,000 is a big price for any race hoss.

QUATRAIN SHOWS KENTUCKY FOLKS HE'S A FIT HORSE

Louisville, Ky., April 11.—Quatrain, Louisiana Derby winner and winter book favorite for the Kentucky Derby, worked a mile over a heavy, holding track at Churchill downs today in creditable time. After the trial turf experts said that he showed that he was "about the fittest of the Derby candidates at the downs."

Running as if he enjoyed the mud, Quatrain stepped the first quarter in :26 2-5; half in :52 4-5; three-quarters in 1:19 1-5, and galloped out the mile in 1:46 1-5.

Colt Is Fit.

After performing some minor dental work on Quatrain, Dr. H. H. Manogue, veterinarian for the Johnson stable, made a thorough physical examination of the colt after the trial and pronounced his bodily condition perfect.

Despite the bad track there was considerable activity on the part of the Derby eligibles here, while several of those at Douglas park, where the footing was better, also were seen in action.

Others on the Track.

Russell Cave, Brave Bob, Lee O. Cotner, Elsass and Drowsy Waters were among the other candidates for the May 16 classic to work out today.

AURORA LEADS NEW MEMBERS OF GRAND CIRCUIT

BY FRANK S. COOKE.

Aurora is taking first place among new members of the Grand Circuit by reason of a harness racing program which is unique, in that it is made up of new fashioned dash events in addition to a stake that stands out among the best. Response from owners indicate there will be a series of contests of merit.

Failure to fill the American trotting derby of $25,000 on the original date worked well for the new member, the reopening of this stake having brought in twenty-nine horses, four more than are in the Geers Memorial stake at Toledo, similar as to the money value and general conditions. These are the outstanding trotting events of the season, and the fact that nine in at Aurora are not in the Toledo race adds to the attractiveness of the trotting derby.

Topnotch Stake Trotters.

Practically all of the topnotch stake trotters are in at Aurora, the horses and their records being as follows: Allsal, 2:04¾; Bob Armstrong, 2:14¾; Clara Dillon, 2:08¾; Diamond Axworthy, 2:05¼; Dr. Strongworthy, 2:04½; Gertrude F., 2:07¼; Great Bells, 2:09¼; Harris Axtien, 2:08¼; Hollyrood Jessie, 2:05¼; Ilo Guy, 2:06¼; John Gallagher, 2:06¾; Lewis Azoff, 2:09¼; Minia Dillon, 2:07¼; Prince Bondsman, 2:08½; Prince Charming, 2:09¼; Prince McEwen, 2:08¼; Princess Tiajuana, 2:04¾; St. Robert, 2:03½; Sarah Thomas, 2:06¾; Sonia, 2:08¼; Southward, 2:06¾; Sumatra, 2:07¼; Superb, record not given; The Great Luliwater, 2:06¾; Thompson Dillon, 2:02¾; Trumpet, 2:04½; Truax, 2:09¼; Woodrow L., 2:07¼; Worthy Todd, 2:09¼.

These horses represent nineteen stables, of which fourteen are single entries and the others named by five stables. Murphy and Cox top the list with four apiece, E. J. Baker has three, and W. B. Eckert and the Calumet stable two each. Cox names the same quartet he did at Toledo and Murphy adds one in Clara Dillon.

Local Stable Prominent.

The trio named by E. J. Baker of St. Charles, Ill., who is at the head of the Aurora Grand Circuit, are worthy of consideration. These horses now are at Memphis in charge of Chet. Kelly, who drove some clever races on the mile tracks last year, and are in top form. The youngest of these is Southward, that trotted in 2:06¾ in her 3 year old form last season, and was bought by Mr. Baker for a long figure.

Thompson Dillon of the Cox stable is favorite in the Aurora event on account of his 2:02¾ mile at Columbus last fall. However, Cox may have the mount on another, as he also names Hollyrood Jessie, Worthy Todd, and Ilo Guy.

LOU TALABER AND MEYERS SET FOR TITLE MAT CLASH

Lou Talaber, world's middleweight champion, and Johnny Meyers, former holder of the crown, recognized as two of the most scientific wrestlers in the division, will meet for the world's 160 pound championship in the main bout of the wrestling show to be conducted by the 202d coast artillery in the Broadway armory on Wednesday night.

Talaber and Meyers are Chicago products. They learned the game here as amateurs, and by persistent work each has reached the goal of his ambition by winning the championship. Meyers was the first to be recognized as the middleweight champion, and he successfully defended the crown for about seven years. He finally was defeated by Joe Parelli, who, in turn, was beaten by Lou Talaber.

First Match a Draw.

It will be the first meeting between Talaber and Meyers in about five years. In this match, which was staged in connection with a benefit show, they wrestled a little more than an hour to a draw, neither gaining a fall. During the time Meyers held the title, Talaber challenged repeatedly, but Johnny sidestepped the issue by stating he had beaten Talaber before their draw match and it was useless to meet him again.

After Talaber won the championship from Parelli, he assumed Meyers' tactics by turning a deaf ear to Johnny's repeated challenges. After he had defeated all contenders of note, Lou harkened to the call of an offer of $6,000, win, lose, or draw, and finally put his name to a set of articles calling for a finish match at the Broadway armory.

The 202d coast artillery has agreed to take over Meyers' guarantee of $6,000, but Johnny will not receive any money until this amount is taken in at the door. They will scale 160 pounds at 3 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, and will be in the ring prepared to wrestle at 10 o'clock at night. Either Emil Thiry, Charley Lavine or Johnny McMahan will be the third man in the ring.

Talaber More Clever.

Those who have seen Talaber and Meyers in action know they are past masters of many holds. The champion is not rated quite as strong as the challenger, but Talaber is by far the more clever expert, and prefers to work for an advantage from an underneath position. In fact, Talaber has won many contests by coming out of seemingly dangerous positions with holds which resulted in the pinning of his opponents.

In the semi-windup, Heine Engel of Dubuque, Ia., who almost wrested the crown from Talaber in a recent Broadway armory show, will meet Tony Hadjick, the local Bohemian middleweight. Engel won one fall from Talaber in their championship match, and in the second became careless. While attempting a headlock, Talaber applied the standing crotch and half nelson and threw Engel to the mat so hard the Hawkeye grappler was unable to appear for the deciding fall.

Two other bouts complete the card. The first will be put on at 8:30 o'clock.

BABE NOT SURE HE'LL FEEL FIT ON OPENING DAY

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—Feeling much better and on the road to recovery from his complications of acute indigestion and influenza, Babe Ruth sat up in bed at St. Vincent's hospital today and smiled in a real cheerful manner. Personally, Babe thinks he will be able to play Tuesday, but he is the only one immediately concerned in what the famous slugger does or does not do who is so optimistic. Dr. Edward King, the New York American league club's physician who, is attending Babe, says the big fellow will have to stay in bed for a week.

Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees, and Edward Barrow, secretary of the club, feel that Babe should stay in the hospital and keep to his bed for a week and are planning to open the season against the Senators at the stadium on Tuesday without their famous home run king. The only one who will overrule these plans is Ruth himself.

Today, however, Babe had become reconciled to missing the opening game. He has come to realize that he has been very sick and that his usual ability to throw off colds and other ailments that persist in following him was taxed to the limit on this occasion.

SANDOW OFFERS TO POST FORFEIT FOR MUNN BOUT

Billy Sandow, manager of Ed Lewis, former world's heavyweight wrestling champion, passed through Chicago yesterday on his way to Rochester, N. Y., to visit his folks. While in Chicago Sandow offered to put up $10,000 as his forfeit to bind the proposed championship match between Lewis and Wayne Munn for Michigan City on May 30. Sandow also stated Lewis is training every day in Kansas City and welcomes the day when the match will be closed. Lewis' manager asserted something definite may take place within the next ten days regarding the match.

YATES IS NORTH, SOUTH CHAMP

Pinehurst, N. C., April 11.—Arthur Yates of Rochester, N. Y., won the annual United North and South amateur golf tournament here today, defeating W. C. Fownes Jr. of Pittsburgh, former national champion, 10 and 8, in the thirty-six hole final round.

Shakespeare Policemen Nip Summerdale at Handball

Sergts. Thomas Burns and William Deveny, representing the Shakespeare avenue police in a handball match with the Summerdale station, yesterday won three straight games from Sergts. Michael Mayes and J. Grenahan. The scores were 21 to 20, 21 to 15, and 21 to 15.

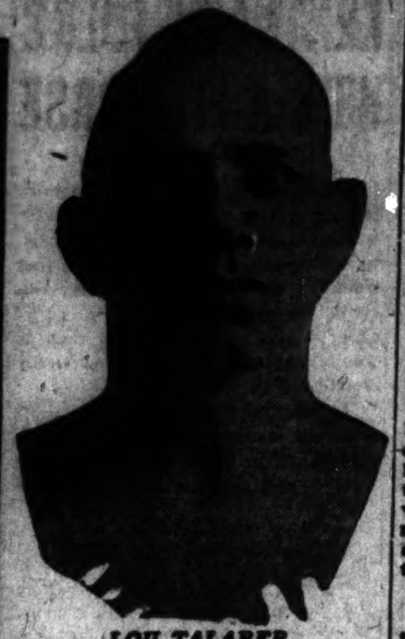
Yellow Jackets Again Win U. S. Hockey Title

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 11.—The Yellow Jackets, by their defeat here tonight of the Fort Pitt Hornets, 3 to 1, won for the second consecutive season the United States Amateur Hockey league title.

WRISTLOCK VS. WRISTLOCK FOR TITLE

JOHNNY MEYERS.

Both Meyers and Talaber claim to be the originators of the double wristlock, one of the wrestling sport's most dangerous holds. Above Meyers is pictured applying the double wristlock on a sparring partner. Both Johnny and the champion undoubtedly will rely on this hold in their match Wednesday.



LOU TALABER.

The middleweight champion, who meets Johnny Meyers, former champion and challenger, Wednesday night at the Broadway armory in a finish championship match.

WIFE LURES DEMPSEY FROM RING RE-ENTRY

the Barbara hotel and Wiltshire apartment properties in Los Angeles, whose million dollar ownership he shares with Kearns.

6. Jack wants to be known in ring history as the champion who never was defeated.

7. Mrs. Estelle Taylor Dempsey does not wish Jack to endanger his newly carved nose, and at present her wishes carry more weight than Manager Kearns' words ever did.

Easy to Whip Now.

Dempsey knows that sooner or later if he keeps on fighting someone is going to whip him. He is no different than his predecessors. Right now there are two men who could nail him without trouble, and both of them are older than the champion. They are Tommy Gibbons and Harry Wills. Both are in such shape that they could step into the ring within six weeks for the fight of their careers, but Dempsey, the pugilistic idol of some fans, would need months and then not be in proper shape.

Jack Dempsey does not want to lose. He is having a tough enough time now keeping his friends and if he were to fall from pugilistic grace, he and Estelle would be alone in the world. Since his marriage, it is reported that Dempsey has been high hatting his former pals and that they are resenting his tactics. Today finds the champion in seclusion most of the time.

Big Purses and Jack Go.

The day of the big purses is gone, and with it went Jack Dempsey.

The champion can't afford to fight for less than $500,000 and there is no one able to offer this enormous purse.

That will be the champion's excuse for not fighting, but the real reason is FRIEND WIFE, who is afraid her husband will be whipped.

MEET THE CHAMPION OF TITLE CLAIMANTS, MR. GEORGE GODFREY

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 11.—[Special.]—George Godfrey, Philadelphia colored heavyweight, today lodged claim to Jack Dempsey's dust covered title of heavyweight champion of the world.

"I am a good friend of Dempsey," said Jim Daugherty of Leiperville, Pa., Godfrey's manager, "but I consider Dempsey has retired. So Godfrey claims the heavyweight title. He has chased Harry Wills, Tommy Gibbons, and others all over the east, but they will have none of him. Nobody will convince us George is not the best heavyweight boxer now boxing, unless he beats George. That gives George a right to claim the title."

DOUBLE HEADER STORM BENEFIT CARDED TODAY

A double header for the benefit of the Murphysboro tornado victims will be staged today by the Chicago league at Cermak park. In the first game, the Rogers Parks will clash with the Chicago Raillights and the Cermaks will play the Chicago Giants, the initial contest starting at 1 p. m. The entire proceeds will be turned over to the relief committee.

Out at Niesen park, the Famous Chicagoans, with many newcomers in their lineup, will try conclusions with the Niesens. Tubby Clemons, former Cardinal catcher, and Lefty Sullivan will take care of the Niesen battery work. Other games scheduled follow:

Grizzards vs. Audubons at Walles park; Chicago Blues vs. American Giants at Scherling park; Bricklayers vs. West Side Sportsmen at Jones & Baumrucker park.

AUGIE GETS DOUBLE WIN OVER JACKSON

Augie Kieckhefer climbed two notches in the National Three Cushion league race yesterday by taking a pair of games from Clarence Jackson of Detroit at the Kieckhefer Recreation room. The opening affair went 63 innings before Augie ran out, 50 to 46. In the after dinner engagement the local cueist won, 50 to 25, in 40 frames. Both clicked off high runs of 5 in the afternoon, but Kieckhefer bettered this by two in the evening, while Jackson's best was 3.

They will play two more blocks tomorrow at 3 and 8 p. m.

4-EYES TO DINE CUBS, PIRATES

Members of the Cubs and Pirates teams will be guests of the Four Eyes club, an organization composed of Cub boosters, all of whom wear glasses, at Agnew's café, 4944 Sheridan road, Tuesday evening. Over 250 Four Eye leaguers will attend the opening game at Cubs' park Tuesday in a body.

SARMIENTO AND SANGOR READY FOR THIRD BOUT

Hundreds of local boxing fans will make another pilgrimage to Milwaukee tomorrow night to witness the ten round bout between Joey Sangor, the clever Cream City 122 pounder, and Peter Sarmiento, the Filipino. They will scale 122 pounds at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and both are on the ground ready for the fracas.

It will be the third meeting of this pair of sterling little battlers who have always put up pleasing bouts regardless of the ability of opponents. In their previous fights, popular opinion was divided as to the winner and tomorrow night's bout is expected to go a long way toward settling the question of supremacy.

Sarmiento Tireless Worker.

Sangor is the harder puncher of the two and carries the sock in his right hand. Sarmiento is of the type who continually bores in and keeps trying no matter how many gloves are poked in his face and around the body. The little brown boy never tires and will be on top of Joey from the first tap of the bell until the end of the tenth round.

The Filipino, who used to be a mark for a straight left hand, is a much better defensive fighter than when Bud Taylor left-handed him to defeat at Aurora last summer. Peter has learned more of the counter punching angle of the game and if Sangor stings him with straight lefts or left hooks, Joey will catch a couple in return. In local boxing circles the Filipino is a slight favorite, while Sangor should be on the long end of the betting odds in his home town.

Anderson to Meet Graham.

While the feature event is attracting a lot of attention, the ten round semi-windup between Eddie Anderson of Moline and Bushy Graham of New York is not being overlooked. Since he started to fight under the management of Eddie Long, the Moline battler has shown great improvement. He has engaged in nearly twenty fights and has won them all. Eddie is hitting harder and learning to close his gloves when he hits.

A four round and a six round preliminary complete the card. Special trains will take the Chicago delegation to the Cream City and tickets are on sale at the usual places. Jim Mullen has a car on Sammy Wolff's special which will carry at least 400 fight fans to the show and return.

For the benefit of a number of boxers and wrestlers who have important bouts listed for the week, Mullen's gymnasium will be open to the public today.

Woods and Waters

By BOB BECKER

FOR every insect that a trout takes on the surface there must be a thousand consumed under the water or near the surface of a stream. As yet no one has been able to prove by actual observation the truth of this statement, but it seems a reasonable one. As a matter of fact, we know comparatively little about the life story of the trout or any other fresh water fish. What a story one could piece together if, during the month of May, he could occupy a watertight observation compartment in a stream full of trout and hour after hour watch the feeding habits of the hungry fish. There a fellow would be able to learn a host of interesting things about the ravenous brooks and rainbows, how they gorge on creepers and flies, and how their daily life and feeding periods are influenced by the hatches of insects.

May is a banner month for trout stream insects. Because it is also the month of the "great hunger" for trout; they forage and feed night and day on the food which nature has provided in abundance. Warm days will often bring the flies in countless numbers, but preceding these hatches the trout look to the bottom of the stream for feed there to find small creepers which are eaten, case and all.

Which is in better condition when the season opens, the brown or the brook trout? This is an interesting question, because it has to do with the winter feeding habits of these trouts. One student of this subject claims that the brown trout does little or no feeding during the winter. At any rate, he puts on the feed bag with less frequency when winter's snow and ice cover the ground than does the speckled trout. This same keen student of stream life maintains that therefore a brown trout early in the season is generally an emaciated, thin fish showing plainly how little he has eaten during the cold months. On the other hand, the brook trout reaches spring in much better condition, due to his ability to pick up some food through a period when the brown trout is eating but little food. Some day we are going to have a greater fund of knowledge about these things than we do today. It's another example of how much the fisherman-student has yet to learn about stream life before we are able to get a pretty good picture of the life history of some of our game fishes.

Although it is not difficult to imagine the joy with which the trout greet the month of May when it brings hatches of flies and many a meal to the insect hungry fish, the joy of the trouts is no greater than the elation of the fly fisherman who wants to see the insects come so that fly fishing will be a productive sport.

TEX SIGNS PAUL FOR BOUT WITH M'TIGUE IN MAY

New York, April 11.—Paul Berlenbach, New York light heavyweight, today signed a contract with Tex Rickard to meet Mike McTigue, world's light heavyweight champion, in a 15 round title match at the Yankee stadium May 29, as the main attraction at the annual Milk Fund show. McTigue, who was out of town today, will arrive here Monday to discuss terms with Rickard.

Berlenbach, one of McTigue's most persistent challengers, posted a forfeit of $2,500 with the state athletic commission Tuesday, together with a challenge directed at McTigue for a title match. At that time the commission ruled that all challenges directed to McTigue would be accepted and the most logical contender selected by the commission to meet McTigue in a title match.

The titleholder, who has been in the bad graces of the New York board for over a year for his failure to fulfill a contract to meet Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, was recently reinstated.

FIRPO TO MEET SWEDISH CHAMP IN STOCKHOLM

STOCKHOLM, April 11.—[By Associated Press.]—Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine heavyweight, has agreed to a match against Harry Person, the Swedish heavyweight champion who recently fought a draw match against the Dutch pugilist, Piet Vanderveer. It is planned to stage the fight here the first week in May.

Four Points to Consider Before Buying Any Car

The Club Sedan

In your own interest, four considerations should govern you in the selection of your next car.

Performance in actual tests, riding and driving qualities, economy of operation and maintenance and manufacturing back-ground.

We welcome a complete examination of the new good Maxwell on all these points. We are eager to demonstrate new and finer four-cylinder results and will gladly show you at any time how silently it performs, how alert it is, sweeping you from 5 to 25 miles in 8 seconds. If you wish we will carry you along at 58 miles an hour. At the same time you are making these tests you will not fail to note how easily it rides and drives.

For economy we direct you to thousands of contented owners who report 25 miles to the gallon of gasoline and amazingly low upkeep costs.

As for soundness of construction, dependability and long life, bear in mind that the new good Maxwell is not only the product of one of the strongest organizations in the industry, but that it is completely built within its own great plants. In no other way could you be assured of Maxwell quality at the new good Maxwell price.

Remember, we are eagerly awaiting the opportunity to prove these Maxwell facts.

ACE TIGHTENS IN THREE CUSHION BILLIARD LEAGUE

Every player on the circuit is involved in the 54 games scheduled for the next six days in the title race of the National Championship Three Cushion Billiard league. These contests should result in important changes around the head of the table of standing.

Gus Copulos of Detroit, who enjoys a narrow margin over Robert Cannefax of New York and Johnny Layton of Minneapolis, at the top of the scramble, goes on the road in a campaign that is anything but encouraging, because he has not played as many games as his closest rivals.

Layton in Favored Spot.

In a favored position is Layton because he has a lot of tough games under his belt. If Copulos protects his margin he will do well. Standing:

Greenleaf Admits Defeat.

It took only the challenge of Ralph Greenleaf of Philadelphia, now former champion, to Frank Taberski of New York, the new champion, to set the final seal on the title won by the Gotham representative in the National Championship Pocket Billiard league. It is impossible for the Philadelphian to win, even should he take all his remaining games.

There are twelve games yet to be played. Greenleaf appears in all of them. The first six he meets Arthur Woods of Syracuse, who won five of six battles from Charles Weston, appointed a substitute when Greenleaf was suspended. These games, however, must be played over.

Greenleaf vs. Taberski.

The grand climax, lacking the suspense of a title hanging in the balance, is to be staged the last three days of the week, with Greenleaf attacking Taberski in six battles. In a previous meeting this season Taberski divided with the champion.

Much speculation is going on as to what Taberski will do about the challenge for a $10,000 match of 1,000 points. His followers believe it would be best for him not to accept. Now that he has the title, Taberski should make hay with it, say his friends. Standing:

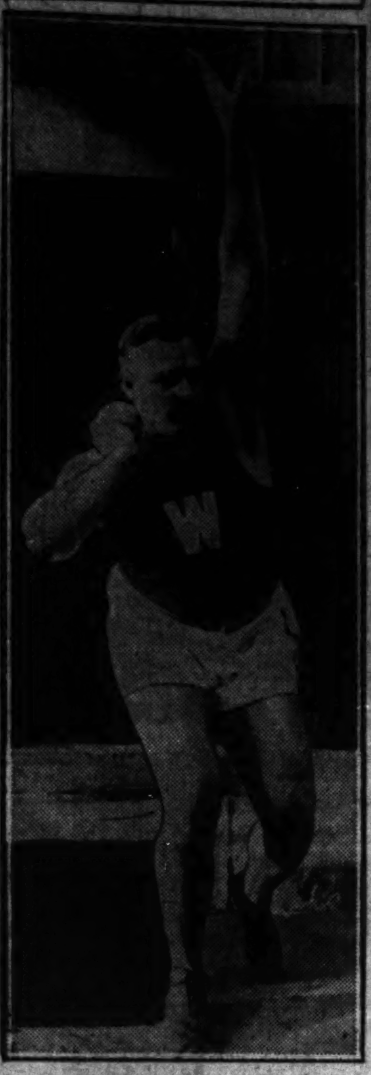
BADGER STAR



HERBERT SCHWARZE.

The performance of Herbert Schwarze of Wisconsin in putting the shot 48 ft. 7½ in. in the triangular meet with California and the all stars yesterday at Berkeley stamps the Badger as one of the best intercollegiate weight men in the country. Schwarze, who is a sophomore at Wisconsin, is expected to shatter the world's record of 51 ft. made by Ralph Rose back in 1909 before he completes his college career.

EASTER TOPPERS YIELD TO GOLF KNICKERS TODAY

BY MORROW KRUM.

What a difference a decade makes! Ten years ago there were about thirty-five golf courses in and around Chicago. The opening day was May 30. Today there are at least three times as many places where the devotees of the royal and ancient game may enjoy it and the opening day has been advanced a month and a half.

Let us call this Easter Sunday the opening day for Chicago's 1925 golf season. A few clubs are not yet open. Many have opened already. But the bulk of Chicago's gigantic golf equipment will be thrown into action today and the majority of the city's tee box tourists will be enjoying their favorite pastime this morning.

The reasons are obvious. Milady Spring has been kind this year. Golf is America's fastest growing pastime. (A sporting goods salesman told me yesterday golf sales had advanced 75 per cent this spring. "And baseball goods sales have fallen off, he said.)

There will be no tournaments played today. It will be just golf, spring golf, and the game's adherents will be hard at it. All of the fee courses and 95 per cent of the private clubs will be enchanting followers of the Scotch game. Several club and fee course officials have stated during the last week it might be better to delay the play, but such an effort would be futile. Golf must be played today.

The foregoing brings to mind the Bunker Hill Country club at Niles. It is one of the few that will not offer golf today. I had a long talk with E. H. Allen, an attorney who is secretary of the club, yesterday. He asked that a rumor be contradicted. It has been whispered, Allen asserts, Bunker Hill has been coveted by another club and sales talks had transpired. "All foolishness," said Allen. "We wouldn't sell Bunker Hill for a million dollars. Tell everybody it's not for sale." Everybody is hereby notified. The clubhouse will be opened next Sunday and play will start May 30.

Advices from the United States Golf association are to the effect that the Professional Golfers' Association of America should assume full control of the preliminary rounds of the national open tournament as well as the championship proper. This will be done hereafter. Last year the P. G. A. supervised the qualifying rounds while the U. S. G. A. had charge of the championship meet. Entries for the preliminary rounds will close May 1. Send in your application if you intend to become national open champion.

Several local sharpshooters have announced they intend to play against par instead of their opponents in match round events this year. That's Bobby Jones' system and it has worked out well with him. Let's hope it does for the others. I might add this angle of the game offers a wide field of discussion.

It's not all golf at the Chicago Golf club. It was announced yesterday the following [and their handicaps] will play polo there this summer: Horace Wetmore, 0; Col. R. R. McCormick, 2; Lieut. Col. D. O. Nelson, 3; Eugene Byfield, 2; Frank Behring, 2; Frank Hayes, 2; Carl Crawford, 5; Frank Warren, 1; Alfon Bahr, 1; Fred Pierson, 1; Lucius Foster, 0; Edward Hillman, 0; Leonard Hertz, 0; Capt. Maxwell Corpening, 3. From the figures it looks as though Carl Crawford is the champion of the list.

Chick Evans, who has been resting in a sanitarium two weeks, is making rapid strides toward health. His friends hope he'll be ready to shoot his old game when the western amateur and national amateur tournaments roll around.

Garfield and Columbus parks will be open April 16. Last year 69,177 players wandered over the Garfield park course. And 72,139 shot Columbus park. Some muncipal golf, eh, what?

A young member of Sunset Ridge in Winnetka reports his club will be the happiest golf rendezvous in Chicago this year.

Greenview was popular yesterday. Its clubhouse is open and more than 250 players departed from the first tee before 5 o'clock.

GLENNA SAILS FOR ENGLAND IN QUEST OF WOMEN'S TITLE

NEW YORK, April 11.—Miss Glenna Collett of Providence, R. I., sailed for England today to take a shot at the British women's golf title, now held by Miss Joyce Wethered and never won by an American.

Miss Collett, former national women's champion in this country, will compete during the summer in several invitation tournaments following the title play at Troon, Scotland. She said she also might take part in the French ladies' championships.

Her first European tournament will be at Ranleagh, a London suburb, beginning on April 22. The Troon championships start on May 15.

RALPH DE PALMA WINS 100 MILE RACE AT DALLAS

Dallas, Tex., April 11.—Ralph De Palma of Brooklyn won the 100 mile three, A race at the Fair Park race track here this afternoon, going the distance in 1:24:40 2-5. He drove a Miller special.

Of the ten contestants who started six finished. Phil Shafer, the "Texas Terror," was second, Earl Devore third, Wade Morton fourth, Jack Peddicord fifth, and Frank Elliot sixth.

De Palma made it almost a one man race, taking the lead at the eleventh lap and holding it to the end, leaving his competitors far in the rear.

CANNEFAX TAKES DOUBLE VICTORY

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—Robert L. Cannefax, world's three cushion champion, made a clean sweep of his series of four games with Harry Wakefield of Cleveland in the national championship three cushion league today when he won the final two games. In the afternoon he won at 50 to 39 in 60 innings and in the evening the score was 50 to 48 in 54 innings.

White Sox Ticket Sale Will Open on Wednesday

Secretary Harry Grabiner of the White Sox announced yesterday tickets for the first home game of the season April 22 at the south side park would be placed on sale at The Hub on next Wednesday, April 15. Detroit will face Eddie Collins' rejuvenated team.

LANDIS HIGH GUN IN TRAP SHOOT AT LINCOLN PARK

George Landis, a Milwaukee shot, was high gun in the seventy-five target event, sixteen yards rise, feature of the shoot held yesterday at the Lincoln Park Gun club. Fifty shots took part in the qualifying round and twelve qualified for the final rounds. After the fourth shootoff Landis was declared the winner. In each shootoff the contestants shot at twenty-five targets from the original yardage.

In the preliminary round W. G. Warren and Mark Arie tied for high with totals of 73, while Landis had a total of 69. In the final tests, however, Landis did the most consistent shooting and emerged a winner after four trips to the traps.

W. G. Warren won the doubles event with a score of 48 and Stephen Fay was the winner of the fifty target match for twenty gauge guns with a score of 36.

Today's program will be featured by a 150 target event from sixteen yards. Following are the qualifying scores of yesterday's seventy-five target match: W. G. Warren, 73; Mark Erie, 73; A. H. Ammann, 72; C. Mitchell, 72; Jay Graham, 71; C. W. Olner, 71; C. Burmeister, 70; Frank Huseman, 70; E. McCormick, 69; George Landis, 69; S. Fay, 68; W. V. Jackson, 68; B. Nutt, 67; E. Swift, 67.

DETROIT BOWLER TAKES LEAD IN PETERSEN MEET

A new leader bobbed up last night in the second day's rolling in the sweepstakes at Petersen's alleys. Shooting a total of 1,666, M. Carnack of Detroit stepped out in front and appears on his way to annexing the top prize of $2,500 and the championship diamond medal. W. Colbeck of Chicago, who led at the end of the first day, was relegated to fourth place, making room for A. Bugenhagen, local pin smasher, and F. Chalcrast of Buffalo, N. Y. The former assaulted the maples for a 1,660 count and the latter toppled 1,657 pins.

In the race for the high game prizes, eight of which will be distributed, S. Bliss' score of 279, made the first day, still stands. Others who are in line for the high game prize are F. Kair, Chicago, 266; A. Stehno, Chicago, 257; P. Wolf, Chicago, 257; C. Hastedt, Chicago, 256; G. Waite, Denver, Colo., 256; W. Hess, Cleveland, O., 255, and H. Omsberg, Chicago, 255.

Carnack bowled a steady game, his scores for the eight games being 200, 234, 194, 176, 215, 196, 247, 204. Leading scores: M. Carnack, Detroit, 1,666; A. Bugenhagen, 1,660; F. Chalcrast, Buffalo, N. Y., 1,657; W. Colbeck, Chicago, 1,640; O. Knebelberger, Chicago, 1,635; F. Watson, Chicago, 1,633; F. Kair, Chicago, 1,628; W. Ott, Chicago, 1,626; J. Kral, Shawano, Wis., 1,620; B. Krause, Chicago, 1,616; H. Nyberg, 1,615; J. Leilinger, 1,614; J. Flieger, 1,612; W. Hess, Cleveland, O., 1,612; E. Norton, 1,610; J. Kuver, Cleveland, O., 1,610; W. Eggars, Chicago, 1,606; A. Trapp, Chicago, 1,603; W. Bernbach, Chicago, 1,603; M. Erickson, Chicago, 1,601; H. Stewart, Dayton, Ky., 1,590; A. Burbink, Newport, Ky., 1,594; J. Bauer, Detroit, 1,591; W. Rusch Jr., Chicago, 1,591; E. Cerell, Chicago, 1,587; M. Winters, Chicago, 1,581; W. Kasperski, Chicago, 1,579; A. Cremieux, Chicago, 1,575; B. Ickes, Chicago, 1,575; P. Wolf, Chicago, 1,575.

Enterprising People seek opportunity through TRIBUNE WANT ADS!

WHEN this continent was in the early stages of its development there was an old saying that "Opportunity Knocks but Once." But today, in our highly competitive state of life, with so many more people seeking him, Opportunity seldom gets as far as the door; you must meet him at the gate, or your neighbor will.

Consequently, people of enterprise and forethought, having something to sell, services to offer, or who want to buy, go out to look for their legitimate prospects. And they do this through the Want Ad Sections of the great newspapers, than which there is no more effective or direct way.

If you want to buy or sell a house or an auto, a radio or furniture; or if you want to hire help, remember you can harness to your need The Tribune's gigantic presses, its army of skilled newspaper makers and distributors, who drive themselves to the utmost in human activity in order to deliver your Want Ad message to millions of buyers in the great Chicago Territory. Phone CENtral 0100, "Adtaker."

CHANGING conditions sometimes make it impossible for us to keep old family pets. Remember, when that day comes, and when it is decided that Rover or Nero or Hector must go, that you can easily find another good home for him through the Want Ads.

DURING the course of every week hundreds of Want Advertisers get in touch with and sell their cars to financially responsible prospects simply because they realize the ability of Tribune Want Ads to carry their offers to an adequate market.

MACHINERY and equipment which are outgrown can be sold—and bought—by means of the Want Ad columns of The Sunday Tribune. If you have some for sale, or if you are on the lookout for equipment, it will pay you to use and to watch the "Machinery and Tools" classification.

EMPLOYERS, a good stenographer is always worth the necessary good advertising to get her. Remember, an employe is either an asset or a liability, and a good secretary is an invaluable business acquisition. Also remember, preferred office workers read The Tribune.

THE amount of real estate sold through Tribune Want Ads every month would in itself constitute a big sized town. Real estate investors are constant readers of Tribune Want Ads and if you really want to sell, here is the way to do it.

ALL kinds of business enterprises are sold regularly through the "Business Chances" columns of The Tribune. No matter what the size, location or nature of the business is, you can sell it if you will but try.

AND here is a very useful classification in the Want Ads—"Office Devices" can help you to defray the cost of new equipment when the sales and office force have outgrown the old.

THE radio season is just at its height and there are plenty of buyers anxious to acquire all kinds of sets. Anyone who has a radio set to sell can dispose of it quickly and without trouble or inconvenience through a Tribune Want Ad.

PEOPLE who cannot afford to buy a new piano, and who still feel the need of having one, look for a good used instrument in The Tribune Want Ad Section. If you have one for sale, sell it here.

INDUSTRY MEETS AT ROUND TABLE TO FIGHT WASTE

Consumer-Labor Power Is Growing, Hoover Says.

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—The first industrial round table which proposes, by educational conferences, to bring about elimination of industrial waste and the minimization of industrial strife, was launched by the National Civic federation today.

Representatives of millions of organized workers, officials of trust companies, banking and real estate organizations representing billions of dollars of capital, and officials of educational institutions, engineers, lawyers, architects and other professional men listened to speeches by Secretary of Commerce Herbert C. Hoover, President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, President Gerard Swope of the General Electric company, and D. L. Cease of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Hoover Urges War on Waste.

Secretary Hoover, referring to the growth of interest by labor in its responsibility for functioning of the whole economic machine, declared that the fund from which labor must expect maintenance of present wages or an increase in real wages lies in more efficient production and elimination of waste.

He saw looming up in the American industrial world a new relationship in industry. Ownership of industry has largely been divorced from management and is being rapidly diffused over millions of individuals, none able to dictate management.

Industry is coming, he said, into a tripartite responsibility to the consumer, the worker "and grudgingly to a regard for capital only to the extent that it shall be commanded on the best possible terms for expansion and conduct of the industry."

Plea for Collective Bargaining.

Mr. Green said that labor was interested in the successful management of industry because with the introduction of economy processes labor felt that the cost of production could be reduced without lowering the standard of the workers or reducing wages.

Stressing the minimizing of industrial controversy, Mr. Green said the great body of organized workers in this country felt that industrial controversy would largely be banished if employers accorded to their employés the right to join labor unions and to have spokesmen bargain collectively. Collective bargaining would eliminate waste resulting from many strikes started solely for the purpose of union recognition, he said.

CITY JUDGES ASK FOR CONTROL OF MIND HOSPITAL

Placing of the psychopathic hospital under the direct supervision of the Municipal courts instead of under the health department was approved Friday by the Municipal judges meeting in Chief Justice Olson's chambers.

Representative William G. Thon has introduced a bill providing for the change. The measure comes before the legislature at Springfield next Tuesday. It was pointed out that the work of the psychopathic hospital deals directly with the court.

Under the bill, the chief justice has power to appoint a director, salary not to exceed $8,000, and the salaries of clerks and bailiffs are set at $2,500.

COOK BOOK WITH EACH MARRIAGE LICENSE IS DIVORCE MECCA PLAN

Muncie, Ind., April 11.—Poorly prepared meals are responsible for Delaware county's many divorces, County Clerk Mansfield said today in announcing that in the future he will give a cook book with every marriage license.

"Delaware county for many years has had the reputation of leading the state in the number of divorces in proportion to marriage licenses," Mansfield said. "Looking into reasons for causes of divorce we find, in many instances, that the wife did not prepare the family meals properly. So we are proposing to do our best to overcome this by giving each bride a cook book. We expect to see a big improvement here in the divorce situation within a few years."

WOMEN VOTERS MEET SOON TO COMBAT WARS

Richmond (Va.) Sessions Begin April 16.

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—International coöperation to prevent war will be the keynote and chief objective and underlying motive of the annual convention of the National League of Women Voters at Richmond, Va., April 16-22.

Starting off with the avowed determination to make ratification of the world court proposal the basic voters' league activity during the coming year, a program, amounting to an endurance test, has been devised in the carrying out of which every pending question of international interest will be discussed by 100 authoritative speakers who will address the delegates in the course of twenty-two sessions and conferences and twelve scheduled dinners and luncheons.

To Discuss Geneva Protocol.

Miss Ruth Morgan of New York, head of the league's department of international coöperation to prevent war will preside at the Sunday afternoon massmeeting on international relations, at which Prof. James Thomson Shotwell will discuss the Geneva protocol.

The League of Women Voters is a unit in its advocacy of American entrance into the world court, but on the other international questions to be discussed differences of opinion exist.

Plan Many Mass Meetings.

Mass meetings will be addressed by Gen. H. M. Lord, director of the budget, Huston Thompson, chairman of the federal trade commission, Glenn Frank, editor of the Century Magazine, Profs. Arthur MacMahon of Columbia university and John M. Gaus of the University of Minnesota, and others.

PLANS RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION FOR BOYS AT CAMP

Religious interests of boys attending the free vacation at Camp Custer this year will be looked after, according to an announcement yesterday by Bishop William F. McDowell of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Arrangements are also being made by Maj. Gen. Harry C. Hale, who is in charge of the camp, to have every denomination represented by its clergy.

More than 3,000 boys from Illinois, Wisconsin, and Michigan will be selected to attend the camp. Everything is free, including transportation to and from camp, and food and clothing, all of which will be paid and furnished by the government.

MOTORDOM

Breaking Traffic Law Named World's Poorest Sport

Motor Chiefs Cite Odds Against Police Departments.

In United States cities of 100,000 or more there are 7,150 people to every single officer charged with enforcing traffic laws.

In the same territory there are 1,470 motor vehicles for each traffic officer.

Chicago has 584 traffic policemen and the city and county has about 300,000 cars.

About 12 per cent of traffic police are assigned directly to street traffic duty.

BY J. L. JENKINS.

THESE are a few of the salient facts unearthed in a newly completed traffic regulation survey made by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

"Figure up the odds against the traffic cop," urges the manufacturers' organization, "and then consider what poor sport it is to compete with him by intentionally breaking the law!"

This appeal to sportsmanship on the part of the average automobile driver is a new phase in safety promotion but, in the belief of George M. Graham, chairman of the manufacturers' traffic planning and safety committee, it should be a strong factor in bringing about the general cooperation needed to reduce automobile deaths.

Motor fatalities reported by all of the cities for the first two months of 1925 were 9 per cent under the same period last year. Most of this gain was registered in January when difficult driving conditions cut down the general speed average and kept every operator of a motor car alert.

The Chamber of Commerce found 28 cities which had no fatal motor accidents during January and 38 which escaped a single motor death in February. Twelve of the cities showed a clean slate for both months.

Analysis of the reports made by all cities in the country, the cause of accidents cited and the police department survey brought a new series of safety improvement suggestions from the committee. The first urges licensing of all drivers and revoking the driving privileges of operators found to be persistent offenders, incompetent or reckless. Another urges the arousing of public opinion for voluntary conformity to traffic laws. A third urges immediate relief of traffic congestion through removal of "bottle necks" in streets and highways and in the widening of main trunk line pavements about big cities.

In the matter of police enforcement the national body points out that some official in every community should be made directly responsible for traffic regulation.

"There should be a minister of traffic or a traffic commissioner appointed by every municipality," declares the bulletin, "who will have full responsibility in traffic law enforcement and safety improvement. He should be charged with the task of immediately improving traffic conditions and with cutting down fatalities. He should be given all of the power and support that he needs in this vitally important work."

"The policeman," Graham's comment adds, "has a superhuman job. No group of officers could begin to handle the crime situation if the average man were criminal.

"Yet there is a tendency on the part of the driver to ignore the motor law if the officer is not looking.

"Facts compiled for the first time show that in our cities there are 7,150 persons and 1,470 motor vehicles to every traffic officer. There is no sport in trying to get the better of a man that has a handicap like that.

"Some cities may be underpoliced, but no city can put on enough traffic men to begin to handle the traffic situation unless the citizens, whether driving or walking, realize that they have a common job in getting the best and most efficient traffic regulation.

"On the average 12 per cent of our police force is assigned to traffic duty.

"One big trouble has been our failure to realize that the police officer is primarily a dispatcher not a punisher.

"We have reason to be encouraged by the fact that fatal motor accidents for the first two months of this year in cities of 100,000 population and over were 9 per cent lower than last year.

"Philadelphia, Detroit, Los Angeles and San Francisco are particularly to be commended for their progress. In New York, the city safety bureau deserves credit for the energetic work it has done, particularly in promoting safety pledges in the schools."

WIDE HIGHWAYS FOR ENGLAND

Great Britain has spent £1,000,000 to widen and improve this thirty mile main highway from Wansted to Southend on Sea. The road will be 100 feet wide ultimately, with two carriage drives divided by a twenty foot pathway. The picture shows a stretch of the new artery, which was officially opened recently by Prince Henry.

Sixty Million Is on Tap for Highway Work in California

FEAR that highway development in California will stop unless the gasoline tax is raised apparently is without foundation, according to figures coming from Sacramento.

These indicate that the state will have some $60,000,000 to $70,000,000 to spend on roads in the next biennial period without any increase in taxes.

The sums available include $45,000,000 that will be collected on motor vehicle taxes, $8,000,000 that is now in operating contracts, $12,000,000 in new construction work by counties and road districts, $2,000,000 to be spent by the forest service, and $1,000,000 on the national park highways, a total of approximately $68,000,000 on highways during the next two years.

If this is not enough, more should easily be available, as it is indicated that the state will have a surplus of $22,000,000 in the general fund, part of which could be diverted to highway construction purposes.

Night Warnings.

Through the coöperation of the Butte county board of supervisors and the California State Automobile association, night driving hazards have been greatly minimized. The association has just completed the erection of twenty-five reflector type warning signals at a number of dangerous curves and crossroads throughout the county. A red flare by night and a yellow and blue sign by day now warn the motorist as he approaches danger points.

Engineers After Standard Size in License Plates

IN an extensive survey of the possibilities and desirability of standardizing license plates R. M. Hudson, chief of the division of simplified practice of the department of commerce, recommends that a national standard be adopted by state authorities.

At the suggestion of the Society of Automotive Engineers the division of simplified practice took up the matter with the motor vehicle authorities in each state and pointed out that through uniformity in the punching of the plates and the slots or holes in the brackets the plates of any state would fit the brackets on any car. This would be a convenience to the car builders, automobile dealers, and the motoring public.

Replies from two-thirds of the states favored standardizing the punchings, and none opposed the idea. There are no state laws governing the punchings of the plates, and it should be relatively easy to standardize on punchings which would permit the Society of Automotive Engineers to reduce its present bracket slot lengths to one inch or even to one-half inch.

Standardization of plate size is also suggested. Plates are now made from 8 to nearly 20 inches in length and from 4 to 6 inches overall width. There is no doubt a minimum size below which a plate should not be made lest ease of identification be destroyed.

Variation in sizes of numerals, letters and other details is pronounced. This cannot help but cause difficulty to those whose duty it is to watch licenses on passing cars. There is no doubt a normal minimum letter or digit size that might well be adopted as standard.

The variety of numbering codes is nearly as great as the number of license issuing bodies. Here is an opportunity for standardizing on a code that is readily understandable. To illustrate, with the 26 letters in the alphabet and numbers running from 1 to 9,999, it is possible to care for 259,974 licenses. If numbers run to 99,999, then nearly 2,600,000 licenses can be covered. The shorter the number, the easier it is to remember, and "A-2-675" or even "B-98-356" is relatively easier for many people to remember than "1-514-692."

CLEAN PLUGS.

Spark plug porcelains should be cleaned of carbon every few thousand miles and the points adjusted to one-thirty-second inch.

Automobiles Replace Camels and Ships on Ancient Routes

THE conquest of the Syrian desert by the automobile has become a practical and established fact, and this once difficult barrier to trade has been transformed into an important highway of commerce and travel, according to Consul Gregg Fuller in a report to the department of commerce from Teheran, Persia. Along the old routes where two years ago only the camel caravans could safely travel, scurrying American motor cars are now making their regular trips from Allepo to Bagdad, from Bagdad to Beirut, from Beirut to Damascus, and by-stations with a precision and dispatch that is looked upon as a harbinger of new era of commercial and economic development.

Success of this service has already had the unexpected result of increasing tourist traffic both from India and Europe. By catching a first boat from Bombay to Basra it is possible to reach England in eighteen days, by way of Bagdad, Haifa, and Alexandria. This route commend itself to many travelers from India home, partly on account of the short sea passage and partly owing to its novelty. By taking the Anatolian railway route from Damascus to Constantinople it is actually possible to escape the sea altogether from Basra to Calais.

The trip from London to Bagdad can now be completed in seven days instead of twenty-two to twenty-five, as formerly. Business men can reach the Persian gulf from Europe in one-third the time previously required. Not only has the desert routes made it easier for the east to reach Europe and the European countries to administer eastern governments, but it has joined more closely together the Moslem world.

What Smoke Means.

If the carburetor mixture is too rich, black smoke, smelling of raw gasoline, will usually be in evidence, issuing from the exhaust pipe. Be careful to distinguish this smoke from the excess of heavy blue smoke, which is indicative of too much motor lubrication.

Tree Shaded Roads.

Thousands of miles of highways in France and Germany are shaded by rows of fruit trees planted on either side of the road. Some of them are state owned and others are privately owned.

Tax Kansas Gas.

The latest state to fall in line on the gas tax is Kansas.

Two cents per gallon was the amount of tax included in a bill which the Kansas legislature passed, and a further provision was made for a constitutional amendment looking toward the development of such a state highway commission as would provide for the retention of federal aid.

It is the belief that the imposition of this Kansas gas tax will result in much improvement on the Victory highway line in Kansas, as the newly imposed tax becomes available at once.

VARNISH ON NEW CARS.

The varnish of a new car is benefited and hardened by washing with clear cold water.

After Good Meal.

The famous French "Club of the Hundred" (Club des Cent) has just completed 25,000 miles by motor car in search of a good meal. The organization of this club was for the purpose of visiting hotels, cafés, and villages to find where the best meals were prepared. They award two gold medals yearly to the chefs who best suit their palates.

More Busses.

About 16,000 auto busses are expected to be built this year, as compared with 13,000 in 1924. Motor trucks also are expected to have a larger sale this year.

Meet the New
GARDNER SIX
$1395

Fifteen minutes after you slip into the driver's seat, take the wheel and flash down the street, the best motor car salesman in the world couldn't sell you any other car for the same money.

That's a powerful statement, we know, but the car is here, and you can easily check up everything we say.

And if you come in with a chip on your shoulder and a "show me" light in your eye, you'll be doubly welcome. For we've got some car—and some surprise—waiting for you.

We'll introduce you to a scrapping big Six—not a little "baby Six." To the best-looking Six you've ever laid eyes on. Long, low-swung body. Rich, two-tone Duco finish. Full-size balloon tires. Snubbers front and rear. Gardner enclosed 4-wheel brakes. Genuine leather upholstery. Permanent top. One-piece, vertical, ventilating windshield.

And one of the smoothest six-cylinder motors that ever pulled a hard hill in high!

Come in and meet it.

Owners tell us that the word "spirited" best describes the Oakland Six. They liken the car to a thoroughbred race horse whose inbred ability expresses itself in instant responsiveness and dashing eagerness. And because we want you also to realize the added thrill of driving an Oakland we invite you to take this car out yourself. We want you to experience its power and its smoothness—to learn how easily it handles—how swiftly it accelerates—how nimbly it threads traffic. Learn, too, how easily you can own this car through our special Time Payment Plan.

WINNING AND HOLDING GOOD WILL OAKLAND SIX
PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

A certain class of people have been asking for this car for the last ten years

MORE and more every year have asked it. "Give us a fine small car," they said. "We want a car with style, with all the quality of the good big cars, but we don't want a family chariot."

This is the class of people for whom the Rollin car is made. People who have pride in what they own. Women who dress smartly, who have tasteful homes, who like niceties of environment. Men who prefer good tailors, hand-sewn shoes, pedigreed dogs.

Young people mostly and people who stay young.

Perhaps this is a new generation of motor-car buyers. A generation that will not be content with the older motor-car fashions and standards.

At any rate, they have welcomed the Rollin with open arms. For some it is a second car for the city and suburban driving, which is ninety-nine one-hundredths of their motoring, while the "big car" stands in the garage. But for the great majority of owners, the Rollin answers every purpose.

The Rollin is a car to grace the bridle-paths of motordom. Show a sportsman a thoroughbred horse and that's enough for him! His eye lights up with an answering fire, and his senses thrill to clean-cut hoofs and rakish limbs.

Power and speed!

Stamina and blood!

Show him, too, a Rollin car and that's enough for him! Here, again, is the thoroughbred. With power and speed and stamina—couched in magnificent form. That's why the Rollin kindles the eye and sets the pulses racing!

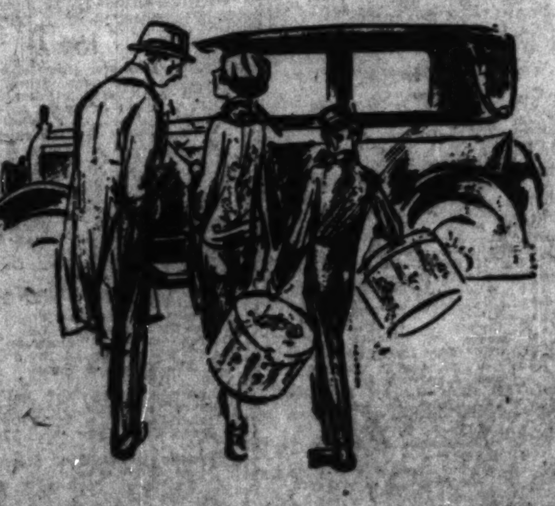
In all truth, the Rollin is built for people who instinctively warm to thoroughbreds. For the new generation, to whom motoring is more than motion. Who want the same quiet quality in their motor-cars which they enjoy in food and clothes and sport.

The big, unwieldy car that delivers only eight, ten, twelve miles to the gallon of gasoline . . that requires almost the space of a freight-car siding in which to park . . is on the defensive. People who own or have owned these bigger, costlier cars are turning now, to Rollin. And, indeed, why not?

The Rollin is built with the same high-grade materials, with the same regard to engineering details as the bigger, bulkier cars. It is a fact that no car, regardless of size, price or reputation, can boast finer shop-work or coach-work.

There's a sermon on quality in the way a Rollin door closes. Just slam the door of the average car. If it latches with a tinny "clink," the chances are that such cheapness extends through.

But . . push the door of a Rollin to. It swings noiselessly, like the powerful door of a bank vault, until the latch drops with a deep-throated "clunk." You know instinctively that good, substantial fittings have been used.

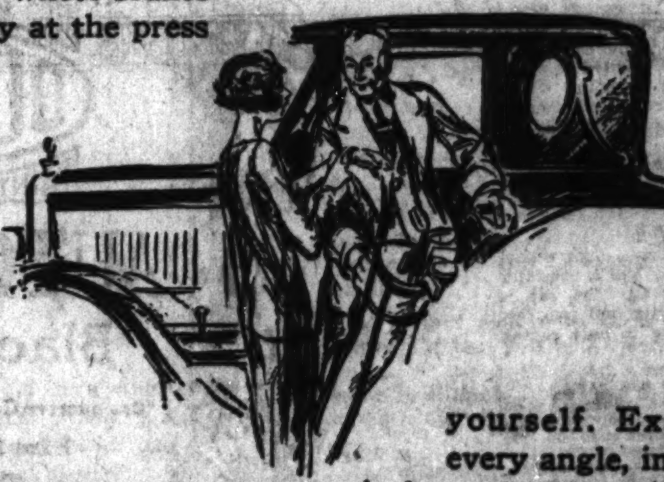


You find this same perfection of detail throughout the Rollin car.

You'll like the way the Rollin drives . . its cat-like agility in the thickest going.

It is swift and luxurious and untiring on even the longest trips. It handles easily in traffic, darting around the larger vehicles like a swallow through a flock of crows. It is easy to park, easy to turn, and its marvelous four-wheel brakes stop it instantly at the press of a pedal.

Is this a new car? The bodies, yes. The chassis, no. The motor is the powerful small motor of European type which Rollin H. White designed and which created a sensation among automobile engineers more than a year ago. Many thousands of Rollin cars were sold and have been tested through an entire season of motoring in all parts of the United States. This motor is built like a watch. No finer piece of mechanism can be found in any car at any price.



It has been proved economical—twenty-five to thirty miles to the gallon of gasoline. It is light in weight, but extremely powerful and incredibly smooth in operation. It is good for a hundred-thousand miles.

Now this superb chassis has been fitted with bodies of the custom type, which are richly finished and beautiful in every line. Upholstery and fittings are the kind you associate with cars costing five thousand dollars and upward. Cushions are deep and luxurious.

The minute you turn the handle and step inside, you know that this car is built to last. Get a Rollin and you have a car of which you can be proud for many years to come. The finish on all bodies is Duco, in smart color-combinations. Balloon tires, of course!

Come and see the Rollin. Drive it yourself. Examine it from every angle, in your most critical mood. It was the most-talked-about car at the New York and Chicago Shows. It attracts attention in any company because it is the car that people of taste have been looking for. The Rollin Motors Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

MOTORDOM

New Motor Menace Laid to Misuse of Closed Cars

Speed and Carelessness Is Cost of Comfort, Says Three A.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Misuse of closed cars and unfamiliarity with the rules of safety for the new "closed car era" are declared to be an unrecognized cause of many automobile accidents.

In the opinion of the American Automobile association officials, accidents will decrease as soon as the motoring public learns to operate closed cars more safely and at the same time revises its ideas of caution to fit the new conditions.

Coming at a time when the auto industry is preparing to meet an unprecedented spring demand for closed cars, which are becoming more and more popular, the A. A. A. bulletin issued yesterday is expected to be the subject of considerable thought and discussion among safety advocates who are said to have overlooked the significance of the public changeover from the open car to that of the enclosed type.

"A leading cause of the high automobile accident rate," the A. A. A. paper states, "is the failure of the average driver to recognize the new type of caution necessary with the new type of motoring.

"Accidents will be on the decrease as soon as the public learns to operate closed cars more safely. At present hundreds of thousands of drivers are misusing their closed cars and ignoring the new rules of safety that go with the new type of motoring. As a matter of fact, they do not appreciate the fact that the new rules are necessary.

"Visibility in closed cars is actually better than in curtained open cars, but the closed car's shortcomings are of a different kind. The problem is for each driver to discover this difference and act accordingly.

"By taking undue liberties with the advantages of the closed car much of its inherent safety has been nullified. Drivers have felt that because they were shielded against the elements they were immune from danger. Thus we have found thousands of motorists venturing forth in storms that would not take so great a toll of human life if motordom were still on an open car basis.

"Motorists have taken great liberties with the speed which closed cars make possible by reason of their extra weight and their ability to shield against the wind. Many persons are driving far faster than they imagine and are thus unprepared for the dangers which invariably accompany one's ignorance of speed. The A. A. A. agrees with engineers that highway speeds will be materially higher within a very few years, but such increased speed cannot be safe until drivers are prepared to handle it.

"The landslide to closed cars is in full swing, but accidents will not be materially lessened until the average motorist becomes familiar with his new surroundings."

With a view to familiarizing the motorist with these changing conditions and to emphasize the point that it is ignorance more than carelessness that occasions the present high rate of accidents and fatalities, the A. A. A. outlines the following suggestions for the average driver who buys a closed car:

"Learn that you may be traveling at a higher rate of speed without realizing it, particularly where the grade is slightly downward. Speed is always a hazard when you are not aware of your actual speed.

"Learn that physical comforts offered by the closed body in adverse weather do not alter the highway hazards. Your hands may be warm but there may be just as much ice on the road as when you formerly shivered in your open car, or stayed at home.

"Learn that though you can see out better in your closer car than you could through rain curtains, the few obstructions to vision, such as the body posts, are at points you are not accustomed to.

"Learn that other drivers in closed cars are usually as unfamiliar with the new conditions as you are, and that the safest plan is always to give a bit to the 'other fellow.'"

Dobbin Scores.

Any fear that the horse would be supplanted by the automobile and tractor in Canada is unfounded, it is indicated in a report by the department of agriculture, which shows the horse population of the dominion has increased 100,000 in the last year. The number was placed at 3,546,233, compared with 3,445,233 horses last year. The principal increase was in western Canada.

The increase was attributed to a revival of interest in breeding draft horses, the demand for horses for farming due to increases in agricultural production, and the greater use of horses for lumbering activities, city transportation, and in other industries.

Girl Racer.

Miss Lillian Hanson, a high school girl of Alameda, Cal., has a specialty constructed automobile. The car is less than five feet long and two feet wide. She is training to be a racing driver.

FIGHTER USES BIG CAR.

"Young" Stribling, the schoolboy fighter of Macon, Ga., travels around the country in a motor bus de luxe valued at $9,500. The car is 23 feet long and 7 feet wide and contains beds, a toilet, lighting appliances, and everything that goes to make up a modern home.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

He's Out to Learn the Truth About Motordom.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question $5 is awarded to Mrs. Bernard Santen Jr., 2718 Genesee street, Utica, N. Y.

The Question.

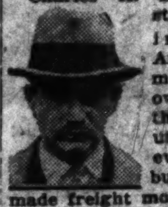
What class of people have been most benefited by the automobile?

Where Asked.

Clark and Lake streets.

The Answers.

J. K. Rose, 208 North Sangamon street, merchant—I believe the farmer has been the most benefited by the use of automobiles. Cars have put him in direct touch with the world and his markets. They have broken up rural isolation and made rural life worth living.



Charles A. Seidler, 1428 George street, secretary — The industrial class in America have had the most benefit. Both owners and workers in the big industries are utilizing motor cars in every branch of their business. Trucks have made freight movements easy. Laborers have found the automobile the best unit of transportation.

William Mathews, 5915 West Circle avenue, photographer—The farmer has had the best service from automobiles. They use cars for every farm use as well as to keep them in touch with things. Some of the successful farmers have entirely motorized their farm plants.

Packey Schwartz, 5958 West Huron street, restaurant owner—The middle class of people have received the most benefit from the automobile. The good cheap cars now offered on the market are within reach of practically every family in America.

Clarence A. Weber, 2933 Southport avenue, real estate—Men with a trade, the carpenters, brick layers and the like have been served best. Most of them use cars as their chief means of transportation, as well as for pleasure.

Regional Highway Plan Boosted by Motor Industry

EYES of the automobile industry are focused upon the undertaking of the Chicago Regional Plan association in behalf of the unification of work on highway construction. Indication of the interest the movement has aroused among motor car manufacturers is seen in a statement issued yesterday by C. W. Nash, long recognized as one of the spokesmen of the automobile industry.

"From information that has come to me, he said, "the program mapped out forms one of the most constructive efforts that have ever been made in the interests of highway development. Here we find a body of men, each representing a different city or village or state, all working together in an intelligent effort to untangle knots that ordinarily confront a highway program. When we consider there are 240 cities and villages within a radius of forty miles of Chicago, all of them more and more dependent upon the development of their highways, the importance of unification of effort becomes immediately apparent.

"An automobile highway, to represent any measure of efficiency, should provide a continuous and uninterrupted stretch of good roadway over a given distance between two important terminals. In the past these stretches were broken up, every so often, by aggravating sections of unpaved roadway, extending perhaps through a village, but often through whole townships or through an entire county. The situation with reference to highways leading to and from Chicago has been a particularly difficult one because of the numerous governing bodies that control these roads, with Indiana a few miles to the south and Wisconsin a few miles to the north.

"Under the plan set forth last week all of the officials interested in a proposed highway will work together as a unit; obstacles will be taken up by committees and overcome, in most instances simply because everybody under the plan will be working together. The fruits of this undertaking will be enjoyed not only by the average motorist in his ability to travel over an uninterrupted stretch of highway, but they will be of even greater benefit to residents of those villages and towns which otherwise would not, perhaps, be included in the highway program.

"It seems to me there are few today who are not in accord with the spirit of the country for improved and wider roadways, for it is certain that the day has passed when the automobile was looked upon as a luxury."

The Kenosha manufacturer is particularly interested in the Cook county and Chicago regional widening plans because of the production this spring of his new Ajax car, to be built in Racine and distributed in the Chicago district.

Better Service.

Automobile and truck manufacturers and engineers are evincing growing interest in the subject of servicing their vehicles in the hands of the users, and questions of service will occupy an important place in this year's program of meetings of the Society of Automotive Engineers. An automotive service convention and maintenance equipment show are to be held in Detroit from May 20 to 23 inclusive. The exhibition is to be conducted under the auspices of the national automobile chamber of commerce and the convention is to be sponsored and participated in by that organization and the society and the Motor and Accessory Manufacturers' association.

Revolvers Used to Test Action of Car Drivers

TWO revolvers mounted on the under side of the running board of an automobile and discharging shells loaded with red lead upon the road were the principal feature of apparatus employed in making a series of tests conducted by the bureau of standards in Washington upon three groups of individuals of assorted color, sex, age, education and experience in driving automobiles.

One of the revolvers was fired by the experimenter when the car had reached a predetermined speed and the second by the driver of the car in placing his foot on the brake pedal. The ratio of the distance between the bright red spots produced on the road, measured in feet, and the speed of the car, in feet per second, gave the reaction time of the driver.

Results of the tests were given by H. H. Allen and Dr. F. A. Moss of the bureau of personnel administration in a recent address.

Each of the fifty-seven drivers made runs at speeds of 10 to 29½ miles per hour and the reaction times were computed from a total of 285 runs. The average reaction time for the entire series was 54-100 second. This corresponds to a distance of twenty-two feet that the car will have covered when traveling at a speed of thirty miles per hour before the driver begins to apply the brakes.

In the discussion following the papers it was pointed out that the reaction time under normal conditions is no index to the reaction time of a person under the strain of driving in an emergency and that, after a study of about 10,000 cases, a series of tests had been developed by the Yellow Cab company that resulted in the reduction of the number of accidents by [illegible] per cent. It was also suggested that the tests were not comparable with real driving conditions because the drivers were expecting a signal to stop and were in a state of preparation to do so and also that a person may be too intelligent to be a good driver, since he may have his mind on other things and not be prepared for a sudden stop. The important thing is to determine the factors that cause a person to be unprepared to act, as many accidents arise from driving without the constant thought of stopping.

DOUBLE TRAFFIC.

Automobile traffic on New York highways doubles every three years, according to William [illegible]

When you paint your car— put on a finish that will last!

IT'S a real pleasure to see a shabby, weather-worn car grow new again with every brush stroke. But the pleasure doesn't last unless the finish lasts.

When you buy enamel for your car, remember that your own time and labor are going into the job. Get a finish that will stay bright and new-looking so long that you'll feel well repaid for your work.

Du Pont Chemical Engineers have created factory finishes for more than 6,000,000 new cars. They know how to defeat the ravaging effects of rain, dust, snow, mud, heat and cold. Du Pont Auto Finish is the result of their experience, put into a finish for your own use.

Thousands of men, who have refinished their cars with du Pont Auto Finish, have enjoyed the remarkable satisfaction of seeing this finish stand up—glossy, hard and color true—month after month.

The du Pont Oval trade-mark is more than a guarantee of highest quality in paints, varnishes, enamels, stains. It is a pledge of service, fulfilled by the entire du Pont organization. No matter what you wish to paint or varnish, gratify your pride and protect your purse by using du Pont. Ask the local du Pont Service Agent to select the right du Pont Product for your use—you'll find him listed below.

Hull Is Named U. S. Delegate to Big Roads Conference

Will Carry Illinois Road Enthusiasm Into South America.

BY E. E. PIERSON.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., April 11.—[Special.]—Congressman William E. Hull of the Peoria district has been selected by President Coolidge to represent the United States at the international good roads conference which opens next October in Buenos Aires, Argentina. He has wired his acceptance.

W. E. HULL.

It is expected that every nation on the globe will be represented and the leading engineers of every nation will be asked to appear upon the program.

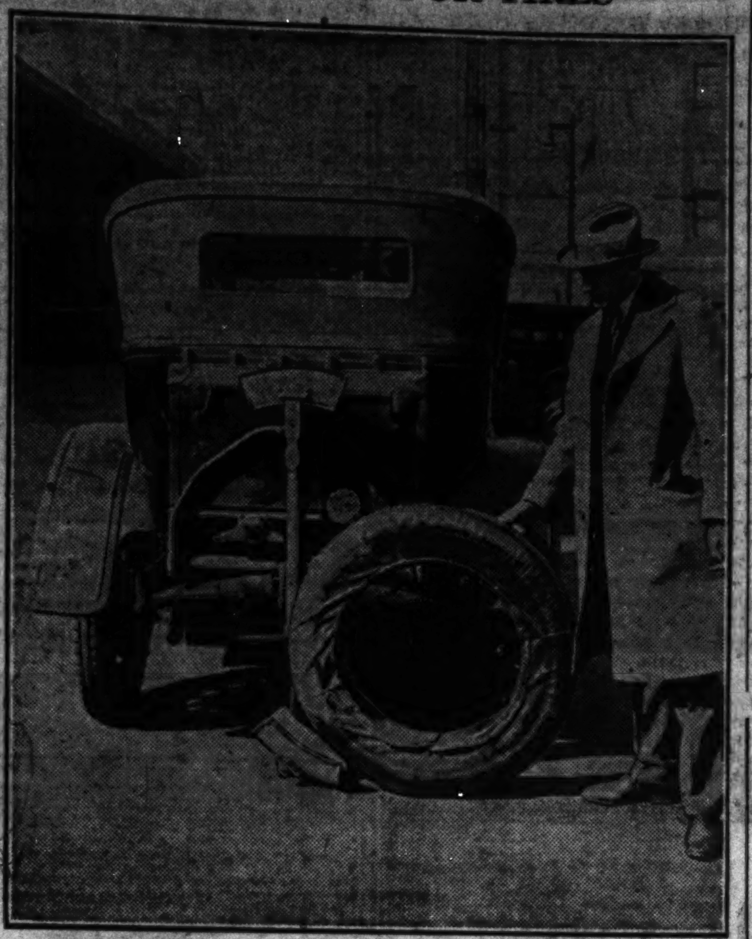
South America is planning an extensive program in road construction. Last summer a delegation from the continent spent several months going over the roads of the United States and studying methods of construction. Considerable time was devoted to Illinois and the party was entertained by the state highway department and a number of cities located upon the principal bond issue hard roads. The October international conference is the sequel to this tour.

The selection of Congressman Hull by the President to represent this nation was apt and appropriate and will be applauded, it is believed, by the majority of those interested in good roads in this state. As far back as 1910, when most of the farmers and land owners and many city residents were lukewarm or openly hostile to hard roads, Hull risked his political existence by advocating the bond issue for concrete highways. When the first state road of this kind was proposed to extend from Chicago to Springfield, via Peoria, he devoted months to making a personal canvass of every community affected, arguing with opponents and pointing out the benefits.

Hull was largely responsible for the movements for two bond issues for hard roads in his home county and aided materially in the campaign to put over the stretch of concrete between Peoria and Springfield which marked the beginning of permanent highways in this state. He was one of the leading advisers and strongest supporters of Gov. Lowden in the latter's effort to launch the state bond issue. The credit for the formation of the State Highway Improvement association goes largely to Hull.

In discussing his appointment he said: "I believe in good roads, and, while I have a fair knowledge concerning their construction, I shall acquaint myself further upon the subject before going to South America. The road problem is among the greatest before our nation today as well as with other nations. I first took an interest in good roads fifteen years ago and gave up a great deal of my time towards the construction of better highways. I was a pioneer and there were not many who thought as I did upon the subject. Today, the public attitude has changed and I believe that the overwhelming majority of the people of Illinois favor hard roads."

PRESCRIBES FOR TIRES



After years of combating human ills, Dr. Frank A. Eibelman, west side physician, has turned to prescribing mechanical remedies. He is shown here demonstrating the new automatic tire carrier and lifter and lock he has developed and patented.

Many Materials.

Materials used in the manufacture of an automobile include gold, platinum, diamonds, tungsten, iron, steel, copper, brass, tin, zinc, coal, clay, cement, sand, gravel, lime, grease, oils, chemicals, cotton, wool, silk, jute, hair, leather, lumber, glass, enamel, and rubber.

AUTO INSTRUCTION.

Automotive instruction is part of the course in almost all of the great universities.

Motor Market in Finland Blocked by Steep Duties

EXCESSIVE duties on American automobiles form a chief obstacle to the use of United States motor units in Finland, according to J. E. Tuokkola, minister of traffic and deputy commissioner of the Finland Automobile Dealers' association, who is visiting in the United States.

United States automobiles have to pay 11½ per cent more duty than most of their competitors. Mr. Tuokkola says the reason for this discrimination is the high United States duties against paper from Finland. The Finnish government has recently taken over the road construction and maintenance of the country. Formerly the maintenance was cared for by the adjacent land owner. The transition has been temporarily harmful to the roads, but is expected to result favorably as a unified system is developed. The large per capita wealth of Finland will permit very much bigger use of motor transportation than exists at present.

Change Tires.

Tires will give longer service if shifted from one side to the other and from one end to the other. The effort requires but a small bit of time and will in all cases make the tires last longer and give more miles of service. It is commonly observed that the right rear tire wears faster on the inside than on the outside, due to wear against the crown of the road. After some use of the right rear wheel, it is well to change this tire with the one on the front left wheel.

NO "SATURATION."

There is one motor vehicle for every sixteen persons in New York City, and one for every seven persons in its suburbs. It is predicted that the metropolis will have 1,340,000 cars by 1960.

Tax Survey Shows Motors Pay Half Billion Revenue

ON THE basis of figures collected by the research division of the American Automobile association, it has been established that New York leads in the number of motor vehicles registered in 1924, while Pennsylvania leads all the states in the amount of tax collected. The following five states had more than a million registration:

New York, 1,412,879; California, 1,319,394; Ohio, 1,241,800; Pennsylvania, 1,228,587; Illinois, 1,119,236.

The outstanding thing that this survey discloses is the wide difference in taxation as between the states and at the same time the rising curve of taxes on the motor vehicle. The average vehicle tax of the state levy alone this year is $17.35; in 1923 it was $12.50, while in 1919 it was $8.55. In other words, the state levy has increased 100 per cent in five years.

The motor vehicle conference committee has estimated that for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924, the grand total motor vehicle tax, including the federal tax, the personal property tax and the municipal tax, reached $555,028,548. Since that time it has been steadily rising.

Ask The Owner of a Year-Old Chrysler Six How It Performs

Products like the Chrysler Six, that create first-year production records in the effort to satisfy demand, naturally cause an upheaval.

Results that upset all the well-established conceptions of quality manufacture, performance, economy, riding and the engineering of space, are subjected to the closest scrutiny.

The Chrysler Six has been in the hands of owners something more than a year. Its new results are a matter of record; but it is equally important for you to know the proved endurance of the Chrysler, that it continues to perform brilliantly.

The proper source of such testimony is the owner. The important fact you will discover if you will make such inquiry is that a year-old Chrysler Six performs with the same brilliance, eagerness and zest as it did 12 months ago when it electrified its purchaser.

New results? Yes, and stamina and endurance as the records now show. We are always eager to demonstrate Chrysler results and we are particularly glad of an opportunity to show you that it is the best built car on the market today.

Try to Safeguard Pilots in Annual Altoona Race

Experts Banding Outer Rim of Saucer with Steel.

ALTOONA, Pa.—The paramount question now before the experts of the automobile world is not how fast will the racing machines travel in the 250 miles championship classic at the famous Altoona speedway on June 13, but how to safeguard the pilots tooling their mounts around the giant oval at a gait close to 140 miles an hour.

This year, the last before the engines are reduced to motorcycle size, has already developed such terrific speed on the Pacific coast board track, with Tommy Milton, Bennie Hill and Harry Hartz breaking all records up to 135 miles an hour, that officials of the bowl here have called in experts of the country to aid in protecting the drivers.

A huge steel band is being placed against the mammoth timber supports at the outer rim of the big saucer, with double strength at the ends of the turns, where the cars, after dashing around the extremely banked turns, swing for the straightaways. Almost every bad crash of the disastrous 1924 season came at these points.

The tremendous momentum force of the cars as they wind out of the turns has been analysed with slow motion pictures, showing the wheels veering almost on to the side walls of the tires as the driver throws the steering wheel over again. The keenest skill and strength is needed to control the hurtling machine, with the ever present chance that fate in the form of a worn tire will dash them to death against the bulwarks. This combination, worn tire and side swing, caused the death of the valorous Joe Boyer last fall.

The excessive wear on tires caused by this vicious skidding and slipping at the turns blackens the boards with burned rubber before the race is fairly started, and though tire manufacturers have conducted intensive laboratory tests for years, rarely does a casing withstand the punishment even for the 250 miles. With extreme summer heat forecast for June 13, the rubber firms have placed special crews experimenting and making the expensive racing tires. With the highest speed in the history of the sport certain, tires will be subjected to their most grueling test.

LATEST RAILROAD "BUS"

Taking advantage of the modern motor age, the Chicago and Alton railroad has adopted this new type of gaso-electric motor car for use on all of its branch lines. The new cars are operated at 35 cents a mile, against $1 a mile for steam locomotives. A gasoline motor connected with an electric motor, which, in turn, is geared to the wheels, generates the power.

USE WASTE.

When grinding valves, bring piston to top center and place a piece of waste or cloth between it and the valve.

Stop Pushin' Our Pavements 'Round, Warns Coast Club

IN an effort to prevent the tearing up of newly laid pavements for making gas, water, and sewer connections, the Automobile Club of Southern California signposting department is placing warning placards on all city streets where improvements are to be made. It has been found in Los Angeles that paving has been laid in many instances where piping had not ben brought to the curb line. The result is that great holes have to be torn in the smooth pavement whenever a new building is constructed.

Property owners are warned by the auto club placard that the street is to be paved and that the necessary connections for gas, light, sewer, and water should be made before this is done to save their investment and prevent additional expense. It is believed that all cities in southern California will adopt similar methods of averting losses from this cause.

GOSSIP OF THE AUTO TRADE

GENERAL adoption of the light weight, high efficiency type of car in the United States would cut down the annual motoring bill some $600,000,000, according to estimates, based on government fuel consumption reports, made yesterday by James G. Heaslet, president of the Rollin Motors company. He assumes that the average gasoline consumption last year was one gallon to every fifteen miles and that, with motors that will average 25 miles to the gallon, the huge saving would be in order.

Latest production figures issued by the Cleveland company indicate a jump of 300 per cent in the making of new cars over the schedule of last month. February shipments by the company were 25 per cent greater than those made in the same month last year.

Frederick E. Moskovics, president of Stutz, has announced the appointment of Douglas Andrews as assistant manager of merchandising for the company.

$47 Profit on Each Car Sold Rolls Up Huge Yearly Sum

ACCORDING to an analysis of the recent statement made public by the Ford Motor company, the average profit on every car, truck and tractor sold in 1924 was $47. This profit compares with $37 on every unit reported in the ten months ended Dec. 31, 1923, and with $77 reported for the year ended Feb. 28, 1923.

It is estimated the entire profits for 1924 were equal to $582 a share earned on the 17,645 shares of capital stock outstanding. The profits in 1924 were $100,435,416 on the sale of 1,950,000 cars, trucks and tractors.

CAR PRICE $814.

Of the 3,280,000 passenger automobiles produced in the United States last year the average retail price a car was $814.

Rickenbacker Six Captures Most Coveted Record

San Francisco to Los Angeles—439 Miles in 8 Hours 57 Minutes

This amazing car, the new Rickenbacker Six, with "Cannon Ball Baker" at the wheel, has now added to its many conquests, the most hotly contested and most coveted road record on the entire continent.

A roster of those who, from time to time, have clipped a few minutes—or even seconds — time between these points, reads like a volume of "Who's Who" among Speed Merchants, and includes almost every make of car which has any pretentions to power, speed or road-ability.

Space forbids printing any but a few of the more recent records:—

In 1916, Buick lowered the former and set a new mark of 10 hours, 47 minutes.

Cadillac went after that and did it in 9 hours, 30 minutes.

In 1920 Peerless shaved off 10 minutes—set the mark at 9 hours, 20 minutes.

1921—Studebaker lowered that by 4 minutes, 10 seconds—9 hours, 15 minutes, 50 seconds.

That record—like others that have recently fallen before the on-rush of this invincible Rickenbacker Six—stood for several years.

And now, Rickenbacker clips off 18 full minutes.

439 miles—8 hours, 57 minutes—total elapsed time.

And this by a car that is a standard stock model in every regard save for a higher gear ratio—4¼ to 1.

At times, on straightaways, Baker drove 80 miles an hour.

He made the amazing average of nearly fifty miles per hour for the entire distance (49.05 to be exact).

In this 439 miles is every variety of road to test the stamina, steering, power and brakes of the car—the skill and daring of the driver.

The "ridge" route which "Cannon Ball" took, crosses two spurs of the coast range! Road zig-zags back and forth—steep inclines alternating with acute angle turns—hundreds of them. This section is known as the "grapevine."

Here are grades so steep and turns so sharp that most cars must negotiate them in second and stop often to cool steaming radiators.

"Cannon Ball Baker" in his Rickenbacker Six slashed 18 minutes off the record.

To do this called for a car that was an all-round performer.

Power isn't all.

Speed is essential, but not sufficient.

Hill climbing ability must be equalled by hill-descending-ability—which is to say perfect brakes.

We believe this record will stand for a long time to come.

Any car that essays to lower it by a fraction must possess several features, must be a perfectly balanced combination of all those qualities that go to make up a perfect motor car.

Power-plus; — Speed; — Flexibility;— Matchless acceleration; — Precision steering — absolutely responsive and true to the wheel;—Axles that will stand any strain or shock; and finally, 4-wheel brakes.

To be absolutely dependable in places where an instant's failure to function would mean not only a record but a life lost, brakes must be mechanically operated and of the internal expanding type.

Those specifications for a world beater spell—"Rickenbacker."

You are invited to take a ride in a Rickenbacker Six exactly like the one in which "Cannon Ball Baker" made that great drive—

This week is Special Demonstration Week—come in, see, ride in, and then drive this wonder car.

Motor Industry Awaits Next Move of Dodge Combine

Big Makers Find Demand Drawing Ahead of Car Supply.

BY WHITCOMB WILLIAMS.

DETROIT, Mich., April 11.—[Special.]—Manufacturing interest at present centers in the sale of Dodge Bros. to Dillon, Read & Co., New York bankers, at a price variously estimated at anywhere between $125,000,000 and $150,000,000 and its passing into strange hands. Time and again this great unit of the automobile industry has been reported sold or merged with other concerns, and financial and automotive circles were loath to believe last week's report anything more than the regular "wolf" story.

The Dodge plant—the second largest in the world—covers 135 acres. It is now employing upwards of 18,000 men and has an annual sales volume of approximately $200,000,000. It is regarded as possible that acquisition of this industrial organization by New York interests may foreshadow the formation of another huge motor car combine built after the fashion of General Motors. It has been rumored in Detroit for some weeks that Packard, Hudson-Essex, and Briggs Manufacturing company would be made a part of a merger with Dodge as the nucleus, but this is being emphatically denied by all concerned.

It is regarded as practically certain that the public, through sale of securities in the Dodge corporation, will be permitted to purchase into the concern. Heretofore, like the Ford organization, Dodge has been a closed corporation, only a small group of stockholders participating in its immense earnings. A large bond issue is expected to be announced very soon to form a general mortgage on the properties.

Automobile activities continue their upward stride. Reports from practically every Michigan plant show a growing demand on the part of the general public. This condition supports the recent statement of Alfred Reeves, general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, that thousands of motorists are to be disappointed in getting prompt delivery of new cars unless their orders are placed early.

Many companies have increased their schedules on account of increased demands, but in spite of this dealers right now are being hard pressed for cars with which to supply the demands being made upon them.

For the eighth consecutive week employment in the seventy-nine automobile plants and accessories factories in Detroit continued its upward course, the labor barometer showing an increase of 2,180. This brings the working force up to 2[illegible],626, and the gap between the high spot during the early months of 1924 and the present is being rapidly lessened.

Present manufacturing conditions are far different than those of a very few years ago. In past seasons automobiles have been manufactured, stored, and purchasers awaited. Overproduction resulted. Quite different now, when cars are being virtually "made to order." Manufacturers are steadily increasing their production schedules, but none of them are running wild. They are keeping well within actual demands and the size of production schedules is governed by reports from dealers and distributors. One thing manufacturers are refusing to do—and will continue to refuse—and that is to run themselves into another overproduction mess. Right now five of Detroits' automobile plants are producing more than 1,000 cars per day—Ford is approaching the 8,000 mark—and every one of the cars turned out is sold before it leaves its home factory and distributors are endeavoring to increase their orders. They may be able to bring this about later in the season, but at present they must be content to receive their allotted number of cars.

General business conditions mean everything to the truck end of the industry. Motor bus and commercial vehicle manufacturers are feeling the general strengthening, plus new customers who are constantly entering the field for these types of vehicles.

Further eliminations of automobile concerns are predicted before many months. Too strenuous competition, it is said, will result in the narrowing down of the field. New companies will be formed, but not many, and their number will be exceeded by elimination. Strong, well established, and well known concerns will dominate the industry—with the eventual result that the public will be able to purchase better cars for less money.

HARD TO FOLLOW

England has added a postscript to Uncle Sam's small race car book in this tiny speedster, which has been entered for the various events at Brooklands this season. The car is known as the "Jappic" and is said to be a marvel on the turns.

[Photo from Wide World.]

CAR THIEVES ACTIVE.

Of the 57,771 automobiles reported as stolen in twenty-eight cities in the United States last year, 47,484 were recovered. Activities of motor thieves were nearly 50 per cent greater in 1924 than in 1923 and more than 100 per cent greater than in 1918.

One Free Bridge.

The only free automobile bridge across the Missouri river from its mouth to its source is that which forms the crossing for the Victory highway between St. Louis and East St. Louis. Of the two bridges which cross the Missouri river on the Victory highway line between Kansas City and St. Louis, one is already free and a movement has been inaugurated by the state highway commission to take over the other bridge and make it a part of the state highway system, eliminating any toll.

Stop the Rattle.

When the windshield glass becomes loose in its frame it causes an annoying rattle. It is difficult to close the frame so that it will grip the glass more securely without the possibility of breaking the latter. If the glass is not too loose the rattle can be eliminated by filling the space in the frame with shellac. This can be applied with a sharp pointed stick or a brush and should be applied slowly so that it will pack tightly in the opening.

The W. S. Record.

The United States has produced 24,000,000 automobiles since 1920, of which number more than 1,000,000 have been exported, nearly 6,000,000 have worn out, and about 17,000,000 are now in use. To buy and run these vehicles more than $40,000,000,000 has been expended.

Tests Show Ford Can Run 60 Miles On Gallon of Gas

The amazing fact that a Ford can run 60 miles on a gallon of gasoline was recently brought to light through tests conducted by America's foremost engineers. Great strides have already been made in this direction by the recent invention of a simple attachment which can be installed in a few minutes without any alterations to motor. A. C. Winterburn made 41.4 miles on 1 gallon of gasoline after this device was attached. B. O. Weeks, famous aviator and inventor, wants agents and will send sample for trial. Write him today at 420-7 Eleventh Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

STUTZ MOTOR CAR COMPANY OF AMERICA, INC.
INDIANAPOLIS, IND. U.S.A.
Cable Address "STUTZ"

March 20, 1925.

Mr. Henry Williams,
2242 Sheridan Road,
Chicago, Illinois.

Dear Mr. Williams:

When I asked you for a frank expression as to your experience with Stutz cars, you wired me that you thought the Stutz was a bad proposition from a manufacturer's standpoint, because you were so well satisfied with your car, you would not be in the market for another for some time to come.

Have you considered that in your satisfaction with your Stutz Six is a buying reason for many other discriminating owners of other cars. While it is true we cannot sell you another car at present, we can sell many other owners of high class cars who are looking for just the service and satisfaction which you express.

You have mentioned 125,000 miles of service which you had on one Stutz car. You say your upkeep cost was little or nothing and compliment us on the extraordinary service you have received from this organization. All of these factors are reasons for creating new Stutz owners in place of selling our present owners a new car every year.

I took particular pleasure in telling Mr. Charles M. Schwab and Mr. Eugene V. R. Thayer, chairman of our Board of Directors, of the contents of your telegram, and it was indeed a source of satisfaction to them to know that the car they are so keenly interested in is giving such splendid service in the hands of owners.

I hope your present Stutz Six lasts for many years to come and continues to give you the value in daily service which will keep you from buying another car, even though you say that your next car must be a Stutz. By designing and building just the very best automobile we can and backing it with the very best service we can offer, we hope to have every Stutz owner echo your words, "The Stutz is the best car I ever knew." We know so long as we follow this policy, we will have no trouble in finding sales for Stutz cars, because their best advertisement is found in the expressions of Stutz owners, such as yourself.

Thanking you for your telegram and trusting you will call upon us at any time we can be of service to you, I am

Yours very truly,

A Remarkable Letter—Read It!

WHAT can you say about any automobile today? No matter what its price, its virtues are limited only by the advertiser's imagination and vocabulary.

It seems to me that the one important thing the buyer of any car should know is its records of performance in the hands of owners. The greatest advertisement that can be published for Stutz cars is the frank, unvarnished statements of Stutz owners. The above letter, though name and address have been changed, is an answer to one owner's expression.

We will be glad to furnish you these owner's statements and to demonstrate Stutz cars which have been driven for thousands of miles. The Stutz Six is one car that comes to you backed by absolute evidence of its value. We will be glad to submit the facts in the case.

FOR TEN YEARS

"The World's Greatest Buy"

Everyone Says It—Sales Prove It

It is only as you find the real comparisons for Hudson qualities among the costliest cars that the enormous difference in price is so astonishing.

Today it offers the greatest price advantage and finest quality in Hudson history. Never was this supremacy of value so outstanding. And the greatest Hudson sales on record show how complete is public knowledge of the facts.

Is There Any Reason to Pay More?

Hudson's position as the "World's Greatest Buy" is not merely a new attainment. It is acknowledgment of ten years' refinement of a great car around the famous patented Super-Six principle. No motor design, however costly, has been found to displace this long-time leadership of the exclusive Super-Six.

It is responsible for the way Hudsons endure the hardest service, free of mechanical annoyance, and retain their new car vigor and flexibility when they have become old in point of years and service.

Its simplicity has always meant a lower selling price than is permitted in complicated types. And today, economies possible only to the largest production of 6-cylinder closed cars give it value advantages never held by any rival.

All now know that higher price can buy no smoother performance than Hudson's. It cannot buy more brilliant results in acceleration, power or speed. It cannot buy greater reliability or endurance.

No car at or near the price rivals the Hudson Coach in actual proof of value—which is SALES.

FARM AND GARDEN

Purdue Leads the Way with Student Cows

Proving to Farmers That College Theories Are Practical.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

CURRICULA of no other agricultural colleges in the world, so far as is known, include the unique courses now offered to farm students by Purdue university, Lafayette, Ind. The courses are open only to a certain class of students, and for that reason they have attracted an unusual amount of attention among faculty members, as well as other students.

Five students enrolled when the classes were started a few months ago. When the freshmen arrived in Lafayette and appeared at the school they were the talk of the campus. They were rather shy and clannish, so much so that before they had been in school a day they had formed a sorority, and during their entire stay at the college they have lived in special quarters set aside for them.

Shock for Students.

All students attending Purdue since its establishment fifty years ago have been bipeds—boys and girls, men and women—and to have these five new students, quadrupeds, simple, kind faced dairy cows, cutting up the campus with their cloven hoofs was more than dignified Hoosiers could understand. Allowing animals to attend this great university was a real shock to every student until they learned about the new and revolutionary educational move that had been started by the agricultural college dean and his faculty.

The idea was regarded as a joke at first, but the novelty was soon established as a serious part of the daily routine, and it will be written into the university's history that four Holsteins and one Jersey cow had the honor of being the first animal students to enter Purdue.

Dairy Member Explains.

In explaining the why of this innovation in the agricultural educational field, J. W. Wilbur of the dairy department says that every year Indiana farmers attend short courses and agricultural conferences at the college to learn the latest progressive ideas in the agricultural industry. They are supposed to take these ideas back and apply them on their farms.

Farmers are likely to get the notion that methods of feeding, breeding and management of farm animals may work on cattle kept at agricultural colleges, while the same methods applied on the farm would fail. In the courses given to these five cows, Purdue's agricultural college experts have disproved the theory. They have interested cows in taking the courses to learn first hand the things they have been teaching farmers for years.

Making Comparisons.

To carry out the project the college's dairymen brought five cows in from farms. These attended Purdue in order to learn that milk and butterfat are produced economically only when certain fundamental factors such as feeding, breeding and proper care, are considered.

To make the experimental courses practical the cows were brought directly from farms where records on production and feed costs had been carefully kept during the preceeding year.

The cows had to pass certain entrance requirements, the same as other students. They were required to have a good average dairy cow conformation, low production during the preceding year, at least an eight months' production record, to be mature, and freshed soon after they arrived at the college.

Not Enough Silage.

In addition to these requirements, the owners had to answer questionnaires in regard to feeding. The farmers' answers showed that the cows had been given an insufficient amount of roughage, too much roughage consisting of such feeds as timothy hay, shredded stover, corn fodder, straw or cornstalks. Most of the cows received an insufficient quantity of silage during the winter. The grain mixtures fed were low in protein supplements. The cows were kept on pasture for too long a period in the fall, emphasizing the fact that too much dependence was placed on the value of pasture.

The cows were brought to Purdue and cared for under average conditions, receiving pasture and some supplementary feeds in the summer. At the college during the winter they were fed a ration recommended by the school, consisting of alfalfa hay, and corn silage in amounts equal to what the cow would consume. In addition, the following ration was fed: Four hundred pounds of ground corn, 200 pounds of ground oats, and 100 pounds of linseed oilmeal.

Accurate production and feed records were kept by college experts so they could be compared with the farmers' records. Here are the results:

	On the farm.	In Purdue.	Increase
Cost of roughage.	$24.12	$47.22	$23.10
Cost of grain.....	19.59	25.12	5.53
Total feed cost...	43.73	72.34	28.61
Total value of product	121.36	207.38	86.02
Returns above feed cost.......	77.64	135.04	57.40
Returns for $1 invested in feed	1.77	1.86	.09
	Lbs.	Lbs.	Lbs.
Total milk production	5,063.80	8,662.80	3,598.40
Total fat production	202.90	316.80	113.90

Mr. Wilbur explains that the value of the product was based on the average price received for milk on the farm, which was $2.30 a hundred for 3.5 milk with a sliding scale of 4 cents for each 1 per cent above or below that figure.

These Are Conclusions.

The college men draw the conclusions that the cows made a substantial increase in both milk and butterfat production over the records made on the farm; that the relatively low production on the farm was undoubtedly due to improper kinds and amounts of feed given the animals.

Regardless of the fact that the cows were fed more and better feed at Purdue—feed that cost 65 per cent more than it had on the farm—they justified the additional cost of feed by returning an increase over feed cost of 74 per cent over the income during the previous year.

The total cost of feeding the five cows at the college through the lactation period, which averaged nine months, was $360. They returned $675 above feed costs while at school. If the farmers had fed eight cows as they had fed these five the previous year, their return over feed cost would have been only $621, according to Mr. Wilbur's figures.

Dollars and Cents.

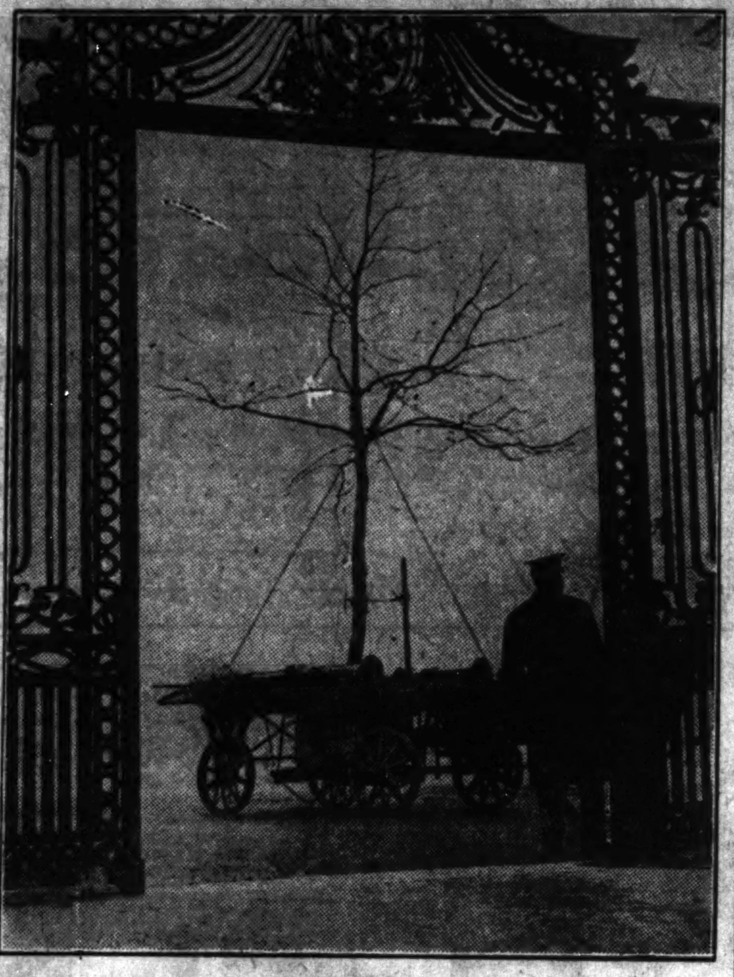
Mr. Wilbur also draws this conclusion in terms of dollars and cents: For every dollar spent for feed during the time the cows were at Purdue—even including a 65 per cent additional feed cost—they returned 5.08 cents more than they returned per dollar spent for feed on the farm the previous year. Or for every additional dollar spent for feed at the college over that spent for feed at the farm, the cows returned $2.01.

Only about a third of the cows in Indiana are producing milk at a profit, it is claimed. The five student cows are typical of thousands of Hoosier milkers, which have the ability to produce, but their records are held down because of insufficient feed.

When the cows left school the teachers sent a note to the farmer-owner, which read something like this:

"Give your cows more and better feed. Breed them to good bulls. Cull out the low producers after the cows have had a good chance to prove their worth. Keep a close watch on the health of the animals. If you give strict attention to these factors, success in economy of producing milk and butterfat are bound to follow."

MOVING DAY



[Keystone View Photo.]

TREE TRANSPLANTING MACHINE.—With this device foresters lift large trees out by the roots, transport them in their natural, upright position, and set them in a new location, without seriously interfering with their growth. Gardening experts on the Mall, London, England, recently used the machine shown above in transporting a valuable tree from one location to another. A simple turn of the crank lifts the tree out of its old location, and a reverse of the roller lowers it gently into the new position. The machine is of particular value where large trees have to be moved in parks or where city streets have to be widened and trees removed.

POULTRY TIPS

Do you know how much net profit your hens are returning? Farmers all over the country are learning it is worth the time they spend to keep a close count on the eggs their hens produce and the cost per dozen. In Missouri, twenty-three Salina county farmers who keep records gathered 43,400 eggs from their 4,070 hens during February. The hens averaged 10.6 eggs each for the month. With feed costs deducted the net profit was 27 cents a hen, or nearly 1 cent a day. The average hen's profit during January was only 7 cents during the month, according to the county agent.

Midwest Farmers Are in Favor of Dual Purpose Cow

ARTICLE VII.

COMBINED beef and milk cows, the dual purpose type, which were once so common in pastures of the corn belt, but have dwindled down to few compared with strictly beef and dairy cattle, are again becoming popular on the general live stock and grain farms of the middle west.

Letters from farmers who have tested the cow that can produce milk and beef profitably continue to come into this department, indicating that dual purpose cow owners are willing to take their chances with double deckers, at least on farms outside the dairy belt. Here are two letters from Ohio and Illinois farmers who live in that great in-between space where breeders have found a place for an animal that can yield a fair return on milk and produce a beef calf that will bring top prices on the market.

Shorthorn Holds Record.

P. G. Ross, owner of the Maxwalton farms, Mansfield, O., takes "exception to some of the remarks in John F. Cohen's letter printed recently in this department, Mr. Cohen said the dual purpose cow was "next to useless."

Mr. Ross writes: "We are told a cow must make money whether she is single, double or triple. Now, it is more easy to make money with three strings to your bow than it is with one; especially when the Shorthorn excels in all three points, and puts on more flesh with less feed than any of her competitors.

"My fellow countrymen, let us get down to facts and figures. I was raised in the 'Angus faith' and do not own dairy Shorthorns, but I am ready to admit that the best Shorthorns are the best farm cows. A Shorthorn cow, Melba 15 of Darbalara, holds the world's record with 1,614 pounds of butterfat produced in one year. The highest that any of the so-called dairy breeds can boast of is 1,349 pounds produced by a Holsteien cow, DeKol Plus Segis Dixil. This means that a Shorthorn has yielded 265 pounds more butterfat than any other cow in one year, or about four times as much as the average dairy cow. Melba gave 32,522 pounds of milk—also the world's record for two or three times per day milking. [Melba is a dual purpose cow, a Milking Shorthorn.]

Ready to Challenge.

"The highest percentage of dressed carcasses ever killed in America is held by Shorthorns, killing fully 5 per cent over all other breeds, and I am ready to challenge the world that I can put more flesh on ninety Shorthorns in ninety days than can be put on cattle of any other breed.

"The milking trait is inherited in the good Shorthorn just as is the adaptability to put on flesh, and it is merely a case of development in the individual. If beef is wanted they must be raised for beef, but if dairy cows are wanted they must be raised and cultivated with that object in view.

"Mr. Cohen seems to think 8,000 pounds of milk is not enough for the average cow, but I doubt if there are any of the so-called breeds that will average that much. He says a dairy cow should produce 20,000 pounds of milk; perhaps he is not aware that Shorthorns and Holsteins are the only cows that have given that much.

"His reference to the Hereford calf being heavier than the milking Shorthorn is also a mistake. It is generally conceded that Holsteins produce the largest calves and the Shorthorns the next largest, and a milking Shorthorn yearling will outweight a Hereford if given the same milk and feed. Where the Hereford excels is in its adaptability to range conditions. The references made to flesh are also erroneous. When we talk of muscle, we mean firm meat; soft flesh is blubber and tallow.

"Really, my friend, ye hae the wrang quea by the lug in your end of the argument."

Corn Belt Sees It.

Earl V. Bruington of Broadside farm, Cameron, Ill., a dual purpose cattle breeder, writes: "There never has been a time since we have been breeding milking Shorthorn cattle when there seemed to be as much interest in the dual purpose cow in western Illinois as at the present time. The corn belt farmers are beginning to see the advantage of raising dual purpose cattle on our average farms under general conditions. They realize that in general diversified farming the profit will be greater from the combined returns of the milk and the calf adapted to either beef or dairy purposes than the one profit derived from either dairy or beef products.

"Within the last month we have made a shipment of several heifers and a young bull to northwestern Iowa to a farmer who has been milking 100 cows of a special dairy breed. Because of the overproduction and the lowering of the price of milk in that section and also because of the overhead expense of dairying, this man is selling off his herd of special dairy cattle and is planning to develop a herd of dual purpose cows which will produce good calves along with their dairy production.

Easy to Sell.

"One of the main advantages of the dual purpose cow is that she can be fattened and sold for beef to advantage whenever for any reason it is necessary to sell her. We have topped the Chicago market twice within the last few months for fat cows with some cows we did not desire to keep longer in our herd.

"It may be of interest to you to know that I am now milking a cow—Gwendoline Rose 93240—which has recently freshened and which will be fifteen years of age next August. She has produced regularly for us since a young cow in both milk and in the production of calves. During one year we had her on test she produced 8,735 pounds of milk and 354 pounds of butterfat.

"It is this kind of cow that is needed on our corn belt farms. The efficiency and usefulness of such a cow can be easily seen by the corn belt farmer.

PLANTING time! How much depends upon those tiny seeds you pour out from the packet into your hand.

If you plant Ferry's purebred Seeds, you can have faith that sunshine and rain, good soil and your own good work will not be wasted. The harvest will be true to variety—ideal in size, shape and color.

It is the purebred quality of Ferry's Seeds which makes them so dependable. Science and skill have been employed for generations to maintain it. We know the history of our seeds. For sixty-nine years we have been growing, weeding out, perfecting, harvesting and testing. After every harvest more extensive trials are made at our experimental gardens than anywhere else in the United States to determine that these seeds are true to type.

Play safe at this critical time of planting. Give your garden the right start by planting Ferry's purebred Seeds. You can get them now—clean and tested, "at the store around the corner" from the familiar Ferry Box.

REAL ESTATE·NEWS

MUST SPEND AT LEAST $50,000 IN ADS YEARLY

Landlord Tells Tenant It Pays to Advertise.

BY AL CHASE.

COL. GORDON STRONG.

That the lessee must start advertising in the Chicago newspapers at a $50,000 a year schedule, increasing at a rate of 5 per cent of gross sales, is the unusual feature of a lease just signed whereby Joseph Hilton, Inc., of New York, manufacturer and retailer of men's clothing and haberdashery, will become a tenant in the Republic building, State and Adams.

The Gotham firm will occupy the corner store now used by Lewy Brothers, the Adams street shop occupied by the Schulte Optical company, and the entire basement of the Republic building.

Once Home of States Restaurant.

The basement contains 16,000 square feet and was the home of the States restaurant for several years. The Hilton company will have a private staircase to the lower floor.

The Joseph Hilton concern has no connection with the Hilton company's store on the opposite side of State street, although the heads of the two concerns are brothers.

Col. Gordon Strong, of Gordon Strong & Co., managers of the Republic building, pointed out that in the matter of rental it is largely a partnership affair between landlord and tenant. He calls attention to the special features of the Hilton lease which are of particular interest.

First Percentage Lease in 1915.

"In our own office we made our first percentage lease to O'Connor & Goldberg in 1915," said Col. Strong. "Percentage leases are now very common. There has been developed quite a science in this one form of retail rentals alone. One of two improvements may be mentioned:

"For example, a percentage rental depends upon gross sales. But gross sales depend, among other things, on advertising. Accordingly, to be sure of a maximum of percentage rental we should insure a full allotment of advertising. A lease carrying a percentage rental is not a complete lease unless it carries a definite agreement on advertising.

Ad Must Signal Customer's Purse.

"Again, a percentage rental depends on gross sales. But gross sales depend on the dollar's worth of merchandise. The more the merchant gives by way of value, the more the public will purchase.

"Accordingly, the merchant must not only use newspaper space—he must have a message to fill the space—a message to the customer's pocketbook. A lease carrying a percentage rental is not a complete lease unless it carries a definite agreement on the dollar's worth of merchandise.

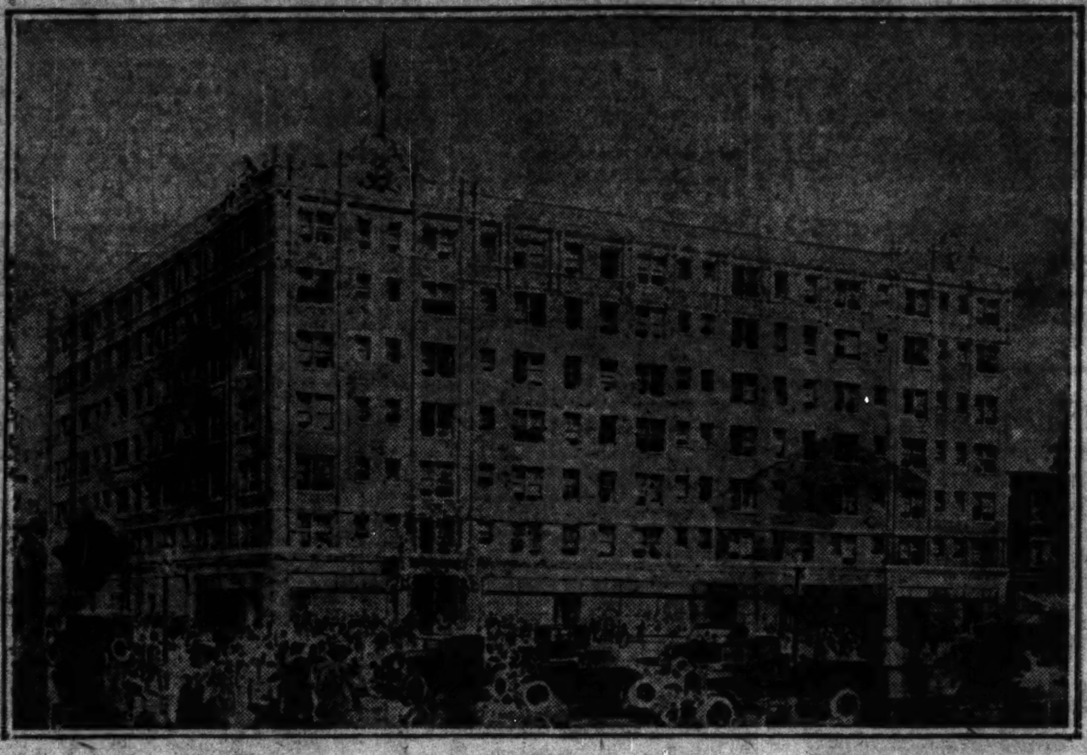
Starts at $50,000 Yearly.

"All these matters are included in start advertising at a $50,000 a year rate. He agrees to increase this according to gross sales made, at a rate of 5 per cent on such sales. The Chicago papers and the Chicago public can expect to see this advertising in full effect in a month or so.

"The lessee further agrees, by provisions too complicated to state here, to give an unusual dollar's worth to the customer. We've looked up his arrangements very carefully and we believe that he's in a position to do this. We expect the gross sales to run into a very high volume. And we expect Chicago to have a new men's wear store that will be recognized as an asset."

The lease was negotiated by Frank S. Slosson of Hooker & Slosson, for Mr. Hilton and by Gordon Strong & Co., for the owner.

$1,000,000 Hotel Project for Stony Island Avenue



Hall, Lawrence, Rippel & Ratcliffe are architects and Samuel Klein is consulting structural engineer of the above new hotel to be erected at the northwest corner of Stony Island avenue and 67th place. More is told about this project in a nearby column. The above rendering is by F. W. Fitzpatrick.

Martha Washington Candy Shop for West 63d Street

The Martha Washington Candies company has leased space in the remodeled building at 731 West 63d street and will open another candy shop there about May 1.

This is the third lease to be made recently by the Martha Washington company in an expansion program made necessary by the growth of certain outlying neighborhood centers. One was in the new Sheridan Trust and Savings bank building, Broadway and Lawrence, and the other was at Madison and Kedzie.

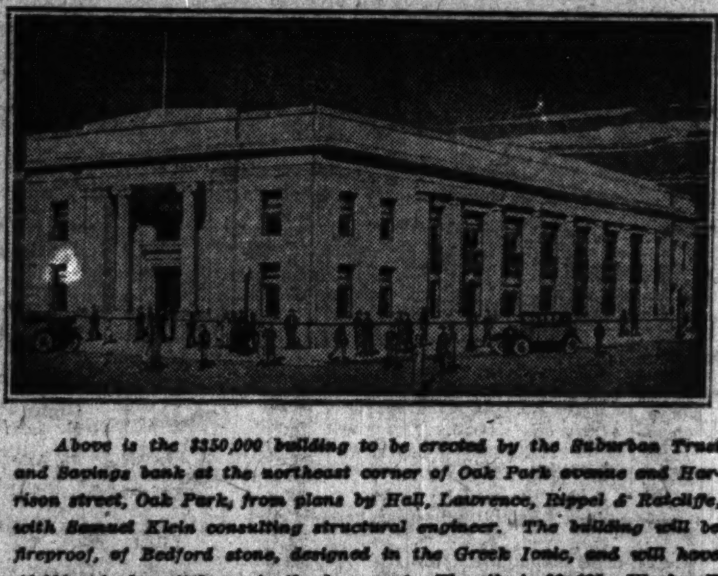
The company recently opened a store at Seattle, Wash., which gives it 133 Martha Washington shops stretching from coast to coast and fifteen modern kitchens.

National Tea Buys North Side Warehouse; $310,000

The National Tea company, which operates 602 retail stores in Chicago and vicinity, has bought from the American Radiator company the one and two story warehouse at 905 Kingsbury for a reported $310,000, through E. H. List of Hodge, Nicolson & Porter.

The warehouse contains 57,910 sq. ft. of floor space and it has foundations capable of carrying five more floors. The American Radiator company has built a much larger warehouse at 31st and South Central Park avenue.

$350,000 Bank Building for Oak Park



Above is the $350,000 building to be erected by the Suburban Trust and Savings bank at the northeast corner of Oak Park avenue and Harrison street, Oak Park, from plans by Hall, Lawrence, Rippel & Ratcliffe, with Samuel Klein consulting structural engineer. The building will be fireproof, of Bedford stone, designed in the Greek Ionic, and will have 10,000 safe deposit boxes in the basement. The site is 60x125. Work will start about May 10, with completion date set for Jan. 1. William Rattenbury is president of the bank.

News of the Architects

Marshall & Fox will move from 720 N. Michigan avenue to suite 1715 in Tribune Tower on April 27. Part of the office force already is occupying space in the new quarters.

Robert S. de Golyer & Co., have moved from the Union Trust building to the new Bell building on North Michigan avenue. Smith & Brown, structural engineers, and H. L. Clute, mechanical engineer, also will occupy the same suite, No. 1917-22.

LEASE SPACE FOR RESTAURANT.

McLean & Thompson have leased the store at 177 West Washington, in the Roosevelt building, for five years at an annual rental reported by the Brownlee Realty company to be $6,600. It will be used for a restaurant.

STONY ISLAND AVENUE TO HAVE 7 STORY HOTEL

Plan $1,000,000 Project at 67th Place.

Work is to start within two weeks on another big hotel on Stony Island avenue, a block south of the Southmoor. It will be at the northwest corner of 67th place and occupy a site fronting 165 feet on Stony Island and 115 feet on 67th place.

Hall, Lawrence, Rippel & Ratcliffe have drawn plans for a seven story concrete fireproof structure which will cost, together with the land, an estimated $1,000,000.

There'll be fifteen bowling alleys in the basement and nine billiard tables. On the first floor will be seven shops and the hotel lobby and lounge. Above will be 144 kitchenette apartments, with one and two rooms.

The building will have mechanical refrigeration and ventilation. The owners, the Stony Island Building corporation, has not yet selected a name for the new hotel. It will be ready for guests January 1, 1926.

NEW REALTY BODY TO HAVE BANQUET AT THE MORRISON

The newly formed Chicago Real Estate association will hold its first annual banquet next Wednesday evening in the Cameo room of the Morrison hotel at 6:30. Mayor Dever is scheduled to attend. Other speakers will be Herbert Becker of the Chicago Title and Trust company; John A. Carroll, Jesse Pugh, H. C. Brodman and others. There'll be an entertainment during the banquet, which will be followed by a dance.

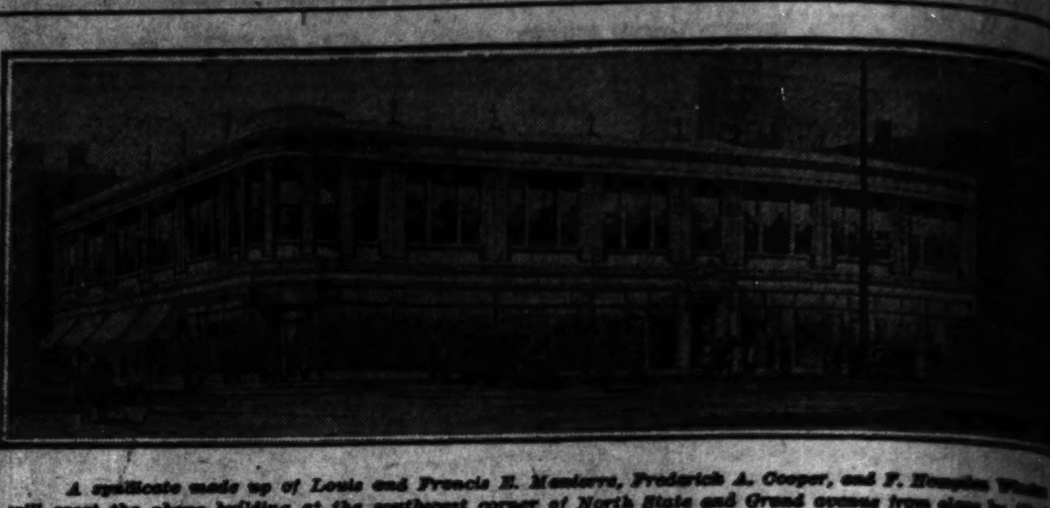
At North State Street and Grand Avenue



A syndicate made up of Louis and Francis E. Manierre, Frederick A. Cooper, and F. Hampton Winston will erect the above building at the southeast corner of North State and Grand avenue from plans by Alfred S. Alschuler. It'll front 118 on Grand and 100 on State, with an exterior of cream colored terra cotta. The second floor is designed for office or loft occupancy. The United Cigar Stores company already has leased the corner store and Messinger's lunchroom will occupy an "L" shaped store around the corner. Renting is in charge of Dibblee & Manierre. Completion date is set for Aug. 1.

Building Items

The Lawrfield Building corporation, composed of Hyman Ginsburg, jeweler, at 527 West Madison, and Sam Prosterman and David Becker of the clothing firm of Prosterman, Summerfield & Becker, is erecting a three story fireproof business block at the northwest corner of Lawrence and Springfield, 139x125, from plans by Halperin & Braun. It will be called the Lawrfield building and will contain seven stores, forty-one flats of two, three and four rooms, and several offices. Mr. Ginsburg places the cost of the building and land at $345,000. The Straus Bros. company has made a $220,000 loan. Completion date is set for Sept. 1.

Isaac Perlman has bought the southwest corner of 64th and Kedzie from Dr. Ben A. Salsberg for a reported cash $31,000, and will erect a three story business block containing stores, offices, and flats. A. M. Krensky & Bro. represented both parties and negotiated a $100,000 loan for the proposed improvements. The land and building represent a reported $250,000.

Charles Bobinsky, furrier, is erecting a four story concrete building at the northwest corner of Stony Island and 69th on a 148x136 lot, from plans by Zimmerman, Saxe & Zimmerman, to cost a reported $400,000. The land is valued at $200,000. It'll contain fifty flats, fourteen stores, and ing alleys and billiard room in basement. E. J. Perlberg a $350,000 loan at 6 per cent.

Sam Olson has bought the east corner of Dakin and from K. C. Seymour for a $18,000 and will erect a thirty ment building from plans by & Lilienthal. Anderson & were attorneys.

The same firm were the purchase by John A. 100x125 at 6735 Merrill, where erect nine flats; also in the by Arthur G. Sward of 65th, just west of Dante, as for a six flat co-op.

KEWANEE

Stop the Smoke—Save Health—Save Money

Yes, you're perfectly right! The oily, black smoke that hangs like a curtain over this city, plays hob with your health. If you could turn your lungs inside out and look at 'em, you'd find they look like sheets of carbon paper.

No sense in it—not a bit! The whole miserable mess is due to some of the heating boilers used in the big buildings. They can't burn coal without smoke, and until they are thrown out and Kewanee All-Steel (riveted) Smokeless Firebox Boilers installed, the dam-aging smoke will keep right on.

Don't you really and truly know that smoke is nothing but unconsumed fuel—that soft coal is generally used in this city, and many of the boilers are unable to burn it smokelessly? Hasn't anyone told you that Kewanee All-Steel (riveted) Smokeless Firebox Boilers are designed to burn any grade of coal, or any other fuel, without smoke?

And don't you know that this saves an immense amount of fuel-cost—that when you can burn soft coal smokelessly you save the difference between low-priced and high-priced coal, something like $10.50 a ton? That's worth while, isn't it. We'll stage a demonstration for you any hour of the day, you supposedly-economical business men. We'll take you to the buildings where Kewanee Boilers are used—and show you.

Drop a line to The Old Man Behind the Boiler. He is just back from a world's tour and has a lot of information.

PLAN $3,000,000 CLUB FOR NORTH LA SALLE ST.

Seventeen Story Building Contemplated.

Plans are under way whereby widened La Salle street, north of the river, is to have a $3,000,000 La Salle club, to be housed, if the design shown in a nearby column is carried out, in one of the finest and most palatial clubhouses in the world. K. M. Vitzthum & Co. will be the architects.

Several sites are under consideration between the river and Chicago avenue, and a definite announcement is to be made in a few days regarding the location.

Six Floors for Bachelors.

According to William H. Smith of 139 South La Salle street, chairman of the Great Chicago Community club, which is sponsoring the project, the new building will have five or six floors of bachelor quarters for members and visitors.

"There'll be specially designed space for the many clubs, associations and societies at present without permanent home," said Mr. Smith. "Private offices for local and transient members are planned, as well as salesmen's sample rooms and convention exhibit quarters, banquet, grill and private dining rooms, roof garden and a radio broadcasting station.

Plan Annex for Conventions.

"In addition we plan having an annex to the club in the shape of an auditorium building to care for big conventions."

Of course, the usual club features, such as swimming pool, gymnasium, etc., will be available for members of the La Salle club. There also will be a separate ladies' section.

The names on the board of directors will be made public within a few days. It is expected that actual work on the building will start within a year from now.

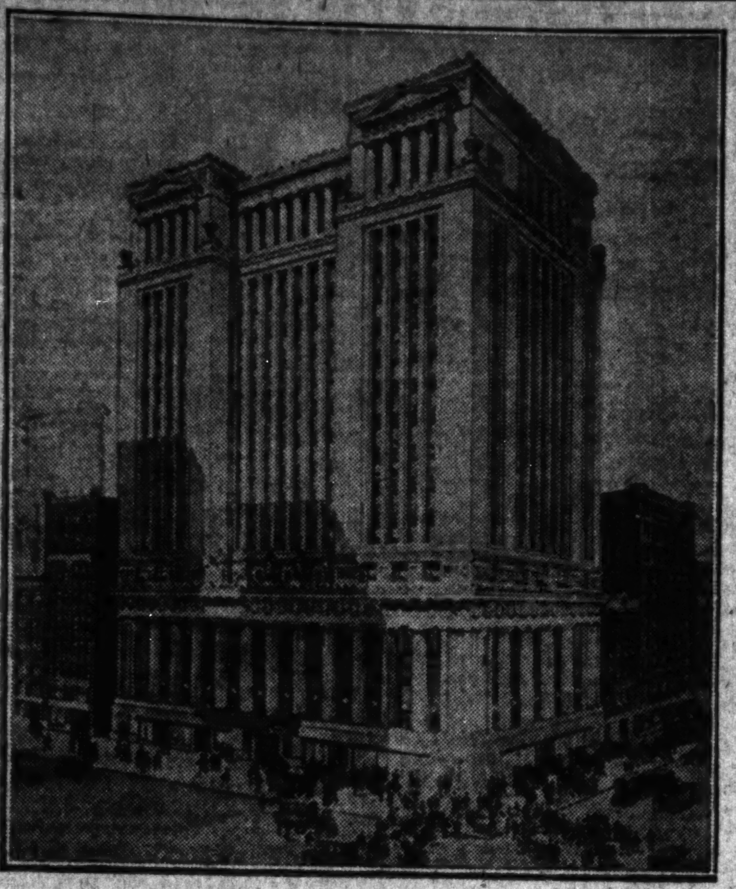
Robert Bartlett to Head Subdividers' Division

Robert Bartlett has been made chairmen of the recently formed subdividers' division of the Chicago Real Estate board, thereby becoming seventh vice president of the board and a member of the board of directors. The four governors of the division are: William Britigan, Howard W. Elmore, George F. Nixon, and Henry G. Zander.

RESTAURATEUR SELLS RESIDENCE.

Louis Deutsch, loop restaurateur, has sold the twelve room residence at 5036 Ellis avenue to Morris Kulwin for a reported $37,500, through Draper & Kramer.

La Salle Club for Near North Side



Above is the proposed $3,000,000 La Salle club designed by K. M. Vitzthum & Co. and to be erected, if present plans are carried out, on North La Salle street between the river and Chicago avenue. Several sites are under consideration. More is told about this project in another part of this page.

Gets Sunshine Into Flats with Northern Exposure

How to give a north front court apartment building sunshine is a problem which it is claimed has been solved by Architect William H. Pruyn Jr. in the $300,000 structure to be erected at the southeast corner of Woodlawn and 46th place by Harry Lahnde, La Salle street broker.

Mr. Pruyn's plans call for three stories in the wings, but only two stories in the section at the end of the court, thus permitting the sun's rays to reach the flats in the three story sections.

The building will be set back forty feet on Woodlawn and twenty-five feet on 46th place. It will have forty flats, of two, three, four, and five rooms, and will be completed for early fall renting. The lot fronts 230 feet on 46th and 120 on Woodlawn.

SOUTH MICHIGAN LEASE.

The Murphy Plumbing company, now at 23 East Congress street has leased the three story building, 25x172, at 1720 South Michigan, from Edwin B. Harts, attorney, for ten years at a term rental reported to be $63,000. J. Belden Camp & Co. were brokers.

State Street "Green Grill" Leases Additional Spaec

Harry Greengard & Son, who operate two "Green Grills" in the loop—one at 28 West Jackson and the other at 189 North State—yesterday leased space at 187 North State which will double the capacity of their restaurant next door. Tables will be added to the present stand up service.

The present tenant at No. 187 is paying $400 a month. Greengard & Son will pay $883 monthly beginning May 1. The lease runs five years. James F. Porter is lessor.

Rosecrans Baldwin Buys Astor-Scott Residence

Rosecrans Baldwin has bought the ten room red brick residence at the southwest corner of Astor and Scott, 32x75, from J. Edmund Holland for a reported $57,500. Miss Mellicent Martin represented the buyer and Ross & Browne the seller.

$100,000 RESIDENCE SALE.

C. E. Davis has bought a residence on Longwood drive from the England J. Barker estate for a reported $100,000, through H. F. Eggert of W. K. Young & Bro.

Brokers' Notes

E. Orris Hart, a real estate operator, with thirty years' experience, and who since 1908 has been head of the realty firm of E. Orris Hart & Co., is now associated with Chandler & Montague as a special partner. Mr. Hart is a member of several committees of the Chicago Real Estate board and chairman of its sanitary district committee and vice chairman of the industrial division of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

E. ORRIS HART.

Harry B. Thornton, former partner in the firm of Brown, Thornton & Johnston, 3206 Irving Park boulevard, has withdrawn from the partnership and opened a new office at 3250 Irving Park boulevard, where he will operate his own real estate business.

Alexander Simpson, formerly a partner in the firm of Hughson & Simpson, has taken over the real estate office at 1622 Devon avenue and is conducting the business under the name of Alexander Simpson & Co.

Hugh McLennan & Co. have transferred their temporary renting office from 237 Delaware place to Mr. McLennan's new duplex apartment building at 20 Cedar street. Mrs. Esther W. Morgan will be in a charge of sales and rentals.

Frank De Lugach has opened a branch office at 256 West 103d street, corner of Princeton avenue; phone Pullman 9796. His downtown office is in the Marquette building.

Frank H. Keefer, for six years assistant sales manager of the real estate loan department of the Chicago Trust company, has become sales manager of the real estate loan department of the Peoples Trust and Savings bank. Mr. Keefer lives in Oak Park.

Locomobile Building for Motor Row

The structure shown above is the Locomobile company building to be erected on the site of Christ Reformed Episcopal church of Chicago at the southeast corner of Michigan and 24th, from plans by Melvin A. Nelson. On the first floor will be a 100x60 exhibition room with tiled floor and walnut paneled walls. The site was purchased a year ago by W. C. Durant, president of the Locomobile Company of Illinois, through H. H. Harper & Co. for a reported $160,000.

Subdivision News

Albert D. Graue & Sons have bought the ninety-five acres on Lake street, one mile west of the Addison station of the Illinois Central, known as the Holtz farm, for a reported $70,000 and will subdivide it at once. This will be the twenty-second subdivision marketed by this firm in the last twelve years.

Mrs. Ray Isenberg and Louis Rieger have bought thirty-five acres in Flossmoor on Kedzie, three blocks south of 183d, for a reported $35,000. The property is to be subdivided. Samuel Rieger & Son represented the buyers.

Louis and John G. Wittbold have bought thirty-five acres in Niles from Johanna A. Eiterman for an indicated $202,500, and will subdivide it at once. The property is bounded by Keeler on the west and Central Park avenue on the east, and extends south almost to Warren avenue.

George E. Gorman has subdivided five acres in Beverly bounded by 96th, 97th, Claremont and Oakley, and will erect ten two-flat buildings.

Buys Lake Shore Drive and Burton Corner for Flats

John T. Wheeler of Baird & Warner, has bought from Craig B. Hazelwood, trustee in bankruptcy, the equity in the Peterson residence at the southwest corner of Lake Shore drive and Burton place, 72x164, for $115,300. It is understood a large apartment building will replace the residence.

Walgreen Leases Store at California-Division

The Walgreen company has leased the 25x90 store at the northeast corner of California and Division for ten years at $5,000 anually and will open a drug store there about the middle of June.

Will Discuss "Appraisals" Before "Y" Realty Class

Harry H. Harper wil speak on "Appraisals" next Tuesday evening before the Chicago Real Estate board's class in real estate practice at the Central Y. M. C. A.

Plotke & Grosby Buy Croll Estate West of Lake Bluff

Plotke & Grosby are reported to have bought the 330 acre F. W. Croll estate just west of Lake Bluff, for $375,000 cash. The property is at the intersection of Creamery and Waukegan roads and is just west of the Knollwood Country club.

BUILDS AT WESTERN-KENILWORTH.

Frank J. Murnighan has bought the vacant 175x56 at the northeast corner of Western and Kenilworth for a reported $62,500 and is improving with a store, office, and flat building designed by L. G. Hallberg & Co. Frank J. Murninghan & Co. were brokers.

One of the Beautiful Homes in Flossmoor Park

Residential Sites ~Adjoining Beautiful Homes

Build Your Home in Flossmoor Park

There is but one way to purchase a location for your home in full confidence of the permanent desirability of the residential site which you select. That way is to purchase a site in an established residential community of high character, where development is completed, where homes have already been established, and where permanent restrictions guarantee that such development as you now see will be always maintained.

One such community, which merits the inspection of all who are interested in an exclusive location in an environment of beauty, is Flossmoor Park in the new South Suburban district. Developed by landscape architects and engineers at an expense of several hundred thousand dollars, and divided into spacious homesites, Flossmoor Park possesses now the improvements and refinements that are usually provided only after long waiting. A number of homes of rare architectural beauty are now completed here, and these homes are typical of the development to which this community is restricted.

Flossmoor Park is ideally situated within a block of the Illinois Central Station; it is bounded on two sides by state highways, and overlooks the beautiful Flossmoor Country Club.

The purchase of one of these large sites now may be made with assurance not only that you will secure a beautiful and permanently desirable location for your home, but with full confidence that your investment will rapidly enhance in value. The approaching completion of Illinois Central Electrification (ready July 1, 1926) is in itself a factor adding daily to the value of these sites. Homesites in Flossmoor Park at Flossmoor are priced reasonably and are sold on convenient terms.

The beauty, the artistic development of Flossmoor Park, the homes of Flossmoor Park residents, are here for you to see now. Only a few of these very desirable sites remain, and if you would secure a residential site in a finished, a completed community, see Flossmoor Park at Flossmoor today.

COME OUT TODAY
How to Get There

By Train—Take I. C. Express Suburban train, get off at Flossmoor and walk two blocks east. (See schedule of trains.)

By Motor—Drive out Western Avenue past Calumet and Dixmoor Country Clubs, turn left under I. C. Tracks at Homewood and then right through Homewood south along Dixie Highway, turning west on first concrete crossroad, which takes you direct to office on the grounds.

LAKE CARRIER, IN WAR ON CANADIAN SHIPS, IS BEATEN

I. C. C. Refuses to Pursue Complaint Further.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—Efforts of the shipping board and the Great Lakes Transit corporation of Chicago, an American owned and operated steamship line with boats serving great lake ports, to get the interstate commerce commission to bar Canadian steamship lines from participating in the rail-lake-and-rail traffic between points in the United States, failed today when the commission discontinued an investigation begun by it in 1923.

Attacks by the shipping board and the Great Lakes Transit corporation on tariffs filed by rail carriers providing for establishment of joint rail-lake-and-rail rates between eastern and western points in the United States via routes in part over Canadian rail lines in connection with the Northern Navigation company, Ltd., a Canadian owned and operated steamship line with boats plying between Sarnia, Ont., on Lake Huron, and Duluth on Lake Superior, resulted in the investigation by the commission.

What the Law Provides.

Section 27 of the merchant marine act of 1920, prohibits transportation of merchandise between points in the United States via routes such as those involved here except over routes recognized by the interstate commerce commission and for which routes rate tariffs have been filed with the commission when such routes are in part over Canadian rail lines and their own or other connecting water facilities.

The commission said the transit corporation contended that to permit Canadian competition violated the spirit of the federal legislation enacted to foster American shipping interests, and claimed American boats could not compete with Canadian because of high operating costs under the American flag.

The investigation developed that from 1915, when the La Follette seamen's act became a law, to February, 1921, seventy-six American lake vessels were transferred to Canadian registry.

The Commission's Views.

"We deem it unnecessary to set forth at length any contentions of the parties in respect to recognition of these routes," the commission said. "Nowhere in the acts which we administer are we empowered to recognize one route and to deny recognition to another. The meaning and purport of recognition is nowhere stated.

"If, as the Northern company and the shippers contend, the receipt and placing in our files of tariffs constitutes recognition, we have recognized these routes.

"If, as the transit corporation and the shipping board contend, something more is necessary to constitute recognition, we are nowhere advised what that something more is."

REINBERG ESTATE WINS A POINT IN TAX CASE APPEAL

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—Executors of the estate of the late Peter Reinberg, prominent Democratic politician of Chicago, won a point today before the board of tax appeals which denied a motion of the commissioner of internal revenue to dismiss an appeal in an estate tax case.

The executors of the Reinberg estate filed an estate tax return on Feb. 17, 1922, showing a tax of $6,602, which was paid. On May 11, 1923, after an investigation of the estate, the commissioner assessed an additional tax of $11,138. The executors then filed a claim for abatement of $2,796 of the amount assessed on the ground that the value of the net estate as determined by the commissioner was excessive. The commissioner made an allowance in the amount of $150 and denied it as to the amount of $2,646. The executors appealed from this determination.

FATE OF CHICAGO PACKER MERGER UP TO JARDINE

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—After virtually two years of discussion, hearings and delays, the final arguments in the Armour-Morris merger case were finished today and the case placed in the hands of Secretary of Agriculture Jardine for decision.

In announcing that he would take the case under advisement while he studied the evidence, Secretary Jardine told the packers that his decision as to the legality of the merger could be expected within the near future. It is believed it will be made public within the next two or three weeks.

The merging of the Armour Packing company and the Morris Packing company was bitterly assailed by W. L. Fisher, chief counsel for the government, in his final plea, for their dissolution by Secretary Jardine.

JOHN L. LEWIS IN NOVA SCOTIA TO SIFT MINE STRIKE

Cape Breton, N. S., April 11.—[United Press.]—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, accompanied by Frank Hughes, a member of the international executive committee, arrived here today to make a personal investigation of conditions growing out of the strike of 12,000 coal miners. On the way here Lewis stopped off at Halifax for a conference with Premier Armstrong of Nova Scotia. He thus far has refused to make a statement, declaring he is making private inquiries into the situation.

65 ENDOWED SCHOOLS OWN $148,270,933 IN RAILROAD SECURITIES

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—Nearly 30 per cent of all the income producing endowments of the principal colleges, universities, and technical schools of the United States is invested in steam railway stocks and bonds.

This is shown by a tabulation made today of replies received from sixty-five of the foremost endowed colleges and other educational institutions in response to a questionnaire recently sent to them by the bureau of railway economics.

The total book value of the productive investments of the sixty-five amounts to $531,696,687, of which $148,270,933 is invested in steam railway securities, or 27.9 per cent of the total. Investments in steam railway bonds by these schools total $129,150,352, while the total in railway stocks is $19,120,581.

Leland Stanford university, California, ranks first. Of its total productive investment, $13,907,000, or 49.8 per cent, represents such investments. Harvard university, with $13,681,396, or 31.8 per cent, ranks second, and Yale, with $12,536,411, or 23.8 per cent, is third. Chicago university, with $11,513,005, or 29.8 per cent, is fourth, and Johns Hopkins university, with $10,156,904, or 53.8 per cent, is fifth.

CLAIM TANNER WAS KILLED BY DISEASED HIDES

Madison, Wis., April 11.—[Special.]—On findings of the state industrial commission as to whether Leon Gawlik, Milwaukee tannery employé, contracted bovine "lumpy jaw" from hides he handled or through some some other source hinges the question of workmen's compensation claimed by his widow. Gawlik died of the disease.

The commission has just completed a hearing on the case in Milwaukee and will gives its decision after a consideration of briefs about to be submitted. According to L. A. Tarrell of the commission the case is unique in the body's experience.

Witnesses at the Milwaukee hearing testified that 1 per cent of the cattle slaughtered in Milwaukee are afflicted with "lumpy jaw." It was stated that diseased portions of the carcasses were cut away and destroyed and the remaineder of the meat sold for food. The hides of these animals go to Milwaukee tanners.

"Lumpy jaw" is a common disease among cattle but rarely attacks human beings, experts testified.

M'KINLEY AND SNELL SAIL ON EUROPEAN TRIP

New York, April 11.—Representative Bertrand H. Snell, chairman of the house of representatives rules committee, and Senator William B. McKinley [Rep., Ill.], sailed for Europe today on the Leviathan.

Representative Snell expects to learn whether parliaments there have anything to teach America about legislative procedure. He will go to London and Paris, where he will study the house of commons and chamber of deputies.

Mr. Snell said he hoped to offer several amendments to congress rules. He defended the house against recent charges of inertia.

Senator McKinley in Europe will attend the meeting of the International Parliamentary union and will discuss plans for the 1926 meeting of that body in the United States.

PARDON BOARD MAY HEAR PLEAS OF SCOTT, GRANT

The state board of pardons may be called this week to sit with Gov. Small on applications for stays of execution in the cases of Russell Scott and Bernard Grant, under sentence to hang next Friday. Yesterday the board, meeting at Springfield, set its docket for the week of April 14, listing thirty-five cases for hearing.

Attorneys for Scott will go to Springfield Tuesday, asking for a stay to enable them to complete the record for an appeal to the Supreme court. Grant's plea will be for an extension of previous reprieves, which were granted pending a Supreme court decision in the case of Walter Krauser, who was convicted with Grant.

Specializing in Safety

IN INVESTING money, safety is the first consideration. To assure the greatest measure of safety, careful selection of the investment house is of supreme importance.

The average investor is not in a position to base his selection of a bond upon personal examination. His wisest course, therefore, is to invest in only such securities as are offered by a responsible house with a long successful record.

By faithful adherence to time-tested principles of safety, the American Bond & Mortgage Company has built an enviable record of success over a long period of years. And this excellent record in the selling of safe investments is not only an indication of past performance but a definite assurance of what will take place in the future.

The thorough application of these time-tested principles of safety has been made possible through:—

this company's first hand knowledge of rentals and operation costs on every building of the hundreds of millions of dollars of buildings it has financed in the larger cities of the country during the past two decades, its first-hand knowledge of building values and construction costs based on nearly a half century of experience enjoyed by its senior officers, its first-hand knowledge of land values, gained from years of real estate operation by its officers in this specialized field prior to the incorporation of this company, its first-hand knowledge of local values in each large city where our issues are offered for sale by officers and managers who are permanent residents there, with this judgment tempered and matured by a national outlook, this company's steady accumulation of a capital and surplus in excess of $6,000,000, which is practically unexcelled in the First Mortgage field, the spread of an active sales market for our offerings through hundreds of banks, brokers, and thirty-five active offices throughout the country.

Our issues are secured by properties in the better sections of the larger cities, where building needs are most urgent, earnings most certain, margins of safety most secure, and appreciation of value most likely. Specializing in safety is truly descriptive of the American Bond & Mortgage Company.

This is Ad No. 6 of an Investment Series.

Send today for our FREE descriptive booklet C. T. 390, which discusses more fully this important subject of safe investment.

Inactivity and additional price cuts marked the week-end hog session, restricted buying on local account after shipping orders were filled adding to the depression on closing rounds. The day's top dropped 20c at $13.25, and average 15c at $12.90 being within 15c and 20c, respectively, of the lowest level since March 3. Tuesday of last week top rested at $13.10 and average at $12.80. Market opened steady with Friday's close, but weakened as the day advanced, with closing transactions as much as 15@25c under early previous day, the brunt of the decline being on packing grades. Prevailing quotations are unevenly 50c@$1.00 under previous Saturday.

Small Receipts Set Record.

Barring previous week's receipts, which were smallest since 1920, last week's arrivals, at 123,200, stand smallest since October, 1924, being 37,200 smaller than previous week, 36,100 smaller than a year ago, and 6,700 under the five year average. Estimated average weight of hogs last week, at 230 lbs, equals the heaviest in five months, but is lighter than normal for this season, being 9 lbs under the five year average. Average cost of hogs, at $13.25, was 15c above previous week and $5.85 above a year ago.

Last week's cattle receipts, at 46,200, were smallest since last June, barring holiday periods, but, unfortunately for the trade, steers comprised the majority of arrivals, resulting in a series of declines the first half of the week.

Better Tone at Close.

A better tone developed on the close, although prevailing quotations on good steers are still 50c below a week ago, with instances of sharper reductions apparent compared with the high time previous week. Cheaper grades closed steady to 25c lower, with calves and butcher stock little changed. Top steers rested at $12.25. Average cost lowered 20c at $10.25. Stockers and feeders closed steady to 25c lower.

Lambs at Year's Low.

The increasing proportion of shorn lambs included in recent receipts, coupled with additional price cuts of 25@50c dropped last week's average cost of lambs to $14.35, lowest since week ending Nov. 29. Market held comparatively firm first half of the week, but broke sharply under heavy supplies of 90@110 lb. lambs Wednesday. Aged sheep shared in 15@25c of the week's losses, with yearling stock off 25@50c. Average cost of sheep at $7.75 equaled previous week, which was lowest of the year. Top wool lambs brought $16.00; springers, $22.50, and shorn lambs, $13.75.

Receipts for Monday are estimated at 16,000 cattle, 36,000 hogs, and 19,000 sheep, against 17,576 cattle, 41,760 hogs, and 18,384 sheep a week ago, and 22,618 cattle, 52,266 hogs, and 16,569 sheep the corresponding day a year ago. Next week's receipts are estimated at 50,000 cattle, 125,000 hogs, and 68,000 sheep, against 53,121 cattle, 147,445 hogs, and 53,516 sheep a year ago.

NEWS OF THE CROPS

"The belief that rains since April 1 have materially improved the low condition of winter wheat as reported by the government at that date is true in rather small part," says the crop expert, B. W. Snow of Bartlett Frazier company. "In Texas the relief in a few spots has been offset by further and in some places complete deterioration and districts that have received no appreciable moisture. In western Oklahoma, where 60 per cent of the wheat acreage lies, only one station that reports to the weather bureau shows any appreciable rainfall in the first seven days of April. Such moisture offers no relief in Oklahoma. In Kansas rainfalls were better distributed, but far from sufficient. In Nebraska the eastern counties, with about 50 per cent of the wheat acreage, only show three stations with as much as an inch."

"Improvement is reported in winter wheat sections where rain recently fell," says the Modern Miller. "Some districts are still complaining of drought. Many fields in the southwest are hopeless and a large acreage has been abandoned. Best reports come from Illinois, that there has been some deterioration in that state recently. Spring wheat is going in early under exceptionally favorable conditions."

George M. Le Count wires from Chickasha, Okla.: "Wheat seen today looks fairly promising. Some thin fields and some plowed up, but all crops improving since the rain. Rains must be frequent to make average crop. Wheat latest I have ever seen in this territory."

PRIMARY RECEIPTS SMALL

Primary receipts of grain last week of 6,387,000 bu were the lightest of the season, decreasing 3,574,000 bu for the week and 3,415,000 bu from last year, being 36 per cent below the five year average. Wheat and corn receipts were the lightest at this time in five years. Details follow:

HEAVY BUYING LIFTS MAY WHEAT TO GOOD NET GAIN

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Grain markets continue to fluctuate in a violent manner. Liverpool wheat advanced 7¼d to 7⅝d as the result of a decidedly bullish construction placed on the American government report late Thursday and with a reduction of 40,000,000 bu in the estimated yield in the Pubjaub district of India, combined with the removal of the import duty into Spain and Roumania. Heavy buying by strong commission houses developed here. Wheat prices were lifted 7@9½c to a higher of $1.62½ for May and $1.47¼ for July, and the finish was about the top, with net gains of 5⅝@9⅝c. Corn was 4@5c higher. Oats were 1@1¼c, and rye 4¾@5c higher.

At the high point on Saturday wheat showed 12@25c above the low of the previous week, while corn advanced 17@19⅝c and oats 4½@6⅝c during the same period. The semi-panicky feeling which has been so much in evidence of late was entirely absent the last week, and net gains on wheat were 8⅛@19½c, corn 13⅛@16c, oats 2½@3⅝c, and rye 7⅝@9½c as compared with the previous week. Provisions were easier, with lard 17½@22½c, ribs 27½@35c, and bellies 20@25c lower for the week.

Crop Reports Main Factor.

The government report was the dominating influence in the wheat market. Heavy profit taking was in evidence on the opening bulge of 5@7c as compared with Thursday's close, but the recession brought in aggressive commission house buying, and offerings were quickly absorbed. B. W. Snow was out with a summary showing that there was a large area in the west and southwest where moisture had been entirely too light to be of material benefit. The Kansas state report suggested a loss of 25 to 30 per cent in the acreage in that state. Forecast was for generally fair weather over Sunday. Increasing complaints of dry weather are coming from the northwest.

The May-July spread widened to around 15⅛c, while the Minneapolis-Chicago May difference widened to around 9⅝c, as compared with 8⅛c at the finish on Thursday. Winnipeg was slightly firmer than Chicago. Export demand was limited, as there were very few offers made abroad overnight. The trade look for bullish statistics on Monday, with a further reduction in the domestic visible supply.

Wheat Strength Helps Corn.

Strength in corn and oats came largely from sympathy with wheat, and prices averaged higher. Eastern cash demand was only fair, and the spot corn basis was somewhat firmer as compared with May.

Rye went to a much wider discount as compared with wheat. Nothing was heard regarding export business at the seaboard. A large decrease is expected to be shown in the visible supply on Monday.

Provisions were dull, with the strength in grains offsetting to a large extent the easiness in the hog market. Lard closed unchanged to 2½c lower, ribs 5c higher, and bellies 5c lower to 5c higher. Prices follow:

DRY GOODS AND GARMENT NEWS

[Copyright: 1925: Fairchild News Service.]

WASHINGTON.—Members of the federal trade commission, interrogated on reports that associations and individuals planned to petition the commission to issue a ruling to prevent the use of the words "Rayon Silk" in a descriptive sense, said unofficially that representation had already been made and cease and desist orders issued prohibiting the use of the word "silk" in connection with fabrics not made out of the cocoon of the silk worm.

NEW YORK.—While the European market is at present flooded with American buyers, buying has been restricted by high prices, according to buyers returning from Europe. Many of the buyers declare that the prohibitive prices European manufacturers are asking forced them to confine selections to novelty lines. Staple lines abroad do not warrant the prices asked. The returning buyers also declare that Americans are the best dressed people in Europe today, and easily lead the world in good grooming.

NEW YORK.—Manufacturers of men's clothing here state that business has revived somewhat, due to an exceptional retail volume which has continued for the last ten days. The retail business for Easter this year is ahead of the 1924 levels and indications are that the activity will continue. Manufacturers will benefit through the necessity of retailers placing reorders for immediate or nearby deliveries.

RUBBER MARKET.

NEW YORK, April 11.—RUBBER—Smoked ribbed sheets, spot, 43½c.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at the United States Post Office Building, Corpus Christi, Texas, up to 3 o'clock p. m. on April 30, 1925, and then publicly opened, for the purchase of realty [land and building] owned by the United States of America and known as the "Corpus Beach Hotel," located on the water front at Corpus Christi, Texas, and more particularly described as follows: "All that tract, piece, or parcel of land situated in Nueces County, Texas, about one and one-half miles north, 20 degrees east, from the Court House of said Nueces County; said tract being known as "CORPUS BEACH HOTEL TRACT" and being situated in the Corpus Beach Hotel Addition, a resubdivision of a portion of the Rincon of Brooklyn Addition, and is bounded on the northeast by Hotel Place North, on the southeast by Avenue A, on the southwest by Hotel Place South, and on the northwest by Hamilton Road; [illegible]

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

North American exporters did not offer grain abroad freely over the holiday and export sales in consequence were limited.

Chicago handlers sold 27,000 bu corn and 135,000 bu oats to the domestic trade. Minneapolis sold 15,000 bu rye to go to Chicago.

Offerings of cash wheat were light, with a good demand at all points. No. 2 red on spot here was nominally 12@16c over May and No. 2 hard 1@3c over. Outside markets were 7@13c higher, with St. Louis leading.

Dry corn here was in good demand and the basis was firmer at 1@3c over May on No. 3 grades, while No. 4 grades were 1@10c under and No. 5 grades 7@12c under the future.

Cash oats were in fair demand, with No. 2 white 5⅝@6¼c and No. 3 white 3@4c over May.

Official receipts of grain at Chicago Saturday: Wheat, 19 cars; corn, 130 cars; oats, 113 cars; rye, 5 cars; barley, 17 cars.

WORLD'S·GRAIN MARKET·NEWS

The wheat market yesterday was as sensational as was the government report issued late Thursday. The bullish construction put on it by Liverpool has changed sentiment in favor of higher prices, and while setbacks are to be expected, the trade is more disposed to the buying side on breaks until there is more positive information as to the condition of the crop. The market took a world of selling for profits and finished the highest of the week.

It is said that the short interest in all grains has been greatly reduced and a moderate recession in prices would not surprise the trade on Monday. There will be no Liverpool grain or cotton markets on Monday.

A Kansas state report, discussing abandonment of winter wheat acreage, says that no estimate is offered as to the percentage of the acreage that will be or has already been abandoned, but the experience of past years would indicate that from such an average condition on April 1 we can expect at least 25 per cent abandonment and it might reach as high as 30 per cent. In north central Kansas there is much abandonment and the cause of the very low condition. A rectangular line north of the main line of the Union Pacific and between Abilene and Wakeeney seeded about 2,500,000 acres last fall, the bulk of which has already been or will eventually be abandoned and devoted largely to spring sown crops.

There are indications of a fair decrease in the visible supply of all grains, with a reduction of wheat and oats stocks in Chicago and wheat in Kansas City; also of rye at the seaboard. World shipments are expected to make a fair showing and a reduction on ocean passage is loked for.

"Good seed corn in Iowa is testing on an average of about 91 per cent," says the department of agriculture. "This abandonment might have been expected under the early frost conditions last fall, but careful selection of seed and precaution as to curing and storing has brought about a sufficient quantity of good seed for this spring's acreage."

A. S. Jackson, who was in New York, wired: "Think government figures on wheat have taken the thought out of European minds that America has had a big break on account of burdensome surplus. Believe in purchases on dips."

The big freight steamer Harvester left Chicago on Friday, light, for Lake Superior. Marine insurance becomes operative April 15, and a number of boats are expected to clear for the upper lakes within a few days. It is intimated that some of the grain afloat in Chicago and at Dultuh may be unloaded.

Spain has raised its embargo on imports of wheat and will buy between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 bushels, as indicated by a cable from Madrid to the department of agriculture at Washington. Roumania is to buy 15,000 tons of wheat. Cable from Bucharest says that only once before, for a period in 1919, has wheat been imported in this country.

The Liverpool wheat prices were up equal to 9 cents a bushel as a result of the bullish United States government and the official Indian crop reports, which caused new buying. There were very few overseas offers in the market, and resellers were asking 3 shillings 6 pence per quarter advance.

PRODUCE MARKETS

The strawberry market on Saturday was active, with trading largely at $5.00@5.50 for 24 pint cases from Louisiana. There were 10 cars received.

Butter prices advanced 1 cent to 42 cents for extras; egg prices were unchanged, with a good trade, and live hens sold at 28 cents, a decline of 1 cent.

White potatoes sold freely at unchanged prices, while early Ohios advanced 10 to 15 cents. Arrivals were 47 cars, with 145 cars on track.

RAILROAD NOTES

The suburban service of the Illinois Central will begin operation by electricity in the summer of 1926. When the grade separation program at Chicago is complete the Illinois Central will have a right of way from the Chicago river to Richton, a distance of twenty-nine miles, free of all railway or highway grade crossings.

Permission to build sixty-five miles of new railroad in Texas was given this week by the interstate commerce commission to the South Plains & Santa Fe railroad, a subsidiary of the Santa Fe system. The line will extend from Dowd to the west line of Cochrane county and will cost approximately $1,900,000. The commission estimated that the road would open 3,700 square miles of agricultural and grazing lands in Texas and New Mexico. The railroad expects to receive a revenue of $120,000 a year from the line.

The New Jersey, Indiana & Illinois railroad, a subsidiary of the Wabash system, was authorized to issue $256,639 in capital stock, $44,100 of which is to be delivered to the Wabash in payment of indebtedness. The balance will be distributed as a stock dividend exclusively to the Wabash. The St. Louis and San Francisco railway has asked authority to issue $2,776,248 of its prior lien mortgage 5½s and $5,434,811 adjustment mortgage gold 6s.

The commission tentatively valued the Tremont and Gulf railway at $1,222,430, as of June 30, 1917. It has outstanding capital stock issues with a par value of $3,550,755 and a capital investment account of $1,959,641. The Austin Dam and Suburban railway's value on the same date was tentatively placed at $47,575. The valuations are for rate making purposes. Both roads are in Texas.

During the week ended April 4 the Pennsylvania railroad handled 153,175 cars, compared with 154,503 cars handled in the previous week and 146,370 during the corresponding week last year. During the first seven days of April the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad handled 30,718 cars, compared with 29,003 cars handled during the corresponding period last year.

Although operating revenues of the Toledo, Peoria and Western railway totaled $1,908,795 for the year 1924, an increase of $82,573 over 1923, and operating expenses of $1,754,750 showed a decrease of $223,843 from 1923, the road had a deficit of $359,310 for the year, the thirty-eighth annual report disclosed. Railway operating income of $51,734 shrunk to gross income of $12,965 and total deductions of $372,275 left a deficit of $359,310. Samuel M. Russell, president and receiver, called attention that while freight revenue increased 15.16 per cent, passenger revenues decreased 16.32 per cent, and pointed out that bus lines and private automobiles offered little possibility that passenger revenue ever would reach its percentages of former years.

When the interstate commerce commission begins hearings next week on the merger of the Chesapeake and Ohio, the Erie, the Pere Marquette, the Hocking Valley, and the Nickel Plate railroads into the newly incorporated New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railway company [Nickel Plate], it will find the outline of probably the most inclusive transportation system ever devised. An inspection of the incorporation articles filed in Columbus reveals that the charter enables the Van Sweringens to operate airplanes, dirigibles, and steamboats in addition to trains. In fact, pack horses and submarines are the only means of transportation not mentioned.

W. B. Storey, president of the Santa Fé, and C. W. Galloway, vice president of the Baltimore and Ohio, are to be guests of honor and speakers at a dinner to be given by the Midday Luncheon club at Springfield, Ill., Wednesday evening. W. G. Bierd, receiver for the Chicago and Alton, is to act as chairman at the dinner. Invitations are being sent to about forty-five railway presidents and vice presidents and to several hundred representatives of railroads in the middle west.

A conference between railroad officials and interstate commerce commission representatives, looking to a reduction in the rates on petroleum products from refineries east of the Mississippi river to consuming territory in Indiana, will be held in Washington April 15. Commissioner Cox will preside. Railroads comprising the Central Freight association and refineries affected have moved to bring about the reduction voluntarily, in view of a recent decision of the commission ordering reductions in petroleum rates to Indiana from Oklahoma producing points.

40 YEARS WITHOUT LOSS TO A CUSTOMER

EXPERIENCE—
Millions of Dollars' Worth!

WHEN you are investing your surplus money for safety and attractive income—experience, tested investment experience, should guide and dictate the choice of your investments. During the past forty years, George M. Forman and Company have safely invested hundreds of millions of dollars for thousands of investors in all parts of the country. In the investment of these large sums, Forman officials and the Forman staff of experienced investment specialists have carefully and painstakingly scrutinized many thousands of properties offered as securities—and the records of this institution show the rejection of loans exceeding many times the number of those actually accepted as providing that degree of safety demanded under the Forman Plan.

Thus when you invest your funds in Forman Bonds, you not only buy Bonds, but you buy the sound, practical investment experience of a organization recognized for its record of never having offered an unsound or unquestionable security to its customers.

For your convenience we have embodied in a booklet the fundamental investment knowledge acquired in our forty years of conservative business practice. This book tells you how you may judge the merits of any investment—how you may select the investment best suited to your needs—how you may protect your principal against loss or mismanagement.

More than fifty thousand investors have come to us for this book. It is neither elaborate nor picturesque—but it is trustworthy and full of facts. Regardless of the sum you have now or will have for investment, this book will show you the way to safe and profitable placing of your money. A copy will be sent free, and without obligation. ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

READY TO WEAR CLOTHES LEVEL SOCIAL GROUPS

BY SCRUTATOR.

The ready to wear clothing business has made possible a uniformity of apparel and appearance that has given actual substance to an old American ideal, which has been subjected to much ridicule, but is very real nevertheless.

Superficial observers, who have sneered at the widespread and persistent aspiration to, and assertion of, social equality have said some witty things and exposed some amusing foibles, but they have never caught the significance of the American clothing trade.

Other writers have recognized it, and called it the American miracle, because it has perhaps more than any other institution worked out in practice some of the tumultuous aspirations that made the Jacksonian period so important in our history.

Lord Bryce found that in spite of all the fun that had been poked at it, social equality was probably more real than the political ideal. One thing is certain—the ready to wear clothing trade has made it impossible for one to go along the street, and classify his fellow citizens by what they have on.

The last census reports on men and women's ready to wear manufacture, just out, disclose as might be expected a greater factory value for feminine products, but the discrepancy is not as great as friend husband usually assumes in discussing clothes costs with friend wife. The value of products turned out in men's clothing plants in the last census year, 1923, was $1,105,116,203 with $73,598,528 additional turned out in contract shops. Women's wear at the factory was worth $1,361,272,646 with $44,882,220 additional produced under contract.

It is quite evident that a very large share of women's clothes are still made at home, probably far exceeding the proportion of men's clothes made by custom tailors.

More labor is employed on men's clothes than women's—doubtless a result of the increasing simplification of women's clothes—a simplification that some of the old fogeys have feared was tending to nudity. The wage bill in plants producing men's clothes is about $34,000,000 per year greater than in plants making women's wear.

From 1921 to 1923 wages paid for making men's clothes increased 19 per cent, while wages paid for making women's wear decreased 6 per cent, another indication of simpler women's clothes. In the same period, however, the cost of the materials for women's clothes increased 42 per cent, while men's materials advanced over 30 per cent.

The continued substitution of silk and other fabrics for cotton in women's clothes is reflected in this differential, perhaps. Despite the popular idea that the petticoat is extinct, the census for 1923 accredits a value of $113,000,000 to "undergarments and petticoats."

If factory figures are any indication of retail proportions, men spend about 15 per cent of their clothes' money on overalls and work clothes, about 45 per cent on suits, less than 9 per cent on separate trousers, and 15 per cent on overcoats.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Directors of the Associated Gas and Electric company authorized alternate provisions for the payment of dividends on the class A stock—the regular quarterly disbursement of 50 cents a share or the distribution of one-fortieth of a share of A stock, which at present market values is equivalent to an annual return of $2.60 a share. Initial dividends on the class B stock, payable in class A shares, also were declared. Provision was made for the payment to these stockholders as a whole of an amount equal to that paid on the class A stock.

An increase in railway equipment business this week is reported by Railway Age, which estimate the value of orders placed by the carriers at $12,500,000. The orders call for 4,126 freight cars, forty-nine locomotives and twenty passenger cars. The Southern Pacific contracted for the largest amount of new rolling stock, purchasing 3,600 freight cars.

America's second largest telephone cable manufacturing plant will be officially opened Monday, when a force of 500 workers start activities at the new Kearney works of the Western Electric company near Newark, N. J. The plant, which has been modeled after the cable shops at the Hawthorne works of the company in Chicago, will have a weekly capacity of 200,000,000 conductor feet of wire or about one-third the output of the local establishment.

The Investment Bankers' Association of America announced plans for obtaining and placing before the general public information relative to all existing delays, defaults or repudiations of municipal bonds or coupons held by investors. It is believed by the municipal securities committee that publicity will go a long way in remedying municipal defaults.

Wilson & Co. Security Holders May Become Parties to Reorganization.

The reorganization committee of Wilson & Co., Inc., of which Frank O. Wetmore is chairman, has published an announcement notifying the holders of the obligations and stocks of the company that a plan and agreement, dated April 2, 1925, for a reorganization of the company has been adopted.

Holders of the bonds or stocks of the company who have not already deposited these securities may become parties to the reorganization plan and agreement by depositing them with the depositaries before the close of business on June 2, 1925.

The first mortgage twenty-five year sinking fund bonds of the company and the underlying mortgages to which the lien securing these bonds is subject will remain undisturbed under this plan and agreement and need not be deposited.

The various committees representing the holders of the other obligations and stocks of the company have approved and adopted the reorganization plan and agreement and have published a notice recommending that such holders accept this plan and agreement.

Holders of the ten year convertible sinking fund 6 or 7½ per cent bonds may deposit them with the Chicago depositaries, the First Trust and Savings bank or the Illinois-Merchants Trust company. Those who have already deposited under the deposit agreement dated Aug. 20, 1924, and who wish to withdraw, must do so on or before May 7, otherwise they will be deemed to have assented to the plan and agreement of reorganization and will be bound by its terms.

Holders of the 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock may deposit their stock certificates with the Chicago depositary, the Northern Trust company, at La Salle and Monroe streets. Those who have already deposited under the deposit agreement dated Sept. 3, 1924, and who wish to withdraw, must do so on or before May 7, otherwise they will be deemed to have assented to the reorganization plan and agreement and will be bound by its terms.

Holders of the common stock who have already deposited their stock certificates under the protective agreement dated Oct. 21, 1924, and who wish to withdraw, may file with the depositary a notice in writing to the effect that they dissent from the reorganization plan and agreement, or may withdraw their stock by surrendering their certificates of deposit on or before April 27. If on or before that date registered holders of outstanding certificates of deposit representing 50 per cent of the deposited shares of common stock shall file notice of dissent, then the plan and agreement shall not become effective. If, however, 50 per cent do not dissent, or if at any time on or before that date the registered holders of 51 per cent of the outstanding certificates of deposit shall file written notice of their approval of or consent to the reorganization plan and agreement, then this plan and agreement shall become binding on all holders of certificates of deposit issued under the protective agreement whether or not they have assented thereto or dissented therefrom. The Chicago depositary for common stockholders is the First Trust and Savings bank at Dearborn, Monroe, and Clark streets.

Those withdrawing any of the above mentioned securities from deposit will be charged their pro rata share of the expenses of their committee. In the case of the common stock this may not exceed 50 cents a share.

Holders of bank debt and commercial paper and stock purchase obligations of the company are notified to sign and acknowledge forms which are being sent them (or which may be obtained from the depositary) and to send these forms together with the instruments evidencing these obligations to the depositary, the First National bank, 38 South Dearborn street, Chicago.

Copies of the plan and agreement of reorganization may be obtained from any of the depositaries.

A Baird & Warner Plan made this possible

OFF to college—"Good-bye, my boy, and good luck." The above illustration presents the son of a Baird & Warner investor of many years standing. In a recent letter he advises us that he is sending his boy to Ann Arbor on the coupons he clips from his Baird & Warner real estate bonds.

Wise father. As a young man he realized the responsibilities and demands of the future and the need for scientific building. Today he is independent and enjoying the "good things of life."

You, too, can safeguard the future if you only have the will. A Baird & Warner plan makes it possible for you to achieve financial independence regardless of your present income. For 70 years we have been investing the funds of thousands of Chicagoans, numbering three and four generations in a single family.

It will cost you nothing to learn all about a plan for the building of estates. Drop in our offices at 134 S. La Salle or write and one of our service men will call at your convenience.

Invest $150,000 and Receive $50,000 Per Year

Occasionally in Chicago, a building is erected which proves to be a veritable gold mine for profits.

On account of its location, its design and its construction, it becomes an outstanding success from the day it is opened.

We know of such a building. It is new. It is fireproof. It is located where values are advancing fast.

It is a wonderful property and a big money maker.

If you have $150,000 which you can and will invest, if the net income is $50,000 per year, write at once for further information.

STOCK MARKET HAS FIRM TONE; MOTORS BID UP

YESTERDAY'S AVERAGES

	High.	Low.	Last.	Net Chge.
Railroads	[illegible]	78.42	78.69	+.15
Industrials	125.56	125.19	125.41	+.06
[illegible] stocks	106.60	106.26	106.54	+.11

New York, April 11.—Speculative interest in today's brief session of the stock market was confined to a few motors and specialties, which were bid up briskly, the general list displaying a firm tone in relatively quiet trading.

The Maxwell Motor issues again were the features, the A stock being bid up nearly 6 points to a record high at 104 and the B stock closing more than a point higher at 63⅝, after selling 3 points below that figure. Buying of these issues was stimulated by the reorganization plan, which provides for the formation of a new corporation to take over the Maxwell properties, the transfer being accomplished through an exchange of stock. Nash Motors was the individual feature, soaring 23 points to a record high at 350.

Pivotal Shares About Steady.

United States Steel common held relatively steady in the face of a poor March unfilled tonnage report, closing only ⅛ lower at 114⅛. Baldwin closed at 113 for a small fractional loss, but American Can was bid up more than 3 points to 168 and then fell back to 166. American Linseed preferred responded to the resumption of dividends by crossing 67 for a gain of nearly 3 points. Other industrial strong spots included Coca Cola, Hudson and Manhattan, International Paper, Jordan Motors, Mathieson Alkali, May Department Stores, New York Dock common and preferred, Remington, Sears-Roebuck, Virginia Railway and Power, and Worthington Pump preferred "B," all up 1 to nearly 4 points.

Railway Group Is Irregular.

The rail list was decidedly irregular, weakness of the northwestern rails being counteracted by the strength of Lehigh Valley, Atchison, and Southern Pacific. Chicago and Northwestern common duplicated its recent low of [illegible], closing slightly above that figure for a net loss of more than 1 point, and the preferred broke below 105 to a new low.

The weekly clearing house statement showed mixed changes. Loans, discounts, and investments dropped $31,-[illegible] and net demand deposits fell off $61,389,000. Cash in own vaults increased $2,[illegible] and the reserve of member banks in the Federal Reserve bank gained $17,535,000. Time deposits increased $3,705,000. Aggregate reserve totaled $609,499,000, leaving excess reserve of $36,644,260, an increase of $26,-[illegible] above that of a week ago.

French Exchange Is Firmer.

Strength of French exchange in the face of a political crisis was the feature of the foreign exchange market. French francs ruled about 4 points higher at 5.18½ and demand sterling was unchanged around $4.77¾. Selling pressure was resumed against French bonds. Several of the municipal and railroad lines dipped to new low levels for the year, but recovered and closed with scarcely any change.

A holiday atmosphere prevailed in the bond market. Prices moved within narrow limits but showed moderate improvement. A fair demand developed for several railroad mortgages, including Northern Pacific 4s and "Big Four" refunding 6s, which sold more than a point higher. The new Dodge Brothers debentures were traded in for the first time and commanded a fractional premium above the offering price of 99.

CHICAGO CURB MARKET

Local unlisted securities enjoyed a generally broad demand last week. By-Products Coke moved up over 7 points to a strong close of 96 bid, with limited offerings around 97½. Bucyrus Company common was traded in at higher levels, sales at 133 reflecting a 7 point improvement, and the close showing a firm undertone at 132 bid, 136 asked. A good demand was noted in Acme Steel Goods, which moved up to 105 bid without attracting sellers near the current level. Northwestern Yeast was a point better at 168 to 172. Offerings of American Seating were in limited amount, although the bid price improved over 5 points to 125. Kellogg Company reversed its previous trend, being strong in the late trading around 51. Goodman Manufacturing changed hands between 48⅝ and 49⅛. McCord Manufacturing common was slightly better at 5½ to 5⅝, while the preferred moved up 2 points to sales between 44 and 46. First State Pawners continued in demand around 120. Butler Brothers was unchanged between 13⅝ and 14.

Among the preferred issues Albert Pick was traded in at a point and a half advance at 97½, but it later eased off to 95½ bid, 96 asked. Interstate Iron and Steel was a point lower, stock being offered at 95½, with buyers at 93½. National Tea was steady at 106 to 108. Benjamin Electric was traded in around 98, closing at 97@100. Kahl showed little change at 71 to 73, while Kraft Cheese moved up about 2 points to sales around 104.

Many substantial advances took place in the public utility group, with the exception of American Light and Traction, which, on the announcement of the discontinuance of the 4 per cent stock dividend and the placing of the stock on a regular cash dividend basis of 7 per cent, declined almost 10 points to 121. On a small volume of trade Lehigh Power Securities moved up some 7 points to sales at 100. American Power and Light improved over a point to sales between 53 and 54. Little change was noted in American Super Power B at 27⅛ to 28⅛. Commonwealth Power relinquished its previous gain in selling at 110½, but later recovered to a close of 113¼.

Transactions in Electric Bond and Share were within a narrow range between 55⅜ and 56⅜. Northern States Power sold up a point to 110. National Power and Light again developed strength, rising over 13 points to sales between 247 and 248. Although Tennessee Electric changed hands between 56⅝ and 58⅛, the close showed no change at 57 bid and 57½ asked. Little interest was noted in United Gas and Electric at [illegible]. Western Power recovered its previous loss in selling up to high and last sales at [illegible]. The preferred was also strong at 88½.

WALL STREET NOTES

Total sales on the New York stock exchange last week aggregated 4,587,061 shares, much the smallest weekly total since last November. This falling off in business was partly due to the Good Friday holiday and partly to curtailed public interest. During the week there were two five-hour trading days on which total sales fell below the million share mark, making three such days since the national election.

The $160,000,000 financing operation for the new Dodge Brothers Automobile company was completed in record time yesterday, when bankers disposed of a $75,000,000 6 per cent debenture issue within an hour. Total subscriptions for the issue, bankers estimated, had exceeded $150,000,000 when the books were closed at 10 o'clock.

The American Linseed company declared two quarterly dividends of 1¾ per cent each on the 7 per cent noncumulative preferred stock, payable out of 1924 earnings. The last payment was $1.75 quarterly on Aug. 15, 1921. Directors reserved for later consideration the question of whether any portion of the balance of the 1924 earnings should be appropriated this year for dividends. The Hudson and Manhattan railroad declared an initial semi-annual dividend of 1½ per cent on the common stock.

Large shipments of high grade materials, [illegible] and third quarters, owing to the activity of railroads and steamship lines.

Reports that efforts were being made to effect a merger of several middle western finished sheet steel producers, owing to the keen competition that has developed in that industry, reached Wall street today from the Youngstown district. The companies mentioned in the pending deal were Newton Steel, Central Steel, Mansfield Steel and Tinplate company, and Otis Steel.

Continued overproduction of petroleum kept the fields east of the Rockies on a low basis of operations last year, resulting in a large decrease in drilling operations in California, Chairman Barr of the National Supply company says in the annual report. He did not expect any quick or lasting reversal of conditions, but it was reasonable to believe, he said, that the low point had been reached and that any change would be in the direction of improvement.

The Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad should earn as much this year as it did in 1924 and March net income would show a satisfactory increase over the same month last year, Henry Ruhlender, chairman, said today on his return from an inspection trip over the system. "The road and its equipment are in the best shape in our history, and people all along the lines are optimistic."

Imports of crude rubber into the United States in the first three months of 1925 totaled 87,326 tons, an increase of 18,344 tons over the corresponding period last year, the Rubber Association of America reports. March imports totaled 32,016 tons, against 23,450 in February and 17,755 in March, 1924. [illegible]

Sales of the Ford Motor company for the month of March totaled 172,163 cars and trucks. Of this number, domestic retail deliveries totaled 133,929, an increase of 41,481 over February. Sales for the corresponding month last year totaled 205,726 cars and trucks.

There were 436 commercial failures in the United States last week, according to figures compiled by R. G. Dun & Co., compared with 396 in the preceding week and 397 during the corresponding week last year.

CHICAGO STOCK TRANSACTIONS

Saturday, April 11, 1925.

Day's sales, shares....[illegible] Year ago..........[illegible] Total, 1925 ......3,[illegible] Previous year ....3,[illegible]

Chicago stocks were quiet and firm in yesterday's week-end trading. Boone Woolen led in activity and gained a small fraction. A petition for disolution was filed by two stockholders in the federal court and will be argued on April 20. Montgomery Ward advanced nearly a point, Hupp Motor gained a small fraction, and Stewart-Warner was firm. On small sales U. S. Gypsum and Illinois Brick advanced more than 3 points, while Great Lakes Dredge and Thompson gained a point each.

Exploding The Theory That Price Is a True Measure of Quality

Cynics—and snobs—say that the American people cannot think.

Some of them are more brazen about it than others. They advertise the charge openly and frankly without even sugar-coating the insult.

The majority—of the cynics, of course—are a little more tactful. They don't come right out and say that the American people can't think; but they imply it unmistakably.

They say—these particular followers of Barnum—that the only way Americans can judge quality is by looking at the price-tag.

We know the cynics are wrong. We know they are heaping an utterly unwarranted insult upon the intelligence of the American people. No nation which has contributed, as has America, to the progress of the world—in arts, in letters, in the sciences, in material prosperity and perhaps above all in the realm of spiritual values and the elevation of the living standards of its people—can be made up entirely of "dumb-bells"!

• • • •

The exact contrary is true.

The American buyer is a most critical buyer. He knows, for instance, that there is no necessary relationship between the price of an article and its quality.

He knows that of two companies manufacturing an article of identical quality, the one which is conservatively capitalized can sell that article at a lower price than can the company which is over-capitalized.

He knows that dividends must be paid on every dollar of "watered stock" issued by a corporation. And he knows—for he has come to know by costly experience—that it is he, the buyer of that company's products, who pays the dividends on that watered stock.

And he knows—for this and other reasons—that two automobiles, even though they sell at the same price, are most unlikely to be of exactly the same quality; and that of two automobiles of equal quality, one may—and frequently does—sell for hundreds of dollars less than the other. All because the one manufacturer, in fixing his price, has to include heavy nonproductive overhead charges due to over-capitalization.

• • • •

Nowhere in the United States, in any line of business, is there a more conservatively capitalized company than Reo Motor Car Company.

The price of a Reo car is not padded to include dividends on "Good Will". On the other hand, many automobile manufacturers have been most liberal in "capitalizing" their good will at staggering figures—the dividends on every dollar of which increase by so much the price of their cars. And evidently, just at the time when through the aid of receiverships, the railroads—the other big industry of transportation—are completing the process of squeezing the water out of their stocks and putting them on a sound and conservative basis, the era of stock-watering for some in the automobile industry is just getting nicely started!

• • • •

Nor is Reo a member of any "giant merger". It is an independent, self-contained manufacturer which has no "dependent relatives"—no affiliated companies whose losses must be paid by the buyers of Reo cars.

Reo has no bonded indebtedness, no preferred stock and no bank loans. Interest charges and preferred stock dividends are no part of the cost of building a Reo; and are therefore no part of the selling price of a Reo.

Reo has no high-salaried absentee officials and directors. Reo, being a manufacturer, not a mere assembler, pays no profit or overhead to parts makers. And a diversified line of products gives Reo a steady year-round production, reducing labor turnover to a minimum and eliminating the expensive "off-seasons" that add so tremendously to the overhead costs of most automobile manufacturers.

• • • •

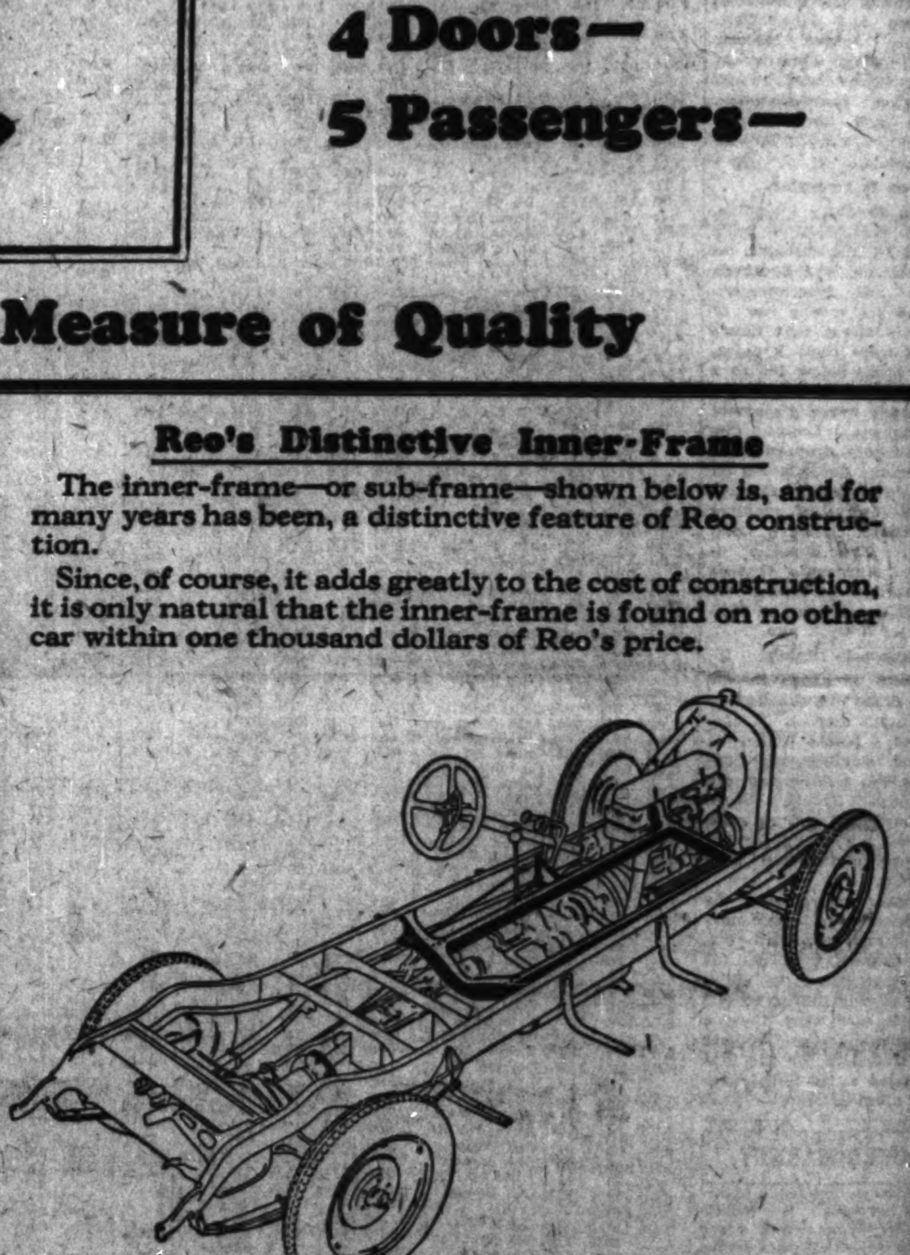
And the buyer of a Reo car receives the benefit of all these economies.

That automobile buyers are able to buy discriminatingly is convincingly demonstrated by the conspicuous increase in the number of new Reos in Chicago.

Reo's Distinctive Inner-Frame

The inner-frame—or sub-frame—shown below is, and for many years has been, a distinctive feature of Reo construction.

Since, of course, it adds greatly to the cost of construction, it is only natural that the inner-frame is found on no other car within one thousand dollars of Reo's price.



The advantages of this construction are obvious:

1. It promotes, to an unusual degree, ease of riding—because it distributes, evenly throughout the length of the chassis, the weight of the motor and transmission.

These units, instead of being anchored separately to the side members of the main frame—as is the case with cars adhering to the practice of "unit-mounting"—are cradled within this inner-frame.

2. It lowers perceptibly the center of gravity, because the inner-frame is suspended 3¼ inches below the level of the main frame. This helps to reduce to an absolute minimum any skidding tendency.

3. By placing the motor and transmission more nearly in line with the rear axle, the inner-frame gives greater driving smoothness and less loss of power in transmission.

4. It saves the power units from the road shocks to which they would be subjected if anchored directly to the main frame.

5. It promotes accessibility and thereby reduces maintenance costs.

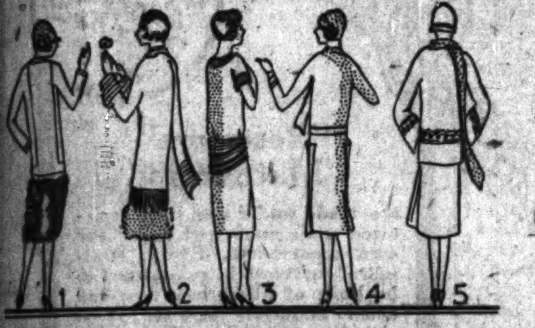
THE SKIRT-ETTE IS WITH US ONCE MORE

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—Lately M. Erte, the celebrated French designer and artist, has been visiting America. M. Erte wears two strands of seed pearls about his wrist. Otherwise, he has sound opinions upon life. The noted Frenchman says first something which I myself in my own modest way have long contended, and that something concerns the Directoire line. He regards its length and its grace of detail as the most charming ever assumed. He wails that the world of fashion will not accept it, and in the same breath he excoriates the short skirt of the present mode as being ugly and grotesque.

Unfortunately, M. Erte and I can't do anything about it. The short skirt is here—not only in the showrooms, but at large. My first intimation of his dire news came from Madam X., the French style expert, who presides over the sartorial destinies of many of New York's most fashionable women. I saw this Madam X. in her fashion salons just after she had got back from the spring openings in Paris and I tried in vain to see her skirt. But, alas, it was not that kind of garment. Coming just barely to her knees, or rather, just to her bared knees—well, after all, how can you detect this sort of phantom!

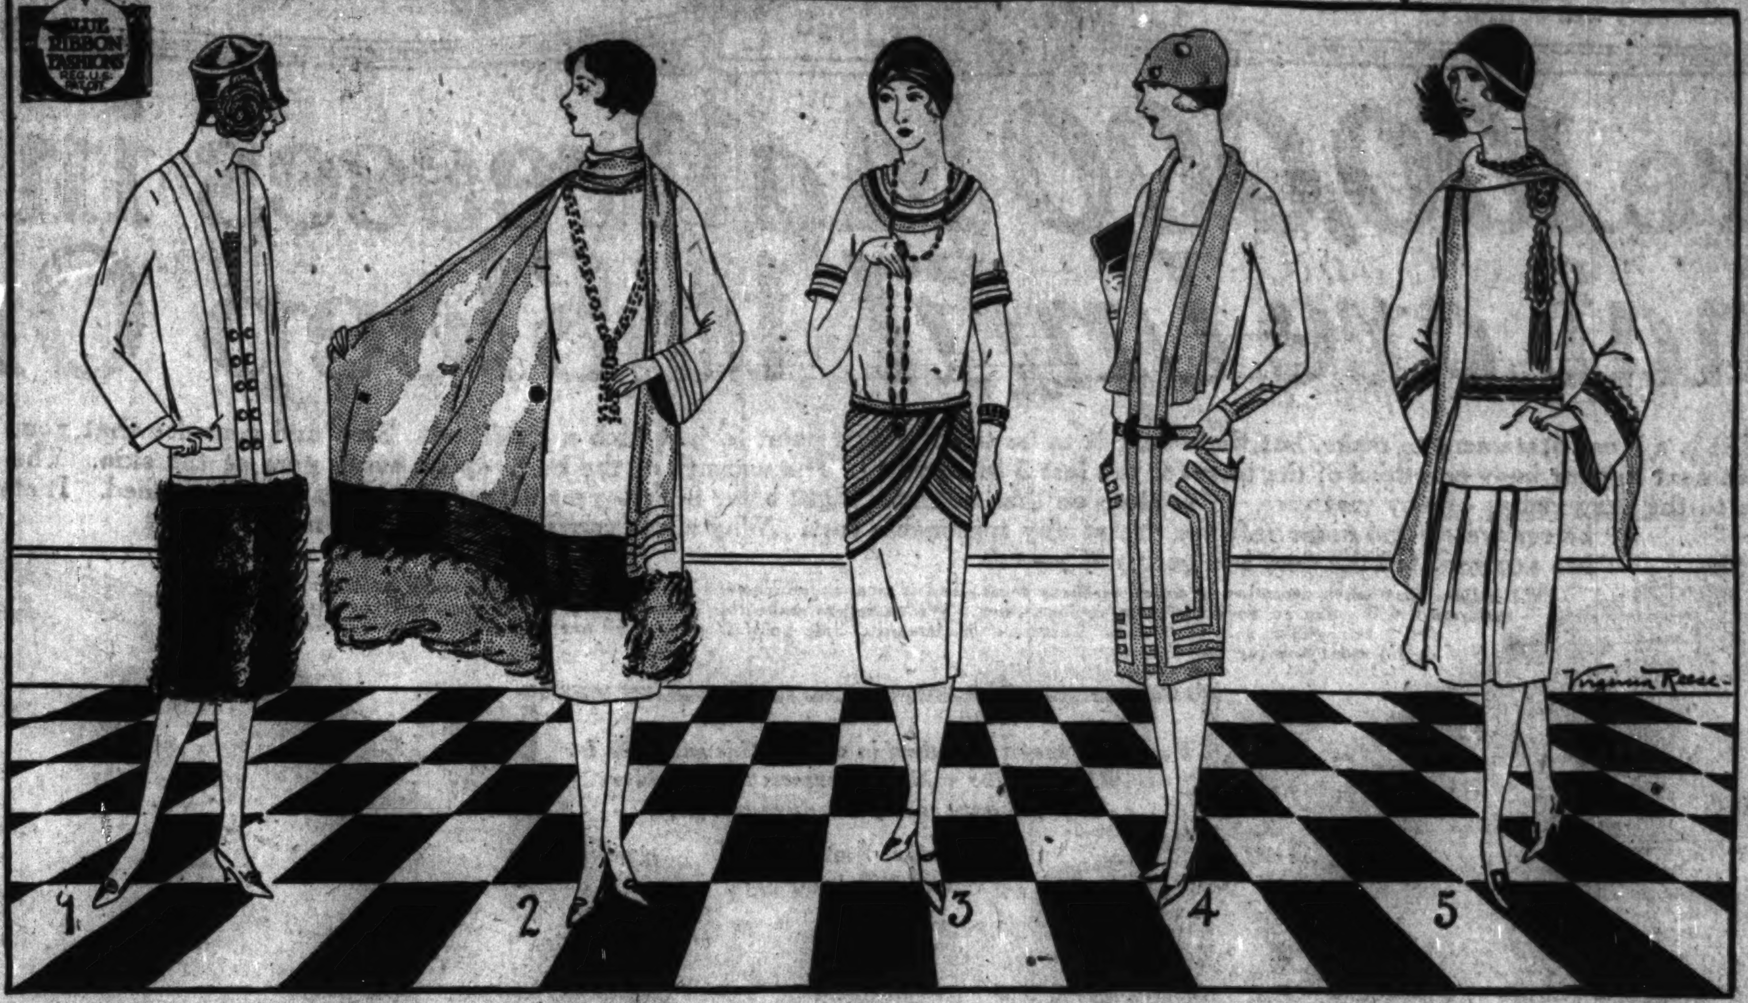
Even so, I was still optimistic. "After all," thought I to myself, "madam is so far in the vanguard of fashion that the rest of us will not catch up to her for some time—if ever." Alack-a-day! ' Before two weeks were over I realized that one didn't have to be a "too, too French bein' " to wear these mutilated fragments of a skirt. One could be a conservative American and still assume such radical garments. The day after I had strained my eyes peering at madam's skirt-ette, I happened to see one of the most fashionable of debutantes arriving for lunch in a hydrangea blue chiffon that stopped at the knees and called it a day. In the evening you find this passion for whittling at its maddest and most abandoned apex. Afternoon clothes are only a shade more controlled, and even our street togs are apt to stop after they have performed three-fourths of their chore of covering us.



ANOTHER VIEW OF TODAY'S FIGURES.

Well, there will undoubtedly be a lot of happy grandmas in the land. Three years ago, when the short skirt was the despot of the clothes world, middle aged women all over the land took to these abbreviated garments with a joy that made their daughter's acceptance of the mode look lukewarm. They will undoubtedly welcome the restoration of the royal family. And it is, therefore, only an unappeasable hunger for the truth that makes me intrude upon their swoons of delight with a futile word. These extremely short skirts of the present mode are admissible on the young—and slim. To the older woman, and especially to her who is [illegible], they are—well the unkindest cut of all.

Has the coat escaped from this spring subtraction? Not for a minute. Regard, for example, the Lucien Delong model of geranium colored Ottoman at the left of our group.



We don't need any weather experts to forecast a warm summer when we note the quantity of gray fox fur applied to this afternoon—evening, too—coat of geranium colored Ottoman with its matching buttons. The ensemble is represented next in an evening edition of ciel blue chiffon from Worth. Silver ribbon, tucks, and crystal embroidery are active in this costume. Third, we find that Suzanne Talbot has been looking intently at "Aida," for those molded hips which she achieves on a frock of dark blue crepella are distinctly of Egyptian origin. The trimming is braid in green, purple, red, and black through which is a glint of gold braid. The coat dress is presented by Lelong in beige kasha trimmed with self bands, and last comes a semi-sports, semi-street frock from Worth, which makes use of purple crepe embroidered in Turkish reds, yellows, and blues. The skirt is gathered in the direct front.

This coat is for afternoon wear, but it may also be used in the evening. It shows matching bone buttons, a V neck line, and a tailored effect of seams. Above all, however, it is active in exploiting the virtues of a deep band of fur, a fur which is not repeated elsewhere on the garment. This illusion of wading in fur is created by quite a few of the more elaborate coats and seldom is the expansive border echoed by any touch on collar or sleeves. Therein lies the chic. I present this coat without other comment than that it may be lowered a few inches without sacrificing even its style.

One of the questions occupying the mind of the style expert just at present is the future of the ensemble costume. That it has been made thousands of times by the great French dressmakers is indubitable. Yet is it assured over here of a fashionable acceptance? One of the facts discouraging a favorable answer to this query is the susceptibility of the ensemble to cheap renditions. It is argued that the exclusive type of women will hesitate to invest the hundreds of dollars necessary to buy one of the beautiful ensembles when this same treasure may be duplicated in cheap fabrics and inferior workmanship. Nevertheless, on the affirmative side comes the word of many a specialty shop to the effect that their wealthiest and most fashionable patrons are ordering the two-piece garment.

I have always regarded the ensemble as a plot against our savings account and our peace of mind. Obviously it is impossible to buy sets of things for sports, afternoon, street, and evening attire without developing a well defined case of mortgage. Nor is it necessary. You may wear 'em or you may wear it. One note of warning must, however, be sounded. If you do go in for the ensemble, see to it that the materials and the trimmings are as costly as thy purse can buy. One knows of nothing less impressive than a cheap ensemble—unless it be a cheap felt hat.

If I myself felt this ensemble germ attacking me, I should certainly be inclined to shoo it off to the evening side of my wardrobe, for there it strikes me that it is infinitely more effective and rational than in daytime wear. Second from the left we show one of these evening ensembles as created by Worth. Both coat and frock are developed by either chiffon or georgette in a lovely blue—that sky tint to which the French affix the term ciel blue. The short sleeved dance frock shows the familiar unbroken line, and its trimming, although simple, is exquisitely effective. The neck line and sleeves are beaded in crystal, and, as for the necklace—but no, it is not a necklace at all. It is merely more crystal embroidery simulating that effect. Decidedly new is this trick—that of making your necklace as much a part of you as is an evening suit of a head waiter.

The line of the frock atones for its unbelted simplicity by a band of silver ribbon, exquisite in contrast with the blue chiffon, and this ribbon is retraced on the inner layer of chiffon coat. This coat is bordered with soft gray fox, and its only other experiments in trimming consist of the rather wide tucks on sleeves and scarf. You will notice that this scarf attaches one extremity to the back of the coat's neck line and then winds about the throat to drop only one end.

Although not so much stressed perhaps as formerly, the coat dress of some such serviceable fabric as rep, twill, kasha, cashmere twill, or charmeen will always claim the attention of the woman bent upon purchasing chic at the lowest current rates. For the coat dress often enables us to avoid the purchase of either suit or spring coat and to slip through a spring with only this type of frock and its inevitable partner, the fur scarf.

The best part of many of today's coat dresses is that you can tell them from the suit or coat which they simulate only by active sleuth work. They are especially good at fooling you into the belief that they are one of the modish long jacketed suits, and they have other avenues of imitation almost as successful.

Second from the right is a smart model from Delong, which was brought out originally in cream white kasha for resort wear, but which is here suggested to you in beige kasha. The most interesting feature of this model is the manner in which bands of self-material achieve the trimming. The sole touch of color comes from buckles of red galolith on a narrow self-belt.

I want to conclude this letter with a few words regarding hats. First of all, the croquette shape is a cold style. Gone is the peak, and in its place we find high crowns, which are either rounded or square. Of course, as is always the case in the spring, the small hat occupies the center of the millinery stage. Although brims are negligible in these tailored affairs, they remain in the picture. There are some of these new close fitting little hats that indulge in a few piquant hints of something shading the eyes. Some real honest-to-millinery brims are also noted, and for wear with our printed frocks later on we are promised large shapes that are absolutely pretty.

The felt hat, though still dominant, does not have its same old undisputed sway. Among its foremost rivals may be mentioned Bangkok, and especially that Bangkok trimmed with velvet. Sometimes the touch of velvet on these straws is confined to the facing of the brim, but more often its influence is more pronounced. This brings me immediately to the fact that the straw hat trimmed with velvet is one of the outstanding millinery features of the season. One could cite numerous instances of this mode, but here I shall mention only one—a beautiful black Milan poke shape for summer afternoon wear, which is faced with geranium red velvet and trimmed at the side with one gigantic red poppy. The poppy, by the way, is one of the spring's favored blooms.

There is any amount of velvet ribbon being used and, in fact, every type seems admissible. Especially smart is belting ribbon, and this is often employed for the entire tailored hat. In the employment of such ribbon trimmings there is no end of ingenuity expressed. In addition to the familiar bows, loops, and cocardes we find such novelties as tucked spirals of ribbons gyrating all over the crown of a tailored straw; petals of ribbon appliqued to the crown or massed in flower effect; ribbon running ingeniously through loops—ribbon novelties, in fact, of every conceivable type.

CREDIT TERMS ARRANGED TO SUIT YOUR CONVENIENCE

There are 100,000 Mattresses in Chicago that are Unfit to Sleep On!

For your old mattress on the purchase of any mattress in our stock from $15.00 to $32.45.

For your old mattress on the purchase of any mattress in our stock from $32.50 up.

——that is a broad statement to make, but we believe it to be true. Facts point to just such a condition. Stop and consider that your mattress has been next to your body one third of the time for the last 5 to 30 years. The warmth of the body opens every pore of the skin. The radiation reaches to the very center of any mattress. You sleep on that mattress night after night—year after year. It cannot be washed. It cannot even be renovated and made safe for use at any reasonable cost. Why allow yourself to sleep on a mattress that has accumulated the dust and germs of years?

We believe that when attention is called to these facts—and if proper inducement is offered—that a great many homes now using old mattresses will grasp an opportunity to replace them. We therefore make this extraordinary replacement offer in conjunction with a remarkable sale of famous "Restmore" Mattresses. Sale held all week at all our stores. Don't miss this wonderful money-saving opportunity.

Every old mattress taken in during this sale will be BURNED. For sanitary reasons we consider this the only safe procedure to follow.

Read This Letter From H. N. Bundesen, M. D.
(Commissioner of Health)

April 9, 1925.

L. Fish Furniture Co.,
Gentlemen:

It was brought to my attention today that your organization is promoting a campaign wherein you are taking in second-hand mattresses as part payment on new mattresses, the second-hand mattresses so taken in to be destroyed by fire.

It is desired to take this opportunity to state that the Department of Health is heartily in favor of the burning of these old mattresses. Any act that will permanently dispose of second-hand mattresses and place them beyond the possibility of being re-used is a step in the right direction and one that will receive the hearty support of this Department.

Respectfully,
(Signed)
Herman N. Bundesen, M. D.,
Commissioner of Health.

A FRIEND IN NEED

By Sally Joy Brown.

I want to be the medium through which the friend in deed and the friend in need may be brought together. It may be you have some discarded article which has outgrown its usefulness that will make some less fortunate one happy and you would gladly give it if you knew how to go about it. Write to me and I shall be happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper.

When information is wanted by mail, a stamped, addressed envelop should accompany the request. Please do not send article to The Tribune but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

This department appears every day in the Daily Tribune.

OUR EASTER GREETING.

EASTER COMES—The joyous season when we welcome the spring, and the day hallowed with the most sacred memories for all Christian peoples! And what a joy it is to know, as this department knows, that in all our happiness we have not forgotten those less fortunate!

The winter now passing into memory has been a trying season for thousands—for the fatherless, for the aged poor, for sick parents who saw their children suffering from want and couldn't help. But of the thousands who faced these bitter trials, literally hundreds are facing spring with new hope, new courage, and new strength—thanks to the kindness of those who answered the appeals printed in these columns. We have had mothers whose husbands died while a baby was being expected, and whose little ones are here now, and well provided for; we have had families carried through periods of desperate illness; we have had children clothed and enabled to go to school throughout the winter. And all this has been done by what seems to many simple gifts and acts of helpfulness.

The spirit of helpfulness, brotherly love, and friendliness is as alive and as responsible in Chicago today as ever it was in any golden age, and the generous help which this department has been given bears witness to the statement.

On behalf, therefore, of all those to whom new hope and courage have been given, we take pleasure in offering our Easter greeting. May your happiness upon this occasion equal the happiness you have so generously given to the poor and needy!

Victims of Hard Luck.

"I wonder if some one has a discarded stroller which I might have. My husband is ill and has been out of work for some time, so I have no money to spend on the stroller, and the baby should really be out this kind of weather. I should also be more than glad to receive any donations of clothing for boys of 10, 8, and 6 years, and little girls 4 and 1.

"S. K."

A series of hard luck happenings has overtaken this family in the last year, and we are sure your favors to this mother will meet with heartfelt gratitude.

Offers Pedigreed Pups.

"I have three Airedale pups, now 6 months old, which I wish to give to some lovers of dogs. They have five champion pedigrees and are well marked; will make excellent playmates for children, I know. I live seventy miles out of Chicago, so the cost of shipping would be small. E. H. R."

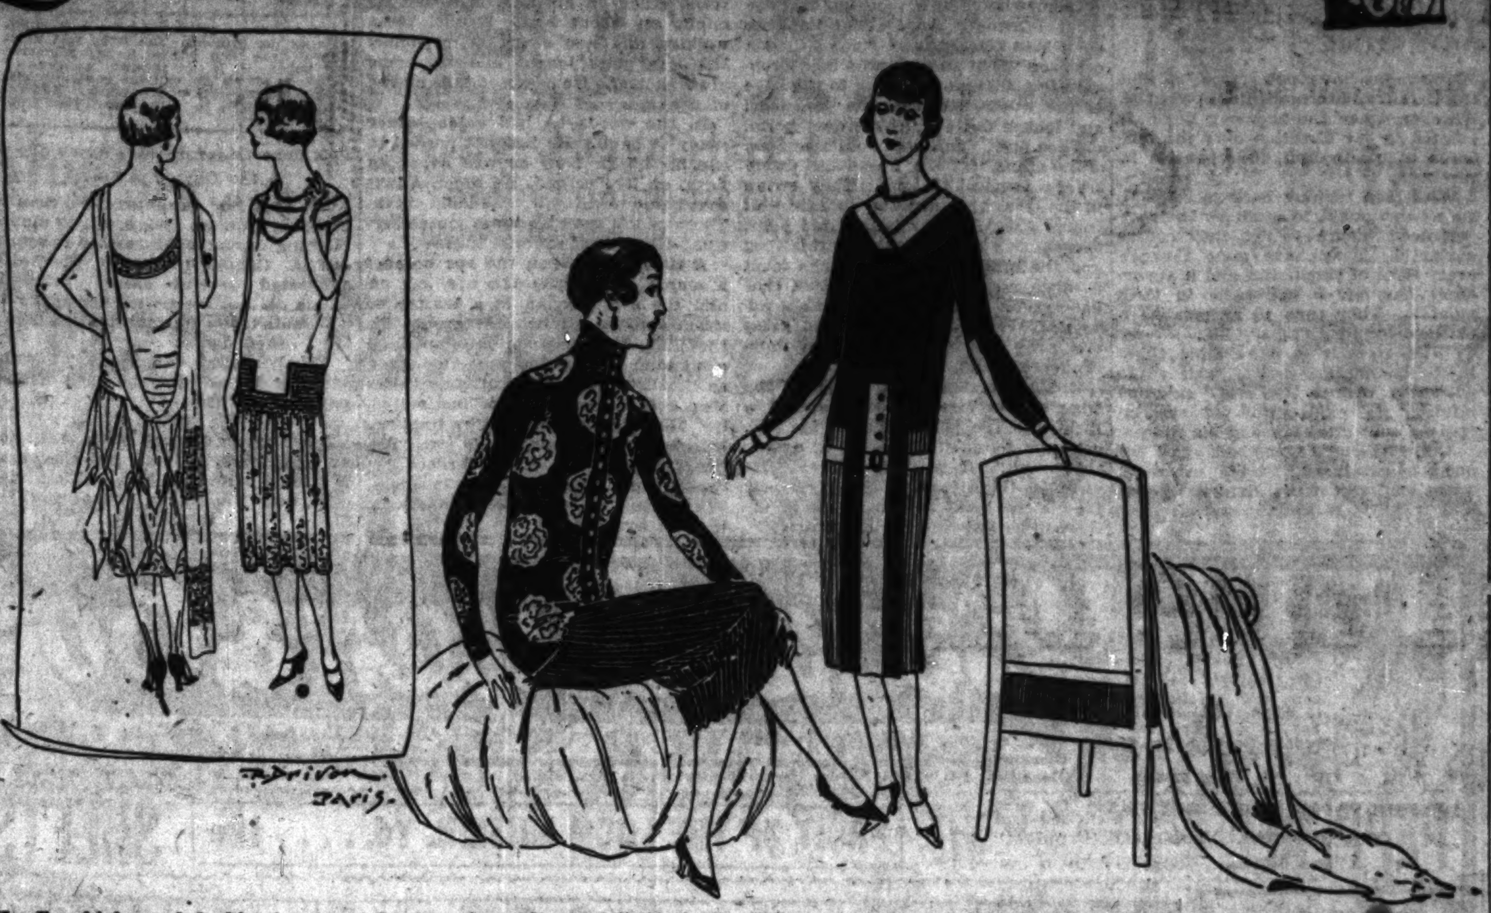
Do you want one of these pups? They are quite lovable in their gangly growing stage—and with pedigreed relatives for a family tree—quite desirable, all told.

The Last Word in Paris Fashions

DETAILS THAT LEND DISTINCTION.

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]



Handkerchief paneled skirt is smart for dancing.

Coral lace butterflies lend distinction to georgette dinner dress.

Plain and printed crêpe de chine combined in morning frock.

Plaited panels of mauve crêpe de chine give necessary width to a dress of amaranth crêpe.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Analyzing spring styles is something like doing the cross word puzzle. When you get the big key words that amble across its full length all the little words must fit neatly into them, for the solution of the whole. When you get the major lines of the silhouette, about which I told you last week, all the details should contribute to a chic solution. If they don't fit in harmoniously, you simply have to eliminate them.

Take the most prominent of the spring silhouettes offered by Paris couturiers—the hour glass effect—with its incurve above the movable waistline and its outcurve below. Everything about a model created in this shape by a Paris couturier is made to serve the promotion of the general lines. Of course, one of the most important elements of a dress or coat made along such lines is the way in which its skirt flares.

Along the Riviera this silhouette has put in a prominent appearance, and most of the dance and dinner dresses that smart women are wearing are of chiffon or lace, with skirts all tricked out in the manner of billowy summer clouds. The simplest form of the flaring skirt is, naturally, the many ruffled skirt of lace or of chiffon or georgette, and one sees a lot of them after sundown all the way from Nice to Menton. However, the favorite method of making the flare in a dance frock is the more tricky one of tacking on a lot of little handkerchief panels.

Our first offering shows you an example, worn by an American princess, during a particularly exciting evening at the inner circle of the Monte Carlo casino. The gown is made of pervenche (hyacinth) blue chiffon and has a straight simple skirt, with a pearl embroidered hem. All over it men's size handkerchiefs are tacked on in rows, fastened by a single corner, and allowed to float about in careless abandon. They give the smart flare and they are really alluring.

The bodice conforms nicely to our best spring silhouette with its incurving sides, shirred at the hips. Its long draped chiffon scarf is worth noting carefully, for it balances the entire line charmingly. The panel end of this scarf is embroidered with two bands of pearl embroidery and similar embroidery outlines the extra deep decoletage in back. Chanel puts such scarfs on almost every one of her evening gowns, which are frequently cut almost to the waist in back.

Our second offering is another of the favorites for early spring dances. Savary, whose model it is, has fitted the plain bodice of white georgette onto a dropped shoulder yoke, and the skirt is set on to an uneven waistline with many rows of shirring. It is simply a full white georgette skirt and depends for its distinction upon the coral colored lace motifs that are scattered all over its surface. Valenciennes lace butterflies in this vivid tone seem to have lighted upon this cloudy diaphanous skirt and during the dance they appear to actually flutter like living creatures.

Savary has placed a wide panel down the back of the waist and covered it with these butterfly motifs, which is one way of making the deep decolletage of the season bearable for the thin woman, whose prominent shoulder blades are scarcely decorative enough to stand an open faced back. By the device of this filmy panel the cut out back is softened enough to hide defects and yet remain chic.

One way of making the details of a dress work to help out its line is the combination of plain and printed material, or of two tones of a color. Fitted waists and full skirts are charming for the slender figure when they are cut out of figured material, but they are trying, to say the least, for the stout woman. It is for her that the combination of plain and printed material achieves such excellent results.

I select our third offering, because in it Redfern has done an almost perfect job of uniting a flowered crêpe de chine on black ground with plain black crêpe, and of adapting the two to a size 40 or above. He has used the best of devices to lengthen the line and slenderize it in the fitting of the long bodice, its high collar, its tight sleeves, and most of all in its center fastening of a buttoned band from chin to hips.

These details, with the irregular girdle line, which is long at the sides, take off the curse of the big flowered pattern for the stout figure. The skirt is finely plaited black crêpe de chine and clings rather closely to the figure, or ripples in dainty flares as its wearer moves about. The fact that it is not cut into tiers or ruffles preserves its perfection of line for the stout woman.

In another way the combination of two tones (a light and a dark) of one color, can be made to serve the new silhouette just as successfully in its adaptation to our forty-seven varieties of female figures. They either take two big sections of different tones and combine them, or break them up into panels or odd shapes. Sometimes the waist is made of one tone and the skirt of the other with lines carried over to unite them, and more often panels and bands of darker tint are set into a dress of the lighter shade.

Our fourth offering is a more graphic illustration than words can give of this, showing how a dress of amaranth crêpe de chine is made smart by insets of mauve crêpe. Philippe and Gaston have used this contrast of color to give some novel detail to this model. The irregular triple waist line is achieved by the center skirt panel of pale mauve, which rises to normalcy, the two side front plaited panels of mauve crêpe which are just below the old time waist line, and the actual belt, of mauve suede, which places the waist line just above the hip.

The bodice of amaranth crêpe de chine curves slightly in at the under arm seams, in conformity to our popular silhouette, and its pinched-in appearance is balanced neatly by the full bishop sleeves

Some of the best frocks of the new season are displaying bishop sleeves, and in this case they are especially harmonious because of their under sleeves of mauve plaited crêpe that fit into narrow cuffs at the wrist. These cuffs are embroidered with arrow heads of amaranth colored silk, and the collar is also decorated in the same manner. This collar is a collar, a yoke and a sash all in one, for it is set in like a yoke and turns over like a collar, which it ties at the back of the neck with a bow and sash ends.

LOVE LETTERS

The Tribune will pay $1 for every love letter published. So, if you can write a good one, or if you have one in your private or family possession you would like to enter the contest, send it to Love Letter Editor, The Tribune, Chicago. As no letters will be returned send copies of the ones you wish to keep.

THE SILENT CALL.

MY DEAR: I have just finished a hard day's work, and have cast everything from me—except you. I cannot help reflecting on how different views of life appear. It seems one of the wonders of life that you and I came together and one of the tragedies that we must be apart in our courting days. But that is the life of an engineer, dear; we can't choose what and where we wish to build.

But this will be the final separation, my darling. Instead of the vision I have before me tonight—of those big brown eyes and curly hair, and those charms that only a lover sees, I will have the figure close to me where it will breathe the breath of a new life, a greater life where two are made one.

The times we have been together pass before me. They are like sunbeams piercing this mountain gloominess. How we strolled together on the frosty nights in the north, with the northern lights above, the beech trees cracking from the frost—and one clear moonlight night I remember, I had the audacity to kiss my darling's lips for the first time—my little girl with the brown mackinaw and red toque and a few stray curls stealing out.

Let us be thankful that the days are not so many; that the long nights will have to eventually pass, and then I will rejoin my princess to tell her how really beautiful and lovely she is. It is the fortune of a king to be loved and trusted by you, my darling.

It is getting late and the mountaineers have gone to bed. There seems to be a mystery hovering around the hills held in seclusion by the brooding silence. It is lonesome and intensely weird, and without thoughts of you I know not what I would do.

Goodnight, my love.

WALTER.

Quick Relief From Constipation

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

Blackheads Go Quick By This Simple Method

Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body, go quick by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of Calonite powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. Pinching and squeezing blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them large and unsightly—while the simple application of Calonite powder and the water dissolve them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition. If your druggist does not have Calonite, send $1.00 to the Research Laboratories, 700 Thompson Building, Chicago, and a package will be sent you by mail.

Don't condemn as "stupid" a child who may only be hungry for sleep

"Nervous and fidgety children are usually found, on inquiry, to be suffering from sleep hunger,", a recent bulletin of the U. S. Public Health Service declares.

The tiresome child is often only a tired child. The patience and ingenuity of parents and teachers are taxed in dealing with these "sleepy-heads." Lacking needed rest, they learn slowly and their growth fails to keep pace with their years.

Neither food nor environment is so vital to children and "grown-ups" as plenty of sound sleep. Stunted bodies and minds at school age are drawbacks which are never outgrown. In business, dull brains and flagging energy set limits on the earning power of millions today.

Don't fail, or let your children fail, for lack of sleep. Look at their beds, and your own, tonight. Compare them with Simmons mattresses and springs at any leading furniture store. In many styles, each is the best value the world's largest maker of bedding can build. Be sure to find the Simmons label.

IT'S NOT THE MEN THEY'RE WORRYING ABOUT—BUT THE WOMEN

By Doris Blake

Priests, Ministers, and Rabbis Join In Proclaiming Men Go to Church Today, But Women Do Not.

WELL, sisters of mine, they're after us! It's not the male members of the congregation the church dignitaries are worrying about. It is the women.

What are the girls doing of Sunday mornings that makes them so conspicuous by their absence from the family pew? Where are the good old feminine churchgoers of yesteryear, they are inquiring?

They're running somewhere, anywhere, so long as it is in the opposite direction of the church. And men, strange as it may seem, are trying to keep up appearances as a respectable, churchgoing nation.

"Women are losing their spirituality," says one Protestant divine. "They are giving up their church affiliations."

"They're too busy running after worldly things," volunteers another minister with a woeful shake of his head.

"It's not the men, but the young girls, we are worrying about," declares Cardinal Hayes of New York. "The men are flocking to church in greater numbers than ever before. I remember as a young priest, thirty years ago, noting the laxity of religious interest among the young men of that day. This has all changed."

And Cardinal Hayes thinks the change has been caused by women. They are in a transitional stage, he supposes.

"They say they are raising themselves to man's level, but I say," continues the cardinal, "they are lowering themselves to man's level. We may smile and joke about it, but I think this is one of the most serious things we face today."

When It's All Wrong.

An investigator presents in a current periodical, after considerable research among churches of many denominations, evidence sufficient in itself to convict our sex on the charge of turning our backs on the church. At the same time the investigator shows men are filling pews they only paid for before.

It is not the dignitary of a single denomination who is agitated—but rabbi, priest, and minister alike are full of forebodings over the laxity of women in their religious practices.

They are alarmed. Granted all's right with the women, in their opinion, all's right with the world. But when the women desert their job of keeping the church fires burning, all's wrong with the world. While the accusing "theys" do not say it in so many words, present day women are charged with being traitors to that fine old order of church going, God fearing, God loving army of women who have traveled the road before them. And the result of this treachery is hinted in the whole moral slump and the unbridled principles of the era in which we are living.

Time was—and not so long ago, either—when no home was considered complete without a mother who buckled on her Sunday armor, gathered up her beads or her Bible, and set her footsteps in the direction of some holy edifice, there to gather strength and inspiration to carry on the work of instilling moral and religious training in those in her charge.

That moral and religious training, in the opinion of the men who view the church emancipated mother of today with chagrin, built character foundation which made it infinitely easier for a boy or girl to go straight.

We may have a thousand excuses to offer, we women, but we can't look that charge square in the face and proclaim we are blameless.

Eighty per cent of college youths, it was recently reported, are un-Christian. Prof. J. M. Hartman of the University of Chicago, commenting on this startling revelation, said: "It is not the colleges and the universities which upset the faith of students. Their faith is upset before they enter college." And Prof. Hartman argues for a more thorough course in religious education of youth.

We may smile about mother and her new found freedom, as Cardinal Hayes says, but when educators, divines, judges of children and domestic courts rise in a unanimous body to agree that a lack of religious training in the home is the cause of juvenile crime, delinquency and many domestic troubles, mother is no longer a laughing matter. She becomes the person responsible. She is the one to blame when children are deprived of that character foundation without which the straight and honorable path becomes next to an impossibility.

No child may be expected to develop character whose mother lets down the bars for herself and by example teaches him a disregard for any law higher than that of her own making.

Down to Man's Level.

Whether 'tis a fair division of responsibility or not is beside the case. Mother is the one upon whom rests the responsibility of keeping the spiritual fires burning. Whether she wished the job upon herself eons ago, or whether it was wished upon her by the male, does not matter now. It is hers to have and to hold. A home may have a reprobate father. With a good mother at the helm it will still be able to produce decent, law abiding young citizens. But let mother go wrong on her duties—and the chances are not one in a thousand in favor of the children's futures.

It's her rôle. No matter how broad her interests, she cannot change the nature of her rôle. It is utterly out of place for her to try to imitate men in swagger, in inconstancy, and in cynicism. It is playing out of her character, and a sorry side she presents when she refuses to be true to herself and to her calling as the mothers of the race.

When Cardinal Hayes says women are playing down to man's level, he simply accents the flattery man has paid us always in expecting virtue, nobility, and a degree of piety from us.

Profit by Experience.

With all the evidence compiled against us and it is telling evidence coming from so wide and such varied sources—it does look as if we women have fallen down on our jobs. In our efforts to follow the antics of our male contemporaries we have become neither fish, fowl, nor good red herring.

We have become much scrambled. But the time for unscrambling approaches, however, when the accusing finger is pointed in our direction over the misdeeds of youth and discrepancies in the home.

With men turning back to religion, we women ought to profit by their experience. They have run their course evidently. They have gone through every form of skepticism and it apparently has left a bad taste in their mouths. They turn to religion as a panacea for ills.

"They feel it is a valuable thing in the community and if their wives don't stay with it, they will," said one minister in explanation of the increased male attendance at his church.

Are we going to let them steal the one good substantial job that was ours, and along with it the dignity, loyalty, and nobility of character that goes with it?

ISN'T IT ODD?

By William Atherton Du Puy

ISN'T it odd that an ape should, somewhere, have got the impulse to become a man! That impulse, it seems, must have come on some occasion when an advanced ape, probably the chimpanzee, came to the edge of the woods, stood on his hind legs, and looked out over the grassy plain.

The apes, gorillas, chimpanzees, orang-utans, Gibbon apes—are dwellers in tropical forests. They swing in the trees and eat huge quantities of coarse food, such as leaves and buds. They hustle all the time for this food and the mills of their stomachs must be always grinding. Those apes that have stuck to the woods have not advanced, remain today the same gross creatures they were a hundred thousand years ago.

But this fellow that came to the edge of the woods! He wandered a little into the plain. There, by accident, he found the carcass of a deer that some wolf had pulled down. He sampled the meat and found it good. He got the habit of coming out of the woods and foraging for this new food.

There in the tall grass he had to stand much on his hind legs that he might see about him. He did more walking and less swinging on limbs. His legs grew longer and his arms grew shorter. He began to take on the man shape.

In the woods he had eaten leaves ready to hand. He had not needed to use his head. Now he was living on flesh, on live game. He must outwit that game to catch it. He must think. The new life gave his brain more exercise. Under that exercise it grew.

A time came when the ape became a man. Just where the one left off and the other began is a matter of much surmise. When one gropes for the difference between late ape and early man he may hit upon this thing as the first fact distinguishing them. Man acts consciously, ape instinctively. Man thinks, ape acts by impulse. Man is self-conscious, ape is not. The fundamental line of difference between the two is self-consciousness. When the ape became self-conscious, he was a man.

BRIGHT SAYINGS OF CHILDREN

The Tribune will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

This department appears every day in the Daily Tribune.

We took our daughter, who was recovering from an illness, out to dinner. Nothing on the menu seemed to appeal to her. Coming to dessert, the waiter suggested several dainty delicacies which did not meet with her approval. "Wouldn't you like some French pastry," asked dad.

"No," replied daughter. "I won't eat any French pastry until France pays her war debts." S. J.

I had taken my dog for a walk, and as I passed by a small girl she gazed wistfully after my pet, calling, "O, lady, does you belong to that dog?" V. M. B.

Bobby was careless and often being punished because he had got his suit muddy.

One day after a rain he came in a sadly bedraggled looking boy, but he looked up brightly as he hurried over to his mother, and with his arm around her waist he said, "I'm a sight, isn't I? But let's neither one lose our temper about it. This is just washable mud." D. L.

ANSWERS TO WHAT'S WRONG HERE

[1.] Do not interrupt dancers by walking across a ballroom floor; wait until the music stops.—E. B.

[2.] Do not throw fruit peeling on the sidewalk. It may cause accidents, and is not a clean habit.—F. S.

[3.] Do not rehearse your reason for not eating certain foods. No one cares to hear about your physical idiosyncracies.—R. M.

[4.] Do not put your fingers in your mouth; it is a disgusting habit.—D. R.

[5.] The most famous and infamous of etiquette pests are those who think soup should be made audible.—J. O'C.

[6.] Do not drop letters in the box marked for packages, or vice versa. The postal clerks have enough to do without rectifying your mistakes.—A. T. S.

[7.] Do not talk of circumstances unknown to any one present without explaining them to him.—M. K. D.

[8.] Do not insist upon serving any one twice.—B. S.

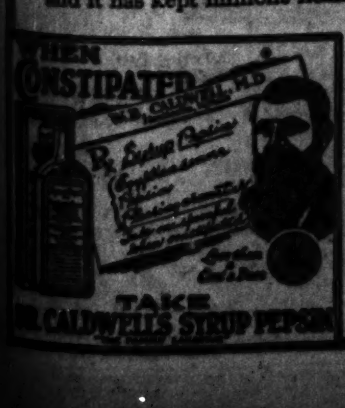
CONSTIPATION means INEFFICIENCY

Watch your bowels! Constipation produces disease, misery, inefficiency, premature old age, senility. Have your bowels moved today? If not, you are constipated. They should act at least twice daily to be healthy. They should be kept open to carry off the parts of food the body does not use, and which, if left in the body, become horrible and loathsome poisons which breed sickness and often fatal disease. If your bowels don't move, they need help badly.

Dr. Caldwell's
SYRUP PEPSIN
The Family Laxative

—gently opens the gates of clogged-up bowels and allows nature to restore a healthful condition. It is the prescription Dr. Caldwell used for years in his extensive practice and consists of a pleasing liquid combination of Egyptian senna, pepsin and aromatics. People have used it for over 30 years, and it has kept millions healthy and well.



It Helps Nature Do What Our Modes of Living Prevent

The work of professional men, clerks, bookkeepers, students, shop men and nearly every one today, because of deficient muscular activity, tends to produce constipation. If you are constipated, you need Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. 10,000,000 bottles used annually prove its effectiveness.

It is sold everywhere medicine is sold—and guaranteed. Try it at our risk. Your druggist will return your money if it fails to do as promised.

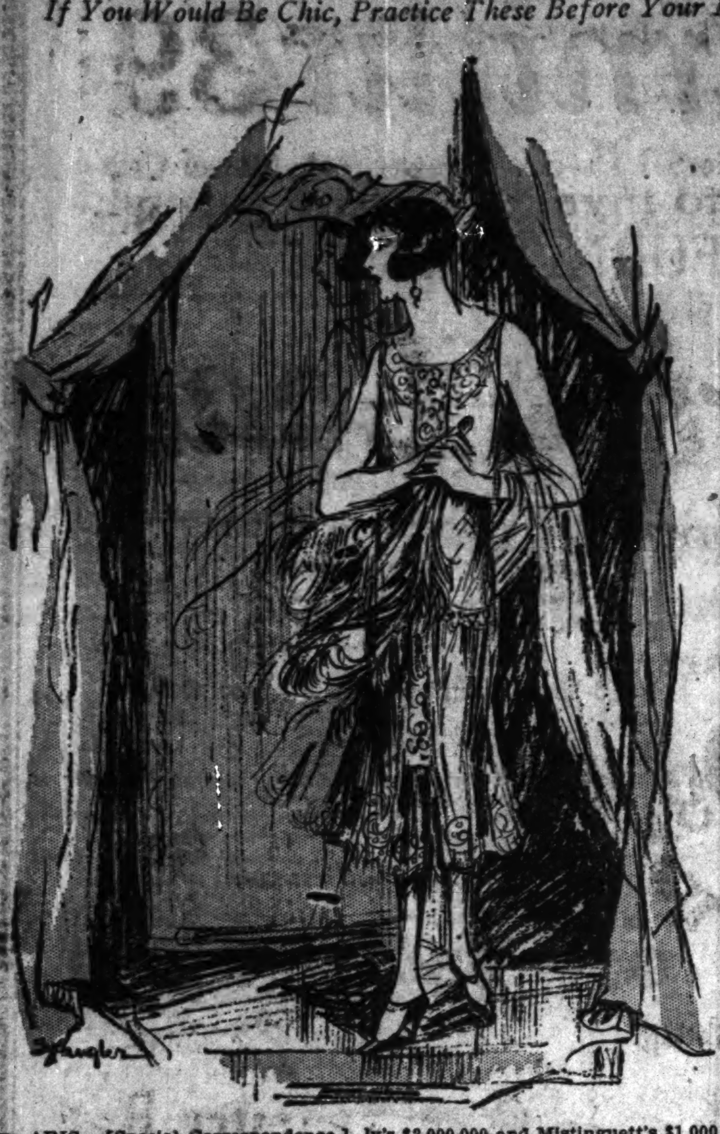
WALKS FOR EVERY COSTUME

If You Would Be Chic, Practice These Before Your Mirror, and Grow in Charm

by Antoinette Donnelly



PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—If you want to learn about woman, I suppose there are no better sources of information than the heads of the Grandes Maisons of Paris, where business for generations has been studying her and designing for her, selling to her and trying to make the best of her. Here they cater to the entire world of her, less a few islands like Tahiti and the Cannibal, where the unique style of dressing is too comfortable to be changed.

Treading on the theory, anyway, I went the rounds to gather such hints as I might to assuage the perplexities of those of us who buy, hoping to look like the mannequin who sells us, and don't.

At my first stopping place, the house of Paul Poiret, I learned, incidentally, something about the most beautiful age of women. The spectacular head of the house says woman is most beautiful at the age of 30 and after she has had children. This is the peak of youthful maturity, when the flower is in full bloom, according to the famous connoisseur.

And speaking comparatively of American and French beauty, he says: "American women are beautiful. Their beauty carries on the Greek tradition of rendering perfection of form. But, like the Greek gods, their beauty is passionless. The classic type of beauty in its highest embodiment is devoid of all trace of extraneous appeal to the passions or emotions. Your women are like the Greek beauties. They are not artificial. They do not make up their eyes. They do not heavily rouge their mouths. They look as though they exercised well, slept well, ate well. But there is a certain something our women have that yours have not.

Artificiality the Secret.

"The French woman makes up her eyes. She makes up her lips. She has an air of being out late and of not having slept well nor done her daily dozen. This artificiality gives her an air of piquancy, an allure." And if my interpretation of his French did not misguide me, Mr. Poiret added, "They have the lure of the naughty. They have more pep. They may be a little tired—but they are very agreeable."

I'm glad a Frenchman said that, because the opinion formulated by myself on the Parisienne, as she is met on boulevard and in smart cafés, is that she has frank and indisputable sex allure.

At another famous house where the comparison of French and American women came up, great emphasis was placed on the Parisian ankle, famous for centuries as "the thoroughbred racehorse ankle" of the world. Personally, my impression is that the ankles of today aren't what they were, then, when the reputation was first earned. The American ankles have wrested the title, regardless of Spinelly's $2,000,000 and Mistinguett's $1,000,000 extremities.

They can sell us some things not made in America, but not that.

Something in the Carriage.

However, I am inclined their way on the carriage of the French girl. Within the sacred precincts of a salon, lit by skylights to avoid the cold, penetrating gaze of a noonday sun, and carpeted in gray velvet quicksand velvet, I was told, "Your American women can learn from ours how to walk, how to hold themselves when they are not walking."

Since we get straighter and straighter and plainer and plainer; since everybody is turned out the same from opinions to hats, it is not the rose pink model embroidered with jade and crystals that counts. 'Tis the wearer and how she wears it. And here, I'm told, is where the American woman fails her gown. The Parisienne has a something in her carriage, in her shoulders, in her walk, that shows off her dress.

The difference between the common, or garden variety of wearer, and the the great artist is this, one of the latter tells me: "A good designer has to be something of a doctor, with a little of the clairvoyant thrown in. He has to consider not merely the woman's exterior in making the perfect garment, but her personality, her movements, her way of expressing herself, her moods, and the general aura with which she surrounds herself."

The mannequin knows how to wear a gown because she has been put through a course of training on how to walk before being permitted to parade a costume.

Walks and Moods.

Woman has made great strides in the last few years, but she can't take them in that costume with the polished French accent. She may take her emancipated spirit out for air in her tailleur, but if she's French and chic she won't step around with the air of a man. It is said on the Riviera no women can wear sports clothes like the Parisienne, which inference the English woman resents. But not being an athletic lot, the French wear their sport things with that compliment they pay their feminine-ness—by never forgetting it.

Susanne, one of the prize mannequins of three large houses, successively, here, informs me on the preparatory walking instructions given.

When one marches for street dress she is taught to put heel and toe down practically at the same time, with feet somewhat apart, to take fairly long steps and swing the legs from the hips. A brusque, sharp air of going on some important business errand is the idea carried in the back of the mind as they parade the latest thing in what the snappy shopper is wearing.

With the afternoon dress, the toe is put down first with a marked toe plant. No long steps are taken. Steps about the length of the foot itself and the feet are placed in front of each other. An easy, relaxed, informal lilt to the body, and it is implied madame has time for informal guests this afternoon. This is sometimes called the Spanish walk.

The evening costume calls for a walk of quite another mood. It is delicate, gracious, with a bit of sophistry thrown in. A trifle more spring to the step. You walk as though you were walking on eggshells or as though your feet were going to come down on something fragile and easily breakable. The head is held on a neck arched forward slightly. The body is permitted a bit of a slouch with the stomach slightly protuberant. Nothing of the haughty or grande dame about this walk. Kind of an "out-to-capture-or-at-least-to-please" air is prescribed for the evening dress.

Every Muscle Relaxed.

The mannequins are taught how to enter a room, as that has much to do with how your dress is going to strike your audience. This calls for a moment's reflection outside the door, during which moment you practically shake yourself loose of muscle tightness. There is no real shaking. 'Tis done by thinking every muscle relaxed and then relaxing them.

Until one has acquired perfect self-possession and poise, something should be carried. A purse with the morning costume. With the evening, a fan, or gracefully toying with the waist length string of pearls will take care of the hands. One conceit of a famous actress is to carry a huge chiffon handkerchief of a shade that harmonizes brilliantly with the dress.

SUNLIGHT AND VITAMINS

When resistance is broken down and there is susceptibility to coughs, colds or similar ills, the daily use of vitamin-rich cod-liver oil in most cases is as necessary as sunlight. This wonderful nutrient out of Nature's storehouse of plenty supplies to the weakened body elements that quickly rebuild strength. Where there is a debilitated condition or strength is depleted, nothing quite equals the restorative virtues of

SCOTT'S EMULSION
THE VITAL FOOD-TONIC

It is the better and more pleasant way of utilizing effectively the rich and abundant benefits of health-giving, vitamin-bearing cod-liver oil. Those of any age who are reduced in body or strength ought to take Scott's Emulsion regularly.

For more than fifty years Scott's Emulsion has been the standard food-tonic. It is surprising how efficiently it builds strength in a child or adult.

Build up your resistance—take Scott's Emulsion!

2339—Woman's and misses' dress. Sizes 16 years and 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 2⅞ yards of 40 inch material, with ½ yard of 32 inch contrasting.

2300—Woman's dress. Sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 4¼ yards of 40 inch material. The hot iron transfer pattern 730 comes in blue and yellow, and costs 15 cents extra.

2340—Woman's blouse. Sizes 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 2⅛ yards of 40 inch material.

How to Use the Patterns

THESE lovely spring days make one feel ambitious to make pretty new clothes. Pattern No. 2,339 will be just the design that many women and girls will need for one of their new dresses.

It is cut in one piece; that is, the back is in one piece and the front in one. Collar, pockets, and long, close fitting sleeves complete the pattern.

It is an appropriate design for flannel, for cotton broadcloth, and many other materials, but broadcloth or flannel would make up unusually well. If the plain material is used for the dress it would be smart to have the pocket laps, collar, and front plait made of a stripe—the main color in the stripe matching the dress material. Directions on the pattern show just how to set on the plait.

When you are ready to put the collar on the dress, find the exact center of both the collar and the dress in the back and pin together at that point. Next pin at each end and then, holding the dress towards you, pin the collar to the neck of the dress in several places. Next, baste in an even seam, and then baste on a strip of the material, cut on a true bias, having this strip about one and one-half inches wide. Stitch and then cut the bastings apart, and remove carefully. Next, clip the seam at intervals, and then baste the bias strip down over the seam, turning in the edge so it will be an even width everywhere, and either stitch or hem down by hand.

The pattern provides for both long and short sleeves, the long ones having a dart up the outside to make the sleeves close fitting, and the short ones prettily finished with turned back cuffs.

The long lines of the front and back of pattern No. 2300 make it an specially becoming design for a large figure. There is a one piece front and back, the front having a shoulder dart on each side. These darts give the proper ease over the bust, and the under arm seams gore out towards the bottom so that the skirt will not be too tight there—it measures at the bottom, for size 36, about 1⅝ yards.

Then there is a panel for the front and one for the back. These panels should have the edges perfectly turned in and basted down before putting on the dress, and then they should be basted in place for the top, down. If the edges are embroidered or trimmed with braid, no other trimming will be needed to make the dress pretty. Tie strings of the dress material are set on under the panel edges, and tied over the sides. These hold the slight fullness there perfectly in place.

The long, dart fitted sleeve is perforated for a short length, and the neck is finished with a binding. Satin back crepe or one of the flat crepes would make up beautifully, and there are surah, bengaline, and other silks from which to choose.

Pattern No. 2,340 is for a long waisted overblouse, closed in the center front. These overblouses, worn with separate skirts, are becoming to many, and this is a particularly good design. Striped flannel would be fine for one or more of these blouses, and silk broadcloth would make cool and delightful looking blouses.

The fronts of the blouse at the neck are underfaced and rolled back with the collar, forming revers, and a small vest may be worn or not, as one chooses. At the underarm seams at the waist line, the fronts and back are slashed in from the seam edges and the upper edges gathered. These gathered edges are set on to the bottom edges of the slashes, and this gives the effect of a belt over the sides. The full length sleeves are gathered and set into deep cuffs that roll back and fasten with link buttons. Of course, the pattern is perforated for short sleeves, and these are finished with turned back cuffs.

The buttonholes must be carefully cut and worked. A flat button takes a button hole in length the diameter of the button, and you should set the buttonhole scissors and get them fixed right—trying on a piece of paper or cloth first. Then the buttonhole should be overcasted first from the wrong side, and then worked from the right.

No trimming other than the buttons will be needed. If the blouse is perfectly made, it will look better untrimmed; but all stitching should be perfectly done, and no part of the work hurried. Imperfections are more apparent in a plain than in a much trimmed garment.

MEN'S FASHIONS

This department will be glad to answer any questions regarding men's fashions and the correct thing to wear on different occasions. Address communications to A. T. Gallico, The Tribune, Chicago. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for personal reply.

BY A. T. GALLICO.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—"If I were to get a complete new outfit," writes a young correspondent, "consisting of three suits, two topcoats, two hats, two pairs of shoes, shirts, hosiery, handkerchiefs, ties, etc., just what would you advise me to buy?"

Whether the young man has so tired of whatever clothes he already may possess that he is going to consign them to the rag man, or whether he is just emerging from a few years in uniform, must remain a mystery. However, we'll assume as he would have us do that he has practically nothing in his wardrobe that he can wear during the spring and summer, and give a few suggestions as to what his three suits, two coats, and the rest might be to be practical and cover as many purposes as possible.

Three suits are enough for the average man to buy at a time, and so we won't ask him to do more than this. By all means, if the young man is not to be a hermit, one of the three suits should be a tuxedo. He'll want this for all sorts of summer dances and dinner parties. To wear with it he must have at least a couple of dress shirts—more if he expects his evening engagements to run to more than two a week, unless he lives near a Chinese laundry which will launder a shirt while he waits. No one should ever attempt to wear a shirt more than one evening.

The second suit might well be a dark blue double breasted model. This is a suit which will serve all the occasions when our young friend wants to look neat but not gaudy. It is the suit for the city, for work or play.

The double breasted model is suggested, unless the young man is of the proportions which have been pronounced in this department unfavorable to this type of suit. If he can wear it, the double breasted jacket will give him a smart appearance, and a change from the single breasted model which I suggest for the third suit.

This suit I recommend to be a four piece one. This will provide the young man with a second suit for city wear, while the knickers will solve the problem of what he shall wear when he wants to look as though he felt quite at home at a country club or at a summer week-end party in the suburbs.

For the top coats, since he wishes to buy two, I suggest one to be rather on the informal—something that he can wear in the country and not look as though he had suddenly been transplanted from a metropolitan street. The color, if the four piece suit is selected in a gray, should be some mixture containing gray, or something in a smoke blue, with an overplaid in a soft contrasting color. This coat could be with raglan shoulders, if desired. The other coat should be more formal in its nature, so that it can be worn with both the dark blue suit when the young man wishes to look dressed up, and with tuxedo in the evenings. It should be something like a Chesterfield or a box coat, in dark gray or dark blue.

He'll have trouble getting along with two pairs of shoes if he counts the necessary evening dress shoes as one of the pair. For besides this pair he ought to have two—one pair of plain oxford either black or tan to wear with the dark blue suit, and another pair which would be suitable to wear with the knickers—as well as with the trousers of the four piece suit, an oxford a little more on the sport type than the one he would select to wear with the dark blue suit.

The number of shirts and ties he gets will depend upon how far he wants to stretch his pocketbook in the sartorial direction. With a dark blue suit and a gray suit, the same ties and shirts may be worn.

The amount of hosiery and handkerchiefs is optional, as long as there are enough of each to allow for frequent changes. Of course, the young man must have some black silk hose for wear with the dinner coat, and if he has knickers he must have some golf hose.

Reserved for His Wife.

The other morning I was taking dictation from my boss when his phone rang. He seemed to be in pretty good humor, but during the conversation he assumed a terrible grouch and his answers were sharp and curt.

When he finally hung up without even saying good-by I couldn't refrain from saying, "Goodness, I feel sorry for the other person. You certainly lost your temper to him."

"O," he replied, with sarcasm, "I really think I know how to talk to my wife." N. R.

Shower of Sausage.

I was a student at a university and trying my best to make an impression on every one. I was just learning how to drive my father's car, so I decided to take it to college and show it off.

Tearing up the main campus street at a great speed, I pulled up at a popular corner. Just as I had reached the curb I noticed a weenie stand, but too late. I knocked down the stand and weenies flew to the right and left of me.

I truly was horribly embarrassed and I can still hear the shouts of laughter and see the numerous weenies rolling in all directions, while the mustard splashed on my windshield. M. W.

Take off that double Chin!

Big Hips, Large Busts, Ankles, Arms Reduced in a Remarkably Short Time

Why not bring out the beauty of your real features, hidden under those ugly rolls of fat? A double chin adds ten years to your face. Large busts and hips make you look matronly. Big ankles give you a clumsy appearance, yet, if you only knew, you can have a perfect face and figure, molded just as you wish it, without trouble or inconvenience of any kind. Get some of Dr. Folts' Soap from any drug or department store, make a good lather, and apply as per directions night and morning, on special parts you want to reduce. You will be surprised at the quick and amazing results in taking off fat from parts where it shows. Men and women have lost as much as 20 inches from stomach and hips. Double chins and large ankles disappear quickly. Every day more people are using this simple way to reduce, because it is absolutely harmless, practical and cheap. So many women are not fat all over, and all they need for a perfect figure is to "trim off the edges." For them, Dr. Folts' Soap is ideal, because a few applications will do it. DR. FOLTS' SOAP IS GUARANTEED ABSOLUTELY HARMLESS, WILL NOT LEAVE THE SKIN FLABBY OR WRINKLED, DOES AWAY WITH PIMPLES, WILL TONIFY THE TISSUES AND GIVE THE SKIN A WONDERFUL GLOW OF HEALTH.

Beware of cheap imitations! Ask for the original reducing soap, called Dr. Folts'. If your druggist is out of it, he can get it for you from his wholesaler, or you can send a check or money-order direct to the Scientific Research Laboratories, 350 W. 31st St., N. Y. C. Dr. Folts' Soap sells for 50c a cake, or 3 for $1.20.

On sale at Walgreen's, Buck & Rayner's, MacLean's, Hensel, Home, Kidder & Leask, Van de Bogart or any department store.

The TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

By Jane Eddington

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington, with current market materials, and are indorsed by her.

This department appears every day in the Daily Tribune.

SPRINGTIME SUNDAY DINNERS.

IF THE family loves the sunshine, or the hostess and her guests revel in all the brilliancies the springtime offers, Sunday dinners — always at midday—for the next two or three months may be the purest and most delightful and most human social events of any week. Without artificial light, with the springtime viands, and with all the charming impetus of spring, besides a sort of peacefulness or calm that should go with all Sunday dinners, each of them may be a pure delight.

Green peas with spring lamb and mint sauce; asparagus or artichokes with a chicken; cauliflower or green beans with a rib roast of beef or a larded tenderloin; a dinner of broiled or boiled salmon with some well cooked and finely finished green, and some garnish like glazed carrots—all these are eternally modish.

Given the facilities, we may either roast, broil, bake, pot roast, or braise the leg or saddle or quarter of lamb or we may cook it in the pressure cooker—another form of braising. It is braised or half boiled if cooked in a covered utensil—not really or properly called a roasting pan—or in a pot roatsing utensil—Dutch oven.

Oven Roasting of Lamb

The crown of lamb roast has a technique of its own. A true recipe for it is long. But for a solid piece have oven hot, baste every ten or fifteen minutes, etc. A good rule to follow about the heat of the oven for any "roast" is to have it, at the start, so hot that you can hear that a good deal going on in there when the oven door is closed. How long to keep it thus hot must depend on circumstances. It must be a rather short time for chicken or the skin will snap off, or get far too brown.

A piece of lamb, say a three pound solid and rather thick cut, may be cooked in a hot oven for nearly half of the two hours it is cooking—remember that the basting halts the heating; therefore, the time should be generous. Use some salt or fresh pork fat or some fat tried out from the excess fat on the lamb and pour it over the roast just as it goes into the oven taking pains to drench the cut or exposed lean parts well. Add one cup of boiling water to the pan—do not pour it over the meat.

Preparing the Lamb.

When this water has all boiled away, look out for a smell of burned fat. If the fat in the pan burns, you can have no pan gravy, nor is the burned product good for the basting. Lessen fire at once, but only enough to hinder the burning. You must still hear the cooking going on, but toward the end the fire should be so much lowered that only an occasional snap or jerk should be heard when the door is closed.

Salt the fat in the pan about half an hour before the meat is done. With careful cooking vegetable seasonings may be in the pan, but without them we can have meat delicate of flavor and so juicy as to seem entirely unrelated to lamb cooked in an ordinary manner in a covered roaster, or even in other ways. Remember that roasting, like broiling, originally meant the exposing of one side of the meat to the fire while the other was exposed to fresh air, and that the power in the fire was gradually lessened as in broiling a beefsteak.

The "fell" on lamb should be removed, no matter what the cut or how used. Shaping the piece for roasting is often well done by the butcher, but in some cases skewers and strings must be used, and the art must be learned by observation. Outside the French, it is hard to find any help in this. When stuffing is used, a longer time must be allowed for the cooking, but in general nearly twice as much time is required to cook meat safely in our small ovens as the old rules decree.

The HOME HARMONIOUS

OLD FASHIONED LINES.

EVERY line of the little house illustrated today expresses the feeling of home. One can almost smell the flowers in the old fashioned garden and hear the birds singing in the trees, while the open gate and the shady porch are but two of the many features which cause one to exclaim, "This is the kind of home I want!"

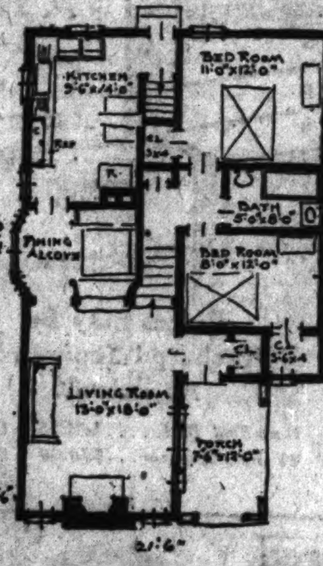
In design the house resembles somewhat the houses found in rural districts in the central states, where additions have been built at later dates, giving the whole a comfortable, rambling appearance.

The side walls are of wide shingles, laid ten inches to the weather. They should be painted white, with all trim of the same color. In districts where frame houses are not to be built, this house would be equally pleasing constructed of back plastered stucco on metal lath. This material is becoming almost the universal finish for small houses in California, and is rapidly spreading eastward, both for new houses and for the remodeling of old ones. With either finish the side walls are brought down to within a few inches of the grade level, and rest upon concrete foundation walls.

The interior arrangement of the house is unique in that the bedrooms and bath are on a higher level than the rest of the house. There are two reasons for this. First, it gives the sleeping quarters the isolation and privacy of a two story house; second, it simplifies the basement excavating, as by this method it is necessary to dig down only about four feet under the two bedrooms. This gives ample room for the heating plant and storage room, and reduces the construction cost materially.

A good sized open porch protects the entrance and affords a pleasant outdoor living room for the family. The floor as illustrated is of wood, but cement may be used instead, especially if the stucco finish is chosen.

Just within the front door is a small vestibule with a closet for wraps. This hallway opens directly into the living room. It is large and cheerful, with windows on two sides and an open fireplace at one end. It will be noted that the wall opposite the door has not been pierced by windows, so there is ample wall space for the placement of a piano, a davenport, or other large furniture.



In designing many of the smaller modern houses, especially when space is at a premium, the tendency has been to do away with such rooms as are not in constant use, or else to revise them, leaving no unnecessary space. Architects Ford, Butler & Oliver of New York have eliminated the customary dining room in these plans and substituted a dining alcove. The table and benches are built in and are large enough to seat four persons comfortably. A cabinet is suspended on the wall above the table, giving ample space for the china. The group of recessed windows opposite the table gives a sense of spaciousness not often encountered in dining alcoves. A dining room of this sort makes quite a decided saving in cost of construction, facilitating also the housework and, for newly-weds, abolishing the necessity of purchasing dining room furniture.

The kitchen is just behind and is somewhat larger than many kitchens found today. A built-in cupboard takes the place of a kitchen cabinet and serves also as a pantry. There is a built-in ironing board which is so designed that it may be folded up into the wall, out of sight when not in use. The back door is reached through a small entry, in which also is found the door to the basement.

As mentioned before, the sleeping quarters are about three feet above the level of the rest of the house and are reached by a short flight of stairs from the living room. Both bedrooms are of good size, the rear one being the larger of the two. Both have ample closet space and are well lighted and ventilated. Additional storage space is found in the closet at the end of the stair hall.

The bathroom is between the two bedrooms and is specified to have a tiled floor, with like material forming the walls up to the wainscoting.

The house is about twenty-eight feet wide, over all, and may be built on a thirty-five foot lot, if need be, although the wider the lot the more space may be allotted to gardens and lawns, which, of course, are necessary to set off the house to best advantage. It should be set back at least eighteen or twenty feet from the sidewalk.

The thought to keep uppermost in mind when planning any house is that good materials and good work are the most economical in the long run. The only way to be sure you are getting both is to employ a competent architect and a reliable contractor.

SLANGUAGE

SLING US SOME SLANG.

The Sunday Tribune will pay $1 for each original slang expression to take the place of the hackneyed standbys:

My Old Pals

They look three times my age now

By Edna Wallace Hopper

These are not true portraits—I don't want to be personal. But they exactly illustrate the aged looks of three old pals of mine.

All of us are now of a grandmother's age. I look like a girl of 19. I still play a youthful part. They look much like these pictures.

The difference is just this: As a girl I searched the world for the utmost in beauty helps. They multiplied my beauty—gained me a glorious career. For 40 years I have continued the search for the latest and best in this line. I have found it and used it. As a result, I retain my youth and beauty while my girlhood pals are old.

Now I offer those same helps—the best I found—to all girls and women. Druggists and toilet counters everywhere supply them. And I offer free to anyone who asks a sample of the one they most desire. I can do no greater kindness to a girl or woman than to urge her to try what I use.

Two Super-Creams

My Facial Youth is a liquid cleanser which I found in France. The greatest beauty experts now advise this formula. It contains no animal, no vegetable fat, so the skin cannot absorb it. It simply cleans to the depths, then departs. You will never realize what a clean skin means until you once employ it.

My Youth Cream is a cold cream, made to embody a dozen of the best helps I have found. It also comes in vanishing type. It contains products of both lemon and strawberry, also the utmost modern science knows to foster, feed and protect the skin. I am never an hour without it, day or night. Let it show you the ways to what it brought to me.

White Youth Clay

A new-type clay, white, refined and dainty. Based on 20 years of scientific study. Vastly different from the crude and muddy clays so many have employed.

It purges the skin of all that clogs and mars it. Removes the causes of blackheads and blemishes. Brings the blood to the skin to nourish and revive it. The result is a rosy afterglow which amazes and delights. Combats all lines and wrinkles, reduces enlarged pores.

This is the chief of all beauty essentials. In 30 minutes, girls multiply their beauty, and women seem to drop ten years. When you once see its results you will never go without it.

My Hair Youth

To this I owe my luxuriant hair, thick and lustrous, finer far than 40 years ago. I have never had falling hair or dandruff, and never a touch of gray. It combines the best of all hair experts have taught me.

Hair Youth is concentrated. I apply it with an eyedropper directly to the scalp—a little at a time. There it combats the hardened oil and dandruff which stifle the hair roots. It tones and stimulates. It does for the scalp what cultivation does for a garden. There is no other hair help in the world which combines what my Hair Youth does. An eyedropper comes with it.

All druggists and toilet counters now supply Edna Wallace Hopper's beauty aids exactly as I use them. The best my world-search has found. This coupon will bring you a sample of any with my latest Beauty Book. Clip coupon now and tell me the one which you prefer. Do this for beauty's sake.

The American Language

By H. L. Mencken.

IT is a characteristic and amusing fact that the syndics of the University of Chicago have sent for an Englishman or, at all events, a Briton, to edit their projected dictionary of American English. Against the philological parts of Prof. William A. Craigie, of course, I have nothing whatever to say. He has been at work, since 1897, upon the monumental New English dictionary; he is perhaps the foremost authority upon the Scandinavian grammars in England; he was formerly a Bible clerk at Oriel college, Oxford. But why should he be chosen to help make a dictionary of American? Why was it impossible to find sufficient talent in America?

DR. W. A. CRAIGIE to edit dictionary of American English [(C) Elliott & Fry, Ltd.]

The answer is to be sought, I believe, in the curious diffidence, often mellowed by imbecility, which marks the pedagogues who profess the English language and its branches among us. Nine-tenths of them seem to be quite unable to get away from the principles of the lowly but cocksure schoolmarm. That is to say, they regard it as their first duty not to inquire into the language that all of us speak, the language that is in being, but to enforce relentlessly the rules of a tongue that exists only in books; and that the overwhelming majority of Americans never speak, seldom hear, and often cannot even understand. In brief, what they merchant is not sense, but authority—and all authority on this book-English naturally comes from England, where it has been written longer than here, and by far more eminent men. So the teaching of English in America almost always resolves itself into a stale retailing of English goods, and when money is found to do a dictionary of the American language the first thing the learned men in charge of it think of is to send for a reliable Oxford Bible clerk.

Ignoring the Present.

Nine or ten years ago, having in contemplation a modest work upon certain aspects of American English—a subject of great interest to me since childhood—I undertook a thorough examination of the native literature upon it. At once I discovered a remarkable fact: that it had been scarcely studied at all, and hardly ever by professional philologians. There were some excellent newspaper articles upon phases of it, and some still better ones in the general magazines, but the professional contribution to the subject consisted solely of a series of scanty notes in an irregular publication called "Dialect Notes," fully a third of which, showing any value whatever, were by one scholar, Prof. Louise Pound of the University of Nebraska, or by her pupils.

No other professor of English in the United States, it appeared, had ever thought to set graduate students to studying the language spoken every day by 100,000,000 people. From these professors, meanwhile, had come whole shelves of learned dissertations upon the irregular verbs in Chaucer, Shakespeare's use of rhyme, and the eccentricities of punctuation in Ben Jonson. They had not been idle; they had simply been busy in the boneyard. All they cared to know about the living speech of their country they accepted on faith and from English authority. It had apparently never occurred to any

FANS TO HEAR FAIR GLORIA OVER RADIO

By Mae Tinee.

GOOD Morning!—and I hope this Eastertide will be a happy one for you.

I want to talk to you for a few minutes about Gloria Swanson—Gloria being the fondest thing many of you are of.

If you have a radio set you've probably heard the melodious voice of Quin Ryan, our peppy W-G-N announcer, heralding the joyful tidings that on Tuesday evening, April 21, at 6:45, Miss Swanson is to be radio-interviewed at THE TRIBUNE station, W-G-N, on the Drake hotel by

YOU!

GLORIA SWANSON will be interviewed at W-G-N Station by you.

Fifty questions sent in by YOU will be asked HER by Mr. Ryan, and SHE will ANSWER them over the radio — TUESDAY NIGHT, APRIL 21, from 6:45 p. m. until 7:15 p. m.

What you are asked to do is to mail AT ONCE any queries you would like to have answered by the Marquise de la Falaise.

For instance, do you want to know how she pronounces her swell new name? Ask her!

What size shoe doth the lady wear? Ask her.

Is she glad she bobbed her raven hair? Ask her.
Is she superstitious and what about?
Does she take her coffee with or without?
What beauty aids she most employs?
Does she hope God sends her girls—or boys?
What sort of rôles does she like the best?
Does she think the marquis will care for the west?
What about Falaise did most attract her?
Does she think he'll become a movie actor?

——and so on. ASK—and ye shall receive an answer, if your question's a good one.

Send in your queries now, please. Fifty of the most interesting ones will be chosen, and on Tuesday evening, April 21, at 6:45, the silver tones that lured a noble from his native shores will bring music and information to your ears.

Isn't that NICE?

I've taken up so much space discussing Miss Swanson's radio-interview that there isn't a WHOLE lot left for a review. But I do think that you want to know something about Lionel Barrymore's new picture—so here goes:

There are a lot of peculiar things about the movies, and one of the most amazing of them is the sort of photoplays Lionel Barrymore lands in.

Ravinia Unroils Its 1925 Roster

By Edward Moore.

THOSE of THE TRIBUNE's readers who care for opera can read Louis Eckstein's foreword to his 1925 season with the assurance that the reaction will be that of fresh pride and increased joy that Ravinia opera is numbered among Chicago's esthetic assets. As president of the Ravinia company, Mr. Eckstein has made good the promise he uttered when, taking over the lovely but neglected retreat up on the lake shore just north of Glencoe, he said Ravinia would be operated "not for profit, save as profit is expressed in terms of cultural effort." As the directing force in the actual operation of Ravinia he has also made good what he said when, in 1916, he undertook the expansion of the operatic aspects of the enterprise and told us that he would make each succeeding season better than the season before. "It must be that, or an end to Ravinia," were his words, "for, in opera, as in all else, the public grows by what it feeds on. And I suppose that is true of all art, as it is true of all other human activities: to stand still is to go backward."

Speaking as one who has occupied an operatic aisle seat for quite a number of years, including some that ran their appointed 365 days before Ravinia began to loom on the horizon, I can only say that this organization is as annual and a baffling problem. It is incontestably true that each season is better than the one before; that, as soon as one ten weeks' series of stimulating and lovely performances is ended, plans are at once devised to make the next a little more glamorous. Ravinia began as a romantic adventure into the realm of opera; it has been increasingly romantic and increasingly delightful every summer.

This summer's scheme, for instance, contemplates thirty-seven operas in ten weeks. It would be a costly plan even were the singers involved representative of a less generous intent on the part of the entrepreneur. Yet no immense and inexhaustible guaranty by public subscription stands back of Ravinia to provide against loss. That supposedly exact science, arithmetic, retires in confusion, becomes a meaningless term, signifies nothing. Only romance is left.

Here Is Ravinia's Who's Who.

Let us become statistical for a few moments this morning. The unvarnished statement of what is promised will be more vivid than any comment this department can possibly make.

The season will begin on Saturday night, June 27, and run ten weeks and three days to Monday, Sept. 7, or Labor day. In case I forget to say so farther along in the column today, the first opera will be Montemezzi's "The Love of the Three Kings." There are many indications that it occupies a leading position of popularity in the Ravinia repertoire.

And here is the personnel, alphabetically considered:

PERHAPS MASKS FOR THE LADY PLAYGOER

By Burns Mantle

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Of course, the the Provincetown Players are above such things, but if I were running their business for them I certainly should see to it that some of my women patrons wore lace masks to hide their blushes at the revival of Congreve's "Love for Love."

There would be a Broadway sensational for you! Can you imagine the riot that would swirl around the Greenwich Village theater with a few rakes taking in their masked ladies to see this old restoration comedy? We have rakes aplenty, too. But we are a bit shy of blushing ladies.

Interesting, this last revival of Congreve. Earlier in the season you may remember the Cherry Lane players did "The Way of the World," in the village, and then moved it up town. But that was never more than a forced success. It was produced without much skill and played without inspiration.

HELEN FREEMAN, in revival of Congreve's "Love for Love."

But this "Love for Love," intelligently cast by the Provincetowners and judiciously pruned of some of its too daring intimacies, is a jolly old show. It does not seem half so brazen as a modern piece written in the same vein.

Audacious, but Graceful.

Congreve, witty and wise, veiling his audacities in graceful verbiage, never jumps out at you to slap you in the face and cause you to recoil in very disgust. He sidles in with a twinkle in his eyes and a new story something tells him you will enjoy. He is properly edited; brazen without being obscene, and there is a vigorous wholesomeness in his honest freedom from affectation that robs it of its offensiveness.

But I'm not so sure the more painfully modest of our feminine playgoers will not yet take to wearing masks at our theaters. Now that we are reviving the restoration of comedies they no longer have the excuse of being innocent of the kind of play they are going to see when they go to the theater.

Interesting fact about these Congreve revivals is the part they played in the playwright's own life. "Love for Love" practically made him, in London. And "The Way of the World" finished him. Finished him at least to the extent that, piqued and disgusted by its failure, he left town in a temper and swore never to write another play. Which he never did.

And this failure, Congreve insisted, was due to just such an attack upon the morality and profanity of the stage on the part of Jeremy Collier as the forces that fight for purity in this sector instituted this year against the Broadway stage.

At the moment the folks are crowding the little Greenwich Village theater and paying gladly for such standing room as there is for sale. The reviewers were all enthusiastic, and so far there has been no call for a play jury. There will be later, I have no doubt.

But the question that interests me is what the competition is going to do. If the Provincetown group can revive Congreve, they are pretty sure to ask why shouldn't they try

This Thing and That Thing of the Theater

By Frederick Donaghey.

WHATEVER "The Green Hat" as a play may turn out to be, its author is at this writing the most interesting theater-person of the new week. I know that the Selwyn might be sold out five times over for tonight to persons who have never read a line of his writing. I am asked over and over to take him along as my fellow-guest to breakfast, luncheon, tea, dinner, dance, supper, cards, gin, and even golf by hostesses who hadn't asked me to anything in years. Not only do I not drink gin and have not yet found the time or the soil for golf as my own host since the golf-year began: I don't even know Mr. Michael Arlen. When I explain as much to the eager matrons by post or through the telephone, they protest that it was I who set the Chicago fashion for him by calling attention to "Piracy" when it was new. If that be so (an' I think it is), I am rather glad of it.

EDMUND BREESE He's in the Palace in a skit named "Happy New Year!" by Irvin Cobb.

Mr. George Kaufman, in today's New-York Times, gives a reason for thinking that Mr. Arlen is rapidly qualifying as a man of the American theater. It is that, when asked as to the first week's intake of "The Green Hat" in Detroit, he said it was $21,000, although the actual receipts, something less than $20,000, represented virtually the capacity of the house in which the play was acted. . . . However, I have had earlier reason for suspecting that Mr. Arlen would have no real difficulty in fitting himself to what is called show-business in this country. In the dirtiest of the tales that make up "These Charming People," I rediscovered a little one that was smoking-room stuff when I was a kid in college. Where and in what form the novelist ran across it is a matter of easy surmise: doubtless, an American tourist was trying to have fun in the American notion that Englishmen lack the sense of humor, and put it into circulation over there with the idea of puzzling them. The beauty of the story is that it is so dirty as to be of universal appeal, and would made a naked Kaffir blush. After reading it as translated into Mr. Arlen's Mayfair idiom, I had a high expectancy that it would show up in one of this season's crop of New-York revues—in George White's or Hassard Short's; and I guess that expectancy was not in key with the theory that the authors of American revues cannot read.

A Piece from "These Charming People."

"News" about Mr. Arlen is that a second play of his will be put on by the producer of "The Green Hat," Mr. Woods—a play taken from things in "These Charming People." It was told some weeks ago that the author had fashioned a play on the character styled the Cavalier of the Streets. It is my recollection that the character is the same as the Man with the Broken Nose in what is, all-in-all, the best tale in the volume; and, when I read it, I had the notion that it would be a capital foundation for a play by Mr. Cohan, and at the time I said something of the kind in this column. . . . Also, "news" is that Mr. Arlen is sailing home the Players and Parts.

I am often moved to speculation as to the effect on theater-goers outside New-York of the sheep-dip printed about actors in the weeklies and the monthlies. Would "The Outsider" have been a success on tour if Miss Katharine Cornell had been in it? Would "Lightnin'" have run through more than a year in Chicago if the late Frank Bacon hadn't been in it? . . . I have heard theater-goers explain their not going to see this or that New-York success in Chicago on the grounds that such a player had been in it there and was not brought here, although the change may have been (and in all likelihood was) for the betterment of the performance. That we did not have the original cast has been the explanation of many for not seeing "The Show-Off" here: yet, the recent performances in Cohan's Grand were better than the one I saw in New-York. Like complaint was made as to "White Cargo," although nobody who complained to me was able to identify a single member of the New-York cast of that good piece. . . .

My sought point is that the incontinent laudation of players in most of the magazines gives to readers throughout the country an incorrect idea of the players' importance in performance. The illustrated articles about the stage have to do, wellnigh inevitably, with the plays current in New-York; and the "captions," as the text carried with pictures is called in the lingo of editing, are fragrant with fantastic exploitation of the player at the expense of the play, itself. Yet, if you set aside a maximum of twenty actors, men and women, who are in possession of special gifts in personality or seasoned talent, you might comb through the remaining 11,980 and not find one whose best could not easily be duplicated by another. (I lack certitude as to the total number's being 12,000; but the ratio stands regardless.) . . .

I find in the current Vanity Fair lines beneath a picture of Miss Helen Hayes describing her as the Theater Guild's "obvious choice" for her new rôle, Cleopatra in Shaw's comedy, and lines beneath one of Miss Margalo Gillmore calling her "heiress to a great theatrical tradition." Now, Miss Hayes is a good actress: she knows her business, and seems to be in possession of a genuine gift for the stage; and she is so much the "obvious choice" for Shaw's Cleopatra that, were I casting the play, I should seek, in turn, to obtain seven other actresses before, if I failed, I should turn to Miss Hayes. I cheerfully add that the obvious choice for the part among available actresses, here or in England, is Miss Francine Larrimore; and I should look to her to be better in the part than either Miss Gertrude Elliott or Miss Laura Cowie, both of whom have acted it in this country. . . .

As to Miss Gilmore, I am puzzled as to the "great theatrical tradition" to which she is heir. So far as I know, she is the daughter of Mr. Frank Gillmore, whom I recall as a sparkless journeyman of acting when he was working at it. He is now the titular head of the actors' union. This, of course, has nothing to do with Miss Gillmore's personal talent; and I am happy to write of her as I should write of the most distinguished of players—that she is the best actress in all the world in any rôle which she can play better than any other actress in all the world. And I say this cheerfully in spite of my not yet having seen her in any rôle.

Back to the Movies!

John Barrymore's London adventure in "Hamlet" is to end next Saturday. He missed some performaces last week because of a cold; but he has had what seems to have been a good time out of it. Thus, at a dinner given in his honor the other night by the English-Speaking Union, Henry Arthur Jones told the American that his was the only Hamlet in a lifetime to be compared to Irving's; and that is going a long way when an aged Eglishman says it. . . . I assume that John went across for the réclame rather than the money: anyway, he got the former in stacks, and, as to the money, I shouldn't care to be asked to pay the bills. He is coming back to make another clean-up in the movies; and nothing is said as to his plans for the stage in this country.

ds-and-Ends of Stage-News

Theater Guild's revival to en its New-York playhouse, of "Cæsar and Cleopatra" is re- by the critics there as the most important activity. No was made about the play,— Shaw's best,—when it was there, in 1906, by Forbes- and Miss Gertrude Elliott, 1914 he returned to this with the play as the feature repertoire. That Lionel Atwill Helen Hayes have the re- title-rôles was news in The many weeks ago. Miss Helen Schuyler Ladd, Albert Brun- Henry Travers also will be . . . Miss Westley, who is orite cut-up of the Guild's sub- is to be Ftatateeta. She is the New-York critics to be an of immense versatility, often as many as six comic bonnets course of a single performance. Mr. Ladd was a somebody when in "The Yellow Jacket," if recall that curio. . . . Mr. Brun- has long been among the well- ; and Mr. Travers was capital English monk in the Chicago ormances of Shaw's "Saint Joan."

new plays listed for the week New-York are:

"Mismates," by Myron C. Fagan, of Chicago, with Miss Clara Joel, Leona Hogarth, and Frederick

"The Four-Flusher," by Cæsar Dunn, Russell Mack, Miss Sue McMan- Miss Louise Allen, Spencer Char- and John Daly Murphy. . . . is the thin, casual little comedy known late in 1923 in the Cort "King for a Day," with Gregory in the principal part.

"Tell Me More!" by Fred Thomp- and others, with tunes by George win, and with Lou Holtz, Miss Haig, and Miss Esther Howard the cast.

"Mercenary Mary," also a song- made from a farce named "What Wife!" by Miss Isabel Leighton, tunes by Con Conrad. Miss Mad- Fairbanks, Louis Simon, Miss Hampton, and Allen Kearns are "The Sapphire Ring," adapted by Leighton from an Hungarian by Lascio Lakatos, with Miss Gahagan, Kenneth McKenna, Miss Mildred Florence in the cast.

"O Nightingale!" by Miss Sophie well, with Miss Martha-Bryan and Ernest Lawford.

"Thrills," by William F. Dugan, Ramsey Wallace, Miss Elizabeth Miss Alice Fleming, and Miss Feldman. . . . Mr. Dugan represented in the Autumn by a -York failure named "The Tan-," the title of which was after- changed to "The Second Year."

There will be in addition to "Cæsar Cleopatra," three other revivals: Shaw's, the plays involved the ported, and one is a minor English ante-dating his masterpiece. They are:

"Princess Ida," by Gilbert and Sullivan, with Miss Tessa Kosta, Miss Rosamund Whiteside, Robinson Newbold, Miss Virginia O'Brien, and Bertram Peacock, released at length from the rôle of Schubert in "Blossom Time." . . . Miss Whiteside was the Javotte of the Wilson-Hopper revival of "Erminie," in 1921, in the Illinois. Her associates are well-knowns.

"Taps," from a German work by Franz Adam Beyerlein, with Lionel Barrymore, Miss Irene Fenwick, McKay Morris, and Ulrich Haupt. . . . This play was acted in English in this country twenty or more years ago by Robert Loraine, Miss Effie Shannon, and the late Herbert Kelcey, and . Mr. Barrymore has the part then acted by Mr. Kelcey.

"Aren't We All?" the lightweight comedy in which Cyril Maude was recently unsuccessful in the Blackstone —thanks largely to the poor company he had with him. . . . He has employed Miss Alma Tell for the restoration in New-York, where the piece was immensely successful for months.

Needlessly.

The salubrious effects of the recent New-York revolt against indecency in the theater are numerous. Mr. O'Neill's "Desire Under the Elms" is now advertised in such display that only the first word of the title is easily discernible. . . . Congreve's "Love for Love" is in revival in one of Mr. O'Neill's hideaway theaters: Mr. Mantle tells you about it today. . . . The management of "The Firebrand" takes every opportunity to remind the public that one of the comic playwrights objected to the calculated lubricity of Joseph Schildkraut's performance as Cellini. . . . The beds are back in the plays from which they were banished by managers eager to for purity side-by-side with a lion-hearted young district-attorney. . . . Projected ventures have to do with a restoration of Wycherly's "The Country Wife" and a comedy by John that was recently reviewed in London under a special license from the play-censor. . . . Yes, Bo! "Less , and more of it!" is the real thing

Wycherly's "The Country Wife" is unknown in the American theater: fumigated version of it was in the repertoire of the late Ada Rehan she was the diva of Augustin 's company; and I recall seeing in it with John Drew. Miss Henrietta Crosman some years ago revived that version, which was known as "The Country Girl." . . . Another use of the play was as the libretto of "Dolly Varden," a stupid operetta by Stanislaus Stangé and Julian Edwardes in which Miss Lulu Glaser was immensely popular through a season or more.

Glenn Hunter, Miss Ruth Gordon, Gregory Kelly, and Miss June Walker are, in turn, to be "guest-stars" of the Cleveland stock-company wherewith Miss Laurette Taylor is expected to try out two or three new plays between now and September.

Miss Gordon, who hasn't been in Chicago in the two years since "Bristol Glass" was a failure in the Blackstone, is to put in a week experimenting with a comic piece, "Aren't Men Brutes!" by John Emerson, walking-delegate of the actors' union, and his wife, known to movie-goers as Miss Anita Loos, writer of some of the best of the sub-titles that are spelled out aloud by the audiences. . . . Miss Gordon is in possession of a personal success in "Mrs. Partridge Presents," in which Miss Blanche Bates is acting in New-York. . . . That comedy is to be done in London, with Miss Edna Best in an important part.

"Baby Blue," "The Poor Nut," and "The Gorilla" are new pieces to be shown tomorrow night in Washington. . . . That city of late has been the place of numerous premières, although it was classified for many years as an uncertain "show-town." . . . "Baby Blue" is a song-play; and "The Poor Nut" is the piece by J. C. and Elliott Nugent heretofore paragraphed as "John the Worm."

The Actors' Theater, gay with the popular success of "Candida" and "The Wild Duck," thinks it may go in for a revival of Galsworthy's "A Bit o' Love," with O. P. Heggie, and of an old operetta, with Miss Peggy Wood. . . . The operetta suggested is Planquette's "The Chimes of Normandy," which used to be second in popularity in this country only to "The Bohemian Girl."

Lowell Sherman's management again states that he is making ready to act in the French farce named "The Tailor of Trouville." . . . That announcement was first made about a year ago, and has furnished paragraphs at intervals ever since.

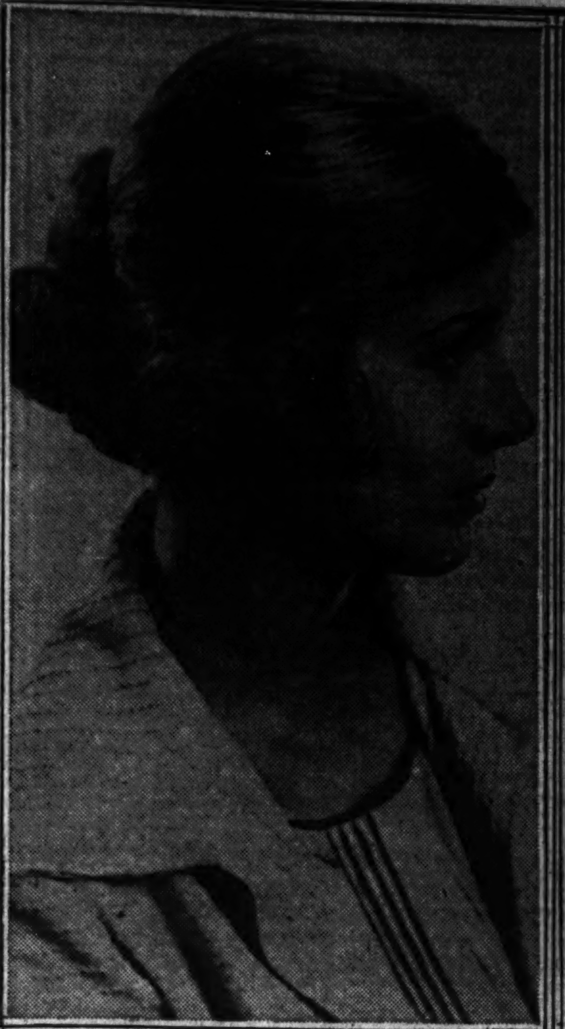
ONE'S RETURNING, AND ONE'S A STRANGER



MISS ANN HARDING

MISS QUEENIE SMITH

MISS HARDING acted a year ago, in the Harris and Cohan's Grand, in a bad play named "The Horse-Thief," and was so good in it and so well liked that the management put her name in black type. She was new here at the time, and of no greater repute than that spread by returning travelers who had seen her in the New-York cast of "Tarnish." . . . She comes back tonight to act in "The Green Hat."

Miss Smith isn't at all known here save as she has been mentioned in print in the last two years for her success elsewhere in, first, "Helen of Troy (N.-Y.)" and, then, in "Be Yourself!" She was for a time an undistinguished dancer in the Metropolitan Opera—an occupation that would seem to have provided the training necessary for delivery of the sophisticated dialogues of Marc Connelly and George S. Kaufman, co-authors of both the pieces wherein Miss Smith has scored. . . . 'Tis in "Be Yourself!" she is to be seen here tomorrow night.

Unusual Recital Series in Prospect

It is reasonably early to begin discussing next season's music, but a series of recitals with some unusual features are announced to be given at Orchestra hall. Beginning Oct. 25 with a recital by a great tenor, Edward Johnson, and continuing every two or three weeks thereafter, all on Sunday afternoons, the list includes Toscha Seidel, violinist; Benno Moiseiwitsch, pianist; Maria Kurenko, soprano; Josef Hofman, pianist; Albert Spalding, violinist; Reinald Werrenrath, baritone; the London String quartet, Olga Samaroff, pianist, and Margaret Matzenauer, contralto. The unusual part about it is that tickets for the series of ten are priced at from $5 to $15. It is budgeting high grade music about as economically as anything within memory.

The Dayton Westminster choir will make its second appearance here Tuesday night at Orchestra hall. The concert will be under the auspices of the church extension board of the Chicago presbytery, and its proceeds will go to the erection of a cottage at Camp Gray, Mich., where 400 boys will be given a free vacation each summer.

There is word of an opera performance to take place at the Eighth street theater this afternoon, but the music department of this paper has been left pretty well in the dark as to its details. So far the total information is that the University Choral club and the Bedrich Smetana Singing society are to present "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Enchanted Well."

The Chicago theater sends word of a series of Sunday noon organ recitals to be played by different organists from the Balaban & Katz chain of theaters. Milton Charles, from the Tivoli, will play today, with Marie Herron, soprano, and Erik Bye, baritone, as vocal soloists.

The Chicago Madrigal club announces its twenty-third annual competition for composers, this time for a setting of Barnfield's poem, "In the Merry Month of May." The conductor of the club, D. A. Clippinger, 617-18 Kimball building, will supply the rules of the contest, for which a prize of $100 is offered.

In case you happen not to have heard about it, John McCormack's final recital of the season at Orchestra hall a week from today will be a request program. He says that requests for favorite songs may be mailed to him at Orchestra hall up to Thursday of this week. At that time the bars will be let down, and the program made up from what has been received.

Louis Victor Saar, Chicago composer, has recently taken three prizes in composition contests. One is from the Rubinstein club of Washington, D. C., for a setting of "Sing Ho to Spring" for women's voices and piano. Two others come from the competition of the National Federation of Music Clubs—a trio for piano, violin, and cello, and a theme and variations for piano and cello.

NOW SHE PAYS DUES TO EQUITY

MISS LEILA HYAMS

SHE is the daughter of John and Leila (McIntyre) Hyams, for many years a "team" of well-knowns in the varieties, and at times co-stars of plays with songs. . . . Miss Hyams is now on the payroll in her own name, and is with William Collier in "Going Crooked."

Voice of the Movie Fan

Ifs and Ands.

Dear Mae Tinée: It is seldom I write any one or criticize, but I don't want to flatter you, but must say that whenever you recommend a picture it is nearly always as you state—good or bad. But last week I had the displeasure of witnessing "Code of the West," and to my surprise in The Tribune you recommend it. If Constance Bennett is a movie actress I am a Chinaman, and the picture is the worst I ever saw and I cannot understand your benevolence. J. H.

[Editor's note: Well, I bet you're not a Chinaman, but I bet Constance Bennett's an actress!].

She Likes Aileen.

Dear Mae Tinée: Pr-r-r! Pr-r-r! You've heard them, haven't you, Mae Tinée, when they're stroked the right way, and when they arch their backs with sheer good feelin's? (No, I didn't say anything about felines). Well, anyway, you certainly stroked me the right way with your review of "The Wife of the Centaur." Let me say that I read all of the reviews and yours seemed to me to be the one that simply went to the heart of things and struck the keynote. I, too, had felt that quality that would not allow dislike for the "adventuress," Aileen Pringle, only compassion. It surely takes an artist to win hearts in such a rôle, doesn't it?

I first saw Miss Pringle in the picture "In the Palace of the King" in a small part, and from that time have followed her progress with closest interest. I have been as anxious for her success, as jealous for her, as if she were some one belonging to me, and as peeved, too, when recognition did not come as soon as I thought it ought.

Another thing. I know you thought Norma fine in "The Lady," as I did. It certainly gave her an opportunity, and she was versatile enough to make the most of it. Norma is like a breeze wafted off a woodland hillside covered with wild flowers. Leona.

By Mae Tinee.

There he is—one of the greatest actors in the world—a man who should always be starred in some whiz of a production, and what do you find him doing? Lending the light of his presence to pictures that he, and he alone, redeems from being FLOPS!

This "Meddling Women" is the yellowest sort of melodrama.

The hero is a playwright who loves his wife and whose wife loves him. His mother, however, with whom the pair live, is a vurr haughty and intolerant lady, and has no use for the missis. SO she sets out to separate the couple.

The picture concerns itself with the dire effects of her meddling, carrying you through nightmares of murder, bootlegging, etc. — practically every known consequence of an evil deed pops up to confound you—until—surprise—at the end.

The aforementioned fact that the hero's a playwright may give you an inkling as to the surprise.

Mr. Barrymore plays two rôles—playwright and bootlegger—and plays them as a Barrymore would, which is, of course, saying that they couldn't be better played.

Be it also said that the supporting cast is an efficient one—far too good to have been spent on "Meddling Women," which just drips ordinariness and cheap sensationalism. However,

Lionel Barrymore's in it, and a Barrymore characterization is always a golden gift—so——

SO——?!!

See you tomorrow!

It's a Postscript.

I seem to be long winded this morning, so guess I'll make a good job of it.

At the same theater where I saw "Meddling Women" I saw a chapter from a serial.

In one scene the heroine shoots a gun off in a room to scare a man—and THE CENSORS LET IT RIDE!

They cut out shooting in pictures where there's some excuse and reason for it, but the sort of fool act a child witnessing would be LIKELY to imitate is permitted to be shown at neighborhood theaters where children make a point of following serials and watch them with absorbed and enthusiastic interest.

THERE!

KICK KORNER

"Greed"—Old Stuff.

Dear Mae Tinée: What you said about Von Stroheim's "Greed," from Frank Norris' "McTeague," was a typewriterful.

This swatting of greed is old stuff, and has been a lot better done. An appreciative tribe poured molten gold down the throat of P. Crassus, who was C. J. Cæsar's Fred Lundin, and in the famous press agent work that P. V. Maro did for Octavius Cæsar there is a noble passage which asks, frank and free, "What will not men do for gold?" No one has answered that wise crack of the founder of the Press Agents' guild.

If one wants to see some refined eating, why, better go to Lincoln park and watch the animals when the raw beef is passed. That bridal feast in the movie "Greed" could not be bettered by a brood of Barkshires at the garbage can which, you so aptly said, is upset right before the face of the audience.

The last scene, on the desert, sure is fine—the only part of the film that is—but I was sure full of sorrow as to how the donkey was rescued, the film not revealing that.

As to the art work of the fingers poking around in the old gold and silver pile, and the soap bubbles, that was a total loss and no insurance.

DISGUSTED.

By Edward Moore.

pranos — Lucrezia Bori, Helen Margery Maxwell, Graziella Rosa Raisa, Marie Sundelius.

Mezzo-sopranos and contraltos — Alcock, Ina Bourskaya, Anna Philine Falco, Ada Paggi.

Tenors—Mario Chamlee, Giovanni Martinelli, Giordano Paltrinieri, Tito Armand Tokatyan.

Baritones—Mario Pasiola, Louis D'Angelo, Giuseppe Danise, Desiré Defrere, Giacomo Rimini.

Basses—Paolo Ananian, Virgilio Lazzari, Léon Rothier, Vittorio Trevisan.

Conductors—Louis Hasselmans, Gennaro Papi; assistant conductors, Wilfred Pelletier, Giacomo Spadoni; concert conductor, Eric DeLamarter; stage manager, Armando Agnini.

That, not to put too fine a point on it, is something of a list. Few of its artists are actual newcomers to Ravinia. Those who are possess a high repute wherever music is known. The same is to be said of virtually all of those who are returning. Some of the latter group have been away merely through the interim since last summer; some since the season of 192; others since 1922; still others have not sung at Ravinia in a longer period. But there isn't a singer or a conductor in the röster whose name doesn't mean something in the world of opera, whether the cardinal spot of the world be regarded, at the time in question, as Berlin, Milan, Buenos Aires, New York, London, or Chicago. In brief, there is nothing local about any of the Ravinia artists for 1925; and that is the best reason for not printing today what their assignments have been in the past.

As to operas new to Ravinia, there is Puccini's "Manon Lescaut," which has not been heard in this neighborhood for fully fifteen years. In order to avoid possible misapprehension, I hasten to add that the other "Manon," Massenet's, will also be included in the repertoire. Other new works will be Verdi's "A Masked Ball," Halevy's "The Jewess," and that curio of song and fun, "Crispino e la Comare" by the brothers Ricci. There is also word of the revival of Thomas' "Mignon," Wolf-Ferrari's "The Jewels of the Madonna," and Donizetti's "Don Pasquale."

Some Parts for Some Singers.

Miss Raisa, a great singer, will be involved in "A Masked Ball." She also will for the first time anywhere take up the respective title rôles of Puccini's "Madama Butterfly" and Giordano's "Fédora." Fédora will be her second Sardou part; most opera goers know how thrillingly she acts and sings the other, that of Floria Tosca.

Miss Pareto and that superb basso-buffo, Mr. Trevisan, will be opposites in the performance of "Crispino e la Comare," wherein his impersonation of the foolish shoemaker is a classic of lyric funmaking. These singers will be in the revival of "Don Pasquale," also.

Mr. Schipa's list of parts will include those in which he is most popular, with Almaviva in "The Barber of Seville," Des Grieux in Massenet's "Manon," Lionel in "Martha," and the romantic bandit in "Fra Diavolo" among them.

Miss Bori, who liked Ravinia and was liked there so much last year that she is returning for the full season of 1925, is to have not only her famous part of Fiora in "The Love of the Three Kings," but also the title rôle of "Thais," which thus gets back to Ravinia's stage.

Mr. Martinelli, whose round of heroic and tragic rôles last season made him an idol of Ravinia's patrons, will be heard in a number of operas in which he didn't appear in his initial engagement. One of these is Giordano's "Andrea Chenier," a favorite on the north shore.

Other details as to the pending season will keep till later weeks. However, it is just as well to mention here that the gifted Eric DeLamarter has been reëngaged as director of all concerts, and that the players under him will be those who best know him for the master, the scholar, and the musician he is—the men of the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

With the Melody Makers.

Henry Hadley is to be the guest conductor of the Apollo Musical club tomorrow night, when his own "Resurgam," a setting of the poem by Louise Ayres Garnett of Evanston, is sung. The piece was put into the club's répertoire a season or so ago, when Harrison M. Wild conducted it. Preceding it will come Liszt's setting of Psalm XIII, with Edgar Nelson at the baton. The soloists of the evening will be Helen Hewitt, Leah Pratt, Theo Karle, and Bernard Ferguson. The Chicago Symphony orchestra and Calvin Lampert, organist, will play the instrumental score.

When Mieczyslaw Münz first played here a little more than a year ago, not much was learned about him except that a new and decisive personality among pianists had arrived. In advance of his second appearance this afternoon, some typewritten material tells that he is 25 years old, that he arrived in New York three years ago with the traditional impecuniosity of genius, and that the tall, gawky Pole has been a darling of the gods, a homely darling, but nevertheless a favorite. (The words are those of the press agent, not mine.) He was the son of a Cracow jurist, played by ear at the age of 3, studied with local teachers from 9 to 14, and later with Lalewicz in Vienna and Busoni in Berlin. His program today will include the Bach-Busoni toccata and fugue in C, Beethoven's so called Moonlight Sonata, some Godowsky transcriptions, and works by Rachmaninoff and Chopin.

Here's Quick Relief From Sour Stomach

Haley's Magnesia-Oil overcomes Acidosis; casts off waste poisons

If you are troubled with bad breath, heartburn, upset stomach after every meal, you can put your trouble down to Acidosis (sour stomach).

Don't go through life a chronic dyspeptic. Stop at your druggist's today and get a bottle of Haley's Magnesia-Oil. It will fix you up in a hurry.

The Embassy
PINE GROVE AT DIVERSEY PKWY.

An Example of Hotel Supremacy

Many things not commonly said of hotels could be truthfully spoken of The Embassy. It is undoubtedly the many little things arranged for the personal convenience of guests that make The Embassy outstandingly popular.

Here, under one roof, have been assembled a number of individual homes, each different from others in furnishings and arrangement. Just how far we have gone in planning for your comfort can best be realized when you view these suites. The light, airy bedrooms and living rooms are furnished in period styles. There is adequate closet space and each floor has its own trunk room. Most of the apartments have kitchenettes.

Here, too, is refinement—and the price is sensible. Socially there are numerous advantages, promoted by location—overlooking Lincoln Park and a few minutes removed from the loop. The famous Embassy Restaurant offers facilities for large or small parties. Any one or all of these features will be shown you whenever you can conveniently call.

Perhaps Masks for the Lady Playgoer

By Burns Mantle

Wycherley? And if Wycherley, why not Dryden? And if Dryden, how can we escape the masks?

Helen Freeman is playing Angelica in "Love for Love," Eva Balfour the naughty Mrs. Foresight, and Adrienne Morrison that honest bawd, Mistress Frail. Walter Abel is the Sir Sampson, and Perry Ivins the rough rover, Ben. Between scenes there are songs, all of the period and some from the play.

"The Dunce Boy" Begins Well.

I am still keen, and confess it boldly, for the hopeful and happy drama when hopefulness and happiness can be achieved without wrenching the probabilities or making sport of the average playgoer's intelligence.

Lula Vollmer has written a new play called "The Dunce Boy." You may recall her as the author of "Sun Up" and also of "The Shame Woman," neither very happy, but both hopeful and stimulating in their humaneness.

"The Dunce Boy" is like the other two in that it deals with the simple folk of the southern mountains. The name part is that of a visionary half-wit grown to be 19, "strong as a man and clean as a woman," who has visions and hears grand music singing through the trees and in the hum of the mill saws his father operates.

Some day it is the mother's ambition to take the dunce boy to the city and have his mental kinks straightened out, and she has been saving the family money with that one thing in view.

But something always happens to savings like that. These are taken by the dunce boy's father, a brutal fellow, and invested in a saw mill. He writes a check for the sum and gives it to the boy to mail. And the boy, taking the letter, puts it with another given him by the pretty school teacher boarding with the family, and starts for town with them.

Teacher is a sweet, wild mountain rose sort of girl, and sometimes the dunce boy's mother fears for her. She tells her son, for instance, that he must never touch Miss Rosy, because if he does she will wither, just as picked flowers do when he crushes them in his hands.

The lesson is impressive until the boy sees another man kiss Miss Rosy and hold her in his arms. She does not wither or die under his embraces. If one can love Rosy, why not another? It is with evil in his mind, the mother believes, that the unhappy boy, wild with love of the girl, follows her to the school house a week later. Mother follows after but cannot find either her son or her boarder. An hour later the boy comes back, clothes torn, face bleeding, bearing the girl, disheveled and unconscious, in his arms.

Unnecessarily Tragic End.

It is a taut little drama up to this last half of the last act. At this point the father's savings have been lost because the mill he bought is reported burned to the ground. The school teacher's romance has been shattered because the letter she had sent by the boy to the village dismissed her lover in favor of another man, who has since been proved a rotter.

And now this last terrible thing has happened. But as suddenly as a walker in the forest might come into a clearing bathed in gorgeous sunlight, the tragedy clears. The boy, far from attacking the girl, has saved her from the attack of the villain. And in his pocket are the two letters he had forgotten to mail. Father's check is safe, and Rosy's lover is reclaimed.

Then Miss Vollmer, fearful, I suspect, of being considered conventional, a little afraid to be either happy or hopeful, becomes as wildly illogical as possible. She lets mother think her son is to be hanged by a mob because he may have murdered the girl's assailant. And the boy, rushing wildly toward the mill in search of his great music, throws himself on the saw and is killed.

Gareth Hughes is back from the movies playing the dunce boy, a morbid idiot, but dramatic; Antoinette Perry is wonderful as the mother, and Louis Mason is credited with a character hit as a peddler.

Only Maude Adams for Barrie.

"The Little Minister" died in two weeks at the Empire, with Ruth Chatterton playing Babbie. And "Peter Pan" curled up in Philadelphia its first week on the road. I don't suppose that Maude Adams herself, twenty years younger than she is at 51, could have saved either play, though I'll wager my future she could have played "Mary Rose" through to several seasons' success. Even the Barrie charm becomes a little dated.

But with these two carefully and expensively staged failures in mind, I can't help picturing to myself the secret satisfaction that little Adams lady must feel in her heart.

She has read a lot the last six or eight years about what some other American actress was going to do for Barrie, once the Scot's repertoire of plays was released. They needed youth, it has been printed; they needed this and that. And Maude Adams was wrong in holding the rights to them against her possible return to the stage. What they needed was Maude Adams. What a Barrie play will always need for us is Maude Adams. And unhappy day! I am afraid they will never win her again. She is still fussing with her colored moving pictures, and happy as an actress can be who is not acting.

The American Language

By H. L. Mencken.

of them to abandon their books and get out upon the street, to take off their horn rimmed glasses and open their ears.

The fact surprised me; it seemed incredible that men devoting their whole lives to a subject should be so neglectful of its most obvious materials. In no other country was there any such lofty disdain of the actual speech of the people. In Germany, in France, and in Scandinavia philologians of the first eminence—men far superior, professionally, to any student of language ever heard of in America—studied dialect and even slang with great diligence, and were alert to every shift in popular speech habits, however trivial or transient. Even in England there was an immense literature upon the subject, and some of it was very learned; the latest English grammars, in fact, passed over the written language altogether and were based upon the spoken language, with all its elisions and neologisms. But in America, save for a few articles, there was only the file of "Dialect Notes"—and "Dialect Notes" showed all the feebleness of a diocesan mission paper.

Criticism at Home.

I was destined to suffer a still greater surprise when my book came out. The general reviews, appreciating the interest of the subject and generously allowing for the obvious defects of the inquirer, discussed it at great length. It was reviewed seriously in Germany, France, and Scandinavia; it got long notices in England; letters began to come in from eminent continental philologians, asking for further light on this or that point.

But in America, in the main, the gentlemen of the English faculty fell upon it with ferocity, like crusaders shinning up the walls of Jerusalem. Not only, it quickly appeared, was the book itself incompetent and insane; its very subject was evil. To study the speech actually spoken by the American people, to give ear to the racy phrases of the street, to trace the widening divergences between English and American usage, to investigate popular pronunciation, popular syntax, and popular word forms—all this, I found, was in some mysterious way a sin against the Holy Ghost. The thing went to ludicrous lengths. One eminent pedagogue solemnly assured a party of visiting English philologians that the great heart of America throbbed against me—that there was absolutely no disposition here, save among a few bolsheviki, to flout the authority of the motherland.

That was several years ago. Whether or not there has been a change of view among the corn fed Gelehrten since then I don't know. The plan to print a dictionary of American English seems to point that way—despite the inevitable call for help from England. I do not attempt to prejudge the work of Dr. Craigie. He is a learned and virtuous man, well schooled in Scandinavian grammar and holy writ. But I suspect that when he comes to seeking aids among American professors of English he will find that very few of them know anything, not known to every school boy, about the speech they hear every day, and speak themselves, no doubt, when they are in their cups.

It Is Always Thus.

He will not be deceived by the doctrine that he will find most of them cherishing, to wit, that there is no American dialect of English, that Dr. Coolidge and Dr. Dawes speak precisely the same language that is spoken so beautifully by the Master of Peterhouse and the Archbishop of Canterbury. No Englishman believes anything of the sort. I am doomed to read, professionally, most of the English reviews. I can't recall any of them ever reviewing an American book without making mention of its copious Americanisms, often waspishly. Such Americanisms, it appears, are apparent to Englishmen in even the most learned work. In the Times' literary supplement they are not only mentioned; they are roundly denounced. The American language, to an Englishman, seems to be far from respectable English.

Naturally enough, he dislikes it, especially when he hears it spoken. In precisely the same way a German dislikes the German spoken in Switzerland, and a Dane dislikes the speech of Norway, though it is theoretically identical with his own. Here we come upon a universal human trait: the tendency to be offended by usages that pretend to be our own and yet depart from them slightly. Such slight differences are far more offensive than great differences. I challenge any American to listen to an Australian speaking without feeling uncomfortable. The Australian speaks a language that is far more American than English. His vocabulary is full of obvious Americanisms; his tones have an unmistakably Yankee color. But, no matter how well educated he may be, he always adds a Cockney whine. It is as disagreeable as the howl of a dog. It sets the teeth on edge. But precisely the same whine, heard in the speech of an actual Cockney, is only amusing.

So the educated Englishman dislikes educated American, spoken or written. It is his own speech, and yet it is horribly not his own speech. Whenever he gets a chance in print he denounces it—to the terror and humiliation of all our home brewed professors of English.

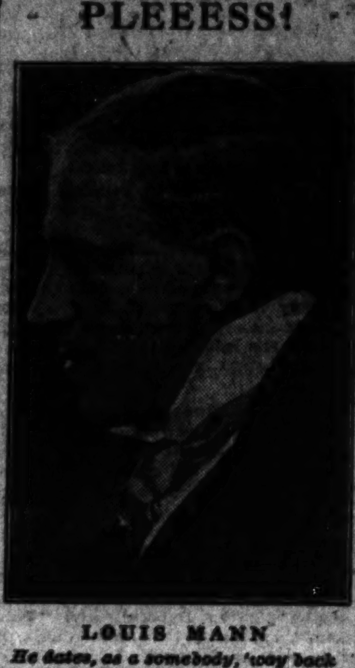
PLEEESS!



LOUIS MANN

He dates, as a somebody, 'way back to "Incog," which was a popular farce when the 'Nineties were young. He's been here in many plays since then: some with tunes in them, and some with tears, and some with tantrums. . . . Mr. Mann, absent little more than a year, comes back tonight in "Milgrim's Progress."

New Playbills

What Is Due in the Chicago Theaters as Far Ahead as the Managers Know or Care to Tell About.

OPENING TONIGHT:

"The Green Hat" in the Selwyn.—Michael Arlen's play based on his like-named novel; the piece had its première a fortnight ago in Detroit. . . . Miss Katherine Cornell, Miss Ann Harding (who was so good in "The Horse-Thief"), and Leslie Howard are in the cast.

William Collier in "Going Crooked" in the Cort.—A comedy of the star's part-authorship in which he has been acting in other cities in preparation for a showing here or in New-York. . . . Frank Monroe, George Schiller, and Miss Leila Hyams are of the cast.

Louis Mann in "Milgrim's Progress" in Cohan's Grand.—The well-known dialect-player in a comic piece about the generations by Benjamin Orkow. It has been acted in New-York.

"Shipwrecked" in the Studebaker.—A storm-at-sea melodrama by Langdon McCormick, who specializes in what are known as "big effects." The one in this play is said to have staggered 'em when given in New-York, earlier in the season. . . . Miss Margaret Mower is in it.

"Spooks" in the Playhouse.—A "mystery-play" by Robert Sherman that is said to have caught the fancy of those who go to the stock-company performances in Hammond and other places. . . . Harry Minturn and Madame Bartlett-Schildkraut are in it.

The Marx Brothers in "I'll Say She Is!" in the Apollo.—Return of the four amusing recruits from the two-a-day in the loose and merry show in which they performed in the Autumn of 1923 in the Studebaker. They have since been through a long run in the New-York Casino.

Miss Florence Mills in "Dixie to Broadway" in the Auditorium.—The Negro soubrette and her company in the miscellany with which they regaled patrons of the Garrick early in the current season.

OPENING TOMORROW NIGHT:

"Be Yourself!" in the Harris.—A comic play by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly with music by Lewis Gensler and Milton Schwartzwald; the piece was shown in New-York in the recent Autumn. . . . Miss Queenie Smith, Jack Donahue, and Miss Georgie Caine are in the company.

OPENING APRIL 19:

Eddie Dowling in "Sally, Irene, and Mary" in the Garrick.—A song-play shown in the Great Northern in 1923 without Mr. Dowling, who is part-author. It was a popular success in New-York through a long run with him in it.

Film Stars Brave Deluge at Races

By Rosalind Shaffer.

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—[Special Correspondence.]—Tijuana proved much wetter than forecast, which is pretty wet, last Sunday. Thin and lovely sports outfits and dainty white buckskin brogues were sheathed in oilskin and galoshes—that is, if the lovely owners kept up heart enough to venture forth at all toward the Mexican race track town. It rained pitchforks all day.

Hollywood's beauty and chivalry were pretty well represented at the Coffroth handicap—feature horse race of these parts—in spite of the bad weather.

At the Clubhouse.

Jack Dempsey with his wife, Estelle Taylor; Lew Cody with somebody else's wife, Mrs. May Ayes; Roscoe Arbuckle with his wife-to-be, Doris Deane; and Bob Leonard without his wife made interesting and convivial groups at the track clubhouse during the races. Kenneth Harlan with Marie Prevost, Al Roscoe with Barbara Bedford, Carl Laemmle, Rosalie Laemmle, and Irving Thalberg, Joseph Schenck, Ruth Roland, Norma Shearer, Carmel Myers, Jocelyn Lee, Frank Borzage and Herbert K. Somborn, Gloria Swanson's ex-husband, were noticed at the track.

Rudolph Valentino and Winifred Hudnut Valentino with Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Cohen spent part of the week at San Diego and were noticed at parties at the Hotel Del Coronado. So also was Agnes Ayres with a family party. Frances Dale, newly signed Cecil De Mille protégé, was the guest, with her husband, of Jim Coffroth at the Handicap.

Told About Ricardo.

Let no one underestimate the power of the sheik. Just when Alma Rubens has finally got her engagement to Ricardo Cortez safely announced, comes this yarn. A party of middle western fans were being shown Lasky's studio. One fair fan was standing behind Cortez. He turned facing her, at which the maid gave a gasp and did an Elaine-the-Lily-Maid-of-Astolat swoon into the arms of the surprised guide. Tell me Ricardo doesn't knock 'em cold!

Lew Cody, the wicked devil, was relating his troubles in getting cast for some rôle other than a dressed up society villain. If there's anything Lew hankers after, it's a chance to don chaps and sombrero and do a Bill Hart.

"When they cast me in this picture, 'Nothing to Wear,' I took heart only to find the title lied and lied. They have exactly twenty-six changes of outfit for me, all very dressy." And Lew staggered off, tears dropping down the iron shirt front that is his badge of servitude.

Mae Murray Departs.

Announcement of Mae Murray's intentions of obtaining a divorce from Bob Leonard in Paris startled no one in Hollywood. In fact, general gossip credited Mae with making her Paris trip a Ponce de Leon quest after the Fountain of Youth—what better way than by losing a husband and getting one's face lifted all at one fell swoop?

Jacqueline Logan, back recently from Havana, arrived two days ago from Truckee, Cal., where she was rushed immediately on her return to these parts from the sunny Antilles.

Jacqueline declares herself completely sold on Cuba, and says Paris models, even by Patou, are to be had in Havana for half the Paris prices.

"A $24 phial of imported French perfume can be got for $8; marvelous native handwork can be had for little, and as for amusements, the new Casino provides all the thrills of Monte Carlo."

Wild Report—or Wild Camel.

Jack Holt, on location in Fish Creek cañon, Arizona, where he is making "The Light of the Western Stars," reports a thriller. A desert rat came staggering into the movie camp saying he saw a wild camel. Every one was admonishing him to change over to coffee when Jack became nearly as noted as Mr. Volstead and Omar Khayyam as he suddenly recalled that after the civil war the government had imported camels for use in crossing the desert, and when the scheme failed and the beasts were sold or shot some escaped.

FEDERALITE FLOOR VARNISH

Makes Floors Glisten

And how it does wear! Federalite Floor Varnish is specially made to resist the daily tramping and hard usage to which floors are subjected.

Federalite is waterproof and frequent washings do not affect its beautiful gloss. It forms a tough elastic coating that will not spot, mar, or scratch white.

Easily Applied—Dries Over Night

Anyone can easily apply Federalite Floor Varnish with amazing results. It dries over night and is so smooth that cleaning is no trick at all.

Once use Federalite and you will never again use ordinary varnish.

Your dealer has Federalite Floor Varnish or he will get it for you. Otherwise phone us direct.

BIG INDUSTRIES CO-OPERATE TO AID LISTENERS

To Shut Down by Turns to Trace Trouble.

Washington, D. C., April 11.—Reflecting better understanding and coöperation between the large industrial plants of the country and radio listeners is an unusual case reported from Johnstown, Pa. Three large plants there have actually volunteered to shut down for a time by way of assisting the government officials in locating the source of radio interference in that vicinity.

They are the Bethlehem Steel company, which operates twenty-four hours a day, seven days in the week, and is, therefore, a particularly difficult service to interrupt, the Penn Public Service corporation and the Pennsylvania railroad.

Traced to Big Plants.

The interference at Johnstown was originally thought to have been caused by amateurs, but when James C. McNary, government radio supervisor stationed at Detroit and sent from there to investigate the trouble, arrived at Johnstown he found, as is frequently the case, that interference evidently was caused by the electric power lines in that vicinity.

At the present time the trouble points to the Bethlehem Steel plant, whose executives have shown a commendable spirit in endeavoring to eliminate the trouble if produced by their lines. Accordingly, the plant will be shut down for intervals shortly after midnight on Sunday mornings.

At that time they will kill their 2,300 volt electric bus power line. The feeders will then be energized one at a time and careful observation made to see if any of these are causing the trouble.

Process of Elimination.

If interference does not stop with this the Penn Public Service corporation plant will voluntarily shut down and the same procedure will be followed. If the trouble cannot be located in the lines of these two companies the Pennsylvania railroad plant will submit itself to the process of elimination.

This is pointed out by government officials as a splendid example of the spirit of coöperation on the part of big companies, not only to help the department of commerce radio inspectors, but as a real service to broadcasters and listeners.

A. R. A. VICTORY PROVES VALUE OF ORGANIZING

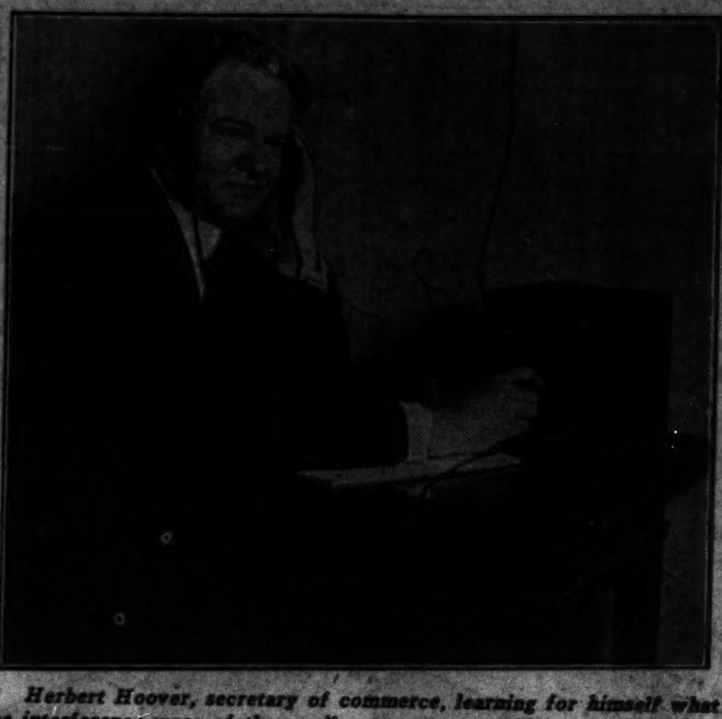
New York, April 11.—[Special.]—What can be accomplished when listeners-in organize to bring about better radio reception has recently been demonstrated by the American Radio association, the national organization representing the listeners-in. Many fans in the vicinity of New York, tormented by having their programs chopped to pieces by the old transmitter on the government's mail boat President, complained to Alfred M. Caddell, secretary of the association, who took the matter up with Postmaster General New and brought about an order from the postoffice department for an up to date transmitter to replace the obsolete equipment on the mail boat. Today word was received at the offices of the A. R. A. that the new transmitter was being installed.

"Listeners-in all over the country will be glad to learn that code interference is on the wane," said Mr. Caddell in a survey of the situation. "The campaign against this particular kind of interference has borne much fruit. The majority of amateurs and the commercial telegraph companies have had the sagacity to voluntarily control their transmitting apparatus in order not to spoil the broadcast programs."

Radio Set Exports Take Jump of 300 Per Cent

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—An increase of over 300 per cent in exports of radio sets and parts from the United States to Asia, Africa, and Australia during 1924 is reflected in shipments in that direction amounting to $1,541,222, as compared with $336,369 for 1923, according to the department of commerce. Australia is the leading market for American radio manufacturers in these areas, Japan being second in importance and New Zealand third—from the standpoint of total purchases during 1924. Australia was the recipient of approximately 63 per cent of all radio apparatus shipped from the United States during 1924 to the markets under consideration. The greatest growth in Australia purchases took place from July to November, 1924, inclusive.

RADIO BOSS HUNTING TROUBLE



Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, learning for himself what the interference woes of the small set owner are. He says he will use this one tube set till he finds out all about interference. His face indicates he has not yet heard any whistles.

RADIO FRAUDS TO BE DRIVEN OUT OF TRADE

Better Business Bureau Put on Trail.

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—The radio buying public of the future will be afforded more protection than has been possible in the past, according to Alfred M. Caddell, secretary of the American Radio association, who has announced that the association has taken steps to coöperate with the Better Business bureau in an effort to eliminate fraudulent advertising and merchandising from the radio market. This has admittedly been a handicap from which the more honorable manufacturers, dealers, and the public alike have suffered, many unscrupulous adventurers having taken advantage of the newness of radio to exploit prchasers of radio devices.

Demand Skill and Honesty.

"With radio more than any other art that has come into the home, the inherent value of accuracy, fine dimensions, and quality of material that enters into a radio set is becoming more and more apparent," said Mr. Caddell. "In fact, good reception depends on such factors. The capacities of tubes and condensers, the inductance of coils, and the various other invisible but all-important features that enter into satisfactory performance call for skill and honesty in manufacturing. Too often, however, has spurious equipment been sold over the counter as reliable merchandise.

"This was due partly to the tremendous welcome given radio by the buying public, which resulted in drawing imitators and venders of false statements and false goods into the market.

Trade on Good Will.

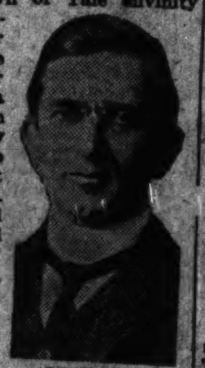
"They rode along on the selling wave and lost no time cashing in on the heavy buying demand and trading on the good will of the manufacturers of dependable merchandise. Some imitators have gone so far as to copy the trademark and container of a reliable manufacturer, with the result that the public has been bunked and the more honorable part of the trade greatly injured.

"As one instance of deception, there is the well known UV 201A tube, which has been imitated by plenty of Type 201A tubes. However, as one official of the Better Business bureau pointed out, the prospective purchaser of radio equipment should ask for what he wants and be sure he gets what he asks for. There is a wealth of caution embodied in that thought, and public insistence along that line will do much to keep spurious merchandise out of the market."

Boston Likes "Athens," but "Greece"? Heavens!

Guiomar Novaes, the Brazilian pianist, was an unannounced feature of the program at WAHG recently. She does not speak English fluently. On the air she was interviewed by Robert A. Simon, the novelist. In trying to tell how much she had enjoyed a recent visit to Boston, Mme. Novaes wanted to imply that the "City of the Bean" was the "Athens of America," but she said Boston was the "Greece" of America. Boston postcards rained in on WAHG for the South American beauty asking, "What do you mean—grease?"

SUNDAY EVENING CLUB WILL HEAR DEAN CHAS. R. BROWN



DEAN C. R. BROWN.

In addition to an address by Dean Charles R. Brown of Yale divinity school, Easter music by the choir of 100, under the direction of Edgar Nelson, will be a leading attraction of the Sunday Evening club service broadcast by KYW tonight. The Imperial Male quartet will sing a group of songs at 7 o'clock, after which Dean Shailer Mathews of the University of Chicago will give a twenty minute talk on "Andrew, Simon Peter's Brother." Following this will be the organ recital by Stanley Martin, a prelude to the main meeting beginning at 8 o'clock, at which Dean Brown will speak on the subject "The Trivial and the Vital in Religion."

Powerful Station Near Completion at Vancouver

The Canadian National railways expects to put in commission by the end of May a new high power broadcasting station at Vancouver. Its call letters will be CNRV.

TITANIC LESSON REAL START OF RADIO CONTROL

Jamming of Air Leads to Regulation.

Worthy of thought on the thirteenth anniversary of the sinking of the Titanic, Wednesday, April 15th, is the progress made since then in the regulation of the use of radio at a time of disaster. Wireless was new in those days. People were unaccustomed to getting the news so quickly.

They were dazed and stunned by the wireless flash that the Titanic, the costliest, most powerful, and greatest of all ocean liners had hit an iceberg off Newfoundland. And that on her maiden voyage she had been sunk in water two miles deep with a loss of 1,500 lives, including such notables as Col. John Jacob Astor, Maj. Archie Butt, President Taft's military aid; Mr. and Mrs. Isador Strauss, Henry B. Harris, and others. For almost an entire day they didn't seem to be able to realize that it was true.

Messages Jam Air.

That great confusion subsequently resulted from the jamming of the air with wireless messages in a frantic effort to get more news is evident from a dispatch of that day, which reads:

"It was practically impossible to get any reliable information by wireless because of the great number of wireless concerns breaking into the field and because of the work of amateur operators. It appears the disaster to the Titanic had no sooner been flashed over the seas than about every wireless instrument along the coast within range began operations sending and receiving with no thought of others, and so the net result soon became a hopeless jumble, from which distorted and inaccurate messages were patched up in haphazard fashion and announced to the anxious world.

Cause of Confusion.

"It is believed this chaos was responsible for the messages that the Titanic was en route for Halifax under her own steam at 8 o'clock at night when, as a matter of fact, the vessel had been sixteen hours at the bottom of the sea. This same chaos is held responsible for the reports that passengers were being calmly taken off the ship in the afternoon when the ship really went down at 2 o'clock in the morning."

At that, due to wireless aid, as crude as it was at that time, upwards of 700 lives were saved. Two definite things came from the sinking of the Titanic. First, radio discipline and governmental control at a time of maritime disaster and, second, the formation of an international ice patrol, resulting in the systematic guarding against the danger of floatnig ice along the great trans-Atlantic ship lanes.

Talks at Mooseheart

H. L. RATHBONE.

[Harris & Ewing Photo.]

Representative Henry R. Rathbone of Illinois will give a talk from the Loyal Order of Moose station WJJD, at Mooseheart, Ill., at 7:45 p. m. on Tuesday, April 14. He will talk on "Young America."

Mr. Rathbone is a graduate of Yale and of the law department of the University of Wisconsin. He is a lecturer at the John Marshall Law school of Chicago and at National and American universities of Washington, D. C., and is regarded as an authority on the constitution of the United States.

His grandfather was the Hon. Ira Morris, United States senator from New York during the civil war and one of President Lincoln's stanchest supporters. His father and mother were also intimate friends of President and Mrs. Lincoln, and, while engaged to be married, were in the box at Ford's theater at the time of Lincoln's assassination. His father, an army officer, was severely injured by Booth when he endeavored to protect the President.

UNPARDONABLE SIN IS SNEEZING INTO MICROPHONE

Men who listen day after day at the control board to everything broadcast from KGO are sensitive about unusual sounds before the microphones.

One sure way of offending Jim Martin, Joe Baker, or Norman Woodford, KGO control room operators, is to sneeze before a microphone. A sneeze, according to these experts, is inhuman and is comparable to an explosion in a shingle yard. Even clearing the throat, which sounds like the rattling of broken pottery, is bad enough, they say.

Operators are first of all always on the listen for sounds in the equipment, hisses, clicks, and scratches which tell their respective stories to the trained ear. Unusual sounds always attract attention. The man who jingles money in his pockets while talking before a microphone, the woman who rattles her beads while she sings, the fellow who holds his watch too close to the microphone; all these people must reform their habits, operators say.

PUBLIC'S MUSIC TASTE SHOWN ON 'REQUEST NIGHT'

Every Type of Selection Revealed.

A request program which was a remarkable indication of the public taste in music as expressed by persons who made their wishes known in advance and was pianistically a veritable feat was given at station KSD, St. Louis, recently by Vin James, pianist, of Belleville, Ill. The radio public had been informed in advance of the decision to present this program and had been told that any one wishing his favorite number played might have his desire gratified if he would send his request to KSD. Upwards of 300 compositions were asked for, and in the three hours' duration of the program seventy-six compositions representing 323 requests were played.

Gives Varied Program.

James played a varied program which extended from the "Largo" of Handel to "Redhot Mamma" and included piano transcriptions of songs, portions of operas, famous classics, and popular numbers. As a commentary on the jazz wave now sweeping over the land it was interesting to note in the series of requests received that the "Peer Gynt Suite" of Grieg led all in point of numbers of votes. It was asked for by forty-three persons.

Percy Grainger's "Shepherds Hey" and "Country Gardens," "Henry VIII. Dances" by German, and the "Sonata Pathetique" by Beethoven came next as favorites among the requests received. Each one of these compositions was asked for by twenty or more persons.

Both Old and New.

Next on the list was "All Alone" by Irving Berlin and the "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers" by Jessel. The requests harked all the way back to the "Merry Widow" waltz in light music and came up to the very minute in "Moonlight Kisses" from the 1925 Greenwich Village Follies. "Poet and Peasant" overture, that war horse of moving picture theater orchestras, was requested by eighteen persons, being tied with "Three o'Clock in the Morning." "The Pal That I Love" had twelve requests and "Redhot Mamma" only one. "Shanghai Shuffle" had three. "Follow the Swallow" and "What's Become of Sally" were desired by only four persons each, and "El Capitan" march by Sousa was asked for by ten interested persons. "Humoresque" by Dvorak had eleven votes.

James could not play more than the numbers given because of lack of time and physical endurance.

B. L. A. to Demonstrate New Form of Receiver

The meeting of the Broadcast Listeners' association next Wednesday evening at the Hamilton Park field house, it is announced, will be especially interesting to all owners of sets. A low loss receiver developed recently will be demonstrated. There will be educational talks, and the eliminator shown at the last meeting will again be demonstrated. There is no admission charge at these meetings and information is free.

RADIO IN CHINA GROWS DESPITE MILITARY EDICT

Report Many Sets Seized as Contraband.

Hartford, Conn., April 11.—[Special.]—Despite existing doubt as to the legality of importing radio receiving sets into China, that country has twenty privately owned broadcast stations and 5,000 listeners, says a correspondent of the American Radio Relay league. "The Chinese Press," after making a thorough investigation on behalf of its readers, admits frankly that it does not know whether the importation of completely assembled receivers is legal or not.

Edict in the Way.

It is reported that the Chinese government issued an edit against the importation of "military" equipment, and in some quarters this term has been applied to radio sets. The customs authorities have refused to admit assembled sets and it is rumored that a considerable stock has been seized and held by them. However, several companies in Shanghai are selling receivers openly upon instructions of consular and diplomatic officials that the government cannot possibly classify radio sets as military equipment.

The number of persons interested in radio is increasing constantly, according to the Press, which states that it receives inquiries upon the subject almost daily.

Assembled by Dealers.

It does not attempt to explain how the several thousand receiving sets now in use got into China, or how they were obtained by local companies. The assumption is that the parts have been imported as "electrical materials" and assembled by the dealers themselves.

In order to keep up with the public demand, which is insistent, magazines and newspapers, following the example of those in the United States and many other countries, are printing no end of hookups and instructions for building home made sets.

New Crosley Musicone

Radio's Most Startling Development

17.50

We believe the beautiful new Crosley Musicone is the finest reproducer of voice and of all music, by way of radio, that has ever been built.

For this new Crosley product literally revolutionizes radio reception, and its coming spells the beginning of the end for the loud-speaker, as the world knows it today.

This year alone we expect it to replace half a million of the present-day loud-speakers.

Its new beauty, as well as its wonderful tonal qualities, will appeal irresistibly to every radio owner.

The speaking voice, piano, violin, drums, all the notes of all instruments, are reproduced with life-like fidelity by the Crosley Musicone—and there is absolutely no distortion, because the Crosley is built on new principles, covered by basic patents issued and pending, which are far in advance of anything heretofore developed.

Without a horn, sound is diffused from the Crosley floating cône throughout the room, every note clear and full.

Hear the Crosley Musicone for yourself—at the store or in your own home—and you will say you have never before heard such performance.

$340 in Prizes

Go to your dealer now, to see and hear the Crosley Musicone. No obligation to buy. Then you are ready to enter our Advertising Slogan Contest. Grand Prize—$100 for the best slogan submitted. State Prizes—$5 for the best slogan submitted from each state. In case of tie, identical prizes will be awarded to tied contestants. Contest closes in Cincinnati at midnight May 25, 1925. DE FOREST HAS FIRST TICK OF SUCCESS HERE

Gets Signal Transmitted Three Blocks Away.

The first wireless message both transmitted and received in Chicago covered a distance of three blocks from a laboratory in Armour institute to a telephone receiver on the roof of the Lakota hotel. The record is authenticated by the secretary of Armour institute. The date was July 21, 1901.

A young fellow on the roof of the Lakota that day about noon wore shoes that were split. His clothes were threadbare. One pocket contained 20 cents, and he had two meals left unpunched on his "ticket." He stood there clasping to one ear an old telephone receiver. He shivered from nervous tension. Suddenly he yelled.

It was an exultant shout caused by the reception of his first message. The youth on the hotel roof was Lee De Forrest, and the sender of the message was E. H. Smythe, his firm friend, who shared his room with the young inventor when the latter's former landlady ordered him out.

Profligate with Gas.

Why was the landlady so abrupt? For two reasons. Do Forrest owed her $8. Fourthermore, he kept her at the gas meter dropping in quarters.

De Forrest would work all day at Armour institute, then spend most of the night tinkering and studying in his room, at her expense in gas. She felt aggrieved, so she made him go.

Several times in recent years when visiting Chicago Mr. De Forrest has tried to find that landlady, to pay her those "eight bucks." Said he on one occasion:

"I didn't mean to stick her for the money. Hell's bells! I didn't have it, nor for a long time afterward. I wish I could find her."

What Marconi had just accomplished in Europe, De Forest, close on his heels, had accomplished in America, his intimates claim. Today the world is girdled with De Forest's inventions and discoveries in wireless telegraphy and telephony.

Works at Institute.

And it all dates back to that summer day twenty-four years ago, as drenched with rain, and shivering with alternate waves of hope and dread, he stood on the roof of the Lakota hotel and heard success click in his ear.

De Forest had been employed by the Western Electric company, but the job did not afford time nor opportunity for working out his ideas. So he sought another.

Armour institute gave the eager, frayed young man a job as part time instructor, with the privilege of using the school's equipment.

He spent most of his salary for materials, he tells his friends. During the winter preceding his success he eagerly awaited the advent of summer, because he had an old summer suit not quite so badly worn as his disintegrating winter suit.

Then came the summer of 1901. He and his "pal" Smythe had set July 21 as the day for the record breaking test of transmitting a distance of three blocks instead of three feet. Despite the pouring rain they determined to go through with it.

"I have heard symphonies, arias, opera, all over the world," said Mr. De Forest on a recent trip to Chicago, "but the sweetest music I ever heard was the sound of the Morse 'h's,' the agreed signal, coming through that receiver.

"Armour institute is virtually a shrine to me, while Chicago in general —well, you know!"

LOWDEN TO TALK TO FARMERS ON CO-OPERATION

Ex-Gov. Frank O. Lowden will address the first midwest radio community meeting to be broadcast from WLS on Friday evening at 7:30. The meeting, sponsored jointly by WLS and the Illinois Agricultural association, is to be the first of a series featuring America's leaders in agricultural thought for the man on the farm.

"Coöperative Marketing" will be Mr. Lowden's theme. Other features of this "special meeting," which is to take about two hours, are talks by President Samuel H. Thompson of the I. A. A., the editors of the Prairie Farmer and the Orange Judd Farmer, reports and greetings of the state farm bureaus in the middle west, songs by Ford and Glenn of WLS, and community singing by the Logan and Kane county [Ill.] farm musical organizations.

DON'T HAVE TO LISTEN AT HOME; TAKE SET ALONG

Portables Easy to Carry on Vacations.

The siren song of spring is calling to radio devotees. Warm weather and out-of-doors pastimes are luring the radio fans. Fortunately the radio fans can answer the call this year without loss of their favorite recreation—radio reception. There are portable radio sets to enable the fans to take their entertainment with them.

Radio engineers have devoted a lot of time to the study of portable radio receivers and there are many types on the market. Some are large and cumbersome and others are small and inefficient. The ideal portable receiver is one which can be depended upon for reception of broadcast concerts; light in weight; capable of holding a reasonable amount of battery energy; compact and simply operated.

More portable receivers will be used this year than ever before. Superpower broadcasting stations will permit hearing the broadcast concerts above the static level, while nearly all of the stations will continue with programs throughout the summer. The number of broadcasting stations scattered throughout the country makes it possible to tune-in to one of them regardless of where the user may be with his portable receiver.

HOME MADE SETS WILL COMPETE IN EXHIBITION

More than two hundred home made radio sets are on display at the first annual radio exhibition of the Hawthorne Radio club at the Hawthorne Works, Western Electric company. The club, which now boasts a membership of more than 300 radio fans at the big local Western Electric works, will have on display some of the latest type receiving sets designed and built by members of the organization.

Prizes will be awarded for the best constructed crystal set, the best constructed single tube receiver, the best constructed three tube set and the best constructed five tube set. There will also be prizes for the farthest station brought in on any of the sets on display.

German Invention Can Set Watches by Radio

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

BERLIN, April 11.—Wireless clocks and watches are Germany's newest invention. The plan of the inventor is to send out the time from broadcasting stations on a wave length reserved for the time service only. Special watches of simple construction, designed for this wireless time service, can be attached to all receiving sets, automatically showing the exact time when broadcast by the station.

Trianon's New Station to Be Known as WMBB

Trianon's new broadcasting station has been licensed by the government, assigned a wave length of 250 meters, and given WMBB as call letters, it was announced by Andrew Karzas. The new station is located at Trianon ballroom and will split time with WTAY of Oak Park, Ill. The division of time has, as yet, not been mutually agreed upon. WMBB will go in the air some day this week.

W-G-N NOTES

The famous men's chorus of the operetta, "The Student Prince," playing at the Great Northern theater, will be heard tomorrow afternoon from W-G-N, in Handel's "Alleluia" Chorus. This is positively the only time that this popular organization will go on the air, and it is only because of the religious nature of their offering that the producers have permitted the broadcasting. Easter Monday—tomorrow—at 3 o'clock.

The opening game of the Chicago Cubs against Pittsburgh will be broadcast on Tuesday by W-G-N, and also the contest with St. Louis next Saturday. It's ball time again; tune in on these afternoons and hear the crack of the bat, the roar of the crowds and a snappy play by play story of the game.

College reunions over the radio are the latest thing! The first of a series of college radio reunions will be staged by W-G-N on Wednesday, April 22, which is Universal Notre Dame Night. Alumni clubs of Notre Dame in sixty-eight cities will assemble to listen to the Notre Dame program broadcast by W-G-N between 8 and 9 o'clock. This program includes the university glee club; acts and specialty numbers by the musical comedy organization, the Monogram club; talks by the Rev. James A. Burns, president emeritus, and K. K. Rockne, the football coach; and varsity yells led by Cheer Leader Eddie Luther. Greetings from the older and distant alumni will be read. All of the show will be broadcast from the W-G-N studio.

Gloria Swanson—the Marquise de la Falaise de la Coudray—is to be "radio-interviewed" at W-G-N on Tuesday, April 21. In a half hour interview opening at 6:45 fifty questions submitted by the radio audience will be asked of the movie star. You are invited to send in your own question.

Farm programs arranged by the National Farm Radio council will be staged at W-G-N every Tuesday and Thursday at 12 o'clock noon, running for ten minutes. There will be lectures, plays, debates and monologues, all of an instructive and educational nature. Next Tuesday, E. P. Taylor will speak on "The Farmer Who Smiles," and on Thursday W. S. Dunham will lecture on "A National View of the Present Horse and Mule Industry on Farms."

TRIBUNE RADIO BOOK READY FOR DISTRIBUTION

Storehouse of Facts on Popular Subject.

THE TRIBUNE's radio book is now ready for distribution. If you want to know the qualities to be desired in a radio receiving set or the fundamental principles of radio; if you are interested in the difference between meters and kilocycles, or the functions of vacuum tubes; if you want to learn how to erect an aerial, connect ground wires or batteries and locate trouble, or if you simply want a complete list of all the radio call stations in the United States and a comprehensive list of stations in other parts of the world, you can get it from this book, and its all yours for one dime, 10 cents, if you call for it, or 13 cents if you get it by mail.

The book, which contains eighty-four pages, is a fountain of information about radio. It has charts and graphs and maps and logs, and in the back there is the "Wendex," which you can cut out and paste on your own set for a ready reference to your favorite stations.

It is on sale at the Public Service bureau, 11 South Dearborn street. If you order by mail the bureau asks that you answer the following questions, which will be treated confidential by THE TRIBUNE: Have you a radio set, and, if so, how many tubes? If home made, what type. If factory built, give name. Where did you buy it—at a radio store, a music store, a department store, etc.? If you are to get a new set, which one would you buy or build?

RADIO BRINGS NEW PHASE TO LIBEL QUESTION

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, April 11.—Can a radio broadcasting company be sued for libel like a newspaper for circulating an unfounded report? This question has evoked widespread discussion this week and may lead to a new law to cover the unique situation, undreamt of when libel laws were first made.

The British Broadcasting company recently announced that Cyril Tolley, British amateur golfer, had been divorced in America. Mr. Tolley, listening in at Birmingham, and surprised at the news, telephoned a correction to London. An hour and a half after the first announcement the London announcer suddenly halted the Savoy Orpheum's band to state that the divorced Tolley was Cyril William Tolley, Canadian golfer, and not the internationally known amateur champion.

It is pointed out that thousands of listeners in who heard the first announcement had not heard the correction, and the first report could have caused Mr. Tolley, a confirmed bachelor, the greatest embarrassment. Eminent English barristers declare the radio company is not liable for slander, although a newspaper picking up the news could face a suit under the present law.

Radio Nautical Terms Mystify English Fans

LONDON, April 11.—British listeners in are extremely puzzled by the American announcers' expression "stand by." In response to many letters of inquiry the explanation was published, showing that the term was based on the fact that most announcers were trained as ship operators. The English fans are particularly interested in station KGO, Oakland, Cal., where the announcers refer to the studio floor as the "deck" and the walls as the "bulkheads" and other nautical terms which now are explained.

E. Carleton Kaumeyer to Play at Mooseheart

Of special interest to violin music lovers comes the news from WJJD, Mooseheart, Ill., that E. Carleton Kaumeyer, prominent Chicago violinist, will play one of Handel's sonatas with Agnes Bodholt Conover at the piano at 10:30 p. m. tomorrow night. Mr. Kaumeyer is not a professional violinist, but has won much praise from Chicago critics. He is concert master of the Chicago Business Men's orchestra, an aggregation of excellent musicians recruited from the ranks of prominent Chicagoans.

RADIO PROGRAMS FOR TODAY

(Sunday, April 12.) (Standard Time Throughout.)

Featured on today's program to be broadcast from W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel, is the sacred concert and sermon to begin at noon, given by the noted Paulist choir of St. Mary's church. Directed by Le Roy Wetzel, the choir will render the following program:

1. Processional, "Welcome Happy Morning" ....Hurley
2. Vide Aquam ....Thurder
4. Kyrie.
5. Gloria, from Mass in B flat....Le Roy Wetzel
Sermon, "The Resurrection" ....Fr. J. Donnegan
6. Offertory, "Victimae Paschali" ....Yon
Le Roy Wetzel, organist.
7. Sanctus, "St. Cecilia" ....Gounod
8. Benedictus ....Wetzel
9. Agnus Dei ....Wetzel
10. Recessional, "The Lord is Risen Today."
Le Roy Wetzel, organist.

The soloists will be Walt Weber, tenor; Charles Cooley, basso, and Master John Sassman, soprano. The concert will be broadcast from the church.

At 2 o'clock E. Stanley Seder's organ recital will be heard from Lyon & Healy's studio, followed at 2:30 by a concert given by the Public Service Glee club, under the auspices of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois. A secular program featuring Clarence I. Davis, basso, will be provided under the direction of Prof. William Griswold Smith.

Following this and beginning at 3:30 o'clock, the second of the Chicago Musical college W-G-N contests will be heard. The violin students of the school, eleven of them, will compete in this preliminary trial for the $1,000 violin offered as a prize by Lyon & Healy of Chicago. The judges will be Jacques Gordon, Alexander Zukovsky, Alexander Sebald, and Herman Felber Jr.

Tonight at 9 o'clock Musical Director Charles H. Gabriel Jr., assisted by the Drake concert ensemble, under the direction of Henry Selenger and Miss Ethel Wakefield, will give the twentieth of W-G-N's "Evenings with the Composers," tonight's subject being Charles Camille Saint-Saens, the great Frenchman.

The day begins, as usual, with Uncle Walt in comics for the children at 11 o'clock.

The regularly scheduled program of the Balaban & Katz Chicago theater will be omitted because of the Paulist choir broadcast.

MUSIC CONTEST CONDITIONS ARE REARRANGED

The conditions of the Chicago Musical college contest announced last Sunday have been changed a bit during the week. Instead of broadcasting the final contest from Orchestra hall, as was contemplated, the nine preliminary winners will compete at Central theater on April 26.

The listening public has been invited to compete for $500 the college is offering through W-G-N. Everybody is invited to write, in an essay of not more than 100 words, his opinion as to why this or that artist should win, regardless of what the judges may decide. Essays are not to be written till after the final concert, May 9.

The best twenty essays will be awarded the following cash prizes:

First prize	$100
Second prize	75
Two third prize	50 each
Fourth prize	25
Five fifth prizes	20 each
Ten sixth prizes	10 each

EASTER SERVICE OF COMMANDERY TO BE BROADCAST

In addition to the customary Sunday broadcast of KYW that station will broadcast Easter Sunday services of Chicago commandery No. 19, Knights Templar.

These services will go on the ether by remote control from the Scottish Rite cathedral, Dearborn avenue and Walton place, at 3 p. m. The program will be supported by solo selections, St. Paul's quartet, the bugle corps of Chicago commandery, and organlogue by George J. Kurzenknabe, as well as other features. The Rev. John Henry Hopkins will preach.

MORMON CHURCH WILL ADD TO ITS RADIO FORCES

Washington, D. C., April 11.—As a result of the response that has been secured in broadcasting its Sunday evening radio services, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints has under way additional radio broadcasting installations. At present the Mormon church is broadcasting over KFPT, a 500 watt station at Salt Lake City, Utah. Sacred music by mixed qaurtets and soloists from the Tabernacle Choir are featured, together with twenty-five minute sermons by eminent ecclesiasts of the church.

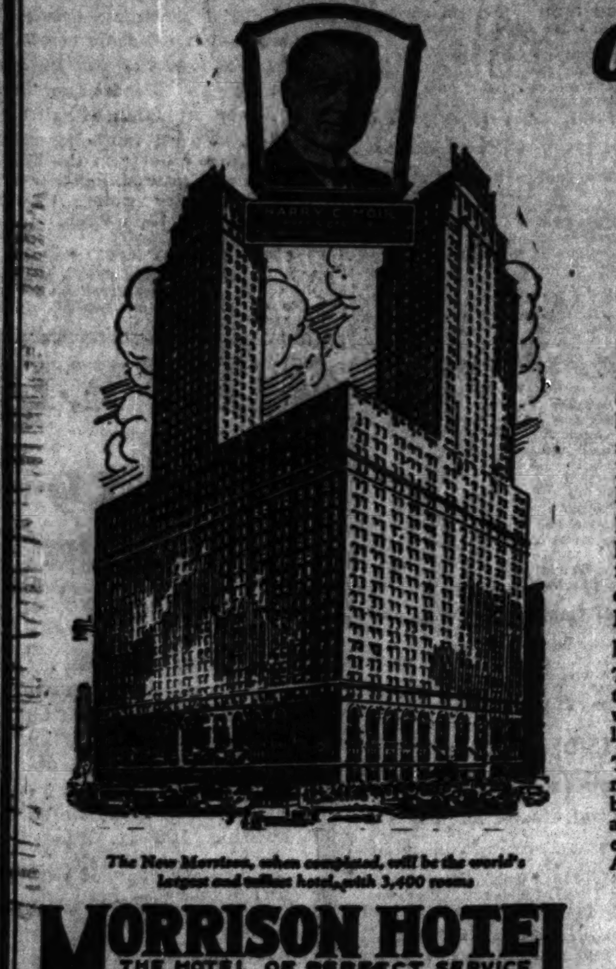
"Keeping Pace with the Growth of Chicago"



The New Morrison, when completed, will be the world's largest and tallest hotel, with 3,400 rooms

THE NEW MORRISON HOTEL

Largest—and Most Reasonably Priced—in the World

THE new "skyscraper" addition to the Morrison Hotel will contain 850 rooms—400 in the tower. At this enormous elevation the atmosphere will be as pure as at a hotel in the suburbs—reached by a short elevator ride instead of a long taxi ride. A virtual "sky-lease" will enable the Morrison to practice on a far greater scale its present policy of renting rooms for $3 to $5 that would cost $5 to $8 elsewhere. Valuable store subleases have long made this policy possible.

There are now 1,054 outside rooms at the Morrison, each with bath; but there will ultimately be 3,400—the world's largest hotel.

The Morrison is the home of the Terrace Garden, famous internationally for brilliant dance music, perfect cuisine, and clever entertainments. The artists engaged for the week beginning Sunday, April 12, will be:

SWITZERLAND

The appeal of Switzerland is universal and eternal. No other place interests everyone so intensely or satisfies so fully. Anyone who has ever been there just has to go back again.

No other country in the world, so small in area, offers such contrasts of awe-inspiring grandeur and appealing loveliness.

To these eternal attractions, Switzerland adds most modern facilities for travel by rail, steamboat or motor. Her splendid motor roads are famous. Her pensions and fine hotels assure every comfort and pleasure to their guests. Her sports are endless; her picturesque peasantry ever attractive and the natural hospitality of her people most grateful to Americans. You will want to visit:—

GENEVA:—World's Peace Capital, ever attractive for its beauty, wealth and intellect. Excursions to Mt. Blanc.

BERNESE OBERLAND, with its garden spot, Interlaken. Here the Jungfrau Railway carries you to the top of the World. Nearby, railways to Schynige Platte and the lovely resorts of Grindelwald, Murren and Wengen.

LUCERNE:—"Mecca" of all tourists, its loveliness proverbial, its sports and amusements most interesting.

An endless variety of perfect sports. Golf everywhere.

Gateway to the Great Continental Cities

The quaint, yet bustling, harbor of Antwerp is Europe's Convenient Gateway. Hundreds of travelers, who plan their European journeys carefully, land there each season—catch a vivid glimpse of its rare, old beauty—and then move on to Brussels, Paris, Rome or other continental points of interest.

Red Star Service to Antwerp

via Plymouth and Cherbourg

The Red Star Line provides the only transatlantic service to Antwerp, calling regularly at Plymouth for England and Cherbourg for France. Backed by more than 54 years of experience, its ships are operated with the precision of the great limited trains. The convenience of this service is typified in the fact that passengers land at covered piers in Antwerp.

Red Star ships provide the Continental type of cuisine and service. They are noted particularly for a delightful table, and the Belgenland provides á la carte dining service at all hours without extra charge. Distinguished for their steadiness and their delightful atmosphere, they are chosen each year by a growing number of experienced travelers who prefer Red Star service to any other.

Pittsburgh and Zeeland

Here are two delightful cabin ships noted for their pleasant atmosphere. With slightly less of elaborateness in their furnishings and equipment, they offer every essential comfort at more moderate rates than prevail aboard the premier liners Belgenland and Lapland.

INSTRUMENTS
WORLD'S LARGEST MANUFACTURERS

Their Music Sways a Nation—

Dashing brilliance of tone, with a swift, impetuous rhythm which fairly lifts you to your toes and carries you along—that's Isham Jones and his orchestra, of which Chicago is so justly proud. Hear them in person, on your phonograph, or via radio, you'll get the same "pepful" effect which has won nationwide fame for this great orchestra.

Remember, then, that Jones and his artists use Conn instruments. And that these peerless exponents of America's worthiest popular music give a generous measure of praise to Conns for the beauty and brilliance of their effects.

Foremost Orchestras Choose Conns

Not only Jones, but the foremost popular orchestras of the country, the famous recording and broadcasting artists, use Conns—pay tribute to their instruments as easiest to play, most beautiful in tone, perfect in scale, reliable in action. Some of the famous middle west orchestras Conn equipped are listed in the adjoining column.

Turn Your Evenings to Profit and Pleasure

Does live music thrill you? Can you whistle a tune? Then you can learn to play. And with a Conn instrument your progress is rapid, success assured.

Thousands have mastered the scale in an hour on a Conn saxophone—played popular tunes in a few weeks—prepared quickly for professional engagements which bring real money, part or whole time, as preferred.

There is a Conn dealer near you who will gladly demonstrate the instrument which interests you most. He'll explain the exclusive Conn features which make them easier to play. Remember, Conn is the only maker of every instrument used in the band—saxophones, cornets, trombones, Sousaphones, and every wind instrument, as well as drums and violins.

You can arrange to try a Conn in your own home, without obligation. Convenient terms if you desire. Opportunities for pleasure and profit await you; look up your Conn dealer NOW, his name is listed below.

FREE "Success in Music and How to Win It," by John Philip Sousa and other famous artists. Helps you choose the right instrument. Write for your copy. Our Band Service Department will gladly advise and help those interested in organizing a band or orchestra. No obligation, write us fully.

Taking One Last, Reluctant Look Over Palm Beach

By Mme. X.

ONE last, long, lingering look at auriferous Palm Beach must be permitted this p. p. p. by its patient readers. As a vision, a summing up, a symbol of rampant prosperity and unrestrained joy in the good things of this mundane world, that gay palm shaded sandy strip of well populated land is probably the most complete of its kind. The temporary residents there, the owners of those charming Spanish houses and those high powered yachts, are culled from the financially prominent all over the country. They dine and wine and play golf, swim, gamble at bridge, mah jongg and at Bradley's, wear shining raiment, and gossip as if life were just one long drawn out and gorgeous panorama.

Prosperity trickles down through the various strata that go to make up the place. Even the chair boys, the husky lads whose sturdy legs, working piston fashion on pedals, send those delicious wheel chairs and their occupants up and down those fragrant and shaded lanes, are well off and have extra money to invest in the widespread craze for land speculation which entirely absorbs Florida and its inhabitants.

A well known Chicago woman, who spent the last two months and a half at Palm Beach, remarked with a sigh: "There doesn't seem to be any more conversation left in the world. In Chicago when I sit at dinner, the man on my right opens the ball by saying he has found a new and wonderful bootlegger who gets him the real stuff at any time. When I turn to the man on my left, he tells me how his wife makes synthetic gin that is better than anything you can buy nowadays. Now that I am at Palm Beach, where I meet people from all over the country and might reasonably hope for a greater variety of subjects, all that I get is first from one dinner partner an account of the $100,000 he was offered yesterday for property he bought last year at $15,000, while the man on the other side entertains me with a tale of buying acres for $10 per and selling them for $500 a front foot."

Fortunes in Land.

The land boom that has clutched Florida from top to bottom for the last few years shows no signs of diminishing yet. Its subtle fascination is spreading to all ranks of life. The pretty little milliner's girl who brought a new hat to my hostess, stopped my host and asked his advice in the matter of a $5,000 lot which she had bought the previous week and on which she had paid $1,000 deposit. She had been offered that morning $7,500 for it, and did not know whether to take it. A profit of $2,500 in less than seven days sounded pretty good to the writer, but ten to one, the little lass held on for still higher profits.

One of the most exhilarating spectacles down in that region must be the daily vision of our great statesman and former secretary of state, William Jennings Bryan, sitting daily on a raised platform in the center of a huge swimming pool discoursing from noon until one o'clock on the advantages of buying real estate in southern Florida, for which flow of mellifluous periods he gets $200 a day from a large real estate company. The tale was told me by some one who had witnessed the scene together with hundreds of others.

It is an amazing picture. Fancy Lloyd George or Clemenceau sitting in the center of a swimming pool and urging people to purchase anything of a speculative nature. We're a great country, and provide more kinds of diverting and wonderful people than any other in the world today.

Here Are Mansions.

The two social queens of Palm Beach, for it is not satisfied with merely one, are Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury and Mrs. Preston Pope Satterwhite, both of Philadelphia. They have large and sumptuous houses set in charming, semi-tropical gardens. Mrs. Stotesbury's is at the north end of the seventeen miles of ocean boulevard that forms the eastern boundary of Palm Beach, while Mrs. Satterwhite's is two or three miles farther south. Mrs. Stotesbury's is a larger, more imposing mansion, a charming example of Spanish architecture translated into an American abode.

Mrs. Satterwhite's is also of Iberian character, but has a striking feature not found in any other Palm Beach residence. Her dining room is shaped both inside and out like a chapel. From the road it has the narrow, high, stained glass windows and the apse-like formation of the Spanish Gothic, and within the same idea is carried out by refectory tables and chairs. I am not sure that there is not a pulpit at one end of the room. I think that such was described to me. There are some low whispered comments from the super-pious as to the taste of such a setting for the daily meals, but, after all, the old monks were wont to eat their simple fare in similar surroundings, so why might not sturdy Americans to whom the world is but an oyster to be opened and enjoyed.

The only other instance that I know of such a setting was that of the late lamented Herr Krupp, founder of the famous German gun works at Essen, who some twenty years ago invaded the Island of Capri in the Gulf of Naples and laid such a mark on this beautiful spot as made that celebrated old Roman emperor, Tiberius, who originally discovered and made Capri noted, look like a pious Puritan. Among the mementoes of Krupp, and the word suggests a shortening of "corrupt," shown today to visitors is a grotto on the southern side of the island which he had hollowed out still farther to make a monkish den, which he furnished with chairs and tables and a pulpit from an ancient Italian monastery. There he and his satellites, Capresi youths, used to assemble in monkish garb and feast and revel, while one of their number read salacious literature to them from the hoary old pulpit.

The cavern opened directly on to the sea, known there as the Tyrrenean sea, and from just beyond its doorsill there was a rocky drop down to the gnashing surf many hundred feet below. There are rumors that the roistering company had enjoyed tormenting some of its members by dangling them over this abyss by a slender rope and that on one occasion the rope broke. But that was an accident, so nothing was said of it by any of those

One group of young society women which is interested in and working for a worthy charity for the blind is the Lighthouse Volunteer Aids, which will give its annual cabaret supper dance at the Bal Tabarin on Friday evening, April 24. Among the most active of the workers are Mrs. Roland R. Boswell, Miss Elsa Bartholomay, and Mrs. Nathan G. Osborne.

Mrs. Boswell, who is the former Miss Alice Rodiger, daughter of Mrs. Caswell Alan Sharpe, is in charge of the prizes and novelties which will give the party its cabaret aspect.

Miss Bartholomay, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bartholomay of 1455 State parkway, is second vice president of the organization and has been selling tickets for the dance. At present she is sojourning at Hot Springs.

Mrs. Osborne is president of the Volunteer Aids and is working energetically for the success of the affair, proceeds of which are to go to the erection of a new building for the Chicago Lighthouse, which is an industrial training school for the adult blind. Mrs. Osborne is the former Miss Catharine B. Bartholomay, and is also a daughter of the Henry Bartholomays.

Fashion Apparel for Madame and Mademoiselle

THIS versatile Specialty Shop makes an interesting distinction between Apparel for Madame and Mademoiselle. The styles for the younger woman are slim and straight and have a delightful insouciance which belongs to youth itself, while the fashions for youth's mother have smartness and chic, expressive of a certain sophistication. They are planned with a definite idea of appropriateness and she who chooses her spring wardrobe here, may be assured of its correctness

FROCKS and COATS

Charming Frocks, Conspicuous for Versatility
$45

A delightful gayety of movement gives character to frocks of Flat Crepe Satin, Crepe de Chine, Silk Crepes, and Crepe Satin. Sleeves fitted or loose, pleatings, scarfs, and flared insets are high points of this mode.

Frocks of Distinguished Parisian Elegance
$55

Brilliant satins, shimmering crepes, exquisite laces, diaphanous chiffons—softly feminine is the elegant new mode for Spring. Yokes of natural lace, capricious flares, graceful jabots, and the newest of the new—the reversed tuck.

Artistry of Line and Coloring in Frocks of Exquisite Fabrics
$65

The glint of silver and gold thread embroidery, gossamer laces, swaying fringes, startling bits of unique decoration—this group includes the transparency of Crepe Roma, Elisabeth Crepe, colorful Chiffons, sleek Satins—the most luxurious of favored fabrics.

Other Frocks—$35 to $200

Cloth and Silk Coats Significantly Styled
$95

The petite collar, the circular flare, the inset godet, the soft fur border—the fashion notes high in favor are found in this collection. Satin, Bengaline, Joseena, Charmeen, and other fabrics combine with graceful summer furs.

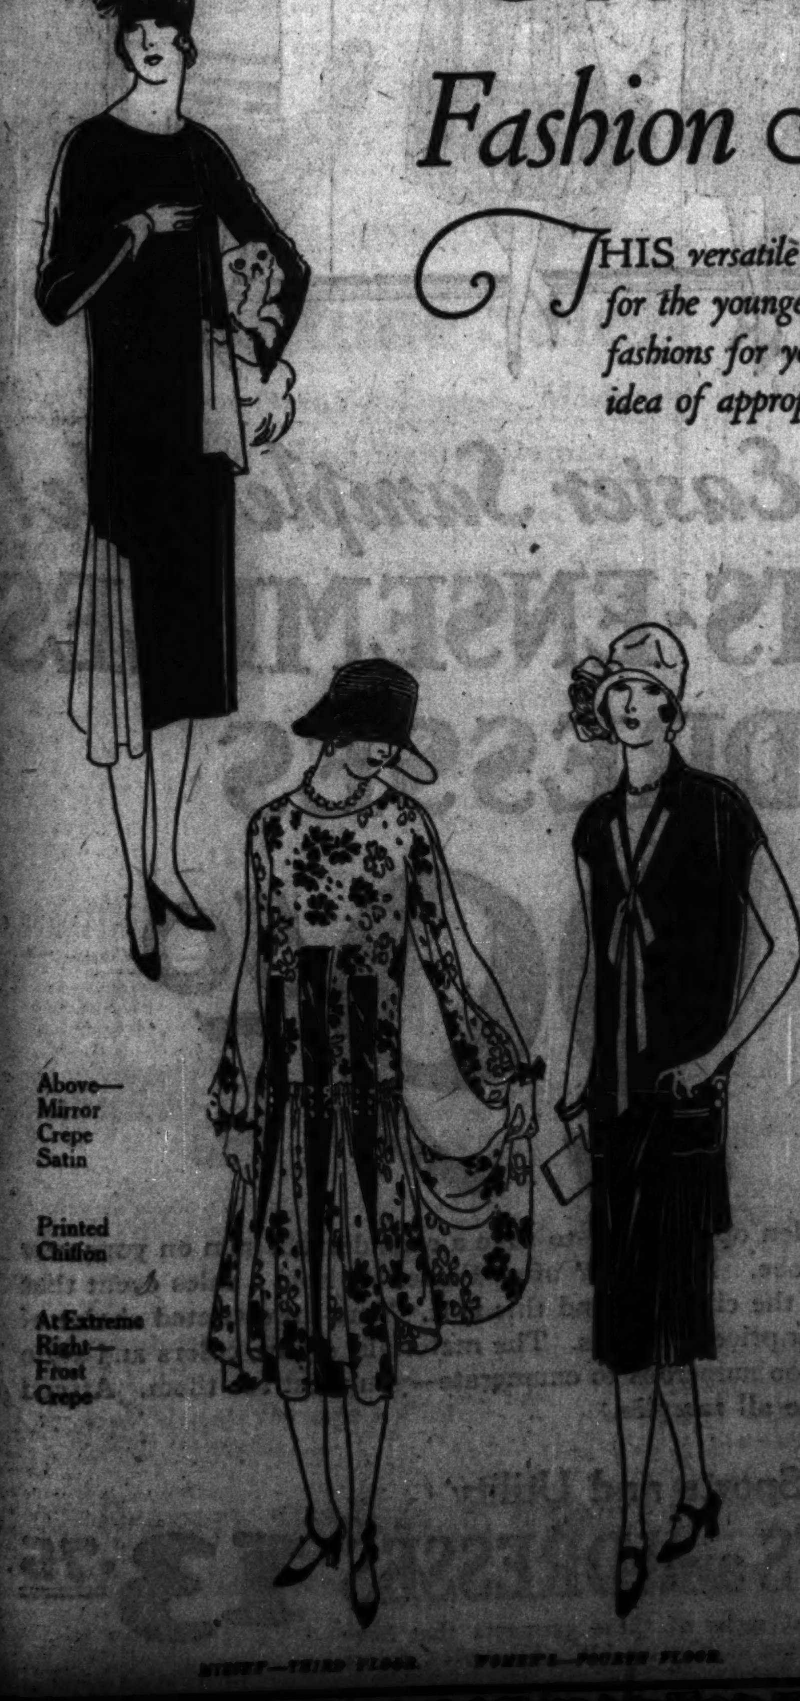
The Artful Details in These Silk and Cloth Coats Speak of Paris
$125

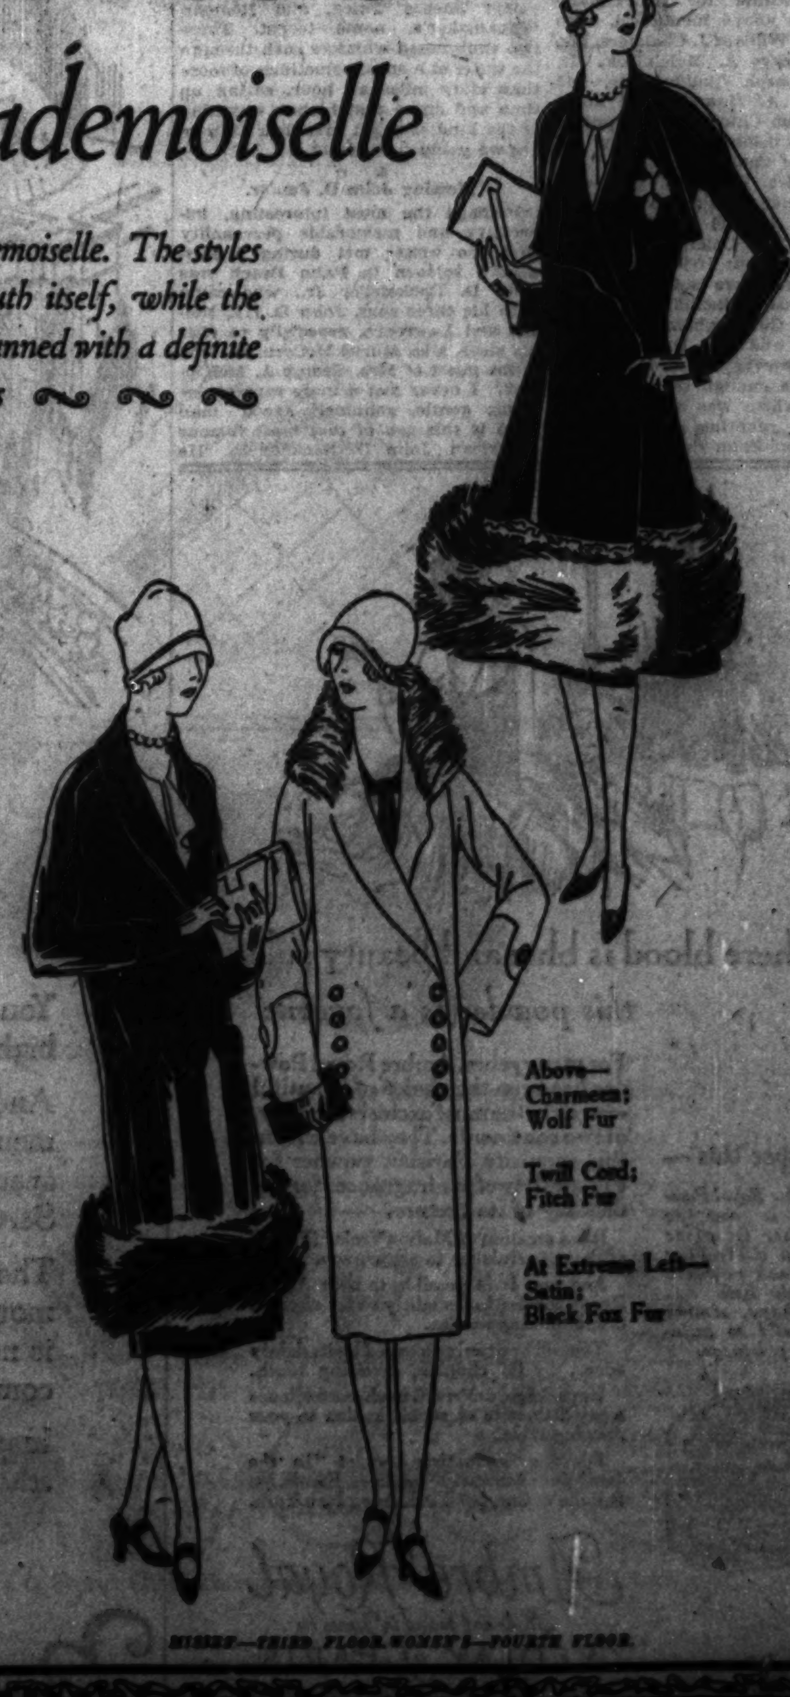
Touches of intricate embroideries, gleaming braid, beautiful color blended and harmonized in fabric and lining, distinguish these models, many of them copies of Paris imports. Glistening Satins and Bengalines, and woolen fabrics are enriched by subtly harmonizing furs.

Exotic Paris Models in Stunning Cloth and Silk Coats
$150

Wonderful indeed are the fashionable details appearing in this group—every feature of the Paris mode. Smart jabot revers, face fronts, the exceedingly simple straight line, godets, enhanced by furs of rare and exquisite luxury.

Other Coats—$55 to $250





NEWS OF CHICAGO SOCIETY

concerned. The rumor crept out but never was taken up and investigated. They have no Judge Olson in Capri.

Ex-Chicagoite Residents.

But this is wandering far from my subject, which is Palm Beach as its golden fringes touch us Chicagoites. There are several well known ex-Chicagoans living there during the season who enjoy the same popularity and prestige they received in the Windy city. Mr. and Mrs. John King, who used to enliven life for their friends in Chicago—Mrs. King is a sister of Mrs. A. A. Sprague, a daughter of the late Henry Dibblee, and niece of the late Marshall Field, first of the name—have a delightful house facing the ocean.

It is individual in that it is not a Spanish house, but a colonial dwelling. This fact, however, gives it a flavor of its own. It is deliciously cool, and white, and shaded, and furnished with the lovely things that Mrs. King and her mother before her have collected. This gives it a more personal air than many of the interiors there have. It looks related to yesterday as well as today. In time we Americans will appreciate the ineffable charm of days that have passed into eternity, yet in their time have been full of all that makes what we call life. It is this close companionship with the past that gives so much atmosphere and real beauty to English houses.

Forgive me if I diverge again from my subject, but I know no better example of what I mean in this cherishing of the past than is illustrated in a charming Chicago house. Mrs. Jacob Baur is a well known personality in our social and civic life. She bought and rebuilt a few years ago an attractive house in Astor street. A well known architect here made and carried out designs for redecorating and refurnishing the new abode. She gave him practically free sway, which was wise, as he has impeccable taste.

Only in one thing did she oppose him and have her way. Among her possessions is a tall, narrow, gold framed pier glass which she had bought years ago when she was working hard earning her living as secretary to the late Fred Busse when he was postmaster. Almost the first money she saved up she invested in this mirror.

As she herself says: "In that mirror I have looked at myself and watched myself through all the many phases of my life. I have seen my clothes change from inexpensive and simple ones to such as I can wear today from well known establishments. I have seen myself change from the inexperienced, hard working girl into the busy, not unprosperous woman I am today. That mirror has been a part of my life. I want to keep it as a souvenir of many things."

So, in spite of her artistic counselor, she has it in her dainty French hallway upstairs outside her bedroom, and it is a conspicuous landmark of a past which she cherishes with justifiable loyalty and pride.

A Day on the Chieftain.

Other ex-Chicagoites who are enjoying the succulent charms of Palm Beach are Mrs. William Frazier and Mr. and Mrs. James Quan. The former has an imposing new house built right on the edge of the beach, while the latter are occupying the house of Thomas Chadbourne, whose late wife was Mrs. Quan's sister, formerly Mrs. Grace Wassall. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Viles also have a cozy and attractive dwelling not far from the beach, where they have kept open house this winter for their many friends. The above mentioned, with Mr. and Mrs. William J. Chalmers, Mr. and Mrs. George A. McKinlock, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cudahy, Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Howard, and many transients from Chicago, made quite a cheerful little colony of folk from the county seat of Cook county.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Dick also spent the winter cruising up and down that part of Florida in their smart little yacht, The Chieftain. It is a natty craft of about fifty tons and 125 feet long. They have had a succession of guests aboard, including Mr. and Mrs. William Cunningham, Mrs. C. M. Ely, and Mr. and Mrs. D. Mark Cummings. They even ventured out into the open seas enough to go down to Key West, which was quite venturesome from a yachting point of view. They put in at Palm Beach twice.

MISS CECILE MURPHY.

Miss Cecile Murphy is president of the Sunbeam league, an organization of young women which supports a number of kindergartens in settlements throughout the city. The league's annual card party from which funds for its work are derived will take place on Tuesday at 1:30 o'clock at the Hotel La Salle.

Last week the Dicks had Mrs. F. C. Letts as their guest. They entertained and were entertained by their fellow citizens. A day on the Chieftain, steaming slowly and gently up and down tranquil Lake Worth, is a delightful experience. The decks are well shaded and furnished with every kind of comfortable chair and couch imaginable. The dining room will accommodate eight. The cabins on the deck below are the last word in chic luxury, each with its own perfectly equipped bath. The cook's galley would excite the envy of many a Chicago cordon bleue, so complete and compact is it. In short, it is an ideal way of spending a few months.

From the upper deck, where half a dozen chairs are placed near the piloting captain, one gets a wide view of the shores of the lake as the yacht steams slowly through the opalescent water. Huge pelicans swoop low across the surface of the lake, their wide wings just touching it with their tips. Slender cranes, blue or white or gray, stand in pensive meditation in the shallows near the land. Hissing speed boats shoot through the glassy sea, splintering its calm surface and creating long, fuzzy whiskers on either side of their uplifted bows and leaving an even more feathery trail far to the rear.

The two swiftest boats of this kind are our ex-Chicagoite "Eddie" Moore's, yclept Sneeze Twice, and Rodman Wanamaker's, name forgot. These two snub nosed whizzers rush through the water at a speed sometimes of more than sixty miles an hour, eating up time and space faster than anything of the kind ever yet invented. Where are we going to so fast?

Meeting John D. Junior.

Perhaps the most interesting, impressive and memorable personality that the writer met during a fortnight's sojourn in Palm Beach was John D. Rockefeller Jr., who came with his three sons, John D. III., Nelson and Lawrence, especially to visit his niece, Miss Muriel McCormick, who is the guest of Mrs. George A. McKinlock. I never met a more earnest, serious, gentle, genuinely good man than is this son of that most famous American, John D. Rockefeller. He does not wear his well known high principles like a garment. They merely are a part of him as much as are his kind, intelligent brown eyes and his friendly, quiet manner.

His six children, five sons and a daughter, are a pleasant, likely, sturdy sextette. His wife is a daughter of the late Senator Aldrich, and takes life as seriously as does her husband. Such an attitude toward existence is a wholesome one when a family has such responsibilities. The uncle and cousins seemed to find their western relative all that could be desired during the two days that the party frolicked together under Mrs. McKinlock's hospitable roof. One day spent on the water in a motor boat, the day ending with a fishing excursion out into the ocean when Miss McCormick and her cousin, John D. Rockefeller III., each caught a mighty kingfish, the two weighing more than thirty pounds.

Mrs. McKinlock and Miss McCormick are staying on at Palm Beach well into April. Mrs. Viles will not be in Chicago again before May 1. She and her husband are taking their three children to Europe for the summer. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Chalmers left their attractive Palm Beach cottage last Tuesday, and are now arranging their Chicago affairs preparatory to carrying out their summer plans which include a trip to England and Scotland. They will be joined on the other side by their son-in-law and grandchildren, Norman Williams, Miss Joan Williams and Norman III. Miss Williams is going to have a look-in on English society in the height of London's season before she makes her debut in Chicago next winter.

Plans for Summer.

As to the doings of other Chicagoites, I hear Mrs. Waller Borden has taken a house for the summer in Aislesboro, Me. Her uncle and aunt, the Kingsley Porters of Cambridge, Mass., have a place there, and the summer colony is said to be especially attractively made up, as it is, largely of Bostonians.

The Allen Haineses are planning to spend the warm season in the same house in Marion, Mass., which they have occupied for the last two or three summers. Mrs. John M. Clark, her sister, Mrs. Stewart Clarke, and her daughter, Mrs. Cecil Clark Davis, are also going to be in Marion this summer.

Mrs. H. H. Kohlsaat is joining her son-in-law and daughter, the Potter Palmers and their children, in a trip to Europe, sailing in June. And so it goes! Chicago society is always in a state of flux, coming or going, never still long anywhere. If a moment's calm comes it is devoted to making plans for the next move on to somewhere else.

What restless sprites we shall be in the next incarnation! Perhaps, however, we came from those midgets that hover in the bright glare of a summer sun, or dance in the brilliant rays of an electric light. Quién sabe? as the Spaniards say.

Where blood is blue and beauty rules
this powder is a favorite

For many years, Ambre Royal Powder has been the choice of beautiful women in the most exclusive society, of two continents. They have chosen this exquisite Parisian powder for the subtlety of its fragrance, for the delicacy of its texture.

It is a creation of Maison Veolay (Violet) of Paris, parfumeur to aristocracy.

And now it is possible to offer Ambre Royal powder to a slightly wider circle of discriminating women.

You will be utterly charmed by its dainty odeur, by its clinging, caressing touch.

Its package, so French in character, lends a gay little note of sophistication to your dressing table.

For the fascinating booklet "In the Boudoirs of Society" address Frank M. Prindle & Co., 267 Fifth Ave., New York.

"Whisper this—

Ambre Royal Powder is now no higher in price than other fine French powders which have not, perhaps, Ambre Royal's so exclusive patronage.

Chicago Women to Speak at Voters' League Convention

By Kate Webber.

WOMEN who have gained enviable positions in public life will play an important part in the sixth annual convention of the National League of Women Voters, which meets in Richmond, Va., April 16 to 22. Prominent among them will be several Chicago women who are leaders in national as well as local affairs.

Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, the first and only woman collector of internal revenue, is to speak, as will Miss Mary McDowell, commissioner of public welfare in Chicago since 1923, former chairman of women in industry of the national league, and a leading figure in the Woman's Trade Union league. Miss Julia Lathrop, first vice president of the league, also is on the program, and will preside at several sessions.

Other women of distinction to appear on the six day program will include Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the governor of Pennsylvania; Mrs. Corbett Ashby of London, president of the International Woman Suffrage association; Countess de Robilant of Italy, Judge Florence E. Allen of Cleveland, O., and Mrs. Florence Knapp, secretary of state of New York.

Recognized technical experts in the fields of child welfare, legal status of women, women in industry, and living costs will have places on the conference program on the opening day. Mrs. Catharine Waugh McCullough and Miss Sophonisba P. Breckinridge will be speakers at a conference of the committee on the legal status of women, of which another Chicago woman, Mrs. Esther Dunshee, is chairman.

The three major departments of the league's program, having to do with international coöperation to prevent war, efficiency in government, and public welfare in government, will come in for a large share of attention at the convention. A program designed to interest the new and prospective woman voter will be a new feature, at which there will be representatives from the colleges, the Junior league, the Girl Scouts, business, industrial, farm, and professional groups.

Mrs. James W. Morrisson, president of the Illinois League of Women Voters; Mrs. William Gold Hibbard, director of the fourth region, comprising Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, and Kentucky, and Mrs. Kenneth Rich are interested in putting forth Illinois' interests in the sessions.

Glenn Frank, editor in chief of Century Magazine; Brig. Gen. Herbert Lord, director general of the budget; Huston Thompson, chairman of the federal trade commission; Profs. James T. Shotwell and Arthur MacMahon of Columbia university, John M. Gaus of the University of Minnesota, and George Chappell are among other personages who will lend the proper atmosphere to the gathering of the 600 delegates, representing 2,000,000 women voters, whose organization has been called "the intellectual aristocracy of America."

MRS. LATIMER GOODRICH. [Moffett photo.]

MRS. PAUL SEMRAD. [Moffett photo.]

Mrs. Latimer Goodrich is program chairman of the Woman's World's fair, which opens next Saturday and continues through April 25, at the American Exposition palace.

Mrs. Paul Semrad is chairman of the prizes committee for the annual charity card party sponsored by the Sunbeam league, which is to be held on Tuesday at 1:30 o'clock at the Hotel La Salle. The proceeds will go toward the maintenance of hospital kindergartens, which are the league's most interesting project.

Mrs. William G. Hibbard of Winnetka is fourth regional director of the National League of Women Voters, which will meet for its sixth annual convention this week in Richmond, Va.

Woman's Fair to Honor '93 Board

MEMBERS of the board of women managers of the World's fair of 1893 will be guests at a reception to be held on the opening day of the Woman's World's fair, next Saturday, at the American Exposition palace.

The guests will include Mrs. Richard J. Oglesby, Mrs. Virginia Meredith, Mrs. Alice Bradford Wiles, vice president of the Illinois division; Mrs. Frank J. Gould, Mrs. Henry M. Sheppard, Mrs. Isabel Candee, Dr. Francis Dickinson, and Dr. Julia Holmes Smith.

The Illinois federation is conducting an extensive exhibit, with the first eighteen districts in charge of the program features. Mrs. Albion Headburg is general chairman in charge.

On Monday the first and third districts will be in charge, and the literature and music departments will furnish the program. The second and sixth districts will have Tuesday as their day, when a program on American citizenship, law enforcement, and civil service will be given.

The fourth, seventh, and eighteenth districts will have charge on Wednesday, and will feature the education and conservation departments. Thursday will be given over to legislation, civil service, public health, social, and industrial departments, with the eleventh, twelfth, and thirteenth districts in charge.

The ninth and tenth districts will exploit on Friday the ex-service, child welfare, and American home and public health departments of the club.

A permanent exhibit will be maintained by press and publicity department.

This program showing the work of women's clubs will be one of the outstanding features of the fair, which will open on Saturday at 12 o'clock, when Mrs. Coolidge will press a button in Washington which will open the doors. The exhibits will be closed on Sunday, but will be opened the following morning for the entire week, closing on Saturday night, April 25.

Nearly 200 exhibits showing the achievements and accomplishments of women, and comprising 100 occupations, will be shown.

Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman is honorary chairman of the board of directors of the fair, Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen is chairman, Mrs. Howard Linn vice chairman, Mrs. Frederick H. Rawson treasurer, Mrs. Medill McCormick general executive, Miss Helen M. Bennett managing director; Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Mrs. T. W. Robinson, and Mrs. George R. Dean, directors.

DOWNTOWN CLUBS

A song recital will be given at the meeting of the Chicago Woman's club on Wednesday. The membership committee will meet tomorrow at 10 o'clock, as will the finance committee. At 12:30 there will be a luncheon meeting of the good government committee and at 1:30 the bulletin committee will meet. A card party for the benefit of the workroom committee will be given tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock in Recital hall. The board of managers will meet on Tuesday at 10 o'clock and the committee on the Park Ridge School for Girls will convene at 11 o'clock. The French classes will have an address at the same hour with Prof. Couet as the speaker. A business meeting of the English study class will be held on Thursday morning at 10:15 o'clock to discuss next year's program. At 11 o'clock the class in public speaking will hold the final meeting of the season.

The social hygiene committee of the Woman's City club will meet tomorrow morning and the usual session of the business and professional woman's unit will be held in the evening. Joel D. Hunter of the United Charities will address the Tuesday citizenship class on "Financing Social Agencies" and Frank D. Loomis also will speak. Luncheons will be held at 12:30 o'clock by the municipal citizenship and housing and zoning committees. The Second ward branch will meet at 2:30 o'clock. Wednesday's meetings will include morning meetings of the recreation committee and the parliamentary law class and an afternoon meeting of the bathing beach committee. On Thursday at 4 o'clock there will be a meeting of the education committee and at 2 o'clock the Thirty-fourth ward branch will meet at the Eleanor Social center. The young woman's auxiliary will hold its charm school on Friday evening. The annual meetings of the Eighth, Nineteenth, Seventeenth, Thirty-ninth, and Forty-fourth-Forty-sixth ward branches will be held on Friday at 2 o'clock.

The annual meeting and spring luncheon of the First district, I. F. W. C., will be held on Tuesday at the Blackstone. Reports of officers and committees, revisions, and election of officers will take up the morning session. Following luncheon there will be a program of spring music. Mrs. Thomas Starr Harper is chairman of reservations.

CLUB ETHICS

By Maude Swalm Evans

"OF all the self-advertisers I've ever met, Mrs. Bankles is certainly the foremost," fumed the member of long standing to the committee chairman. "She never loses a chance of informing the club that she's a lawyer and specializes in women's work. Did you hear her this morning when the question came up of legal aid for the crippled girl in whom the philanthropy department is interested? Anyway, she offered to have the case looked into at her office, without charge, and then she proceeded to take the charge out in self-advertising."

"Men join churches and different organizations to promote their business, and I suppose there are women who join clubs for the same reason," reflected the committee chairman.

"Whether they join for that purpose or not, there are some who use them," replied the member of long standing. "I've known of cases where women have circularized their club's membership list with their business literature, or have allowed their husbands to do it, which is the same thing."

"It's seldom, though, that our club members do that sort of thing," remarked the committee chairman. "Some of them are regular clams about their business. There's Mrs. Hemp, for instance. I worked with her for several years before I learned that she was in the insurance business with her brother. When I mentioned the fact that some of our members might be glad to know it, she said she didn't believe in using a club for personal ends; that she came to it to get away from business, not to get business."

"The advertising instinct can be used to good advantage at times," said the member of long standing. "I once belonged to a club of professional women who scheduled an exploiting party, and invited each member to advertise herself and her work all that she could in two minutes. They certainly entered into the spirit of the thing. A doctor told how she saved lives; a dentist, how she saved teeth; a lawyer, how she won cases; a journalist came in a newspaper dress, and praised her sheet; a song writer distributed copies of her latest song, played it on the piano, and had the whole audience singing it; a dancing teacher staged a dance, and a school teacher lauded the merits of her commercial college. It was one of the most enjoyable programs of the year."

Plan Your Room as you do a Dress!

Dress patterns stop guesswork and disappointment. Every woman who likes to make her own clothes turns to Pictorial Review, Vogue, or Delineator Patterns. When the last stitch is in, the result is as you planned. You can do the same with your home. Stop pushing furniture around to get the right effect. Plan it in advance. Whether you are thinking of the placing of the furniture in your new home or of a rearrangement in your present living room

Let this new home aid solve your problems quickly and in advance. Send for a set FREE

TAKE one and lay it on the floor in various places and at different angles. Little more is needed to tell you where your grand piano, or the one you select, would fit best. There is no knack in assembling a beautiful room. Simply plan it. Consider the different items, their appearances and their uses. Then build your ensemble. But save yourself endless pushing and moving. The piano is the dominant article in the living room. Other furniture should be placed in relation to it. The Lyon & Healy Piano Floor Pattern tells you how. Scientifically accurate, it shows the floor space required by a Lyon & Healy Grand Piano. Even the keys are shown—it is so realistic. You will be agreeably surprised to see how little space this rich-voiced, distinctive instrument needs. Barely more than an upright. If you are wondering whether your room is big enough for a grand piano, send for this pattern. (Upright Piano Floor Pattern free also.) If you are concerned about your next apartment take a floor pattern with you and be sure before you move. Write for this home aid today. Use the coupon below. Tear it out and mail it today, or call. MELLOW hardly describes Kraft Cheese. It doesn't do it full justice. For it is also wholesome, satisfying and strength-giving.

All cheese should be good cheese; should be properly ripened and mellow; should be fresh, wholesome and full-flavored—but it isn't. Kraft Cheese is; that's the difference.

Kraft Cheese is good cheese, made by someone responsible for its quality, with a trade name for your guidance when buying.

ADAPTO SHOES for STOUT WOMEN

AN EXCLUSIVE SERVICE

Under the direction of DR. [illegible] SCHINDLER, Foot [illegible], foot examination will be given to Adapto shoe wearers and those who suffer with their feet. This service is free.

ADAPTO Shoes relieve and tend to strengthen fallen arches by means of ADAPTO'S exclusive high arch feature.

ADAPTO Shoes relieve the pressure upon bunions and help to prevent their future reappearance.

The busy afternoons of the active woman require the same degree of foot comfort that marks the more carefree hours of the morning.

But oh!—what a difference there must be in the appearance of the shoes she wears!

Heretofore, the Stout Woman could not be properly, comfortably, fitted in "dress-up" shoes. She had to sacrifice either style or comfort.

Now, in ADAPTO Shoes designed especially for Stout Women, you obtain all the comfort of "old shoes" plus the smart effect that always characterizes up-to-the-minute modes.

Come in and see the new Spring styles of ADAPTO footwear.

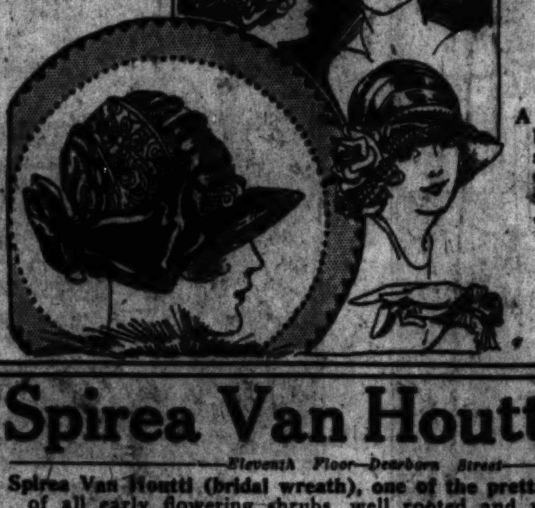
The Newer Ideas Displayed in Lovely Millinery

Sixth Floor—State Street



Four of the scores of styles

The newer ideas in millinery for Spring and Summer wear are cleverly fashioned into these exquisite hats, featured for Monday at prices that average savings of fully a third. Canton Crepe is highly favored, either alone or deftly combined with straw. Then, too, you'll find hats of satins, Faille silk and taffeta, as well as beautiful Milans, Milan Hemp, Bangkok and felt.

For trimmings flowers are extensively used in a galaxy of sprays, clusters or large single effects; burnt goose, novelties in ostrich which are very stylish; ribbons and ornaments; in fact, every preference in trimming has been cleverly anticipated.

A great variety to choose from for all occasions, many being especially appropriate for the business woman. You'll find large and small head sizes. Of course, the stylish colors are all shown, such as henna, blues, greens, oak, sand, thistle bloom, Copenhagen, browns and of course black hats. All in all, here is a group of hats from which you'll enjoy making a selection, specially priced for Monday, at

The "Two-in-One" Brassiere and Corset Combination

Third Floor—Dearborn Street

Most essential to this season's silhouette is the new "two-in-one" Brassiere and Corset Combination, the W. B. Doublette, which assures a long, unbroken line in back and firm diaphragm control. It molds the figure into sinuous lines, as the two illustrations show; it slenderizes the contour and gives grace to every movement of the figure. It is a union of a soft, figure-molding brassiere with a woven elastic corset-girdle that firmly restrains the spreading abdomen, hips, and back—needed so greatly by many women. The W. B. Doublette is easy to get into and really effective in smoothing away the unlovely lines that the figure has acquired. Made of handsome soft, clinging brocade and firmly knitted elastic, very attractive and durable. In fact, it is the new note in Tube Corsetry, boned, waist measurements to 36. For such a beautiful, dainty, effective garment, the price is most reasonable at..............................

Women the World Over

Thirteen nations have already ratified the League of Nations convention prohibiting the night work for women and minors.

More than 200,000 Finnish women are in training for the army in that country, having organized themselves into Lotta Svacrd clubs, auxiliaries to the voluntary military organization of men.

Mrs. Mahala W. Huff, now past 106 years of age and living near Louisa, Ky., is the only United States pensioner left of all those who were given such government aid as a result of the war of 1812.

A Women's Equal Rights party has been organized in China, the members of which have drawn up a long list of demands.

Miss Celia Cook, a pretty, bobbed haired girl with dimples, has just been appointed a United States commissioner at Clarksdale, Miss.

Mrs. Natalie S. Laimbeer, once prominent in society and widow of William Laimbeer, Wall street operator, has been appointed to an important executive position in the National City bank of New York.

In Peking there is a Chinese college for women, and there is also a medical college for women in China.

News of Art and Artists

The Arts club is enjoying a little time of quiet, restful exhibits. In one room is sculpture by Cecil Howard, and in the other rooms and in the hall are hung tapestries from the sixteenth, seventeenth, and eighteenth centuries. It strikes one with a feeling of relief that here is an exhibit of normal art, well executed.

Without a question the tapestries are worth enjoying, and one need not torment oneself with questioning why one should like them. They are beautiful, historical, and significant. Many of them tell a tale of romance in their weaving; others merely present a picture. They are restful and soothing, and lull the perceptions to a degree of security which, praises be, is not infringed upon by the modern sculpture in the adjoining gallery.

Cecil Howard is a young American artist. He has lived and worked and exhibited abroad, making Paris his headquarters a great many years. In his simplicity he is great. One of the most charming pieces we have seen in a long time is his "Nude," a marble, full length portrait of a young girl. The proportions are good and the lines flowing. He touches upon the ancient, upon the archaic, in "Portrait of Lucy Krohg" and "Mother and Child."

The "Portrait of Raymond Thiollière" is a fine thing. The "Portrait of Hon. Bronwen Scott-Ellis" is magnificent, a lion of a man with a crest of thick hair, a jolly man, a man full of life with a fondness for hearty laughter and good living. A man of brains he is, too, and a person to be reckoned with in debate. Mr. Howard has served him kindly in this portrait.

A bronze, "Meditation," is in a sense rather amusing. It is worlds apart from Rodin's "Thinker." This penseur is of the flapper school. The meditation is not deep. Thoughts trickle and eddy, so you feel, through that slight, youthful, bobbed—it looks bobbed—head in a way to throw ridicule upon the severe title.

Again is there a clash between title and figure in "Fatigue." The man caught in the posture is much more apt to be indulging in the seventh of his daily dozen rather than stretching himself to a needed rest. Try, if you like, when you come home tired the next time, to take as a symbol of your fatigue the position that Cecil Howard has placed his model in. Unless you are an acrobat and in good training, it will be hard for you. But, truthfully, seriously, does a contorted position denote "Fatigue"? Can you bend back and catch your foot in your hand and say at the same time, without smiling: "O, I am so tired"?

The "Portrait of Robert Chanler is a lovely head.

And so it goes—there is a great deal of pleasure to be had from this exhibit. It will remain open until next Saturday.

In the print galleries of the Art institute there is arranged a splendid collection of old English aquatints. As might be expected, many of the prints deal with hunting, and the Prince of Wales is not alone in his penchant for falling from horses. Riderless animals are rife in the pictures. They are really amusing and rather instructive.

A group representing various shops, the butcher's, the fruit shop, the poultry shop, and the fish monger's, are priceless. Aside from hunting and horse dealing and riding the mails, another favorite English sport has always been fishing. Perhaps the richest in humor and quaintness in all the prints displayed is seen in "Trolling for Pike," a print that has been sold, to the rare envy of those others who would love to possess it, and cannot.

Muirhead Bone has an exhibition also in the print galleries, but for a reason difficult to define, his exhibition lacks savor. There is an abundance of good work, but nothing unusual and nothing to startle one to a realization of his talent. I believe I got more from his "during-the-war" sketches

ART AND ARTISTS

Exceptions Make Swedish-American Show Worth While

By Eleanor Jewett.

The river winds down to my love
By banks and meadow and hill.
The river winds down, I watch & pass
And my love waits still—so still.

The river winds down to my love
Under a great oak's [illegible].
The boats ripples [illegible] in the sun,
Our kisses my love [illegible] me.

The river winds down and away.
Why should it tarry its race?
The day draws slow into night,
The moon! My love's white face.

An annual exhibition, which has become almost a necessity in the yearly unrolling of Chicago's art events, is the Swedish-American art exhibition held in the long gallery of the Swedish club of Chicago. This year it is not, on the whole, as excellent in quality as is customary. There are exceptions, however, that mark it, that make it notable and worth investigating.

The most novel feature in the exhibit is a group of carved wood figures by Carl Anderson Hallstahammar. These are original and clever. He shows us kindly caricatures of the homely peasant man and woman at work and at leisure. The one which most readily brings a tug to the heart strings and a smile to the lips is "Devotion." An aged couple is seated; the frau has an enormous book on her knees and is reading with great effort, slowly spelling the words, one feels, to the attentive husband puffing his pipe and listening intently although you know instinctively he is more than a little hard of hearing. Some of the figures, as these, are painted. Others, like the "Grandmother," are left uncolored. Which is the most effective it would be hard to say. Surely the patient "Grandmother" is one of the sincerest creations of them all. Another pathetic figure in its sincere realism is the "Junkman." "Home, Sweet Home" shows brother tramps, bulky of figure and white of hair, the one holding up a post and the other resting his bulk upon a curb while he wails the accordion rendition of our famous song.

Near these wood carvings is a splendid portrait of an extremely old lady, her face seamed with myriad wrinkles and lines, the "Señora Maria Verdugo de Chavoya," by Agnes Froman, whose power as a sculptor seems to increase with the years. This is a marvelous piece of work, retaining the beauty and pathos of old age and avoiding its ugliness.

Two groups of sculpture from animal life deserve mention. Both are by Karl F. Skoog. "The Bone of Contention" is of two dogs tugging to wrench the one from the other a delicious, gristled bone. His other piece is called "The Giant's Last Stand" and is of a buffalo fighting hopelessly against the onslaught of mountain lions. In both groups the animals are well modeled and the action is good. They are a relief from some of the insipidity found in the pictures which line the walls.

It is enough to say that there is a certain amount of insipid painting in the exhibit and a certain amount of stupid work and a certain amount of meaningless work, and then leave that side of the question and run over briefly the pictures which apparently are worth while. Take, for example, the loveliest picture in the room, "In the Valley of the Loire, France," by Walter R. Sabel. Here is found rich, warm painting, a feeling for beauty and a power of putting it upon canvas that would make the picture notable in any gathering. The river that winds to love, is this. A slow, sleepy canal of a river that flows between banks where delightful, sleepy houses rest in the shade of beautiful, sleepy trees, a river that is freighted with dreams and satisfied hopes, a river that knows only sunny skies and frolicking clouds, such a river is this.

"St. Nicolas Church, Chardonnet," is part of the exhibit of lithographs, drawings, and etchings by C. O. Woodbury at the Art institute.

Another painting by Sabel, a portrait of a boy, "Bobby," also stands out as being good.

Charles E. Hallberg has several marines. A magnificent one is seen in "Mid-Ocean." Less magnificent but more haunting in its quality of sheer beauty and purity of color is "A June Morning on the North Sea."

Signe Bohman has a number of attractive canvases. "Children from Dalecarlia" is a delightful group of two little girls in a gay costume of holiday dress. They are blonde and fair, and the brilliant reds in their dresses set off the yellow of their hair, rose of their cheeks, and blue of their eyes. Another by the same artist, "Sleeping Child," is a portrait of an adorable, chubby infant. Her "Self-Portrait," too, is excellent.

Alfred Jansson is another prolific painter. Some of his pictures make a strong appeal. A particularly lovely one is "Birchwood, Sweden," an effect of autumn. A charming snow garden is given us by him in "Forest Preserve."

Arvid Nyholm has a group of etchings and several paintings. Among them his "Gypsy Girl" is a striking canvas. Were the model not quite so affected and self-satisfied, had she but a bit more of the abandon and dare that lurks in the true Romany soul, this painting would have come close to being classified as great.

Hugo Von Hofsten has a number of paintings dealing principally with our forest preserves or with the landscape of Sweden, a country in which he has recently spent a year. Mr. Von Hofsten has struck a certain vein of painting which may run him into a blind wall if he is not careful. He, apparently, is falling into the bad habit of seeing more in a landscape than there is. His work makes one feel that in striving to get a picture he has manipulated nature in an almost unwarrantable fashion.

For instance, the coloring—it is too red, too yellow, too green, too blue. It is metallic. The compositions are as fine drawn as though they were bitten on the canvas with acid.

These remarks do not deny the undoubted charm of many of his pictures. "September Day, Michigan," is a lovely scrap of birch and lake, "Winter Evening, Sweden," is a splendid unity of marvelous snow road and rich green forest. There are infinite possibilities in Mr. Von Hofsten's genius with the brush. His work is decorative and effective, but—that hated conjunction—seemingly there is danger of overdoing the dramatic in landscape painting unless one ties one's aspirations to a wind sheet of realism.

The jury of selection for this exhibition were Lucie Hartrath, Pauline Palmer, Gerald Frank, Hugo Von Hofsten, and Arvid Nyholm. The first three compose also the jury of award. Several prizes were given, and in all probability will be announced today as the exhibition has been running a week and is scheduled to close tonight.

Nancy Cox-McCormack is just back from Nashville, where at last she succeeded in setting in place the nine and a half foot bronze figure of the late Gen. E. W. Carmack, which she modeled in Italy.

Tomorrow afternoon in Fullerton hall Dudley Crafts Watson will speak at 2:30 o'clock on "Batik." He will give a chalk-talk for children on "Stationary Dancing" at the same hour in Fullerton hall on Saturday.

The Final Touch

That adds perfection to any costume is a strand of Pearls. They are flattering to all types and appropriate for all occasions.

As importers of over 93% of the Pearls that come to Chicago and over 16% of all the Pearls that come to America, we can save you several middle profits. We welcome a comparison of prices. If you look elsewhere you will buy from

KARPEN Furniture WEEK

LOUIS XIV CHAIR No. 690

A notable example of Karpen fidelity in reproducing great period furniture styles and a typical Karpen Week value. The frame is of genuine walnut, carved and antiqued. Covered in personage tapestry.

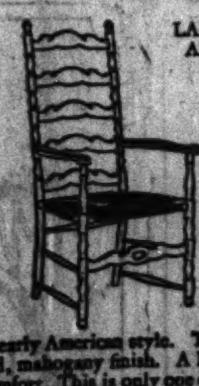
HILLHURST CHAIR No. 698

Karpen Week offerings include pieces for every purse. This cane-backed chair matches a sofa and rocker—a popular group at a decidedly low price. In gumwood, mahogany finish, and covered in velour.

BROADMOOR SOFA No. 689

A fine Louis XV piece with high back chair and armchair to match. Carved frames of selected brown mahogany. Covered in mohair and figured damask. Black satin pillows with Crewel embroidery.

LADDER-BACK ARM CHAIR No. 699



A charming early American style. The sturdy frame is birchwood, mahogany finish. A handwoven fiber seat adds comfort. This is only one of the many odd pieces included in Karpen Week specials.

SEMINOLE CHAISE LONGUE No. 688

For your sun-room or living-room, Karpen handwoven fiber furniture is airy, colorful and durable. This piece, one of a complete Karpen Week suite, is in the new basket weave. Choose of colors and fabrics.

This week only—April 11 to 18—reduced prices on the season's new designs in Karpen furniture

THIS opportunity is so unusual that every home-maker, even those who had no thought of buying furniture now, will want to take advantage of it.

Karpen Week is the season's exhibit of new styles created specially for this occasion. They are offered at impressive reductions, for one week only, to acquaint you with the beauty, quality and value of Karpen Furniture.

Included are the latest examples of Karpen design and craftsmanship. Inviting groups and single pieces for your living room. The upholstered chair you want for your hall. Charming sun-room furniture in hand-woven fiber, enameled cane and painted wood. Quaint Windsor chairs. Dignified, comfortable new davenport beds, with chairs to match.

All are pieces whose beauty would delight the most artistic and whose value would please the most thrifty at their regular prices.

Such is the fine furniture that Karpen merchants the country over have assembled for Karpen Week. Such are the splendid pieces you can make your own at substantial savings from now until next Saturday, April 18th, only.

Watch the newspapers for announcements of the Karpen dealers near you who are holding Karpen Week. Only authorized Karpen dealers can offer these latest advanced designs in Karpen Furniture. At no other sale can you profit from special Karpen Week prices.

KARPEN Guaranteed Construction FURNITURE

The Karpen Nameplate assures you of quality and value that only the world's largest maker of upholstered furniture could offer. Look for it on every piece you buy.

This is the greatest furniture buying opportunity of the season. You will be wise to plan an early visit while you can choose from complete exhibits. The sale is on now.

Why not call on your Karpen merchant tomorrow?

Sensible Method of Removing Wrinkles

If crowsfeet appear prematurely about the eyes, apply a lotion made by dissolving an ounce of Saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. This is the best, quickest acting treatment known, as it tends to restore normal conditions. It tightens and strengthens the skin, likewise the underlying tissue, the loosening and softening of which are the cause of a wrinkled condition. It also has a tonic effect, which not only aids in the same direction but, by improving capillary circulation, helps bring a healthy color to the face.

The same solution, acting as it does, naturally affects not only every wrinkle and line, but hanging or flabby cheeks and chin, as well. When your face wears a tired expression, bathe it with this refreshing, revivifying liquid. Ask druggist for powdered Saxolite. Dearborn Supply Co., Chicago, Ill.

THE REV. STEPHEN E. M'MAHON, J. D.

An event of special significance in Catholic church circles and of general interest to the public is the establishment of a new parish to bear the name of "The Little Flower" to be located at 80th and Wood streets. The Rev. Stephen E. McMahon, J. D., has been appointed by his eminence Cardinal Mundelein pastor of the new church.

Father McMahon was born in Chicago. He attended De La Salle institute, the Kent College of Law, Niagara university, New York, and St. Viator's college, Bourbonnais, Ill. He received the degree of bachelor of laws from the Kent college of law and the degree of J. D., after post-graduate work, at De Paul university. He was ordained by the late Archbishop Quigley, May 13, 1911, and was the archbishop's private secretary for a number of years.

The Little Flower church takes its name from a nun, Sister Teresa, who was connected with the convent of the Carmel at Lisieux, France. She was canonized on May 17 last. This was considered an extraordinary event in the church because of her canonization when at least one of her sisters is still living.

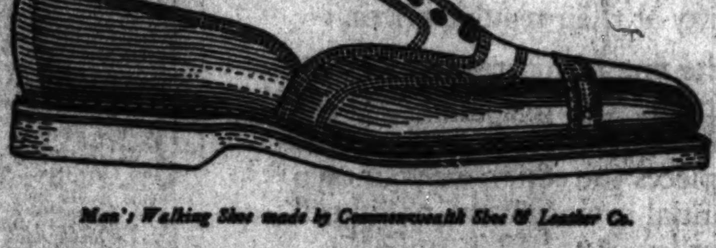
Crepe Rubber Soles

The Longest Wearing Soles

THIS pure, 100% rubber was used extensively last season for sport shoes of all kinds and made an instant hit with all out-door people because of its resiliency and its wearing quality.



Man's Walking Shoe made by Commonwealth Shoe & Leather Co.

For Everybody's Everyday Wear

Leading shoe manufacturers this season are putting out shoes of all styles with a thin sole of this tough, resilient Crepe Rubber.

This cushion-armor doubles or trebles the life of the sole and gives rubber-heel comfort to the whole foot.

It absorbs shock and relieves foot strain and fatigue. It's like walking on a rubber mat or a velvet carpet.

Your regular shoe store will be able to supply you with your customary shoes equipped with these new Crepe Rubber Soles.

A good test of their wearing quality is to get them for the children. The results will astonish you and save you money in shoe bills.

NEWS OF THE RELIGIOUS · WORLD

Dedications and Corner Stone Are Events of Easter

By the Rev. W. B. Norton.

The laying of the corner stone of the $300,000 St. James Methodist Episcopal church, Ellis avenue and Forty-sixth street; the dedication of the $100,000 Methodist Episcopal church at Park Ridge, and of the Seventh Presbyterian church at 58th place and South Sangamon avenue, will be special church events in connection with Easter Sunday. Bishop Edwin H. Hughes will preach at 11 o'clock at the dedication of the Park Ridge church and at 3 o'clock at the laying of the corner stone of St. James' church. Dr. A. C. Zenos of McCormick Theological seminary will dedicate the new Seventh Presbyterian church. While Bishop Hughes will lay the corner stone of St. James' church in the afternoon, he will not dedicate the Park Ridge church. This ceremony will be held at 3:30. The Rev. L. F. W. Lesemann, D. D., president of the Chicago Training school, will preach.

The pastor of St. James' church is Dr. W. R. Wedderspoon. Among the lay members of the church are Albert W. Harris, Harry A. Wheeler, Dr. A. H. Andrews, Roy O. West, and Senator James E. MacMurray.

The pastor of the Park Ridge church is the Rev. T. P. Brannum. Because of illness, resulting from excessive work in connection with the building of the church, he is being assisted by the Rev. Truman R. Greene. The organ will be dedicated on Tuesday evening and a fellowship dinnerwill be held Thursday evening.

The pastor of the Seventh Presbyterian church is the Rev. Earl C. Morgan. The church has expended $30,000 on new features of the building and now has a property valued at $65,000.

Among the churches visited by Knights Templar today will be the Neighborhood Methodist Episcopal church, Maywood, where the Maywood commandery will listen to the Rev. John Norris Hall, who will speak on "The Message of Easter," and the Bethany Presbyterian church, Humboldt boulevard and Cortland street, where the Humboldt Park commandery will listen to a sermon by the Rev. W. J. Ohan.

Norwood Park Baptists have subscribed $7,000 for the purchase of lots on which they expect to erect a new structure which will serve as an athletic and social unit when the entire church is completed.

At a massmeeting today in the Austin Swedish Methodist Episcopal church, Menard avenue and Augusta street, at 4:15 p. m., the Rev. T. J. Westerberg of Texas will speak on "My King's Business," and Nyland and Snyder of North Park college will sing and play on their stringed instruments.

Presbyterians report, through the board of church extension, a church building program for the year of $3,146,000. Eleven of the churches are outside of Chicago, but within the bounds of the Chicago presbytery.

May 3 has been selected by the board of Christian education of the Presbyterian church as vocation day on which young people will be urged to enter upon some full time Christian work.

The annual meeting of the Chicago presbytery will be held on Tuesday at the Edgewater Presbyterian church, Kenmore and Bryn Mawr avenues, beginning at 10 a. m. The annual sermon will be preached at 11 by Dr. Frederick F. Shannon of Central church. There will be an election of moderator, chairmen of departments, members of the executive council, and commissioners to the general assembly, which meets in Columbus, O., on May 20.

The annual meeting of the Episcopal Church Club of Chicago will be held Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock, at the Hamilton club. The guest of honor will be the Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Gailor, president of the national church council. Twelve other bishops of the church have been invited to be present and it is expected they will be present. Bishop Gailor will speak following the election of officers. Bishops outside of Chicago who are expected are: Bishop Leonard, Ohio; Weller, Fond du Lac, Wis.; Francis, Indianapolis; Harris, Marquette, Mich.; Page, Detroit; Webb, Milwaukee; Gray, South Bend, Ind.; Fawcett, Quincy, Ill.; White, Springfield, Ill.; Morrison, Davenport, Ia.; McCormick, Grand Rapids, Mich. Bishops Anderson and Griswold of Chicago will also be here.

The Woman's Baptist Mission union will meet on Tuesday at the Berwyn Baptist church. Dr. George A. Huntley of China will speak at the morning session.

Charles Wesley Smith, radio singer and soloist for three years in one of the largest Congregational churches in America, will sing this morning at the Grace Evangelical church, Kimball and Wrightwood avenues, the Rev. J. Alfred Nansen, pastor.

The Moody Bible institute has arranged for lectures this summer as follows: The Rev. William P. White, D. D., July 7-10, whose first lecture will be on the topic: "Thinking Through the Bible"; the Rev. Leander S. Keyser, D. D., Wittenberg college, July 13-16, on the topic, "The Present Conflict with Modernism"; the Rev. Thornton Whaling, LL. D., Louisville, July 21-24, "The Testimony of Jesus Christ"; the Rev. Victor I. Masters, D. D., editor Western Recorder, "The Rural Church"; and Louis Entzminger, July 28-31, "Successful Sunday School Organization and Administration."

In a report of the Y. M. C. A. of Northwestern university, Wesley Israel, the retiring president, stated that thirty university students had held meetings in twenty—two different churches. Discussion groups are being held in nine fraternity houses and in one open dormitory. The head football coach, Glenn Thistlethwaite, held a weekly meeting of a freshman group at the Y. M. C. A. office. The "Y" has also helped students to jobs that totaled $30,000 during the year. The new president is Wight Bakke.

The Dayton choristers will give their second annual concert under the auspices of the board of church extension of the Presbyterian church at Orchestra hall on Tuesday evening. The proceeds will be devoted to the building of a cottage at Camp Gray, Saugatuck, Mich., for the summer outing for boys.

Colored slides showing the Passion play at Oberammergau will be shown this evening at the Normal Park Baptist church, 70th street and Stewart avenue, by Dr. A. R. B. Wyant.

Easter services will be held this morning at the St. Charles, Ill., school for boys. Those taking part are Col. Frank Whipp, the Rev. T. K. Gale, Emerson Bradshaw, and the Rev. J. T. B. Smith. Miss Helena Sutherland is in charge of the arrangements.

Easter services will be held in every church, Catholic, Protestant and Liberal. For several years THE TRIBUNE printed the musical programs in full, filling several pages of the Easter Sunday issue. One may be safe in going to any church of one's choice and be sure to hear inspiring music, breathe the perfume of flowers, and hear a stirring message. Easter and Christmas are the two greatest days of the church year.

Dr. Charles R. Brown, dean of Yale university divinity school, will speak this evening at 8 at the Sunday Evening club at Orchestra hall. Dr. Shailer Mathews will speak at 7. The Imperial male quartet will sing at 7, and the choir of 100 voices will sing at 8.

Prof. W. D. Schermerhorn, Mondays, beginning tomorrow at 12:15; the Rev. Charles R. Goff, Tuesdays; and Prof. George L. Robinson, Friday noons, is the program at the Central Y. M. C. A. All lectures are free to men.

Bishop Edwin H. Hughes will lecture on "Preachers and Preaching" on Tuesday and Wednesday at the Illinois Wesleyan university, Bloomington.

Beautify it with
"Diamond Dyes"
Just Dip to Tint or Boil to Dye
Garments, Draperies,—Everything!

Perfect home dyeing and tinting is guaranteed with Diamond Dyes. Just dip in cold water to tint soft, delicate shades, or boil to dye rich, permanent colors. Each 15-cent package contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint lingerie, silks, ribbons, skirts, waists, dresses, coats, stockings, sweaters, draperies, coverings, hangings, everything new.

Don't risk your material in poor dye that streaks, spots, fades, or runs. Buy "Diamond Dyes"—no other kind—and tell your druggist whether the material you wish to color is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods.

Crinoline days—and now

Back in the early '50's, when Grandmother was girded in steel, the makers of Kenlastic began the production of a fine knitted elastic fabric—to meet the exacting requirements of surgeons and specialists.

With the development of the elastic corset, leading manufacturers, knowing the strain that is put upon a corset by the active woman of today, chose this same fabric—

Kenlastic
—"the knitted elastic"

the supreme standard of quality. Today in America's finest corsets you are privileged to secure this same high grade of knitted elastic—your guarantee of unvarying strength and lasting resiliency.

While adjusting itself instantly and constantly to every change in motion and posture, Kenlastic holds and moulds the figure to graceful lines of natural symmetry . . . Kenlastic lets your body breathe!

By building comfort, poise, ease, self-confidence, a corset made with Kenlastic subtly influences your life—every moment of the day. More than any toilet preparation, more even than your most becoming costume, it is helping you to a radiant personality, to perpetual loveliness.

"A little book about Happiness" gives facts and viewpoints that have a definite bearing on personal beauty, sustained youth, charm and poise. Free at corset departments. Or write me, mention the store where you buy corsets and I will mail you a copy. Address Pamela Hill, care James R. Kendrick Co., Inc., Germantown, Philadelphia.

INSTRUCTION.

FREE COURSE IN CHARACTER READING.

The heritage of everybody is happiness, yet few people are entirely happy. Most unhappiness in home life, in work, or in business is due to failure to understand the people around us. Most of us do not know how to analyse the people we meet. Happiness and success come to the few who are able to know at a glance just how the people we meet must be handled. That is character reading. The reason more people do not take up character reading is because they do not realize how easily they can master this art thoroughly. During the past several years I have made thousands of people happy and successful through my teaching of character analysis.

I believe that character reading should be a part of our regular Chicago high school course, so that our future citizens will be equipped to find happiness and success in life and business, and in order to arouse public interest in this subject I am organizing a class of 25 ladies and am giving my regular 4 lesson course absolutely without charge of any kind to 25 interested ladies who will pledge themselves to attend 1 class each week for 4 weeks. That's all. No fees and nothing to buy. My first free class will be held this month. Make your application for this free course by mail only.

Executives and Managers.

A MONEY MAKING MESSAGE TO SUCCESSFUL TRAVELING SALESMEN.

The substantial growth of our business is creating openings for a few able traveling salesmen. They must have the ability, acquired by successful experience, to sell live, aggressive retailers the most valuable retail franchise in its class. Our product is of high quality, reasonably priced. It is broadly advertised to consumers, and has popular acceptance.

We cannot afford to entrust this franchise to any but those retailers who are leaders in their communities. Our traveling representatives must be successful men who can sell a real business opportunity to real merchants. We can educate representatives in the necessary knowledge of our products, but they must have records of successful salesmanship.

Executives and Managers.

EXECUTIVE for Future Sales Openings.

Large, well known company of national character in advertising business is [illegible] changing its sales policy and is about to add to its present sales staff by selecting certain office and inside executives.

This company believes there are certain men now connected with other concerns who are really capable, but who feel their opportunity in present connection is limited or they are unhappy, but who do not want to make a change until they find a permanent business home to their liking. These men will have the following characteristics:

1—Individuals who are quick thinking, good talkers, with pleasing personality and who believe they have sales ability and would like to know definitely whether they will ever become successful in selling field, but who have never had an opportunity to learn how to sell.

2—Member of some church or religious organization thus having [illegible] dependability, and willingness to work as life's foundation.

3—Able to stand a searching investigation as to home life, neighborhood standing and reputation for paying bills.

4—Unusually aggressive and hard worker. Age 28-38. Services must have been satisfactory with last two employers.

5—Home life that will later permit considering sales connection of traveling character, being home each Saturday or Sunday, occupying definite territory over which you will have complete supervision.

To such parties this company will offer the privilege of allowing them to attend weekly evening meetings of our present organization during the next six weeks so that you can determine whether or not you have sales ability and further determine whether our company and business offers the future and lasting connection you are seeking. Also whether you are capable of handling such a connection. No interference with your present position while attending these conferences and you are to decide with us whether you should continue.

Applicants must give age, phone, church affiliations, past experience and a general outline of why you should be selected for these conferences, after which a preliminary appointment will be arranged. All information strictly confidential until then. Address D J 490, Tribune.

SALES MANAGER.

An unusual opportunity for a man experienced in the selection and training of specialty salesmen working on a straight commission basis. This proposition pays a salary and a substantial bonus on volume produced within the district. Pleasant, profitable, permanent connection for an ambitious, hard working man. Prefer man experienced in handling salesmen on proposition such as cash registers, fountains, and specialties of large unit. We are a million dollar concern, large advertisers, and extend full co-operation. The opening is in our Detroit office. Man selected must be in position to take charge immediately. If you are a producer, hustler, and willing to work hard you can make plenty of money. Apply by letter only. Give experience, age, nationality, and all information first letter. Address General Sales Manager, 221 S. Green-st., Chicago, Ill.

EXECUTIVES.

The kind of brain that makes a good executive will make more money in the right kind of sales work. Our proposition is a good one for good men. This means those who are willing to gamble on their own ability and who have been fully impressed with the fact that it takes work to get results. If you belong to this class we have a high grade specialty advertising proposition running into the big figures that may interest you. Something every progressive merchant knows he must use to get business and something that has made hundreds of salesmen wealthy. Those men who are self confident, who are not afraid to talk to principals and who have a strong desire to get into a business where they can write their own ticket, whether experienced in sales work or not, are the kind that make good in this business. For further particulars see MR. WALTER, 609 W. Lake-st.

BRANCH MANAGER.

Electrical manufacturing company has position open for ambitious man who has had sales and office experience and is anxious to make connection where compensation will be dependent on his efforts. Profit sharing arrangement. Territory embraces several northwestern states. Headquarters at Minneapolis. Work covers hiring, handling and responsibility for results, of sales, operating and office employes. Acquaintance with public utility business desirable. College graduate preferred. Applications considered confidential. Reply giving age, description of last three positions held [names of employers not necessary] nature of work and length of time in each. Address F A 102, Tribune.

CITY MANAGER.

We have an opening in Chicago for a capable organizer who has had experience handling large crews of salesmen. The man we want must be big enough to handle hundreds of salesmen in Chicago to sell the best workingman's clothing in existence; rip, snag and spark proof, giving three times the wear of ordinary clothes and costing only [illegible] suit. For this man we will open loop headquarters and pay a salary and commission and for the right man it is easily a $10,000 a year proposition. We operate our own factory and are thoroughly reliable. A PHENOMENAL OFFER by this firm to distributors with ordinary sales experience to act as our jobbers. Few counties open throughout the Union except in eastern states. Our 100% WINE grape juice is so pure, rich and strong that we can show you how to reap a fortune, and the goods only to cost you 80c per gallon. One distributor has already started the year by ordering 3,600 cases from us. Actual figures and references furnished by Bradstreet's, Dun's, or our bank, the biggest in Chicago, to show that we are actually the oldest and largest firm selling the pure juice of wine grapes and home bottling supplies in Chicago. Our products advertised from coast to coast, with thousands of satisfied users.

NO CASH DEPOSIT REQUIRED ON MERCHANDISE.

Our only requirement is an investment of $60 for stock and literature.

EXCLUSIVE SALES RIGHTS GIVEN IN YOUR TERRITORY. Free catalogue on request showing the many articles manufactured by us. We are also giving the sales rights of our own makes of 26 latest varieties of cordials.

Wire or write us for full particulars today. JOE GREIN & J. PAHLS, 130 W. Randolph-st. at La Salle-st. [47 years at this corner], Chicago, Ill.

A SALESMAN Seeking PERMANENT CONNECTION

Worth $10,000 or More Per Year, Will Find Here His Ideal Lineup.

Who We Are.

1—Nationally advertised, old established, highly rated concern, the leader in its line.
2—Field force of 100 men, pick of the country, deal only with Chief executives, highly dignified, ethical work.
3—Business never has dull periods or off season. Volume increased thirty-three and three-fourths per cent so far in 1925 over same period last year. [Not stock, real estate, books, or insurance].
4—All our executives, including president, were recruited from field sales force.

WHAT WE DO FOR THE RIGHT MAN.

1—Give thorough inside and field training, insuring immediate big earnings first day, first week, first month.
2—Contract covers large territory with innumerable prospects on exclusive basis, and provides renewal sales on full commission.
3—Pay liberal straight commission with weekly and monthly settlement.
4—Extraordinary co-operation, sales helps, special bonuses, insuring fullest development and earnings.

THE TYPE OF MAN WE SEEK.

A man between the ages of 30 and 40, who has record for closing contracts in one interview.

Must be accustomed to big earnings; must have dignity and force of personality to interview chief executives.

Interviews ONLY by appointment. NO interviews without previous written data giving briefly past experience, qualifications.

A BIG CLEAN-UP QUICK WITH REAL FUTURE FOR AGGRESSIVE SALESMEN

Our business is booming—we have openings for three forceful, quick-thinking, go-getter salesmen between 30 and 45 years, who can show a record of successful selling. Men experienced in selling specialties, adding machines, check protectors, cash registers, securities, books advertising, premium or business service, and who can meet business executives on an equal basis. Such men will immediately recognize that a connection with us means big possibilities for immediate big earnings with ever increasing income.

We have a force of high grade specialty men covering the country—our co-operation in way of sales helps, contests and bonuses, makes their work interesting as well as remunerative. We keep in constant touch with their customers thereby insuring repeat business. Ours is a tangible profit building service for manufacturers, wholesalers, dept. stores and banks and you carry absolute proof to show your prospect the big returns he can get in comparison to his investment. It is not difficult to close one sale a day, many of our men make two and three sales a day and commission on average sale is $63.

We assign permanent exclusive territory with a big city as headquarters which should pay you between $10,000 and $20,000 per year. We give you short individual inside training, then our sales manager works in the field with you in your territory, thereby insuring immediate earnings.

Read this ad. over again carefully, then if you believe you can qualify telephone Randolph 2176 and appointment for interview will be made or address C I 494, Tribune.

I WANT TEN $10,000 A YEAR SALESMEN WHO ARE NOW HOLDING $3,000 A YEAR JOBS.

These opportunity seekers must be high class, clean cut, intelligent, well educated, specialty salesmen, between 25 and 35 years of age, to call on doctors and dentists.

We now have over fifty salesmen in the field, and new class will fill our territories.

Our high man, fully experienced, earned over $1,800 in March. A man with only two months' experience earned over $850. A deaf man earned over $800. He can hear "yes" but not "no." Average for entire sales force, $378—many weak sisters and beginners among them.

This is a specialty line for doctors and dentists, rather technical, but complete instruction and training is given. Course lasts about ten days. As soon as you demonstrate sufficient knowledge and ability for the intelligent presentation of our products you will be assigned a territory and placed on a drawing account commensurate with your ability.

Salesmen must have good clothes, an agreeable personality, and be able in a diplomatic and convincing way to obtain a close at the first interview. Demonstration is tangible, thoroughly practical, and fully proven, and every doctor or dentist is a prospect.

This company is the largest in the world in its field.

Interviews by appointment only. Phone MR. CUSIC, Diversey 7425.

Mention your age, height, weight and phone number. Enclose a recent photo or kodak picture. It will be returned to you.

Do not apply unless you are available immediately and are willing to travel the year round. If your letter indicates that you can qualify, a personal interview will be arranged. Applications confidential.

THE HAPPINESS THRILL.

When a person engages in the work of life underwriting with a responsible legal reserve life insurance company he enters the business with a pleasurable thrill and if he leaves it, he leaves with many a regretful pang. There are many men who were at one time a success in this business who severed their connections because of personal enterprises or for other good legitimate reasons as they saw it. Some of these gentlemen now think they would like to return to the work in which they were previously successful, again to tread the trail where they found THE HAPPINESS THRILL. If their insurance records are clear with the companies they represented, we would like to hear from such men at this time.
This Company has at present General Agency and District Managership openings in Chicago and other Illinois territory.

YOUNG MEN.

I want three young men between 22 and 38, living on the North or Northwest side, without selling experience. These men will take the place of and receive their training directly under the men who have been promoted. I prefer to train my own men, so if you have had more than two years selling experience I cannot use you. To the men I select, your future will be assured. For an interview call Monday between 10 a. m. and 5 p. m.
GENERAL MANAGER,

WANTED—MALE HELP.

Salesmen, Solicitors, Etc.

$150 A WEEK OR MORE WILL BE PAID TO MEN AND WOMEN WHO CAN QUALIFY.

G. FRANK CROISSANT, Chicago's largest, most dynamic and spectacular real estate success, has instructed me to increase our sales force by the addition of FOUR new divisions.

I WANT TO HIRE FOUR SALES MANAGERS, EIGHT ASSISTANT SALES MANAGERS, AND EIGHTY SALESMEN AND WOMEN.

I have been instructed to announce the opening of THREE MILLION DOLLARS' worth of new subdivision property located in the CALUMET DISTRICT, in close proximity to the FORD PLANT, JONES & LAUGHLIN STEEL PLANT, and the CALUMET HARBOR. Thousands of dollars will be spent on advertising these new allotments.

We will pay you on a salary or commission basis, whichever you prefer. Experience is helpful but not necessary. Sales managers and division sales managers from other organizations have recently become connected with this concern.

We have sold ONE AND A QUARTER MILLION DOLLARS' worth of retail lots in March. If you can qualify for a position that will pay $150 per week or more—if you have ambition, determination, and aggressiveness—come in and see me. If you have a crew of men that you can bring with you I will gladly consider you for a sales manager's position at once. If you will work and show individual effort and results you will be given consideration for a speedy promotion to sales manager.
HERBERT E. GRAVES,
GENERAL MANAGER,
G. FRANK CROISSANT

WANTED—MALE HELP.

Miscellaneous.

DEAR DAD:
Tell mother not to worry. I have the best job in Chicago. I am working every day, outside all the time. I eat and sleep as never before. My health has improved wonderfully. No more stuffy inside work for mine. I am full of pep, up and at it all the time.
I am a salesman chauffeur and sell Yellow Cab Service. I am earning as much here as I ever earned, and as I learn the business my weekly earnings increase. The average pay is $45. A great many of the fellows who know the game and work earn $50 and $60 a week. I'll do that before long.
Every one with the company has been nice to me. I was taught to drive in their school and then sent to the garage nearest my home, given a cab, and put to work.
The Yellow Cab is one great, big, happy family. Doctors, dentists, nurses, lawyers, sick benefits, and life insurance all free.
The company is taking a number of men on account of expecting a very busy summer. Many of the fellows from the old neighborhood are coming here now that I have told them what a good job I have.
Your son,
CHARLIE.

WANTED—MEN, with or without driving experience. Free school of instruction. If you desire steady, outside work, and want to be paid what you earn, see Mr. McLean at the Yellow Cab Co., 57 E. 21st-st.

SALARY, COMMISSION AND BONUS.

On Monday, April 13th, we will commence the greatest subdivision selling campaign yet conducted in our twenty-five years' record of sensational subdivision sales. This campaign will comprise Ten Million Dollars in property which we have been quietly buying for cash at low prices in districts of popular demand. One-half Million Dollars will be spent in advertising.

All preliminary details have been completed. We will now spend the last week before the sale in employing and organizing units which must be added to our present sales force. Each unit manager will be instructed to help women earn big money and speedy promotion to sales manager positions.

WOMEN. BE INDEPENDENT.

If you are not satisfied with your connection, but still have faith in yourself — if you're determined to be independent financially, and willing to work on a proposition that is dignified and genuinely interesting, come in and see us.

Here's the place to be if you like to be with people who smile because they are making money and happy.

Selling experience is not necessary provided you have self-confidence and are willing to listen to reason.

$100 to $150 weekly is not unusual—and it isn't bonds, stocks, insurance or real estate.

You will agree with us when you hear our story.

HE PAID RENT FOR TEN YEARS

It cost him about $24,000, not including lost interest. He had nothing to show but rent receipts. He had to move frequently, his wife having complained about poor service, peculiar neighbors, and other attending annoyances. In one place he had an awful time getting the managers of the building to do any decorating, and finally had to do most of it at his own expense. But finally

HE BOUGHT A CO-OPERATIVE APARTMENT

It didn't take much, as money goes nowadays—his upkeep is small—his equity is steadily increasing. He has just what he wants—the building is kept up to the minute. They required him to give the same references as a high grade club would insist upon—his neighbors therefore are desirable people. He is his own landlord, and takes good care of himself.

EVERYBODY'S HAPPY

in a home of this sort. Come over today and see what we can do for you.

There is a beautiful summer place of 10 acres with a beach frontage of nearly 1,000 feet for sale to close an estate. The property lies between the bay and the bluff road which separates it from the 18 hole golf course of the Harbor Point Golf club.

The 1st floor has large living room with great open fireplace, dining room, den or library, kitchen, bath and 2 large verandas. Second floor has 6 bedrooms and another bathroom. A 7th bedroom and storage space is on the 3d floor. There are also 2 finished rooms on the ground level beneath the front veranda.

The house is on an elevation overlooking the bay. It is nicely shaded by surrounding pine and birch trees.

An immediate profit could be made by dividing the grounds among 6 or 8 men. The price for this property is only $50,000; a fair amount of cash and suitable terms, or we might also consider some real estate in part payment.

Full commission to brokers. Write to S. S. OLDS, Hickox Bldg., Cleveland, O.

AUTOMOBILES—GASOLINE.

STUDEBAKERS

These cars are rebuilt and lacquered in beautiful shades of blue, maroon, green, tan, and many other colors. Each car carries a new car guarantee. Think of the insurance policy you get—that the car is just as represented. The year of the car is put in writing on the contract.

Do not buy a used Studebaker before you see us. Many unreliable dealers mislead you as to the year of the car. We value a used car customer the same as a new one, and just think—our prices are lower than you can buy elsewhere.

Remember, when buying a car from us you are dealing with one of the largest and most reliable concerns in the business, which is your guarantee that every car is as represented.

Our Terms Are Most Liberal.

You can get service at any one of our big Service Stations in your neighborhood.

We are open evenings and Sundays for your convenience.

STUDEBAKER TOURING.

1923 special 6, used by private family and has had exceptionally fine care; equipped with extra tire, bumper, motometer, and lacquered a very beautiful Arizona brown; reduced from $800 to $665.

STUDEBAKER BIG SIX.

1922 touring, thoroughly overhauled and refinished a beautiful battleship gray; equipped with extra tire and bumpers; reduced from $750 to $645.

1923 STUDEBAKER BIG 6.

Big 6 touring, overhauled and refinished in our shop, and presents the appearance of a new car; equipped with glass sides, bumpers, extra tire; reduced from $950 to $785.

STUDEBAKER LIGHT 6.

1924 touring, this car has been reconditioned in our shops, and a demonstration will show that it is the same as new; the original finish and the 5 tires are in excellent condition; the extras are too numerous to mention; don't overlook this opportunity to get a car free from mechanical fault; only $645.

STUDEBAKER SPEC. 6.

1923, 5 pass. coupe, in its original condition; a car that has been really taken care of, which a demonstration will prove; the upholstery is just like new; the extra equipment includes 2 bumpers, extra tire and cover, winter front, windshield wiper, motometer, etc.; cost new $2,150; our price only $785.

1924 STUDEBAKER TOUR.

Special 6, 5 pass., reconditioned in our own shops and refinished in Duco Arizona brown; the extra equipment includes 2 bumpers, extra tire and cover, motometer, windshield wiper, clock, etc.; this car has been reduced from $985 to $885 for this sale only. Come in and drive it yourself.

STUDEBAKER BIG 6 SED.

1924 sedan, only driven 7,000 miles; equipped with 2 extra tires, trunk, and three suit cases, snubbers, Biflex bumpers, motometer, and Elgin clock. This car has been refinished in beautiful blue lacquer and presents the appearance of a new car. Reduced to $1,585.

STUDEBAKER SPEC. SED.

1924 sedan, driven 6,000 miles; lacquered a dark blue, and all parts renickeled; this car cannot be told from a new car; it is equipped with disc wheels, extra tire, bumpers, winter front and motometer, and don't forget it carries a new car guarantee; reduced from $1,550 to $1,285.

STUDEBAKER BROUGHAM.

1924 special 6, used on Chicago boulevards by private family, and has seen very little mileage; equipped with trunk and three suitcases, bumpers, and extra tire. When you consider this car cost $2,200 less than a year ago, our price of $1,185 is a bargain.

CHANDLER. CLEVELAND.
2521 MICHIGAN-AV. VICTORY 8200.

We offer an unusually attractive assortment of cars which could not be duplicated in the city. Every car is a popular make and is in exceptional condition. The prices on these cars are below their actual value. Our terms are very liberal. You will be doing business with one of the oldest and most reliable companies in the business.

BRING A DEPOSIT.

1923 CHANDLER METROPOLITAN SEDAN. Pike's Peak motor, powerful and noiseless; Fisher's best body. Upholstery in heavy mohair. No sign of wear. Burn-off paint job in dark blue and black, with gold hair line stripe. A new sedan that would cost you $1,600 will not begin to equal this car in construction, comfort, ability, or low depreciation expense. Do you want a demonstration? Price $1,600.

1924 Hudson speedster. Driven only little. Looks new. $950.

1923 Moon California special touring. Original finish. Excellent condition; $850.

1924 Cleveland 2 door special sedan. Just overhauled and repainted. $950.

1923 Studebaker touring car. Used carefully. Original finish like new. $550.

1924 Ford sedan. Many extras. In wonderful condition. $475.

1923 Hudson coach. Well cared for. Runs fine. $775.

1922 Chandler De Luxe touring. Refinished and overhauled. Real value. $750.

1922 Nash roadster. Best condition of any like car in city..........$700

1922 Cleveland sedan; 4 door, 5 pass. Repainted and overhauled. $750.

1923 Gardner business coupe. Ideal car for salesman. $490.

1922 Ford touring. Many extras. Worth more than price asked. $150.

1924 Oldsmobile 6 roadster. Similar to present model. Like new. $600.

1920 Paige touring. California closed top. Runs fine. Low price. $245.

1920 Oldsmobile touring. First buyer with $125 gets it.

1924 Ford touring car. Will sell on sight. $275.

1920 Chandler touring. Excellent running condition. Only $295.

See these cars before closing a deal elsewhere. No doubt but what you can get a better car at a better price, with more liberal terms.

It pays to buy from a reliable dealer.

7 Big Values

PAIGE 6-66 TOURING WITH $175 "FULL VISION" STEEL AND GLASS INCLOSURE. A car for any season or weather condition and one that presents the silky freshness of a new automobile. We have given it a high grade burn-off paint job—color is Royal Blue, white striping. Top re-dressed; upholstery like new; has 2 spring bumpers, 4 step plates, 2 running board lanterns, most excellent tires all around, spare with cover, new motometer and bars, auto. w. s. cleaner, mirror, windshield, spotlight, etc.; first class mechanically. Some lucky buyer will get this complete, easy riding, easy handling, high powered Paige at the ridiculously low figure of $650.

COLE AERO 8 SPORT TOURING. We are offering the public this beautiful car at a price that dealers are eager to pay. Is different from anything on the streets and particularly attractive because of its new Princess Pat Blue, black radiator and equipment. Upholstery perfect, always covered by seat covers; top like new; has spring bumper, motometer, spotlight, 5 excellent tires, motometer and wings, clock, lock, etc. Mechanically it will please the mostexacting buyer. Don't overlook the chance of buying this big powered, high class outfit for the small investment of $350.

PEERLESS 8 PHAETON, 7 PASS. One of the most beautiful Peerless open cars we have offered in many months. Color is Dustproof Gray, with seat covers to match; top is lined and in perfect condition, and car is equipped with 5 almost new cord tires, motometer and bars, squeeze, spotlight, tire cover, lock, etc. If you are looking for appearance, mechanical performance of a high order, and utter dependability, here is a value we recommend to any one and will be sold at $650.

CADILLAC 8 TYPE 57 TOURING. Just the car for that cross country run this summer. Top, upholstery, and paint all in exceptionally fine condition and car has a spring bumper, radiator cover, clock, gear shift lock, and 5 very good cord tires. Mechanically it will bear the most rigid examination and demonstration. The first person who sees and drives it will buy it quickly at this price of $450.

PEERLESS 8 TYPE 66 SPORT TOURING. 4 PASS. This snappiest of Sport Cars is newly painted Deep Blue and equipment includes snubbers, bumper, motometer, mirror, wing bumpers, etc. Mechanically it is in elegant condition and should please the most exacting buyer. Has Permanent Top and close fitting curtains. Come in and drive it—judge for yourself its smooth, flexible power, riding quality, and ease of operation. This snappiest of sport cars will be sold at $950.

PEERLESS 8 TYPE 66 TOURING, 7 PASS. This car we consider to be one of the best values in a touring car that we have ever offered. Its Permanent Top permits use of tight-fitting curtains. The finish of Deep Maroon is most excellent and car is equipped with snubbers, bumper, motometer, mirror, wing bumpers, etc. You cannot fully appreciate the quality or unsurpassed value in this car without first seeing it. It is highly reliable, smart looking and will appeal to parties seeking high class transportation at low cost. Special, $950.

PEERLESS 8 TYPE 66 SUBURBAN 7 PASS. SEDAN. This is one of two Peerless cars in this body style at this price. This one refinished in Moleskin Gray, the other in rich "Burgundy Old Wine." Bright parts replated. Interior and exterior appearance are that of a new car. Has $125 Lovejoy hydraulic snubbers, Clymer spotlight, mirror, squeegee, bumper, etc. First class mechanically. $1,750.

ORANGE STANDS.
CASH IN ON YOUR STORE FRONT.

Our ten-foot street stand in the window of our New York retail grocery store last summer sold $6,000 in 10c orangeades.

This orangeade would cost you one cent a glass.

One company in New York has over one hundred orange stands.

The House of Mouquin, Est. 1857, is the largest distributor in the United States of pure raw orange juice.

Orangeade is a national institution. The fruit growers are this year spending one million dollars advertising citrus fruits.

We will furnish the counter-well and juice. You make the entire sales profit. We will place only one stand in each neighborhood. Opportunities open in all cities of the middle west.

Chicago Tribune Radio Book

"Announcing ››› The Chicago Tribune Radio Book" ››

EIGHTY-FOUR pages of explanation, clearly, simply written about radio parts, principles and terms, together with complete lists of radio stations, maps, graphs, charts and logs.

If you enjoyed radio before you will enjoy it doubly now. The Chicago Tribune Radio Book will make clear to you many puzzling terms, such as "rectification," "wave length," "frequency," "amplification" and many other words.

If you are a radio fan, or if you are just thinking about buying a set, you can't afford to be without this book.

We are selling it for barely the cost of the printing and the binding—10c at the Public Service Bureau, 11 S. Dearborn Street, or 13c by mail with the attached coupon. Write for your copy today!

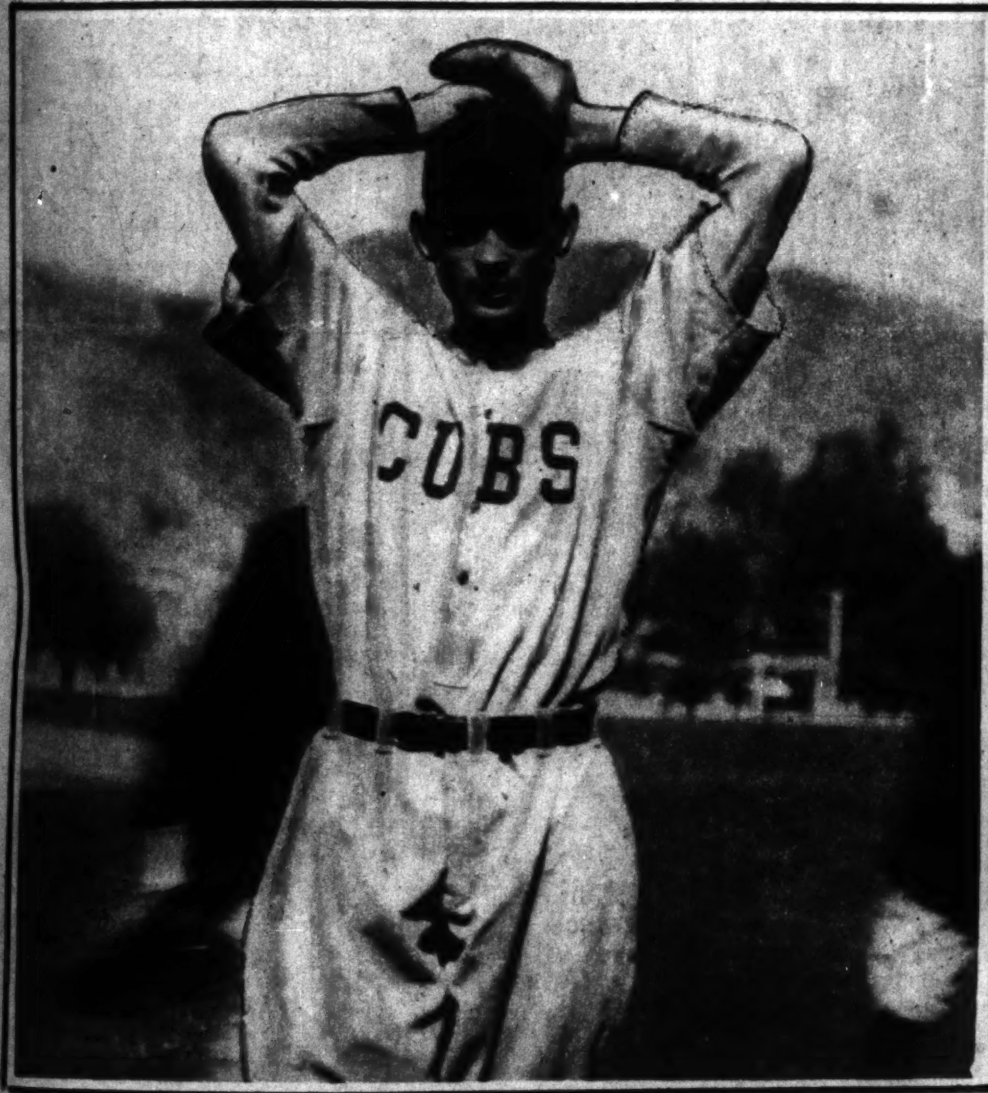
THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

April 12, 1925

MEASURING UP THE NAVY against the department of justice, Secretary of Labor Davis found the score an exact tie. Attorney General Sargent, at the left, and Curtis Wilbur, secretary of the navy, each stands six feet four inches high. So the two will have to share the distinction of being the biggest man in President Coolidge's cabinet. (Photograph from Wide World)

IF YOU HAVE ANY OBJECTION TO WATER the navy's no place for you. Especially during battle practice, when there are targets to rig. Out on the Pacific coast, while the navy prepared to go gunning, these gobs got all wet, and it wasn't Saturday night. It's a safe bet that only boys who are expert swimmers are assigned to this job. (Photograph from Kadel & Herbert)



NEW CUBS will bid for baseball glory in the National league race which starts on Tuesday. Here's Guy Bush, a new Cub pitcher, but not a bush pitcher. He's only a long, lean kid, picked up by a Cub scout down in Mississippi a couple of years back. Seasoning on the "farm" since has given him considerable big league finish, and Manager Killefer now thinks he's about ready for the firing line. Bush has developed a wonderful curve ball. He won nine and lost three games last season for the Wichita Falls Texas league club. (Photograph from United)

FILLING "RABBIT" MARANVILLE'S SHOES is a full sized order for any man, but Johnny McAuley (they call him the "Flea" because he hops around so nimbly) thinks he can fill the order. He was taken on from the Los Angeles club when the "Rabbit" fractured an ankle, and Cub fans are assured he's a nifty fielding shortstop and a good thrower. The "Flea" fielded .955 and batted .276 for the Angels last season. (Photograph from Pacific & Atlantic)

GOLF'S WONDER GIRL WEDS and goes a-honeymooning to Europe. The bride was Miss Alexa Stirling of Atlanta, Ga., winner of the women's national championship in 1916, 1919, and 1920. Her successes were the more remarkable because she was always among the youngest players in these stirring competitions. The fortunate groom is Dr. W. G. Fraser of Canada. (Photograph from Fotograms)

STILLED BY DEATH—Jean de Reszke, one of the greatest tenors in the annals of opera, died at Nice, France, on April 3. He is pictured here as Raoul in Les Huguenots, as he appeared in 1912 with the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York. He was in his seventy-fifth year.

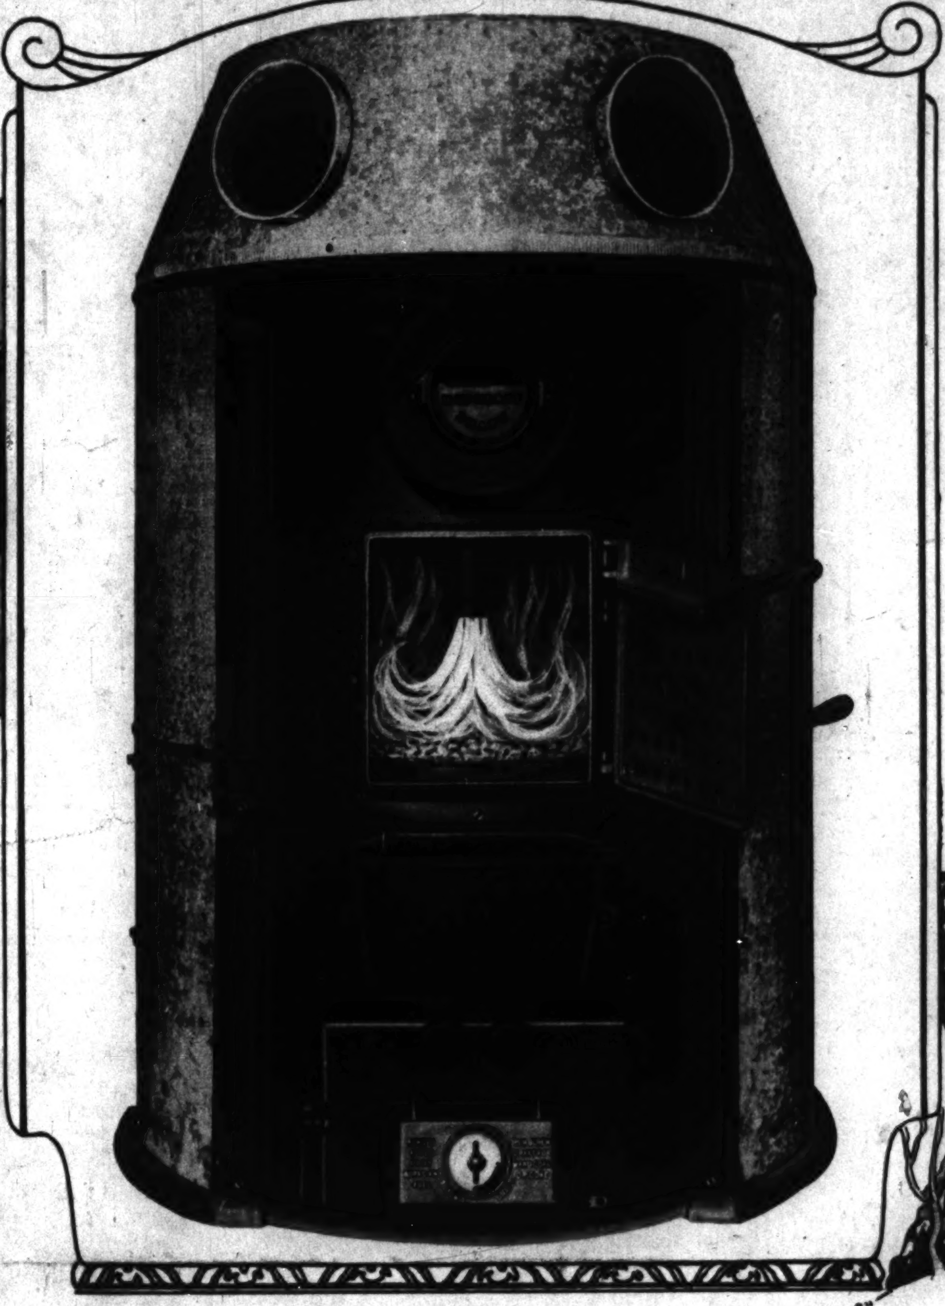
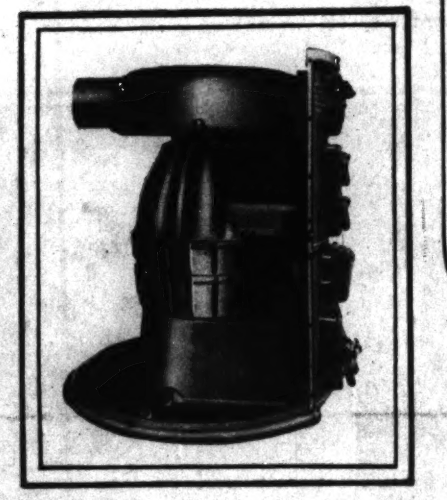
COLE'S RED Airvac-tube HOT BLASTS TRIPLE HEAT Burns—Fuel—Gas—Air

COLE'S Red Airvac-tube Hot Blasts Triple Heat

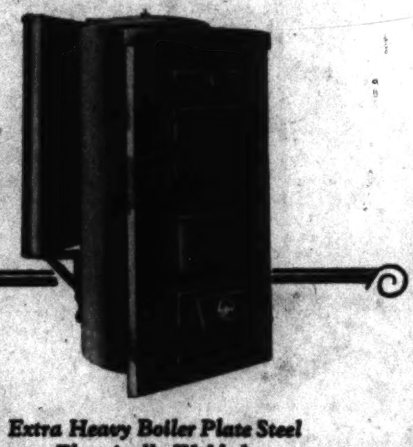


Contractors: Cole's Furnaces make your houses more confortable homes. Cole's claim to superiority is based on solid facts—easily proved. Specify Cole's Furnaces and make the success of your houses even more complete! The reputation of Cole's Heating Specialties makes your houses easier to sell.



THE heart of Cole's Hot Blast Furnaces. The furnace is pictured with the casing removed to show the heavy cast combustion chamber of Cole's Furnace. Note the extra large corrugations and ribbing on the fire-pot. The radiator above, is absolutely air-tight, so that the warm air in your rooms is fresh and pure.

Cole's Oil Burning Furnace



Extra Heavy Boiler Plate Steel Electrically Welded

COLE'S Special Oil Burning Furnace is designed to accommodate any oil burner on the market, and has the powerful radiating surface required to give perfect results. All parts are planned so that the furnace can be converted into a coal burner with ease if desired. Absolutely gas-tight.

Cole's California Climate

Look for the RED TUBE

All Winter Long

A whole house full of heat in mid-winter—fresh, warm, moist air in the most distant rooms. Let Cole's Hot Blast Furnace have charge of your heating. Clean, quick heat to keep you all luxuriously comfortable when winter is howling at you helplessly from out-of-doors.

Warm rooms to dress in on January mornings, even though the thermometer registers zero just outside the walls. You'll all be happier and healthier with Cole's Hot Blast Furnace protecting the temperature of your home. The only furnace that delivers all the heat you pay for, wherever you want it, whenever you want it. The furnace that keeps your house clean as well as comfortable.

Cole's Furnaces are air-tight. No ash-dust, no gases, no soot can possibly penetrate to your rooms. Wives know how intensely important this is! The patented Hot Blast, most widely imitated of all furnace features, burns the fuel gases as well as the fuel—produces just twice as much heat. Other furnaces send this potential heat, representing half your fuel, up the chimney! Your coal bills will prove the Cole story!

Say Cole's to your architect and your builder, and save coal. See that Cole's Hot Blast Furnace is specified for your new home. The wisest investment in the whole house. Call on the Cole dealer. He'll absolutely insure your comfort with a Cole furnace.

COLE MANUFACTURING COMPANY

3250 South Western Avenue, Chicago

Sole makers of the patented Red Airvac-tube Hot Blast Heaters, Ranges and Furnaces

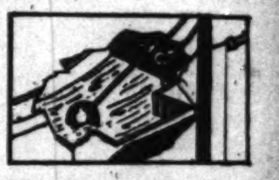
Practical Reasons Why Cole's Are Best

1. Cole's famous Hot Blast Draft gives perfect surface combustion by feeding super-heated air into the fuel gases as they rise. A highly inflammable mixture results, which is instantly consumed. The gases that would otherwise escape up the flue, represent 40 to 60% of your fuel. An enormous saving! Cole's facts on the combustion of fuel gases are vouched for by the United States Government.

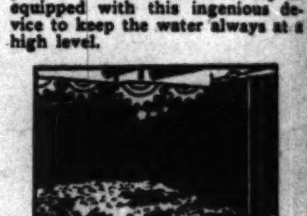
2. The Red Tube! Look for it! The Red Tube delivers the blast of super-heated air (at about 1,000°) into the rising gases and throws them back on the burning fuel where they are instantly ignited. The flaming gases are then driven against the inside walls of the furnace, spreading the heat evenly. A double economy!

3. The extra deep Radiator, oversized, and reversible so that the furnace may be placed to exactly suit your convenience. Gas or smoke can't possibly penetrate to the air chambers. The throat from the combustion chamber to the radiator is 50% larger than in most furnaces.

4. Heavy Cast Fire-pot, extra heavily ribbed and corrugated so as to stand the greatest possible heat indefinitely. Greatest strength and lasting qualities under all conditions. The large square cup joints between all castings positively prevent leakage of dust, gas, and smoke.



5. The Automatic Float Control in the extra large water pan assures the proper amount of healthful moisture in your rooms without constant watchfulness on your part. All Cole's Furnaces may be equipped with this ingenious device to keep the water always at a high level.



6. Cole's Ash Spray prevents any ash dust when shaking the furnace or removing ashes. A brand new feature that may be added to any Cole model. Your guarantee of a clean cellar and a dustless home.

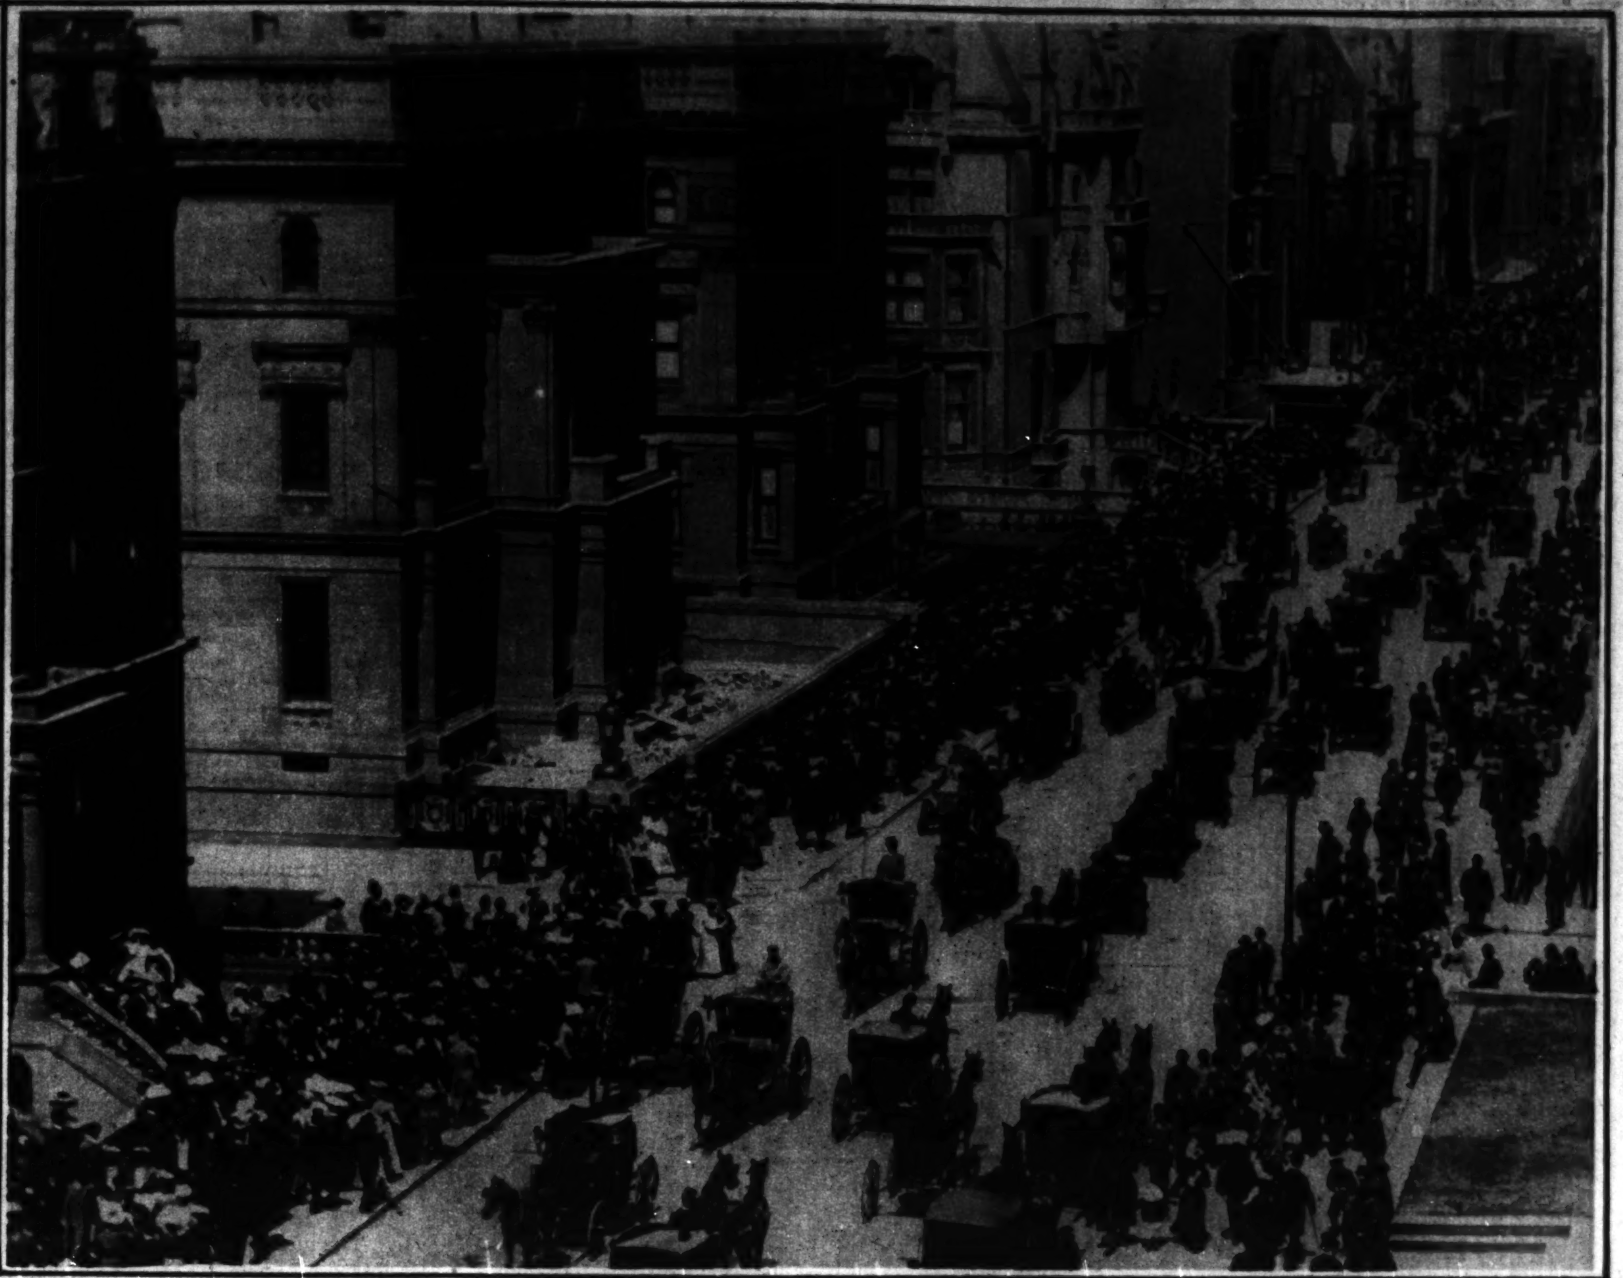
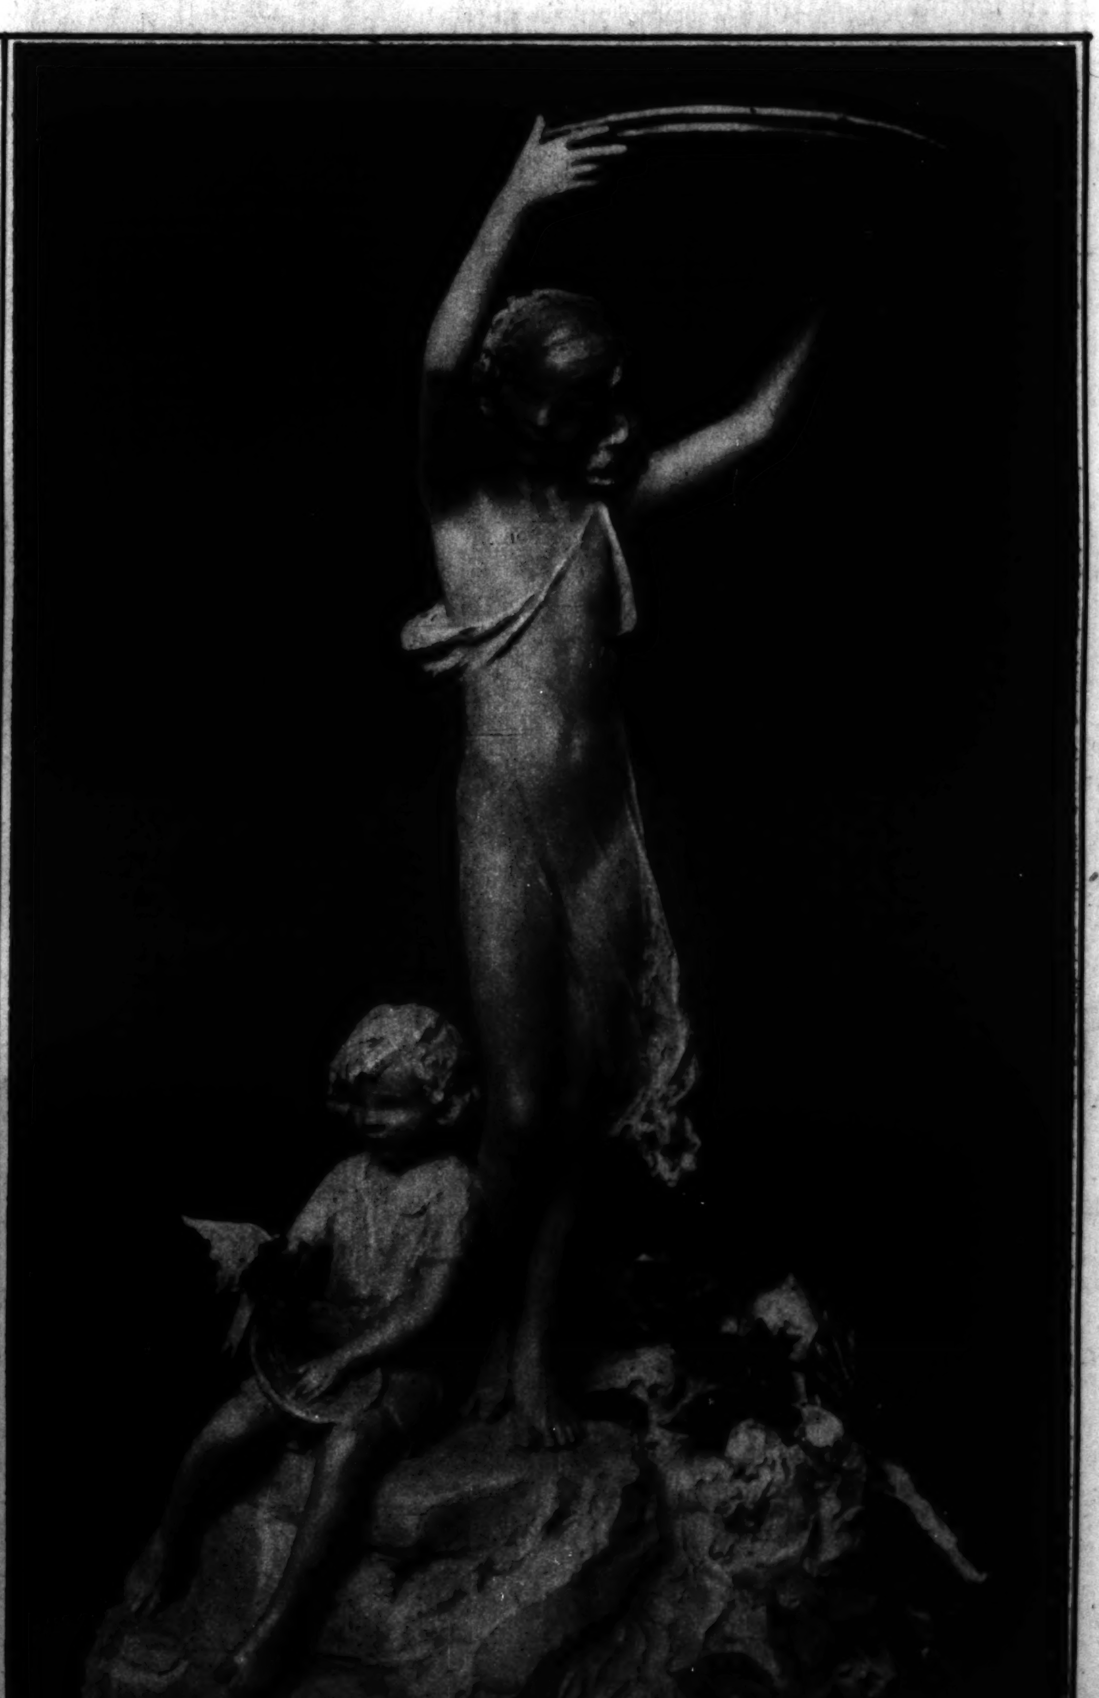
CUPID BRIDGED THE GAP between stage and Bible with the recent wedding of Elliot Holt, son of the wealthy New York Bible publisher, and Elizabeth Baxter Keene, formerly of the Greenwich Village Follies. The couple left for a Canadian wedding trip directly after the ceremony in St. George's church. (Photograph from Wide World)



FIND THE MOTOR in this vintage 1900 Easter parade along Fifth avenue, New York! There's just one, but it doesn't make much of a splurge among the top hats, leg-o'-mutton sleeves and fancy turnouts that filled the leisurely boulevard in those distant days. Also it kept close to the curb to facilitate constant repairs. (Photograph from Kadel & Herbert)

UNACCUSTOMED AS SHE IS to public appearances, little Paulina Longworth struck a typically Rooseveltian pose in this, her first Washington, D. C., picture. The popular baby is shown in the arms of her nurse after she arrived at the Longworth home from Chicago. (Photograph from Pacific and Atlantic)

FABULOUS FORTUNES have grown with the automobile industry during its quarter century of development, but no single transaction has impressed the world so much as the sale of the Dodge Brothers company by these two attractive widows of Detroit's pioneer motor builders. Mrs. John F. Dodge, left, and Mrs. Horace E. Dodge, right, disposed of their joint holdings to a New York banking syndicate for a cash consideration of between $175,000,000 and $200,000,000. (Photographs from Pacific and Atlantic)



WELCOME TO THE BIRDS is written in this graceful fountain which is a central figure of the new memorial surrounding Theodore Roosevelt's grave in Oyster Bay, Long Island. The lovely little churchyard in which Roosevelt's body lies has been made a memorial bird sanctuary. It will be formally dedicated this summer by the National Association of Audubon societies. It's so economical...

To serve meals PYREX-Cooked!

YOU owe it to yourself to equip your kitchen with PYREX Transparent Ovenware, for PYREX makes all foods delicious, and greatly lessens work.

With a meal completely PYREX-cooked, you use all the oven heat, set yourself free from the hot kitchen, avoid the danger of flying fat, keep food odors out of the house, and serve more digestible foods. In fact, after the food is in the oven, your dinner requires very little care until it's ready to be put on the table!

And then—imagine the convenience of PYREX—you serve in the very same dishes you used for the baking! You'll appreciate this, if you've ever tried to transfer baked fish, or fried eggs—for example—from pan to platter without breaking them.

Your favorite store will gladly explain the many advantages of PYREX oven cookery!

You want bathroom fixtures that won't wear out

OLD-FASHIONED bathroom fixtures were enamel or nickel. They would wear and tarnish or chip off and be spoiled. Now comes a wonderful new line—forty models strong—of beautiful fixtures made of solid, snow-white china. These fixtures are guaranteed for a lifetime against crazing. They will never even grow old or discolor. Always they are glistening, shining, like new.

You cannot imagine how beautifully these fixtures will transform your bathroom. Easily cleaned—soap and water makes them sparkle like new. They all harmonize—each piece matching like a fine dinner set. And more than this, their shining whiteness harmonizes with the bigger fixtures in your bathroom—the wash basin, the tub, the toilet bowl.

You can put them up yourself

Samsonchina Fixtures are not expensive. They go up with screws, just as ordinary fixtures do. You can put them up yourself. You can buy them at your favorite store. They are sold by all better-class department, house-furnishing and hardware stores.

Special Exhibits now being held at

THE FAIR — MANDEL BROTHERS
W. A. WIEBOLDT & CO., Milwaukee Ave. & Paulina St.
W. A. WIEBOLDT & CO., Lincoln, School & Ashland Ave.

Take down your old fixtures and outfit your bathroom with these shining Samsonchina ones. Then your bathroom is made beautiful for as long as you live.

Free booklet on beautiful bathrooms

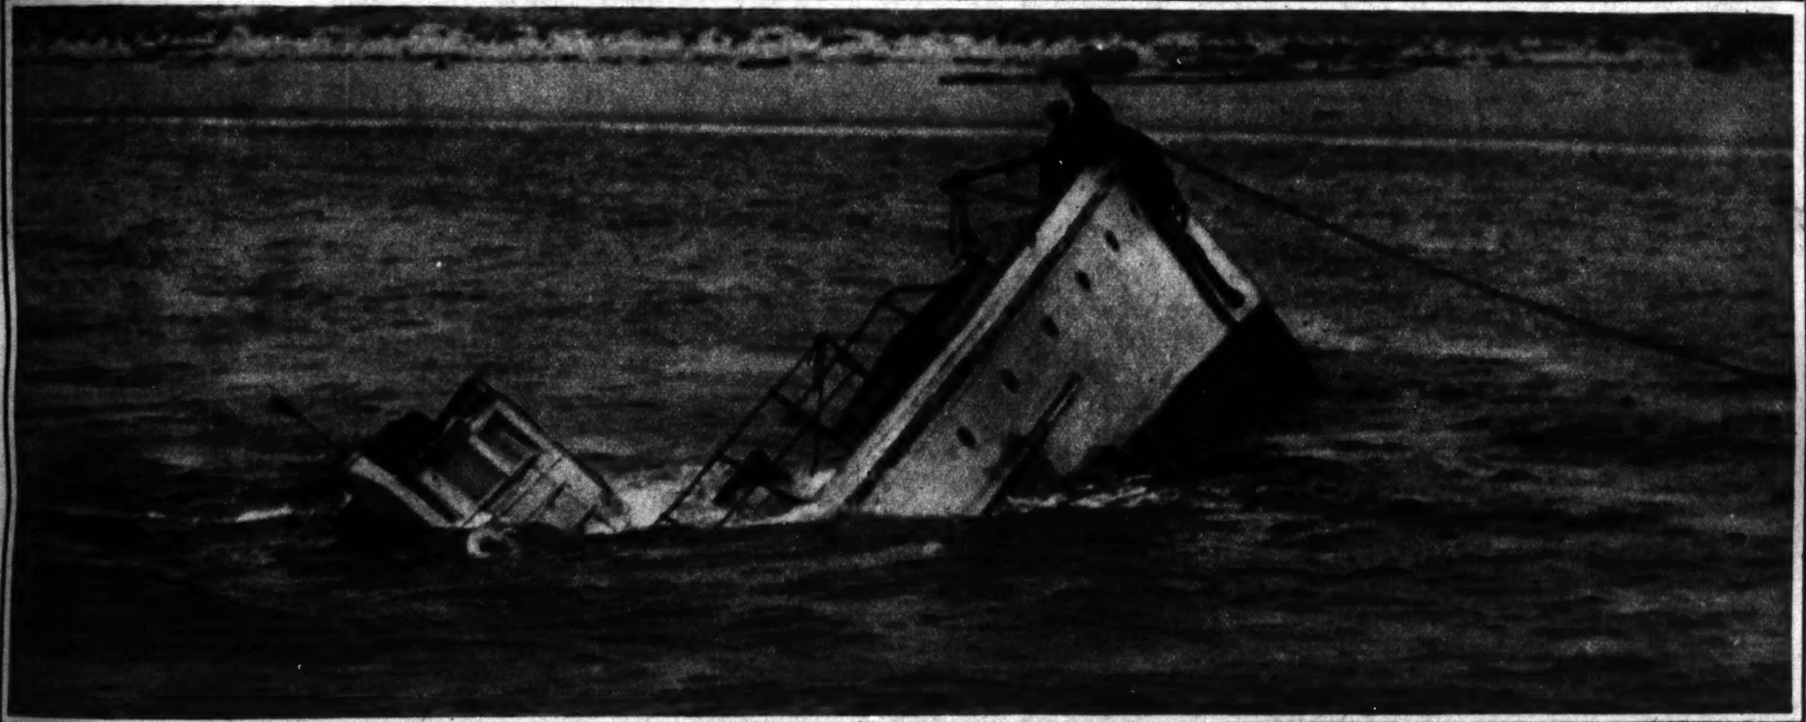
Send for our free book The New Vogue in Beautiful Bathrooms, telling how to make your bathroom distinctive at small expense. It explains the principles of bathroom equipment and shows every one of the forty Samsonchina Fixtures, giving prices and dimensions. S. D. Baker Mfg. Company, Dept. SHOT INTO THE AIR FOR THE FORTY-THIRD TIME—The plane of Lieut. W. G. Maser just before it was catapulted from the battleship Tennessee during practice off Santa Barbara Island, Cal. Like other wonders of the age, this feat is so uniformly successful that it is taken for granted along with the day's work. Considering the possibilities, however, even the forty-third take-off must have had a thrill for the birdman.

(Photograph from Pacific and Atlantic)

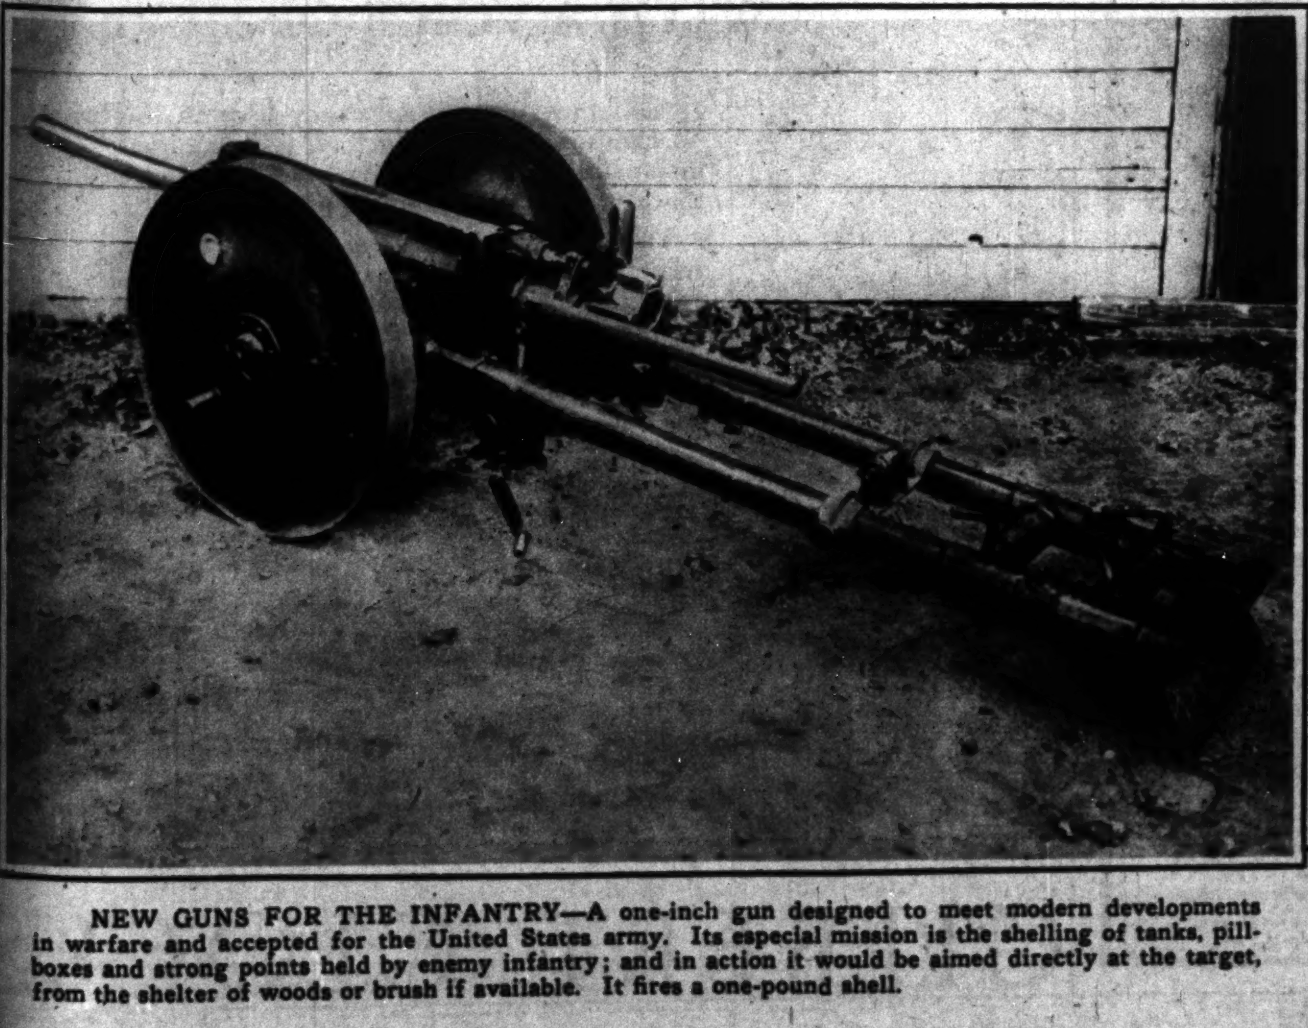
THEY'LL FLY ACROSS THE PACIFIC—Commander Ralph Davison of the naval air forces (above) and Lieut.-Commander James H. Strong, attached to the U. S. S. Aroostock, have been chosen by Rear Admiral Moffett, chief of the naval bureau of aeronautics, to pilot a navy plane on the non-stop flight from the Pacific coast to Hawaii, probably in May.

(Photographs from Pacific and Atlantic)

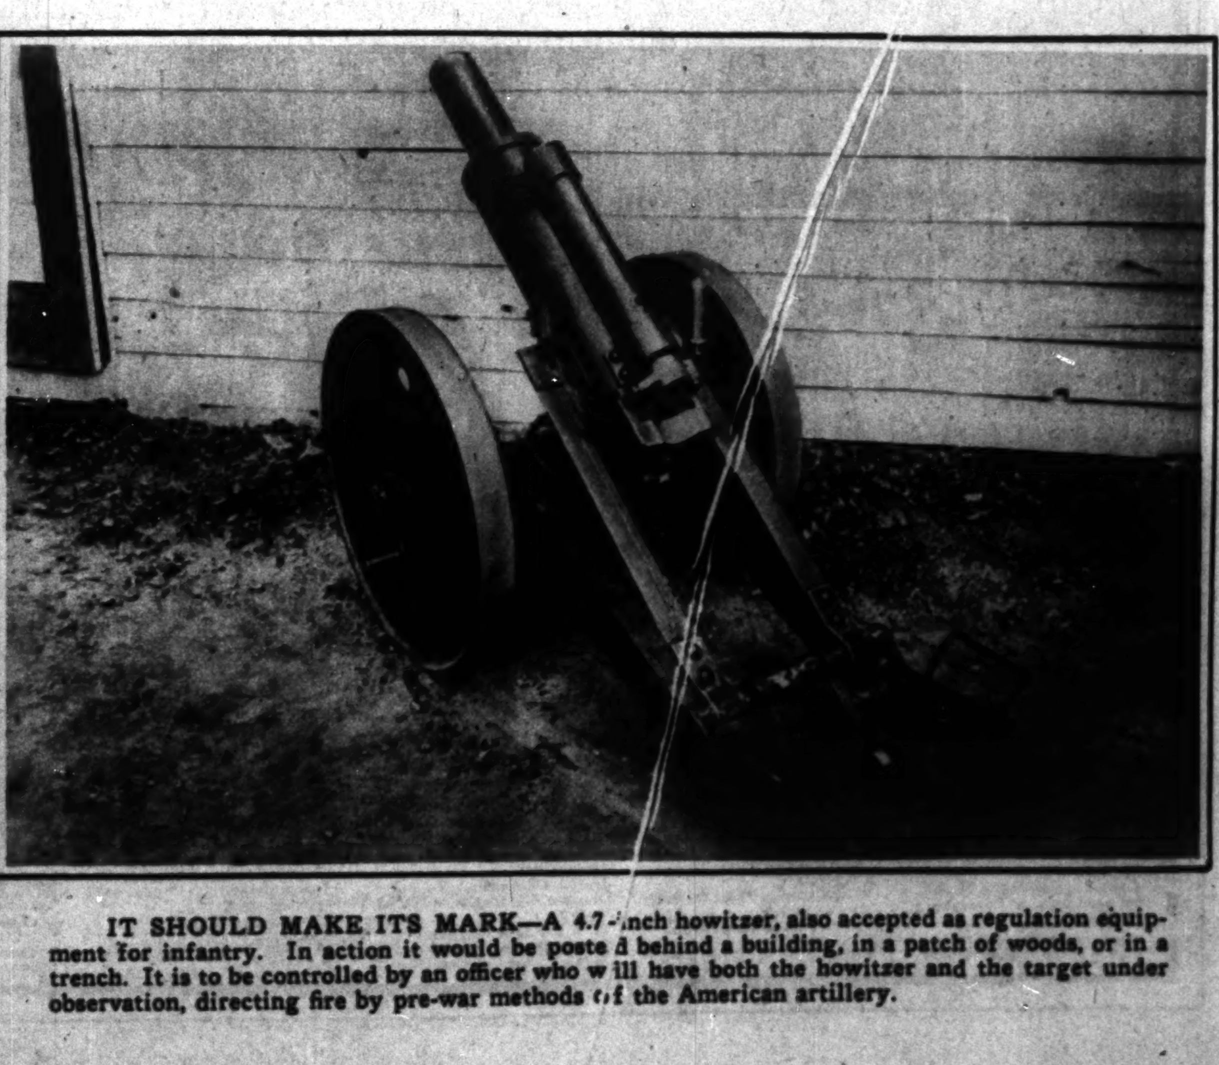


RUM RUNNER SCUTTLED—The surf of Long Island Sound breaks today over the remains of the fleet rum runner SB 117, a converted subchaser, sunk in thirty feet of water with 1,800 cases of whisky. The crew of sixteen was taken by a coast guard patrol after a hot exchange of shots in which two federal agents were wounded.

(Photograph from Pacific and Atlantic)



NEW GUNS FOR THE INFANTRY—A one-inch gun designed to meet modern developments in warfare and accepted for the United States army. Its especial mission is the shelling of tanks, pill-boxes and strong points held by enemy infantry; and in action it would be aimed directly at the target, from the shelter of woods or brush if available. It fires a one-pound shell.



IT SHOULD MAKE ITS MARK—A 4.7-inch howitzer, also accepted as regulation equipment for infantry. In action it would be posted behind a building, in a patch of woods, or in a trench. It is to be controlled by an officer who will have both the howitzer and the target under observation, directing fire by pre-war methods of the American artillery.

The shoes that men like to say they wear have a varied appeal to well dressed men. Some buy them for their richness of quality; some for their attractiveness of style; some for their exceptional comfort, while all recognize and profit by their economy of lengthy service. The new Spring models reflect the nearly fifty years of continued leadership which Nettletons have enjoyed in the making of men's fine shoes exclusively. Your nearest Nettleton dealer will be glad to show them to you.

An exquisite timepiece for the well-appointed living-room

THE CLOCK
WITH A VOICE OF SILVER

THE spirit of old Normandy lives in this handsome Gilbert Clock. It calls the hour in tuneful chimes, soothing notes that add a touch of loveliness to any home.

This clock pleases the eye as well as the ear. Its dark, richly finished case is curved in simple, sweeping lines—a pure beauty of which one never tires. It comes with snow-white or satin-silvered dial, framed by a plain, gold-finished sash.

In its case is a modern 8-day pendulum movement, capable of long-lived usefulness.

A Gilbert Clock is the product of more than a century of clock-making experience. When a clock leaves the Gilbert shop it has been doubly inspected. With it goes the Gilbert guarantee.

There is nothing about a Gilbert Clock that indicates its moderate price. To read a Gilbert price tag is to be pleasantly surprised. Dozens of charming styles and sizes, eight to thirty dollars. It is easy to find a merchant who sells them.

Do you know what to do when your clock's chime or gong strikes the wrong hour?

This and many other valuable hints on the care of your clock are explained in the booklet, "What Makes It Tick?" It is FREE. Send for your copy today.

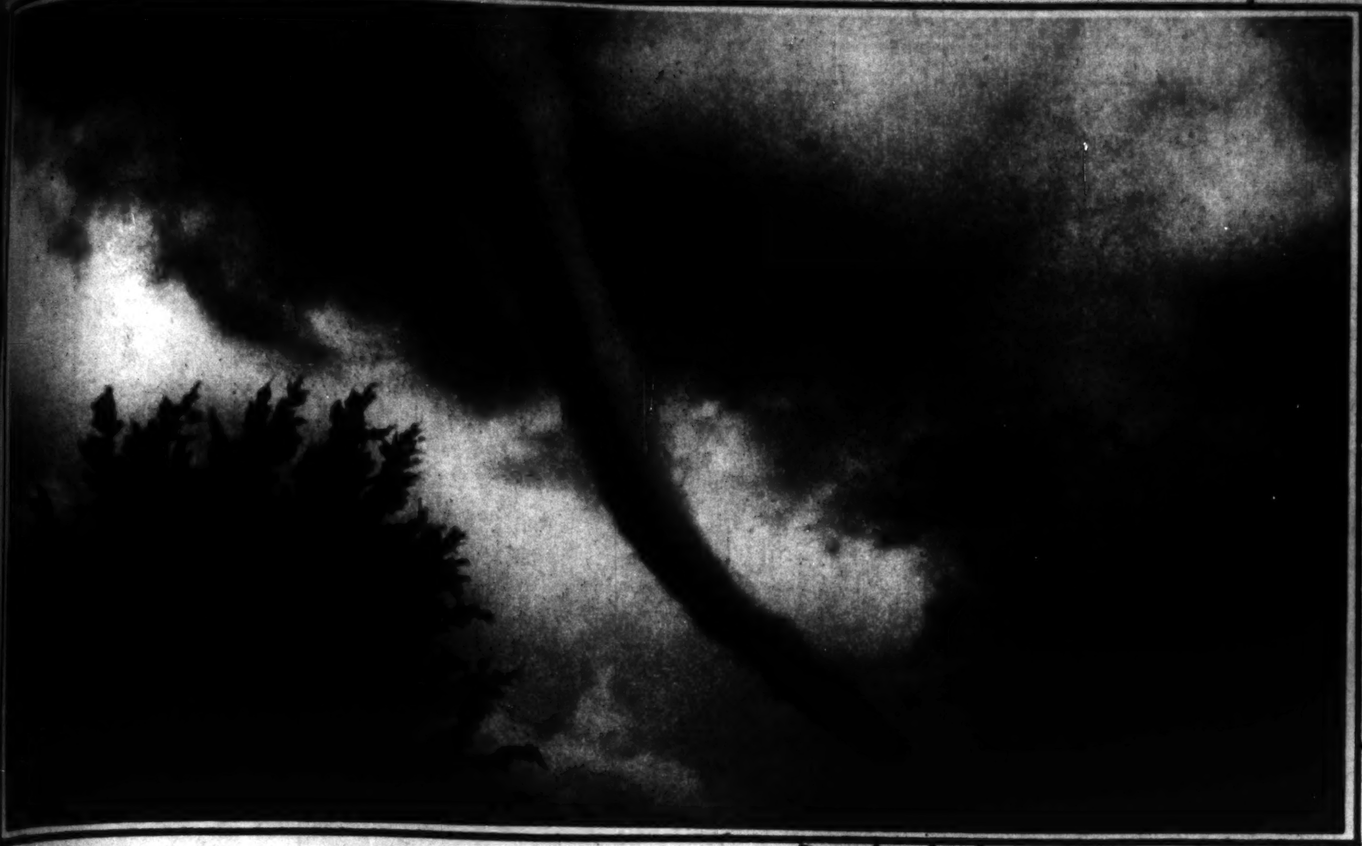
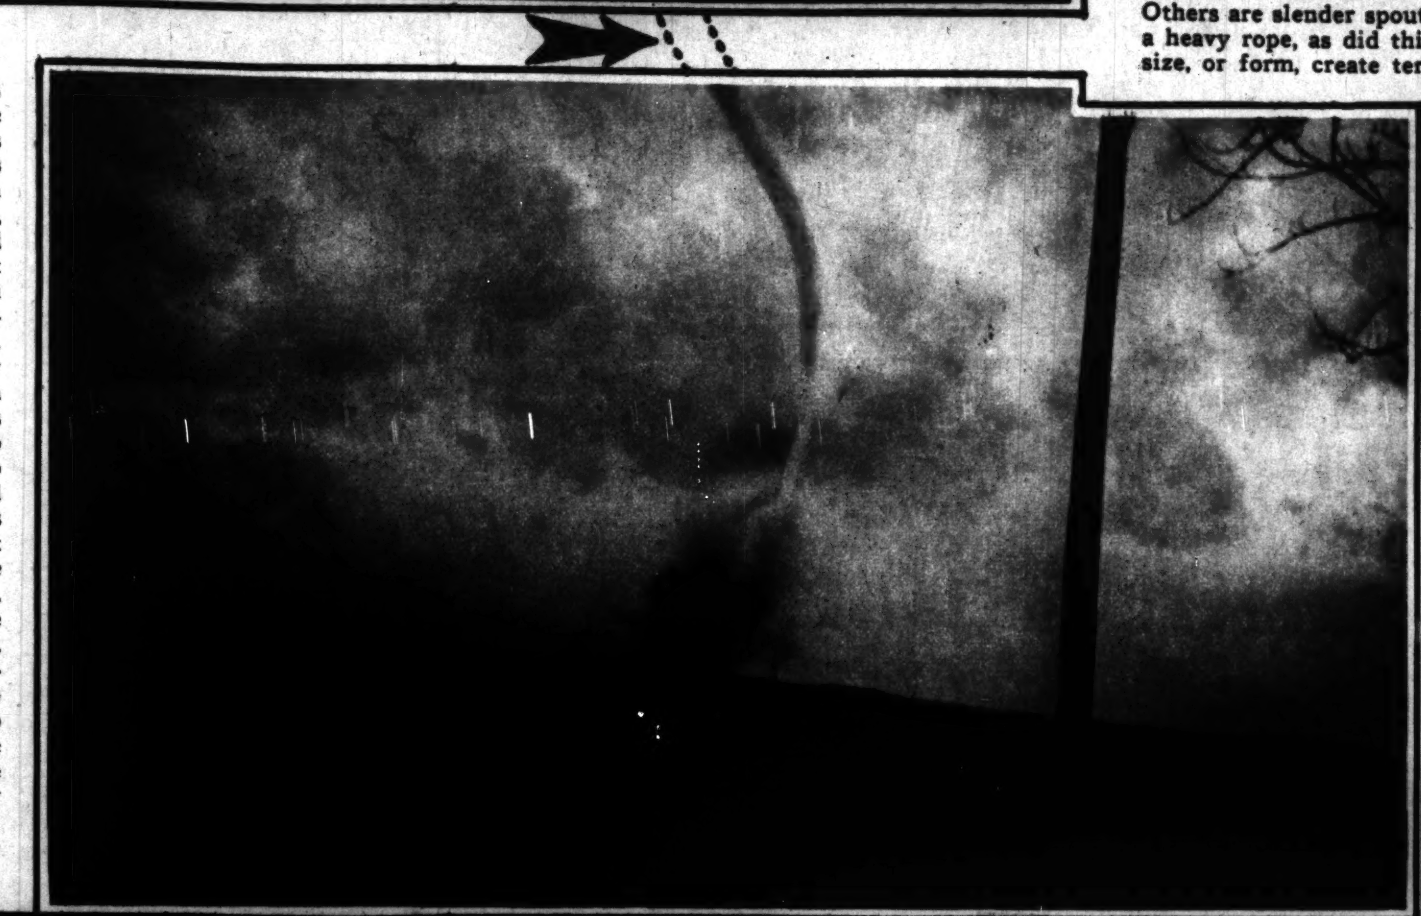
GILBERT CLOCKS



ENIGMAS OF THE SKIES are tornadoes, presenting shapes, sizes and forms of almost limitless variations. Some are great upright funnels perhaps thousands of feet wide at the base and covering a path many miles long, as in the recent Illinois storm. Others are slender spouts that coil grotesquely across the sky for a few brief minutes like a heavy rope, as did this specimen in Nebraska. Yet all tornadoes, regardless of shape, size, or form, create terrific havoc wherever they touch the earth.

(Photograph by W. A. Wood, from Gayle Pickwell.)



A TORNADO GOES INTO ACTION — The recent tornado in Illinois and adjacent states has aroused new interest in this dread phenomenon, which sweeps unheralded from the sky to wreak terrible destruction upon the earth. Here's one divided into two pictures. It swept along at forty miles an hour and cut a path a block wide across eastern Nebraska. Two negatives were needed to picture it, for the cloud was nearly two miles long and the upper part was directly above the photographer's head. The two exposures were made a few seconds apart. The dotted lines and arrow show where the two pictures can be joined to make one complete photograph. Out at the base a dust cloud partly obscures the cone.

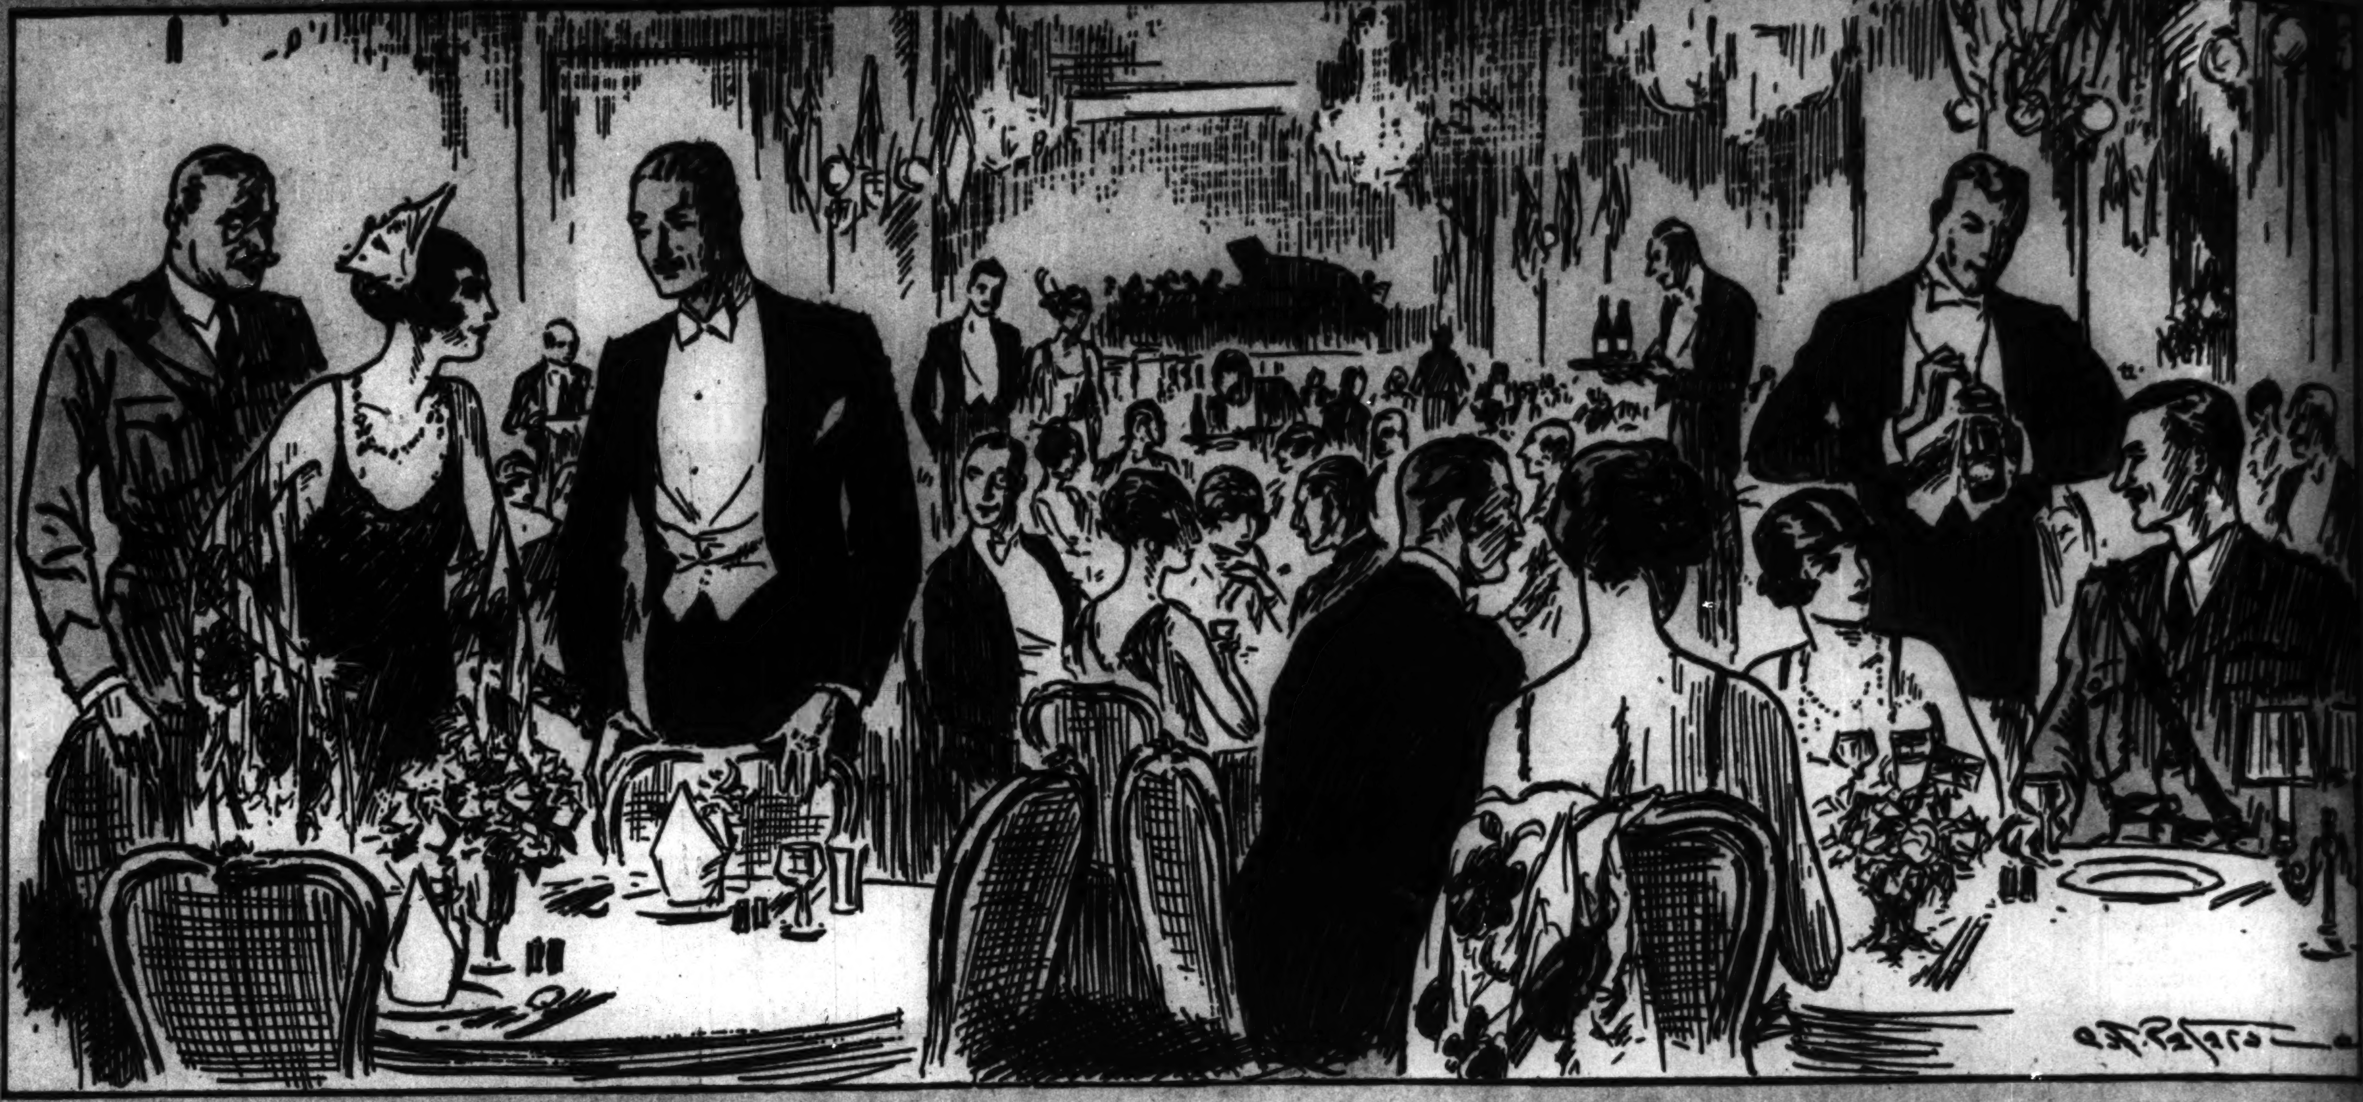
(Photographs from Gayle Pickwell.)

BECAUSE THEY TURN they're called tornadoes; here's one pictured outside Norton, Kan., as it began to twist. Illinois has had many disastrous twisters, but Kansas probably holds the record. In thirty-five years more than 300 have visited that state.

(Photograph copyright by C. E. Reed, from Gayle Pickwell.)

THE PHOTOGRAPHER CHASED THIS ONE on a speeding motorcycle for four miles to get a closeup after it had descended on North Dakota. It was an August twister, which is unusual, for March, April and May are the tornado months. It's hard to catch a storm that travels as fast as a mile a minute; but it is much harder to get away from one. (Photograph by Dr. Chester Forrey, from Gayle Pickwell.)

A TWISTER AT WORK IN KANSAS, where the whirling clouds average ten a year. The "cloud" of the tornado is probably only the central core, where the condition most nearly approaches a vacuum. The great dust wreath at the base hides the grim destruction there, but bears witness to the tremendous strength of the storm winds. These winds are thought to reach a velocity of 300 miles an hour. (Photograph by Mrs. C. B. Winegar, from Gayle Pickwell.)



Down from Canada came tales of a wonderful beverage

FOR years and years, visitors to Canada have come back with tales of a wonderful ginger ale. They described its exquisite flavor—they told of drinking it in the Houses of Parliament in Ottawa, in the residence of the Governor-General, and in the Royal Canadian Yacht Club.

Friends would listen and smack their lips and ask if there wasn't some way to purchase it in this country. And the answer was always "No."

Finally, however, the Canadian owners were induced to open a branch in this country and "Canada Dry," for the first time, was officially brought to the United States.

A carload was sold the very first week, without a line of printed advertising, and in two short years "Canada Dry" became the accepted ginger ale for smart functions in the most exclusive clubs, hotels and restaurants in the U. S. A.

As a matter of fact, the demand grew so rapidly that a separate plant was soon made necessary in this country—one of the most impressive tributes to quality in the history of American business. The reason for the remarkable success of "Canada Dry" is simply that it is a real ginger ale.

This is an important point to remember. The dark, brownish color of the ordinary ginger ale is no indication of the quality. That strong, biting taste of the ordinary ginger ale is due largely to the excessive use of capsicum, or red pepper, which is often substituted for the genuine Jamaica ginger. There is no capsicum in "Canada Dry."

Because it is real ginger ale, and is made from real Jamaica ginger, "Canada Dry" blends delightfully with other beverages—it will not bite the tongue or burn the lips—it leaves no "brassy" after-taste or recurring "back kick," as some people call it—it is friendly to the stomach!

"Canada Dry" has been served for years in the leading hospitals in Canada, and now in this country, because of its purity and quality. It is one of the very, very few ginger ales that physicians recommend with confidence.

The minute you break the golden seal of the beautiful bottle and pour a bit of "Canada Dry" slowly down the side of the thin-edged glass, as the connoisseur would pour a glass of fine old wine, you will know that here, at last, is real ginger ale.

Hold it to the light! See how clear it is! How it gleams and sparkles! The life and vitality of it! The pale, "dry" champagne-like color.

And then taste it! Here is a revelation in ginger ale quality—an alluring "dry" flavor that intrigues your taste—a flavor unlike any other ginger ale you have ever tasted!

Truly it has been said that until you try "Canada Dry" you have no idea how good ginger ale ought to be. It is so different from the ordinary ginger ale that it might almost be called by another name.

The Sidewalk Talkers

By W. E. HILL

"Isn't it simply terrible the way all the new hats are made for bobbed heads? I can't get a thing that sets right!" Two old-fashioned girls with long hair just don't know what the world is coming to!

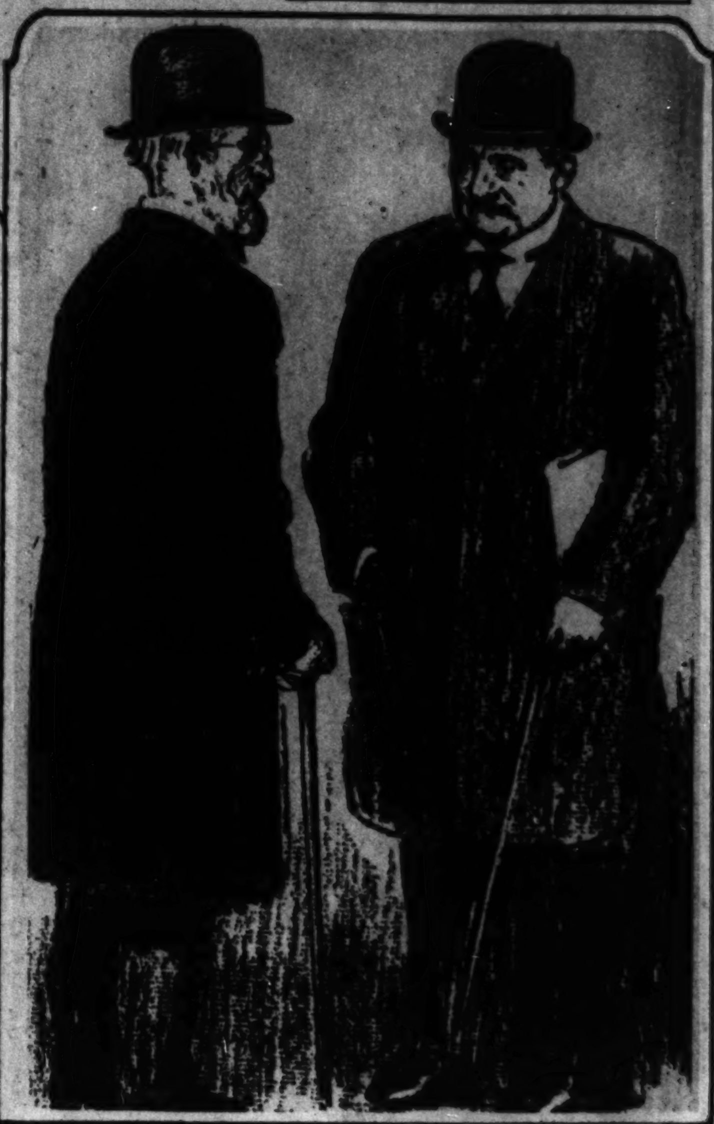
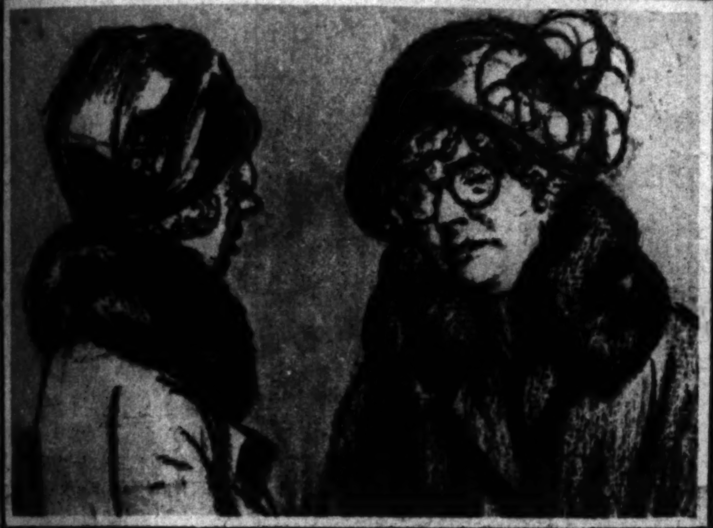
"Yes, she was a great big lovely dirl, that's what she was! Whose dirl was she—was Lillian gramma's dirl? O, Lillian's lost her tongue—Lillian's lost her tongue!"

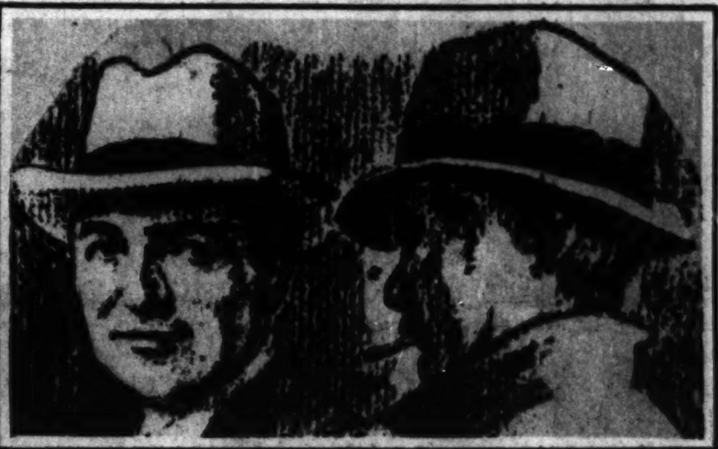


"Yes, I sleep well, and I eat well, and my neuritis is better." The health talk between two elderly boys, one of whom is thinking of taking up golf. The other has had all his teeth out.



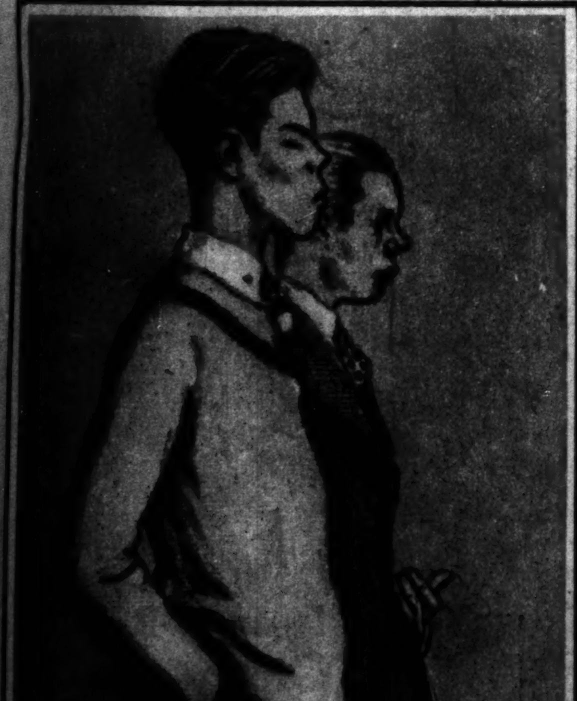
"Well, finally I turned around and I said to them: 'I paid my money to hear this play, and not to hear your conversation.' You could have heard a pin drop after that."

"Him? O, he's the kind of a man who takes you out to a restaurant and if you have chicken on toast he'll reach over and take some of the toast—you know the type." "Yeah, I know the type." Three salesladies off duty, discussing those wormlike creatures, gentlemen friends.

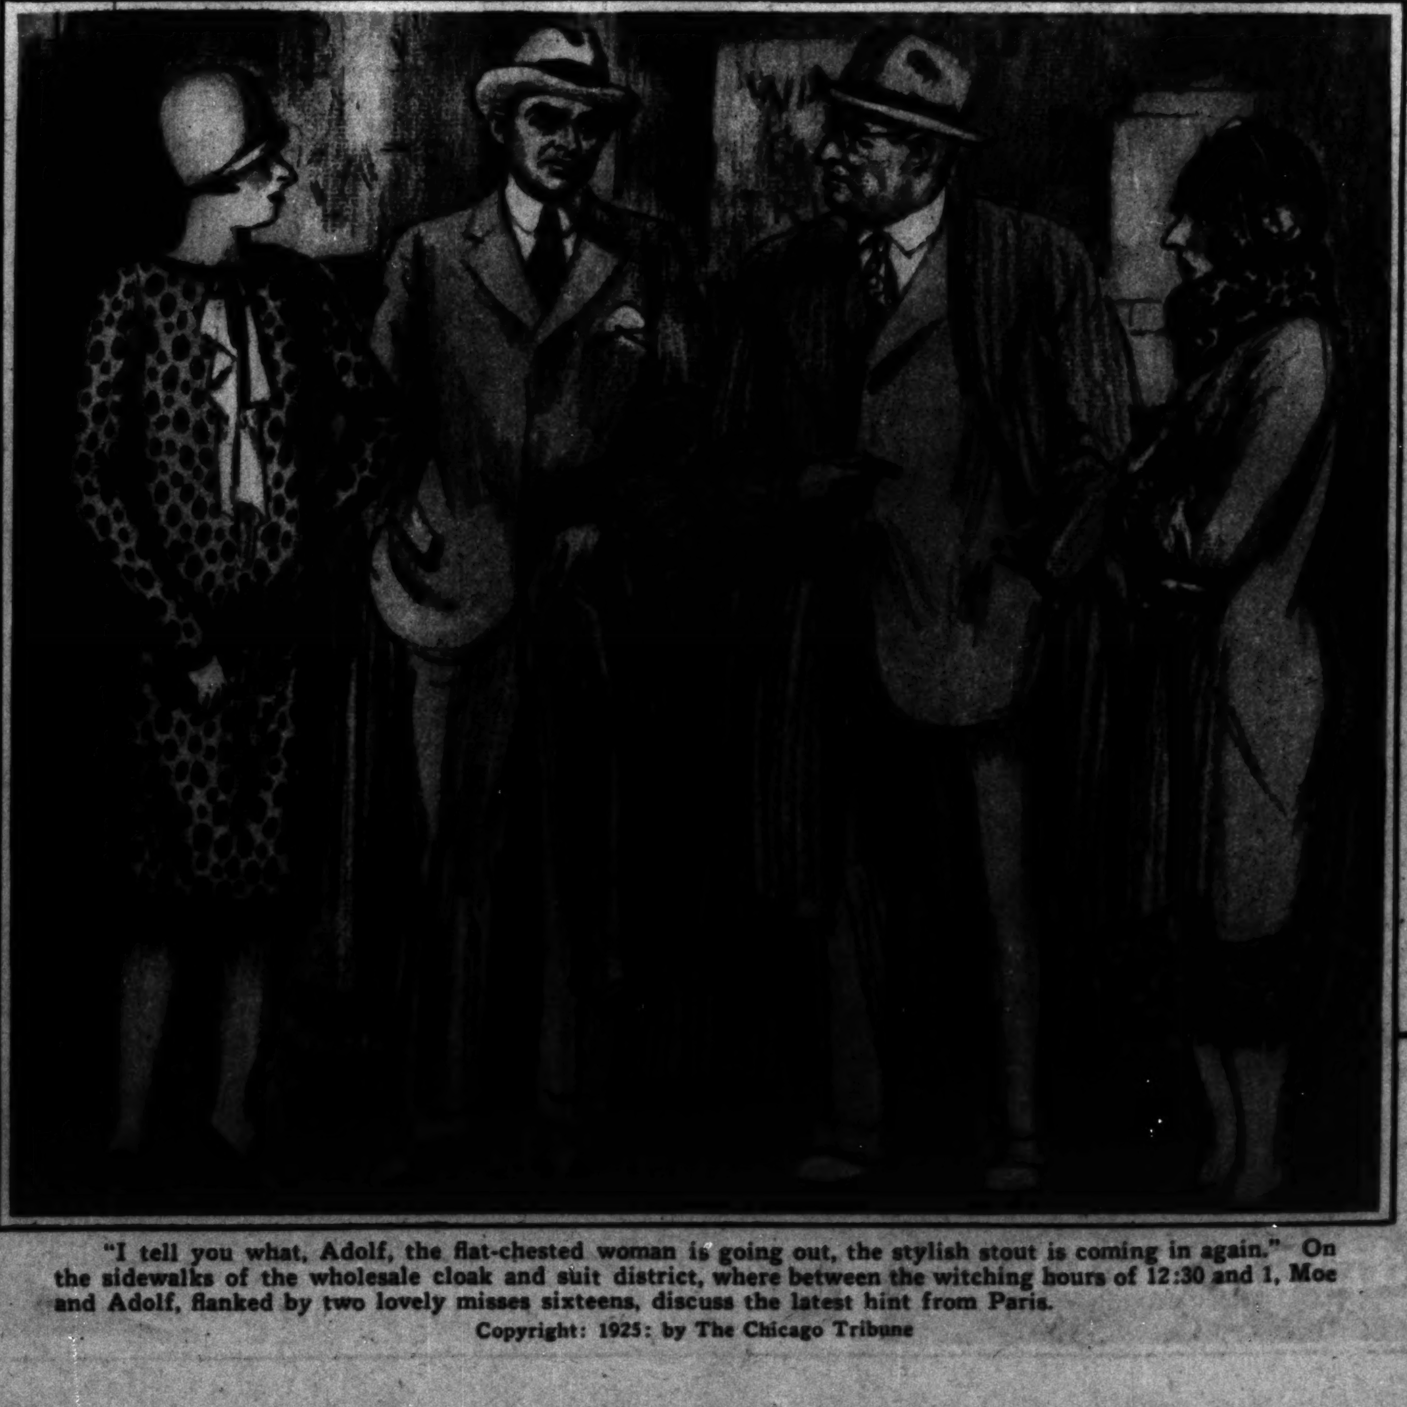


"Well, call me up some time."
"Sure, we'll have to get together some time."
"Well, be good."
"Same to you."
"Bye."
"Bye."

Just a sidewalk conversation between two old friends who aren't planning to meet again.



"I don't get any kick from that stuff—let's cut the class and go to a movie." Two college hot dogs discuss the inadvisability of attending a lecture in philosophy four.



"I tell you what, Adolf, the flat-chested woman is going out, the stylish stout is coming in again." On the sidewalks of the wholesale cloak and suit district, where between the witching hours of 12:30 and 1, Moe and Adolf, flanked by two lovely misses sixteens, discuss the latest hint from Paris.

Outside the theatrical agency, Miss Gladys Nightshade and Miss Evelyn Fungus are having a heart-to-heart talk. Gladys has all the swell notices Mr. Woollcott gave her clutched to her breast. Evelyn has no notices but she has her personality. Listen to what Gladys is saying: "'My dear,' she says to me, after the first number—'was that your sweetie? I thought you had a date with a stagehand!' Let her try to high hat me again and I'll give her what for!"

"—playful little bandits searching their willing victim"

"What did you bring us, Daddy?"

Expectant ears hear Father's step at the door. Then big kisses and the resounding greeting! "What did you bring us, Daddy?"

Like playful little bandits they search their willing victim. What did he bring them? That will prove the Father's good or bad judgment. * * * *

Every growing child craves candy. Active little bodies demand sugar. But children's candy must be pure—and they should not overeat on sweets.

Life Savers, the little candy mints with the hole (life saver shape) answer this problem in just the right way. They are china-hard and deliciously flavored.

This means that Life Savers are eaten slowly. Children suck them to make those wonderful flavors last longer. Little tummies are not upset. And there is no sticky, sugary debris to cling to teeth and start decay.

They're safe and wholesome. You may consciously be generous with Life Savers for they are the ideal candy for little folks.

Six flavors are displayed at all good stores so you may help yourself: Pep-o-mint, Wint-o-green, Cinn-o-mon, Lic-o-rice, Cl-o-ve and Vi-o-let.—Life Savers, Inc., Port Chester, N. Y.

What would you give to be immune from Tooth Decay?

If you want sound teeth—kill the germs that start decay

YOU BRUSH YOUR TEETH FAITHFULLY. You brush them carefully. Yet when you visit your dentist you are often surprised at the number of cavities his instruments reveal.

You feel baffled. Others seemingly no more careful than yourself enjoy the blessing of sound teeth. What is the trouble?

The trouble is that your teeth require a certain kind of protection which you are failing to give them—the protection they need is adequate dental care and the daily use of a germ-killing dentifrice.

The protection they need is the germicidal protection of Kolynos Dental Cream. Kolynos not only keeps your teeth white and glistening, but its main properties are highly antiseptic—extremely important properties if you are to have sound teeth, teeth free from dangerous, offensive, and painful cavities.

FREE—Enough Kolynos to brush your teeth 32 times, ½ inch to the brushing

PREPARING TO REPEL "INVADERS" OF HAWAII—More than five billion candle power is represented in this battery of searchlights that sweeps the sky for imaginary airplanes. The crews that man them belong to the forces in training for the test of Hawaiian defenses by United States land, sea and air services in the greatest maneuvers ever staged in the Pacific.

THE FIRST THIN LINE—A "suicide squad" simulates battle against a landing party on a Hawaiian beach. There are here the potentialities of a desperate struggle in actual warfare between invaders in small boats trying to gain a foothold and machine gunners ashore charged with holding control of the railway line at their backs.

"LONG TOM" TUGS AT HIS LEASH—One of the monster rifles at Fort Weaver, Oahu, which is counted on to help keep the "invading" fleet at a safe distance from Honolulu—theoretically. The degree of success with which its task is performed will go far toward determining the strength of America's first line of Pacific defense. (Photograph from Pacific and Atlantic)

THE STRATEGISTS GO INTO SESSION—Officers of the Hawaiian army garrisons rehearsing plans for their greatest war game. They work with a topographical map of Hawaii and toy ships in a waterless ocean representing the advancing fleet.

TESTING THE FIELD GUNS' BITE—Artillery of the Hawaiian forces in maneuvers designed to make the reception of the enemy hotter. The guns firing here from the crest of a ridge are 155 mm. howitzers, pieces that would play a vital role against a real army in real warfare.

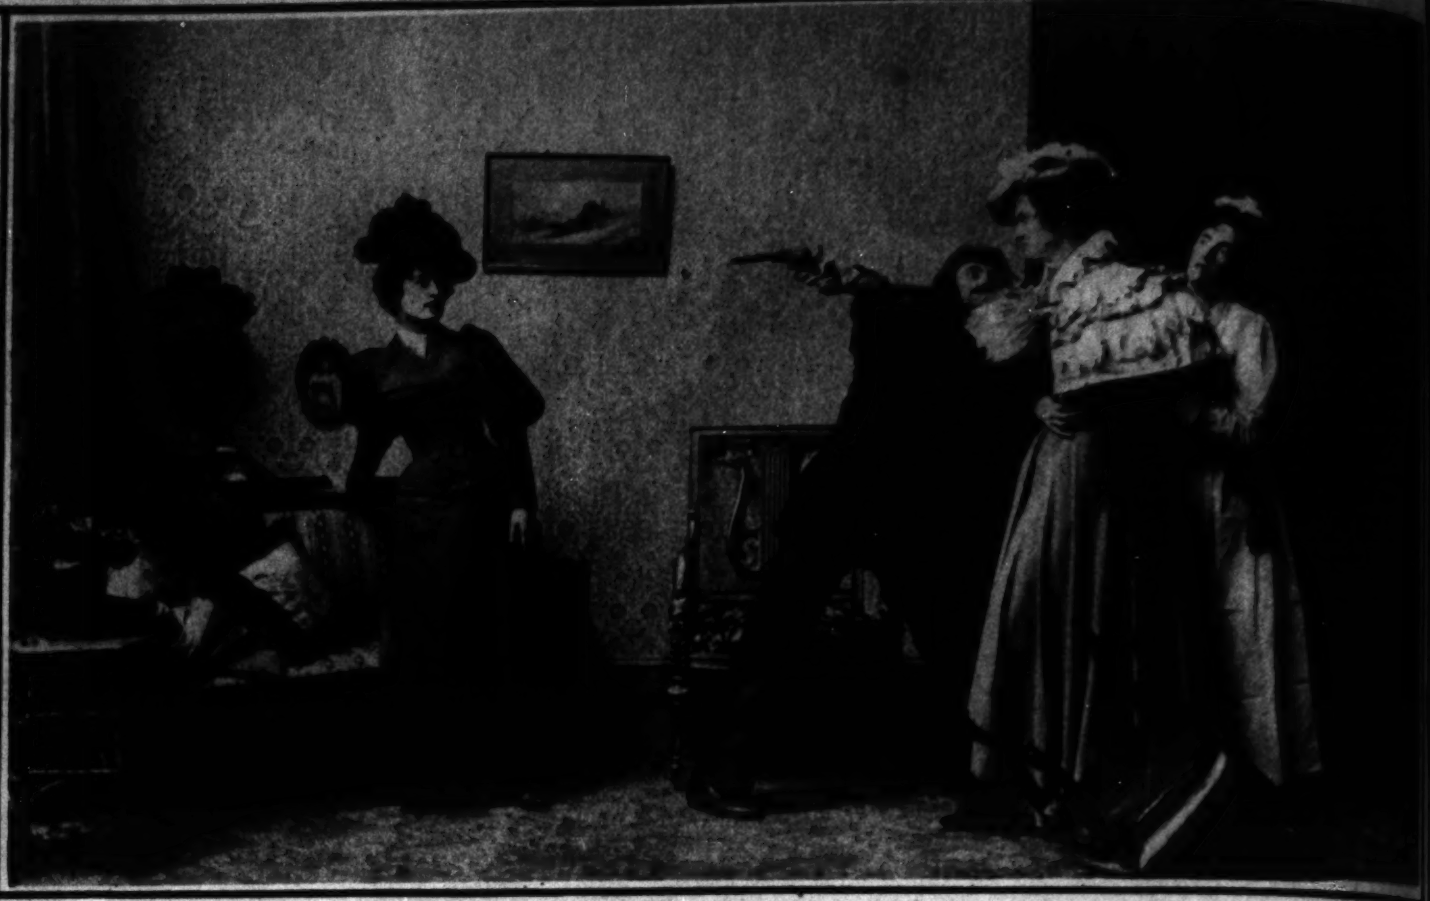
PICKED BY PRESS AGENTS! Every year the Wampas, a voluntary organization of press agents in California, elect thirteen "baby stars"—one from each of the big companies. Lola Todd is the choice from the Universal lot. She's to be seen with Jack Hoxie in "The Demon."

ANTONIO MORENO will play the leading role in "Mare Nostrum," from the novel by Blasco Ibanez. Alice Terry will be his leading lady.



"MISS JERRY" was a motion picture away back in 1894. Its sponsor was Alexander Black, author of "Stacey," and in those days he was known as "the picture play man." This is a scene from the film which, as a "slow movie," was projected with an intricate form of stereopticon. It is claimed by Mr. Black to have been the first of all picture plays.

CLAUDE GILLINGWATER and LOUIZE FAZENDA are seen here in a scene from "Cheaper to Marry." A study in harmony, aren't they?—the funny things!

HERE'S HOW THEY LOOK ON THE STREETS OF WASHINGTON. The distinguished Coolidge cabinet, the national economy directors, are gathered here in remarkable composite pictures. Why pay the price of neglect?

She ignored Nature's Warnings

Too late—he finds his mistake

She neglected her gums

4 out of 5

Dental statistics prove that four out of every five over 40—as well as thousands younger—pay Pyorrhea's toll. Do you want to elude this dread disease?

Your teeth are only as healthy as your gums

The gums are the keys to health. You must keep them firm, strong and healthy or your teeth will begin to loosen and eventually come out. This is one of the penalties of Pyorrhea.

But there are others even worse. Pus pockets form and generate poisons that drain through the whole system, causing much of the rheumatism, neuritis, anaemia, indigestion and other diseases so prevalent in middle life.

Prevent Pyorrhea with Forhan's

Don't wait for tender, bleeding gums to warn you of Pyorrhea's coming. Ward it off by going to your dentist regularly and using Forhan's For the Gums twice a day.

This safe, efficient, pleasant-tasting dentifrice counteracts the effects of harmful bacteria, hardens soft, tender gums, keeps them sound, firm and pink. Furthermore, it cleans and whitens the teeth and keeps the mouth fresh, clean and wholesome.

Ordinary tooth pastes are powerless to prevent or check Pyorrhea.

Even if you don't care to discontinue your favorite dentifrice, at least start brushing your gums and teeth once a day with Forhan's.

It is a preparation of proved efficacy in the treatment of Pyorrhea. It is the one that many thousands have found beneficial for years. For your own sake, make sure that you get it. Ask for, and insist upon, Forhan's For the Gums. At all druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

Van Ess Scalp Massage is preventing baldness and growing new hair; used by 800,000 men and 600,000 women

Nampa, Idaho, November 24, 1924

When I began use of Van Ess my scalp was practically bare. Used switches ten years to conceal baldness.

Applied Van Ess daily last thirteen months. My hair has uniformly increased in thickness and now ten inches long. Discarded all false hair last July. When dressed, my natural hair appears abundant as when I wore switches.

The toothbrush removes foreign matter from the teeth and gums and prevents premature decay. Comparable with the toothbrush, Van Ess used as directed, excites the scalp to normal action, restores hair lost through disease and promotes vigorous growth of the hair.

Acid Decay which is most difficult to control occurs at THE DANGER LINE between your teeth

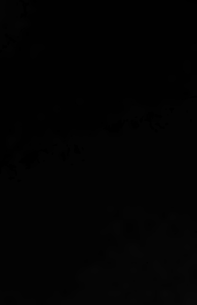
YOUR tooth-brush is essential to the proper care of your teeth and gums. But there is one vitally important place on your teeth which is inaccessible to any tooth-brush, yet which demands careful attention every day. It is The Danger Line.

What is The Danger Line?

The gums taper to very fine, thin edges, where they join the teeth. If you look closely, you can see the small ledges and V-shaped crevices formed by this joining of the gums and teeth. You will find these crevices on the outside of your teeth, in between your teeth, and in back of your teeth. They form The Danger Line.

In the course of normal life, unknowingly many things may injure this fine edge of gum tissue at The Danger Line. Too stiff a tooth-brush, the careless use of a tooth-pick or dental floss, harsh abrasives, powerful astringents, a strongly medicated dental cream, are among them. Then the gums recede, and the V-shaped crevices widen, forming pockets in which food and germs collect.

Food ferments in these crevices, forming acids which lead to Acid Decay. These acids also irritate the gums, causing them to bleed, become sore and recede farther and farther from the teeth. Pyorrhea and loss of teeth frequently follow.



Cross-section of a tooth showing Acid Decay at The Danger Line.

Serious physical and mental disorders often result from such infection due to Acid Decay at The Danger Line. Heart and kidney trouble, rheumatism and undermined general health are most common among them. Do you wonder that these tiny V-shaped crevices are called The Danger Line?

Make The Danger Line safe

Proper care at The Danger Line will protect against that type of decay that is most difficult to control—Acid Decay between the teeth at The Danger Line.

Proper care also will prevent Pyorrhea, for Pyorrhea cannot occur as long as the fine edge of gum tissue at The Danger Line remains intact.

Any dentist will tell you that Milk of Magnesia is a safe, sure, scientific means of counteracting the acids in the mouth, which lead to Acid Decay and often to Pyorrhea. Milk of Magnesia is the principal ingredient of Squibb's Dental Cream.

Use Squibb's Dental Cream regularly twice every day and you safeguard The Danger Line outside, in the back of and between your teeth. You also protect the grinding surfaces of your teeth, for tiny deposits of Squibb's Dental Cream lodge in all the little crevices, even in those which are inaccessible to your tooth-brush. There they remain for hours, neutralizing acids as they form, protecting your teeth against Acid Decay, lessening the peril of Pyorrhea. No other dentifrice affords the same safe, thorough protection at The Danger Line and elsewhere. Buy Squibb's Dental Cream—made with Squibb's Milk of Magnesia—today.

The great spillway of the Roosevelt Dam prevents the dangers of overflow. This is the day of prevention. Danger is marked wherever it exists and measures of safety adopted. To prevent decay and disease, to safeguard health—even life itself—dental authorities have pointed out The Danger Line on our teeth—which demands our constant care and attention.

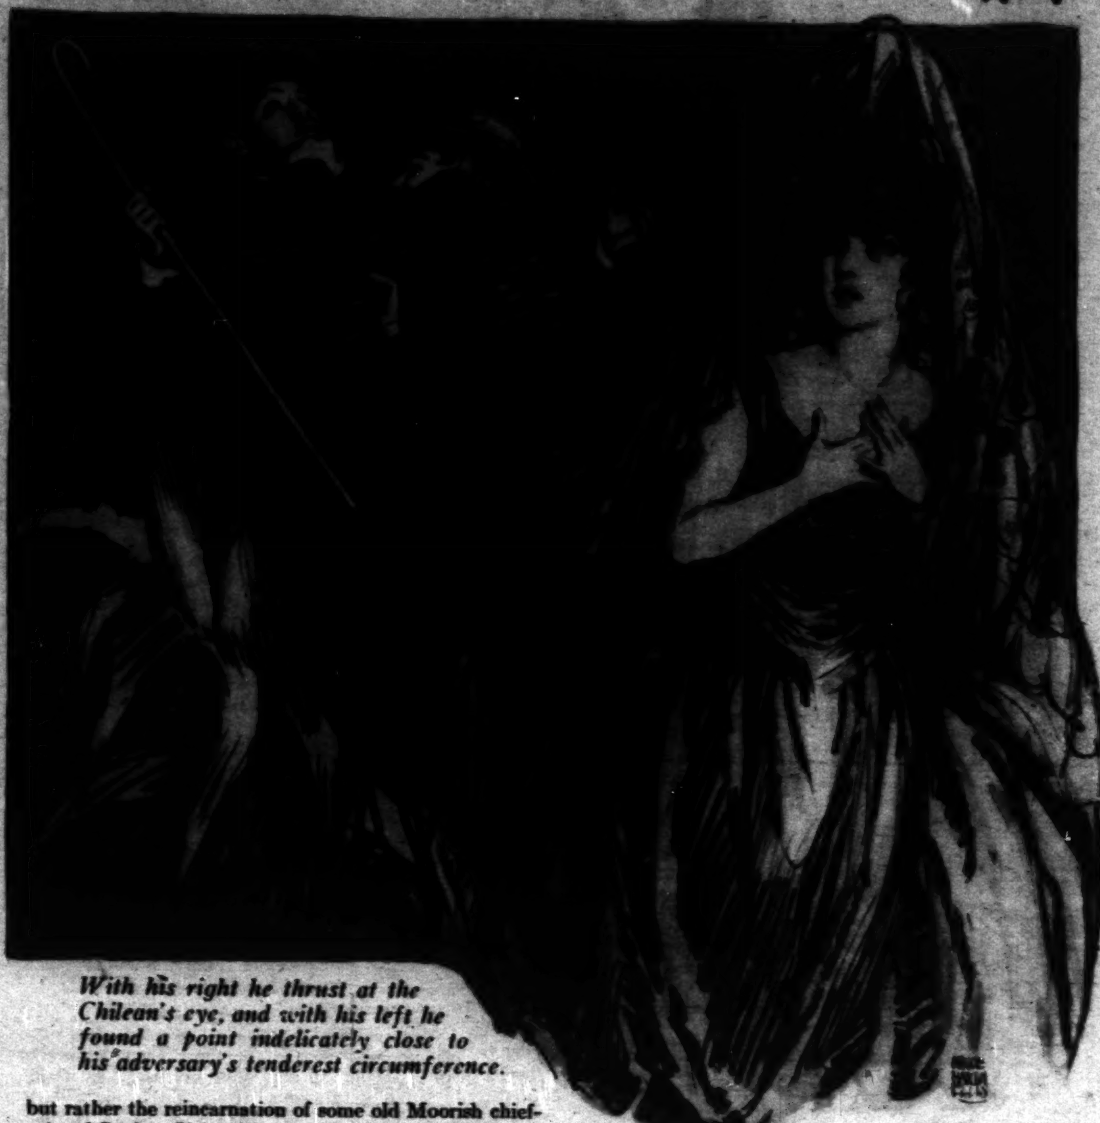
A Tale of the Amorous Adventures and Romance of One Robert Browning Vanderbee, Vendor of Poetry and Evaporated Milk



With his right he thrust at the Chilean's eye, and with his left he found a point indelicately close to his adversary's tenderest circumference.

IT was not at all unlike Robert Browning Vanderbee to hire a band and conduct his own paseo. He belonged to the age of troubadours rather than to the era of commercial travelers.

If he had been a girl, his mother would have called him Elizabeth Barrett, because the emotional keynote of her existence had been so perfectly pitched to the honey dew "Sonnets from the Portuguese." But since he happened to be a boy, he had to be the nearest approximation of Elizabeth, which was, of course, Robert.

Unhappily, though perhaps fortunately, the early cadences of Robert's life were not exactly in the romantic meter. Circumstances over which he had an indecisive influence confined his sentimental adventures to the imagination. This was somewhat because harsh necessity prohibited his plotted career as an itinerant writer of travelogues, and obliged him to become an itinerant vendor of evaporated milk.

Nothing prevented him, however, from an occasional outburst of poetry, in justification of his name. He did this rather well, and one or two of these lucubrations were actually printed on the back page of his home town newspaper—with typographical errors.

Happily he was a better drummer than he was a poet. He could dispose of his employer's desiccated dairy products with far greater ease than he could sell his own rhymed couplets. And as a result of this efficiency he was dubbed by the firm's salesmanager as the most likely Don Quixote to send forth on a bit of commercial knight errantry to South America.

Behold him, therefore, leaving this calling card at the iron grilled, brass studded doors of various conservative and reluctant old establishments along the Andean coast:

ROBERT BROWNING VANDERBEE
Traveling Representative
THE EVAPORATED MILK CO. NEW YORK, U. S. A.

Observe him, likewise, strutting through the palm bordered plaza at Antofagasta, with his hand figuratively over his heart, listening to the band music of his privately arranged evening promenade, and exchanging electric glances of a high voltage with the hazardous young woman who, in an acute angle of their acquaintance, was to become known to him as the Senorita Dulcinea Fulano de Tal.

This was the culmination—the last act, so to say—of a drama he had been constructing for himself for a number of years. Up to this point it had been entirely imaginative. Now it suddenly turned real, and he walked on to his own stage.

IT was upon a stage, in fact, that the affair had begun; to be precise, a Wisconsin vaudeville platform. Until the moment when Paquita Torralva flashed into the theater's spotlight he had been generally unaware of the Spanish world. It meant to him little more than a few vague historical echoes, associated with wars, galleons, Peruvian ingots, and Christopher Columbus. It did not appeal to his poetic sentiment. But with the first supple bending of Paquita's ankles, the first magnificent lifting of her shoulders as she swept into her dance, Spain suddenly embodied itself, for him, into an emotion.

While Paquita was awhirl, a red flame of a woman, he was able to erect a large number of Spanish castles. The clamor of the castanets incited his imagination into startling postures. The vivacity of her tall, thudding heels, the serpentine grace of scarfbound waist and hips, a glitter of eyes fringed by lashes of the deepest jet, and the audacity of a white comb tilted a dozen inches high from her piled hair, precipitated him into all sorts of sentimental gymnastics.

But Paquita has little to do with Vanderbee's personal scenario. She appears only in the first act.

Vanderbee thought of her as a bit of scaffolding for his skyscraper in Spain. He did not flit nearer to those starry black eyes, or to the crimson lips, curving into a Castilian lisp. And his own part in this introductory business was played wholly in the orchestra circle.

His rôle, so far as he could describe it, consisted of an emotional readjustment, a general rearrangement of the furniture of his mind. He had seen Russian dancers, but had never quite been translated thereby into a Tartar ecstasy. Inoculated stage versions of the hula-hula had bored him sufficiently to ward off the poi-eating plague of Polynesia. And as for geisha girls—even the genuine collection of them exhibited in a Japanese teahouse in San Francisco—they were able to inspire in him scarcely more of the cherry blossom romance of Lafcadio Hearn than a cracked phonograph record of the most familiar aria from "Mme. Butterfly."

But Paquita's red lipped lisp, to say nothing of the remainder of her charms incarnadine, was the open sesame to his inmost chamber of sentiment.

He felt within himself no hackneyed modern sheik, but rather the reincarnation of some old Moorish chieftain of Spain. If he did not actually imagine himself to be the return of Tarik, or of Boabdil, he fancied if he had but lived in another age he might have had a history as chromatic as either of these.

It was privately distressing to him, however, that in his present corporeal composition there was not the heroic modeling of any such legendary paladin. He was blonde of hair, and the sallowness of a student sat upon cheeks that should have been dyed with at least the twilight tint of mingled Spaniard and Moor. His brow was that of a minor poet rather than of a Cid Campeador. If he was handsome—and his mother thought so—he was scarcely of the hidalgo pattern that would have permitted him to step undetected into a canvas of Zuloaga.

To compensate, if possible, for these deficiencies, Vanderbee examined his escutcheon. He had a magnificent time swinging from limb to limb of his family tree, making a vain effort to find some telltale branch of Andalusian cork or Iberian olive. The tree proved, however, to be an ungrafted New England chestnut.

This lack of a corporeal and consanguinary Spanish background, though disappointing, did not enfeeble his emotional affinity for things of the Spanish world. Paquita was the flaming insignia of that world. He followed her through four one night stands and into three larger towns where she was billed for a full week. Sales of evaporated milk fell off, and there was a caustic telegram from the home office.

BUT in spite of this circumstance—possibly some subtle consequence of it—there came the managerial reveille that called him to South America.

His mother wept. Poetry was all very well in books, but hardly suitable to the prose affairs of one's only son. She regretted her choice of names. It would have been better if she had called him George or John.

To Robert Browning, however, this was the threshold of his poetic romance. "You wouldn't want me to mildew here in the unromantic middle west," he argued.

"I can't bear to think of your bringing home one of those Carmen creatures with a dagger in her stocking," moaned his irrelevant mother.

He was pleasantly stimulated by the idea. Her deprecation of it, however, led him to words that later became cause for regret. "I suppose," he retorted, "you'd be happy if I were to marry the vegetable daughter of a Wisconsin cheese maker?"

Mrs. Vanderbee sighed, for it was easy to deduce that her son's imagination was filled with Paquitas, not with the comfortable heiresses of Wisconsin dairies.

South America, he explained to her with enthusiasm, was not quite Spain, but it was at least Spanish. It could be made to serve his romantic purposes. He would gloss it over until it wore as much of the sheen of fancy as glitters in a tale of the Alhambra.

Unfortunately, as it came to pass, South America would not take the gloss very well. Vanderbee found the west coast republics Spanish enough, but they were empty of the click of castanets and the thudding of a Paquita's incisive heels. He saw no bull fights, no silk and velvet troubadours plucking guitar strings before the bars of a señorita's window. The theaters offered little more than French comedy and wild west moving pictures. Above all else, there was seldom a paseo to fill the dusty plazas with the life and color of traditional Spain.

This was the culminating disillusion. He was assured by Don Enrique Alvaredo, in the customs house at Sallao, that the paseo could still be seen, upon occasion, but that this vanity promenade inherited from Iberia was less highly regarded than in the century of Pizarro and the Philips.

"Valgame Dios!" cried Don Enrique. "You would not, señor, have us remain always in the childhood of our race? We have insufficient time in these days for such frivolities. It is you Yankees who have taught us that."

From Paita to Mollendo, and from Iquiqui to Coquimbo, Vanderbee, therefore, pined unrequitedly for a paseo. In Antofagasta, it is true, beneath the nude foothills of the Andes—a place remote as possible from the travelogue notion of Spain—he learned that there was to be one on the following Sunday. But long before the Sabbath it would be necessary for him to sail southward, leaving behind a presumable tracery of evaporated milk.

His was the whimsy, at this juncture, of promoting and financing a paseo of his own. It was a poetic idea, but, as is the case with so much free versification in life, not wholly incapable of translation into practical fact.

In lean classroom Spanish he made himself as clear to the first policeman he met, as was reasonable to expect. But this was only a beginning. He required the patience thereafter to explain himself successively to the sergeant, the lieutenant, and the superintendent of police.

Capt. Don Eusebio Castellanos found himself able, over his fifth vermouth, to comprehend the idea, but not the advisability of it.

"Cabalmente, señor—exactly," he murmured, accepting Vanderbee's offer of hospitality for still a sixth time. "But what is the use of pursuing pleasure in a manner so roundabout? You desire, you assure me, the glitter of eyes, the ecstasy of walking into the heart of Spanish adventure. Spanish! Bah! We are Chilean here. But if you insist upon that flash of eyes"—he blinked the roguish blink of a stage property dog, then nudged Vanderbee with a powerful elbow. "If that is what you want, señor, I can take you to a place."

Robert Browning Vanderbee

But Vanderbee was obliged, in delicacy, to avoid the remainder of the suggestion. "No, you don't understand, captain. Pardon me. It's not merely something feminine. What I want is the gesture of Spain. I want to get in step with the social drama of Spanish life—walk into it, maybe. That's my reason for the paseo."

Capt. Don Eusebio regarded him dubiously. "If you walk into it," he remarked, "there will be the flash of a knife and a disagreeable interruption, for me, from affairs of my own. I forbid this paseo."

Whereupon it was clear to Vanderbee that he must part with a sum of money. The captain, rolling it thoughtfully away into a pocket of his blouse, made helpful suggestions as to the hiring of a band. And for the seventh and last time hospitality trickled from the potbellied bottle that acted as intermediary.

AT six, when Antofagasta's torid affairs of the afternoon had been brought to a sleepy conclusion, the hidalgos of Chile, fortifying themselves in the cafés for a return to domestic affairs, were startled by a preliminary blast or two from wind instruments, gathering leisurely, in the plaza band stand.

There was a stir of inquiry, which elicited conflicting and generally unsatisfactory response. Urchins left their gambling with marbles under the shaded walks of the plaza to stare at the preparations of the bandsmen. Hotel boys ran up on urgent errands of interrogation. A policeman became the center of pestiferous questioning, in spite of his repeated answer of "No se—I don't know—no se absolutamente nada."

Certain, at any rate, of the salient fact that there was band music in the plaza, Antofagasta rushed homeward—as fast as the conventions of Latin aristocracy permit it to make haste—for the purpose of informing señora and the señoritas, who would be most intimately concerned.

The mingled pleasure and consternation in that charming quarter ought to be veiled. The making of a lady's toilet is scarcely a matter of minutes in any land, and in Spanish America it is the achievement of an entire afternoon. Those, therefore, who had undertaken a languorous beginning were enabled to arrive before the paseo was finished, whereas the ladies who had permitted morning negligee to persist into the hours of evening did not arrive at all.

Vanderbee, however, had no reason to feel disappointment over the attendance. The early ragtag and bobtail of population progressively yielded to a sprinkling, then a shower, of the elite. He took his place among the guests at his impromptu function, ambling up and down one side of the square, ogling and ogled at. There was good reason, he reflected for that Spanish verb, ojear, which means "to eye." It must have been coined, he concluded, to express the paseo's innate significance.

A chocolate soldier quality seasoned the grand march. He observed a liberal spicing of the military—swagger sticked, mirror booted army officers, and young ensigns from the navy tailored in exquisite white duck. Elegantly somber were the civilians, in black straw hats and wide arm bands of what seemed universal mourning.

Vanderbee searched, in this procession, for the dramatic picture his imagination had built upon the heels of Paquita Torralva. He was conscious only of another disillusionment. The women walked like mannequins.

And they were fat.

Black eyes, it is true, flashed at him past the protective bulk of some ample duenna. They were the "eyes of Spain"—hue of ripe olive burnished by some inimitable flame within—but these were jewels with the wrong setting. Paris hats shadowed them. He felt that this was as much of a sacrilege as if the Alhambra were to be set down in Wall street.

The costumes were superb. Rue de la Paix could have done its work no better. There was precisely the right longitude of skirt, the most judicious deployment of rouge. And this sartorial accuracy extended even to the men, whose spats and sticks were exclamation points of elegance; to the children, dressed in exact imitation of their elders, and eyeing one another with a precocious sophistication.

But the click of Paquita's castanets, Vanderbee reflected with cynicism, had led him to expect too much. Where was that dramatic posture of Spain? Where the velvet sheen of trovador jacket, the coquetry of a fan, the imperious dignity of high comb and mantilla? He missed all hint in this ultra-modern promenade, so speedily to be swallowed up in the banality of moving picture theaters, of the fanciful Spain conjured by the steps of Paquita Torralva's malaguena—all suggestion of "cloaked shapes, the twanging of guitars, a rush of feet, and rapiers clashing."

This was until the moment, of course, when he observed the Senorita Dulcinea. The instant he saw her he knew what he had come to seek.

Her beauty was such that when he learned of her name—after an adventure as rueful as any of La Mancha's sorrowful knight—he had words too feeble for his indignation. There was absurdity in such a namesake as lumpish Dulcinea del Tobosco, made immortal by the historian of Don Quixote, for beauty's ultimate antithesis.

Here was Paquita's promise. A black mantilla of the most exquisite lace hung from a towering comb's topmost pinnacle. Its precipitous folds, cascading from her shoulders, suggested the stature of a queen. Nestling against her [illegible] red roses occupied a niche formed by the [illegible] rising from behind.

THERE was more that he might have [illegible] commensurate detail, had it not been for her eyes. A red scarf bound her hips, and the heels of her [illegible] slippers glowed crimson against the first glitter of the electric light. He was conscious of this costumed [illegible]ness, but it was the eyes that held him. They [illegible] to him indescribable. He could not have said what was their color, so compelling was their mere [illegible] vivacity, but certainly they were warmed to the [illegible] temperature of romance.

She passed him first with a frank glance of [illegible]hension. To hasten a second encounter he cut [illegible] his end of the promenade. But she would not look at him again. He had occasion to notice, therefore, the boy who walked with her, an inadequate escort, [illegible]ably her brother.

The boy, who could not have been more than [illegible] appeared to chafe at his task. He wore an air of [illegible] responsibility, as if anticipating trouble and [illegible] to avoid it. Plainly, his attitude toward the [illegible] and capricious creature beside him was that of [illegible]cent disapproval. He glared savagely at the [illegible] devoured her with avid and oily eyes. He was like a courageous terrier before a pack of wolves.

This belligerence aroused responsive [illegible] in Vanderbee. He knew the habits of the [illegible] American Don Juan. Regardless of her place in the social order, he understood that in the absence of an ample escort the girl would run a gauntlet of [illegible] and aggressive flirtation.

He followed jealously, glaring with a ferocity [illegible] greater than that of her lesser champion, at [illegible] stroller whose glance poached upon her charms.

This was a self-elected squirehood that gave him plenty of employment. The girl had caused a [illegible]tion, not alone because her costume was as [illegible] on such an occasion, as it would have been [illegible] in the United States outside a cinema [illegible] because she was extravagantly agreeable to look [illegible]

Vanderbee was puzzled. The highly irregular [illegible] with which he had witnessed her incorporation into [illegible] romantic picture had reduced itself to a less [illegible] cadence. If she was his gesture of Spain, she was [illegible] uncomfortably like the willful and capricious [illegible] the bobbed hair period in his own country. She [illegible] evidently flying in a wind of adventure, adverse to the prevailing airs of Antofagastan conventions.

Twilight thickened and the lights of the plaza [illegible] into a more brilliant relief the dramatic [illegible] the promenade. The strollers became more [illegible] and Vanderbee found it difficult to keep his place at [illegible] discreet and observant distance from the girl and her escort. Still he continued to follow, thoughtfully.

The paseo was at its height. Waxlike lilies [illegible] the palmettos breathed scented passion. With the tropic exhalation was mingled the sharper [illegible] Latin cosmetic.

He drank his romantic moment to the cloying [illegible] There was something lacking in it, after all. He [illegible] see here no potentiality of flaming sentiment—of [illegible]sive violence—which the incitements of Paquita's [illegible]aguena had translated into his expectation of [illegible] life.

But this moment of emotional relapse succeeded [illegible] in heightening the shock of a sudden cry of [illegible] the girl's escort. He saw the lad fling himself [illegible] an unctuous hidalgo who apparently had dared to [illegible]low the caress of his eyes with a smouldering [illegible]tion breathed into the girl's ear.

She paused, and turned aside as she would have [illegible] to avert a blow. Behind the distressed appeal of [illegible] eyes, as they met Vanderbee's, there was no [illegible] glow of innocent caprice. In its place was [illegible] reaction.

This he had time to observe even as he strode to [illegible] assistance of the youngster, who, with an uproar [illegible] was between a war whoop and a sob, [illegible] pummeling the surprised courtier close to [illegible] belt.

Before Vanderbee could interfere [illegible] boy had been rewarded with a blow [illegible] the Chilean's walking stick and [illegible] subsided into a heap beneath one of [illegible] plaza benches.

The Golden Beast

by E. Phillips Oppenheim

HOW THE STORY STARTED:

ISRAEL FERNHAM, first Lord Honerton, entertains at his country house preliminary to a shooting party. His youngest son, Cecil, is called from the dining room by a message from Heggs, head gamekeeper. Young Cecil had seduced Heggs' daughter. The old man throws Cecil to the stone floor, killing him. Through Lord Honerton's vast influence Heggs is hanged. Heggs' daughter,

MARGARET, curses Israel and all the Fernhams. Israel dies and is succeeded by

JOSEPH FERNHAM, second Lord Honerton. Thirty years later Joseph entertains a party of friends in the same dining room; the occasion is the same, a dinner preceding a shooting meet. Joseph's youngest son,

ERNEST, is summoned from dinner by the head gamekeeper and vanishes. Lord Honerton's beautiful daughter,

JUDITH, hears Ernest's voice on the telephone, then the wire goes dead. Prince Edgar visits the Fernham plant with Lady Judith and her fiance,

LORD FREDDIE AMBERLEYS. There

SIR LAWRENCE PAULE, the brilliant but mysterious young chief chemist, piques Judith when he refuses to let them see his private room. Judith has Sir Lawrence attend her dinner party. He tells her a union between her and Amberleys would be ridiculous. Lord Honerton's brother, SAMUEL FERNHAM, visits the family plant. Paule, under pressure, gives old Samuel a drug to make him young again for just two hours. Judith visits Paule's private chambers at the plant. One door he bars against her. When he leaves the room she peeps through the forbidden door, shrieks, and faints. Inside are grewsome skeletons which Paule uses in his research. Judith leaves and young Samuel arrives. He tells Paule his drug really made his father seem young again, and asks for more, but Paule refuses him. Young Samuel has been dissipating. Paule gives him a drug, and after a brief sleep Samuel feels much revived. Paule perfects a new nerve tonic which means a fortune for himself and another fortune for the Fernhams. To celebrate he lunches at the Fernham home. There they discuss the possible kidnaping of young Samuel, and Judith says if any other Fernham is to be kidnaped, she probably will be the victim. Inspector Rodes asks Judith for a picture of her grandfather when Israel was young. He is not satisfied that the child of Heggs' daughter really died with the mother. After he departs Lord Amberleys, examining the picture, says it resembles Sir Lawrence Paule. Rodes ridicules this suggestion.

INSTALLMENT VII.

The Sword Suspended.

THE issue of "Neurota" formed a new epoch in the commercial progress of the great house of Fernham & Co., Ltd. For the first time within their experience of launching a fresh specific, free samples became unnecessary and advertising superfluous. The preparation had scarcely been on the market a week when, in response to an urgent message of entreaty, Paule made his way to Joseph's private office. The latter was standing there in the midst of a maze of correspondence, his morning cigar as yet unsmoked, his manner excited but perplexed.

"We've gone and done a nice thing, Sir Lawrence," he exclaimed. "They had to telephone up to the house for me to come down at once, half an hour before my usual time. Do you know what our orders for 'Neurota' amount to during the last four days?"

"I have heard no figures," was the calm reply. "I understood that it was going well."

"Our orders for the home trade alone," Joseph declared portentously, "amount to 28,000 bottles. The export trade hasn't commenced yet. Do you know you're making a fortune, young fellow?"

Paule raised his eyebrows at the familiarity, but Joseph was too agitated to heed him.

"The trade will have to be rationed," the former decided. "I cannot possibly guarantee more than 5,000 bottles a week."

"There'll be a riot," Joseph protested. "There are telegrams coming in every few minutes from our travelers, and for the first time in our lives we've had what we advertise—unsolicited testimonials—heaps of them. Grateful patients, and all sorts of slosh, but they're in earnest. I say, can't you squeeze the quantity a bit—lessen the proportion of that secret drug of yours?"

Paule shook his head.

"It couldn't be done," he pronounced. "Any variation in the prescription would be disastrous."

"Couldn't you find another market and get more of your drug, then?" Joseph pleaded. "I can't bear to read these letters. Good money going begging. Total cost to us, two and sevenpence halfpenny, two shillings royalty to you, and people on their knees begging for it at a guinea a bottle."

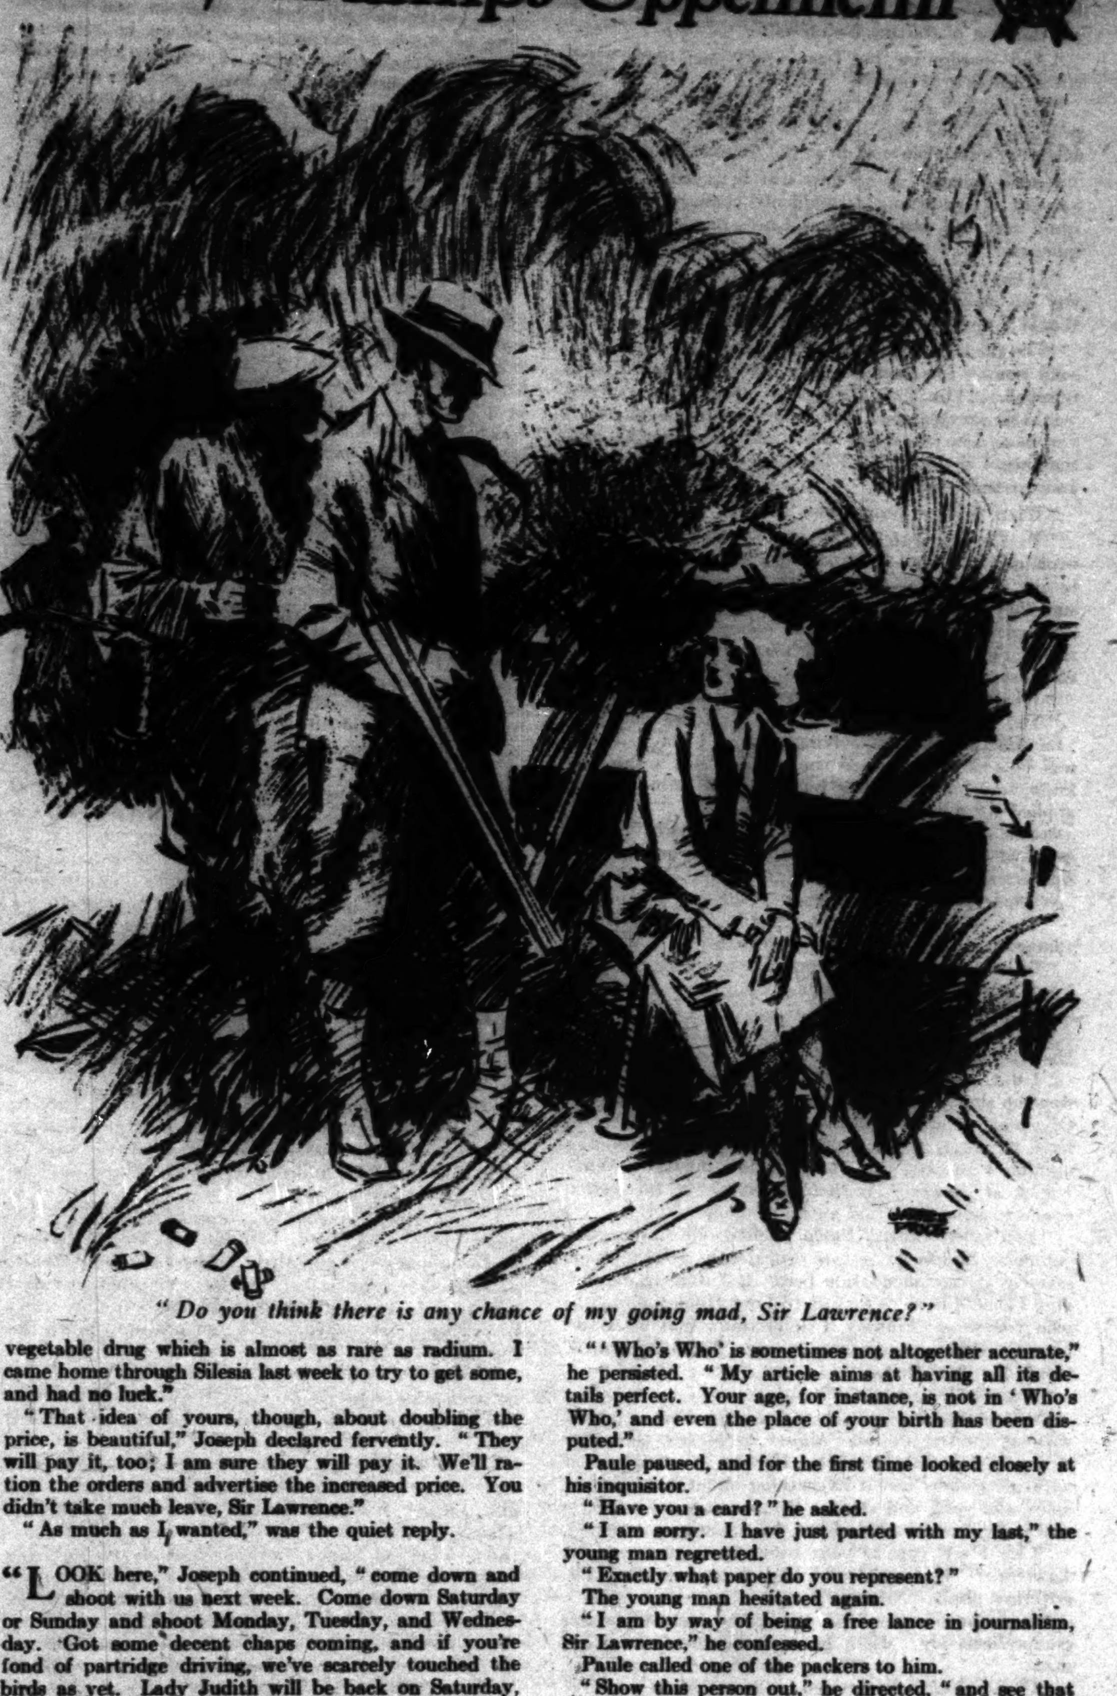
Paule considered the matter for a moment.

"So far from increasing the supply of my drug," he pointed out, "the supply itself may shortly come to an end. If I were you, Lord Honerton, I should ration these orders strictly, and in a month's time double the price."

Joseph's eyes glittered.

"It's an idea," he confessed. "We might do that sooner than lose the golden stream altogether. I'll consult with Samuel. He's coming up from Brighton today. My nephew would say we ought to get three guineas for it. He looks upon you as a wizard."

"It is the best advice I can give you," Paule said. "I can only complete the formula with the help of a vegetable drug which is almost as rare as radium. I came home through Silesia last week to try to get some, and had no luck."



"Do you think there is any chance of my going mad, Sir Lawrence?"

"That idea of yours, though, about doubling the price, is beautiful," Joseph declared fervently. "They will pay it, too; I am sure they will pay it. We'll ration the orders and advertise the increased price. You didn't take much leave, Sir Lawrence."

"As much as I wanted," was the quiet reply.

"LOOK here," Joseph continued, "come down and shoot with us next week. Come down Saturday or Sunday and shoot Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. Got some decent chaps coming, and if you're fond of partridge driving, we've scarcely touched the birds as yet. Lady Judith will be back on Saturday, and you and she always seem to hit it off together."

"You're very kind," Paule said. "I think I can get away. I will go through my laboratory book, and if I can manage it I will motor down on Sunday."

"First rate!" Joseph exclaimed. "Middleton was begging me for another good gun. Samuel's about as much use at these driven birds as I am myself. We shall expect you, then."

"Unless I let you know within an hour," Paule promised, "I will arrive in time for dinner on Sunday night."

On his way back to his own quarters Paule was accosted by a somewhat seedy looking young man, apologetic, but persistent.

"If I could have just one word with you, if you please, Sir Lawrence," he begged.

"What about?" Paule asked shortly.

"I am writing a series," the young man continued, "entitled 'Notable Figures Amongst the Chemists of Today,' and we desire to include you."

"For what paper?" Paule demanded.

The young man hesitated.

"That is not as yet absolutely decided upon, sir," he admitted. "There are a few particulars I want from you, all the same. If you could tell me the exact place and date of your birth, for instance. We understand that you are a son of Dr. John Paule of Wormley grammar school. Is that so?"

"All the information you need about me can be found in 'Who's Who'," was the curt reply. "I am not seeking publicity and do not desire it. I should prefer, as a matter of fact, that your article remained unwritten. Kindly excuse me. I have a busy morning."

He passed on, but the young man fell into step.

"'Who's Who' is sometimes not altogether accurate," he persisted. "My article aims at having all its details perfect. Your age, for instance, is not in 'Who's Who,' and even the place of your birth has been disputed."

Paule paused, and for the first time looked closely at his inquisitor.

"Have you a card?" he asked.

"I am sorry. I have just parted with my last," the young man regretted.

"Exactly what paper do you represent?"

The young man hesitated again.

"I am by way of being a free lance in journalism, Sir Lawrence," he confessed.

Paule called one of the packers to him.

"Show this person out," he directed, "and see that he is never allowed to enter the works again."

The packer was used to his task, for the premises, especially in the vicinity of the laboratories, were always closely guarded, and the intruder had scarcely time to protest. Paule turned toward his own quarters. On the way through the outer laboratories he was stopped at least a dozen times, and asked varying questions, to all of which he gave rapid answers. Arrived in his own domain, he loitered for some time with one of his half dozen assistants, examining some results which had just been given out. Finally he passed through the private door into his sitting room. Futoy was there dusting some books.

"There is one who waits for you in the office outside, sir," the latter announced. "His name is Rodes. He is a thin man with a hungry face, and he refuses to go away."

"I seem to have heard the name," Paule reflected. "Very well, Futoy, I will go to him. Has any one telephoned?"

"Mr. Samuel Fernham Jr., sir. He is coming up from Brighton, and hopes to see you on his arrival."

PAULE remained silent. Presently he made his way to the outer office of his department. Rodes, who was seated there waiting, rose at once to his feet.

"You wish to see me?" Paule asked, without undue cordiality.

"I was anxious to have a word or two with you alone, Sir Lawrence, if possible."

"You can speak before my secretary," Paule declared impatiently. "I have no secrets from him."

Rodes hesitated for a moment, and it occurred to

Paule that he was being made the object of a great deal of scrutiny.

"You have my name, I think, sir—Rodes. I have been an inspector at Scotland Yard for many years. I am thinking of starting for myself."

"And—pardon me, but I am a very busy man—what concern is that of mine?"

"Just this," was the deliberate reply. "There is probably no one who needs the services of a private detective more than you do at the present moment."

Paule's manner up to now had betrayed a certain amount of irritation. It suddenly changed. He became very still, but there was a note of menace in his quietude.

"I have never previously needed the services of any one in your profession," he said calmly. "Why should I now?"

"For the same reason that your firm paid two thousand pounds for their last safe, Sir Lawrence," Rodes rejoined. "You have at least six prescriptions, which would be worth a good many thousands of pounds, and you have now added one worth all the remainder put together, I should think. There are other thieves, you know, besides burglars."

"What is your proposition exactly?" Paule asked.

"To accept a watching brief over the place," Rodes explained. "I should watch your employés—especially any newcomers—trace out their daily lives and be sure they had no connection with rival firms. I should also put in a little time on the premises and examine the character of the safeguards which you have already established."

"What put this into your head?" Paule inquired.

"The fact that only last week," Rodes confided, "an Austrian chemist, staying at a well known hotel, was visited two or three times by a man whom we know to be a high class burglar. The same person applied for a job here last week."

"You have certainly justified your visit," Paule acknowledged, "but your suggestion requires consideration. As a matter of fact, the formula for 'Neurota' is not on paper at all."

"That, of course, eases the situation," was the ready admission. "It's 'Neurota' they're after."

"By the way, wasn't it you who acted for Scotland Yard in the matter of Ernest Fernham's disappearance?" Paule asked abruptly.

The detective was for a moment taken unawares. His start was noticeable.

"I did," he confessed. "To tell you the truth," he went on slowly, "that was the beginning of the trouble. Of course, it was very disappointing to all of us to have to admit failure, and in a good many people's opinion I suppose the Yard has lost prestige. What I kick at, however, is that the whole of the blame seems to have been laid on my shoulders."

"You must realize," Paule pointed out, "that your complete failure in a case apparently so simple is scarcely a recommendation here. If I were to employ you, I should have to explain to Lord Honerton exactly who you were. Frankly, I don't think that he would have the slightest confidence in you. Neither should I. Good day, Mr. Rodes."

"But, Sir Lawrence——"

Paule turned on his heel, and the detective departed without further protest. Almost as he left the office Samuel Jr. presented himself. He was, as usual, dressed with meticulous care. Everything about him seemed spick and span and shiny. His complexion, however, was puffy, his eyes bloodshot, his jauntiness assumed.

"Can I see you in your room for a moment, Sir Lawrence?" he begged. "I have a message from the governor about 'Neurota.'"

Paule glanced at him for a moment, searchingly and comprehensively. Then he turned toward the inner door.

"Come along," he invited. "I can spare you five minutes."

Samuel, when he found himself alone with Paule in the latter's little sanctum, made a great show of being completely at his ease. He set down his silk hat upon the table, threw his gloves into it, and stretched himself out in a comfortable easy chair. Paule watched him imperturbably. There were symptoms about his visitor's behavior which were perfectly clear to him.

"You won't forget," he remarked, "that I can only offer you about five minutes. I have some important work to do in the mixing room before midday."

"O, hang it, don't be so unsociable, Paule!" the young man enjoined. "I don't often come in to bother you. I think we ought to find time now and then to shake hands with ourselves and one another. We're making a colossal fortune and you're in it now."

"Money is not the supreme concern of my life," was Paule's somewhat indifferent comment.

"Making money or seeing it made is my chief hobby," Samuel declared frankly. "However, that's neither here nor there. I've dropped in this morning as a pal. I want to ask your advice."

"Why trouble?" Paule observed. "You won't take it."

Samuel moved uneasily in his chair.

"You don't understand," he protested. "Why should you? I'm—well, I'm damned upset."

Samuel's bluff of easy confidence and bonhomie was deserting him. There was a strained look about the lines of his mouth, nearly hidden by his puffy, pendulous cheeks, a frightened expression in his bloodshot eyes. His lips twitched as he tried to speak.

"They're on to me all the time," he confided. "Just those two—dad and Aunt Honerton. First it's dad. He doesn't talk like he used to; like an ordinary, sensible human being. I take him out on the promenade or sit on the pier with him at Brighton, and half the time he stares at me—stares as though he could see something that didn't exist. I ask him what's the matter. He just shakes his head. 'Samuel,' he begs, if it's in the morning, 'don't go to London today. There's trouble all around.' When I ask him what he means he just shakes his head. 'They've got Ernest,' he muttered only this morning, 'they'll get you.' I can stand a little of it, but it's getting on my nerves. Who'll get me? What for? What have I done?"

He paused. Paule said nothing. He sat quite still, waiting.

"Then there's Aunt Honerton," Samuel went on. "I'm scared to go to the house. Even if she's upstairs she knows when I come. I gave Martin the office yesterday. I said, 'Don't tell her ladyship I'm here,' but in five minutes down came a message and up I had to go. There she lies like a ghost, with her couch by the window all the time. I go in, try to be cheerful. She freezes the words on my lips. 'Still all right, Samuel?' she murmurs. 'All right!' Why shouldn't I be all right?"

His voice had become almost a screech. He took out his handkerchief and mopped his forehead, on which little beads of perspiration had begun to show.

"She's just as vague as the governor," he continued, "full of silly advice. Wants me to go over to Sicily or somewhere quietly with him, and leave the firm. When I argue she looks at me with just that kind of gleam in her eyes that dad has; as though she saw things around which no one else could. It sounds damned ridiculous, I know, Paule, but there you are! What about it? It's driving me mad!"

STILL Paule was silent. In a moment or two Samuel, who had left his chair and had been walking restlessly up and down the room, began again.

"It isn't as though I did any particular harm in the world," he argued, "or had any enemies. I'm fond of my money, but in a way I'm generous enough. I give my servants excellent wages, I always overtip the waiters—especially head waiters; they're important Johnnies in London nowadays, get you the best table and that sort of thing—and if I have a little affair I do the thing handsomely. I don't chuck my money about, but there's no one who can call me mean. If we're making a heap of money, we're not robbing anybody."

"Do you, by any chance," Paule inquired, glancing at a pile of papers on the side of his desk, "contribute to any of these hospitals, or Church Army appeals, or Help for Invalid Children, or any of these applications we get every day?"

"Never given a penny to a hospital in my life," the young man announced, with an air of satisfaction. "I've principles about that. Hospitals ought to be subsidized by the rates. As for the other so-called charities, I always think they're half swindles—can't be bothered, any way, to sort 'em out—too much doing nowadays."

"I see," Paule answered. "Have either your father or your aunt ever let drop any hint as to any reason they may have for this mysterious attitude toward you?"

"They haven't any real reason," Samuel declared with almost feverish emphasis. "That's just it. It's all feeling. It's imagination. They're superstitious. They've nothing to go on, of course, but they look as though they see things, and they're so damned gloomy—gets on one's nerves. Look at me this morning. I'm not fit to do anything. I'm beginning to lie awake nights. I'm beginning to fancy Ernest in all sorts of horrible places and myself dragged off and dumped down by the side of him. Ridiculous, Paule, of course," he concluded, nervously pulling at the corner of his stubbly little mustache. "But there you are!"

"Well, what do you want me to do?" Paule asked curiously.

"Look here," the young man pleaded, "you're the sort of chap one has confidence in—a strong, stout fellow, not a nerve in your body. It's all nonsense, isn't it? There can't be anything in it—the way dad and Aunt Honerton look at me and talk, I mean? What could happen?"

"The only thing that seems likely to happen," Paule observed dryly, "is that if you go on frightening yourself like this you'll have a nervous collapse and be compelled to go into a nursing home. Why not try a complete change—a sea voyage or something of that sort?"

"I can't leave the governor," Samuel pointed out. "I was talking to his doctor yesterday. The old man might pop off at any moment."

"He would go with you," Paule suggested.

"I'm not brute enough for that. He wants to die at home among his own people. Nasty subject, isn't it?" he added, with a little shudder. "Paule, would you mind feeling my pulse."

"I'm not a doctor," Paule replied, making no movement.

Samuel got up and held out his thick wrist.

"There's a good chap," he begged.

Paule acquiesced, took out his watch, and replaced it in less than a minute with a little curl of the lips.

"You're frightening yourself into a fever," he said. "I should recommend a course of 'Neurota.'"

"I'm taking it," Samuel declared eagerly. "I pinched twelve bottles before the rush. What would do me more good than anything is a few plain words from a man like yourself. There's nothing could be going on around us, sane, ordinary people, that's outside our understanding, that we can't get hold of, is there? I'm not a religious fellow, you know, Paule—'Seeing's believing' is my motto—but this disappearance of Ernest's has shaken us all up a bit, what?"

FOR the first time Paule's mouth relaxed. Nevertheless, his smile was not pleasant.

"I am a clever man, Samuel Fernham," he said, "and you are only gifted with a certain amount of cunning, something which passes, I suppose, for intelligence, yet let me tell you this. There are heaps of things in the world which I don't begin to understand. It's quite true that we find it difficult to believe things which we cannot apprehend by our positive senses. On the other hand, it's equally difficult, and for me impossible, to disbelieve. I've an open mind toward many subjects, including even some branches of the art which a thousand years ago passed as magic, and for which today no adequate word has been coined."

"It's like a damned lecture!" Samuel grumbled. "Doesn't do me any good, anyway."

"I'm sorry," Paule replied. "If I could help you I would. I confess that your condition interests me. I don't think 'Neurota' will do you very much good. If you were capable of it, I should say that the best thing you could do would be to submit your mind to governance."

"You're a wonderful chap, Paule," Samuel admitted, "but you're always shooting off above one's head. Look here. I'm feeling like nothing on earth. Mix me up something, that's a good fellow—something that will really pull me together for an hour or two. Is it true you're coming down to shoot?"

"Yes," Paule assented. "I'm coming down to Honerton on Sunday."

"That's great!" Samuel exclaimed. "Somehow or other, I feel safer when you're around. Stupid! I can't help that. I suppose you've got what they call a strong character. Give me that draught, there's a good chap."

Paule rose to his feet.

"I do not recommend this sort of thing," he warned his visitor. "It's the lazy man's escape from suffering."

He disappeared through his inner door for a moment—a door which this time closed behind him with a click. When he reappeared with a medicine glass, Samuel was watching him with a sly gleam of curiosity in his eyes.

"You don't half shut yourself up, Paule," he remarked. "You must have a perfect little suite of rooms behind there."

"If I have," Paule replied, "it is—to put it with that frankness which I am sure appeals to you—my own business. Drink this. You will feel much better for twenty-four hours, at any rate."

Samuel swallowed the contents of the glass almost feverishly. Paule remained standing, a note of dismissal in his attitude. The young man rose reluctantly to his feet.

"Twenty-four hours!" he muttered. "Well, that's something. I suppose you think I'm a pretty poor sort of chap, don't you, Paule?" he asked a little wistfully.

"You are like many others of your type and your style of living," was the indifferent reply. "You are a coward."

The young man spluttered. His dignity, at any rate—an artificial structure, but ministered to by heaps of sycophantic friends—was touched.

"Here, I say, you know, Paule!" he protested. "Don't come it too strong. They've made me nervy, these people, I admit it. I'm no coward when it comes to facing any ordinary danger. It's the things I don't know and can't understand that terrify me."

"Those," Paule assured him as he opened the door to expedite his departure, "are the real tests."

AMBERLEYS, who had only one standard for men and only one judgment if they failed to come up to it, found it for that reason impossible to show ill humor toward a man who shot as Paule did. Nevertheless, he very much resented Judith's complete desertion of himself during the first morning's sport.

"I had an idea that we were engaged," he managed to whisper to her on the way from one stand to another. "I don't expect to monopolize you, but I do expect to come in for my share."

She looked up at him with that faint note of insolence in her expression which he secretly admired. In her heather mixture costume of rough tweeds, with tam-o'-shanter of the same material, she was extraordinarily attractive.

"Engaged to be married, yes," she admitted—"not to spend all our time together. Besides, even you, my dear Frederick, cannot shoot like Sir Lawrence."

"Can't think where he gets his practice," Amberley grumbled. "I'm not saying a word against his shooting, Judith. I couldn't if I would, but you might come with me the next drive. I want to talk about the house in Curzon street."

"An unpropitious occasion," she declared. "You always forget to whisper if you get interested. You'll turn the birds, and then Middleton will be furious."

"I swear," he began—

But Judith had already disappeared, swinging her shooting stick in her hand. Paule, turning round a moment or two later to survey his position, discovered her seated just behind his loader. The latter fell [illegible] into the background. The beaters were not yet in sight.

"I'm annoying Freddy horribly," she confided. "I hope I'm not boring you hanging about like this. I should hate to make enemies of everyone."

"I am very much flattered," he assured her. "By the way, you're not looking well. No more fainting fits, I hope."

"Nothing of the sort," she replied, "yet I think I am very ill. You wouldn't care to prescribe for me, I suppose?"

"This open air sort of thing is the best cure for you," he declared.

"You prescribe for Samuel," she complained. "You give him wonderful specifics which make him feel as he expresses it 'like a two year old.' Surely I am more important than Samuel. Why won't you take me in hand, please? I should be such a grateful patient."

"There is nothing the matter with your cousin, except that he is a coward," Paule explained, contemptuously. "I can easily give him sham courage. With you it would be a different affair. You have two things which he lacks—courage and self-control. If you are ill it is your physician to whom you must go. I have no skill in the ordinary diseases of life."

"Mine is not an ordinary disease," she insisted softly. "I believe that physically I am strong enough. Mentally I think that I am losing hold of myself, drifting away so far that I am sometimes terrified as to whether I shall ever come back again . . . I wonder whether there ever was insanity in our family. That might account for Ernest's disappearance. Some day I may be missing. Would you come and look for me, Sir Lawrence?"

"It would not be my privilege," he answered.

SHE was thoughtful for a moment.

"I think I shall break off my engagement with Freddy," she announced, deliberately. "It seems to stand in the way of so many things. Now you won't even promise to come and look for me if I float away like Ophelia. Do you think there is any chance of my going mad, Sir Lawrence?"

"One can never absolutely guarantee people of your temperament and cousin's," he said.

"You couple me with Samuel!" she gasped.

He smiled.

"At the opposite poles," he explained. "Your cousin Samuel might very well drift into lunacy through sheer lack of intelligence. With you, on the other hand, it would be a superabundance of that quality."

"As a matter of fact," she declared; "I think that I am mad now. I am beginning to be like mother—to fancy I see things. Mother thinks she talked with Ernest only the other night."

"On earth—or in the other place?" he queried.

"Very much on earth. She is quite sure she heard him calling her. Last night I woke up suddenly. There was no reason for it. I just woke up with a start. I found myself thinking intently of Ernest, and—you're not a creepy person, are you, Sir Lawrence?"

"Not particularly," he admitted.

"I, too, fancied I saw him. This all must sound like balderdash to you, of course, but at any rate it has done one thing for me. I do not believe any longer that Ernest is dead."

Paule's loader, with a little gesture of apology, had resumed his place. From the far distance came the sound of a horn, the business of the drive commenced. Paule shot as before with accuracy and skill, but perhaps this time with a little more restraint. Amberleys was on his left hand, and any bird concerning which there could be the slightest question he left alone. When they were again preparing to move off, Samuel appeared, swinging a shooting stick, but no longer carrying a gun.

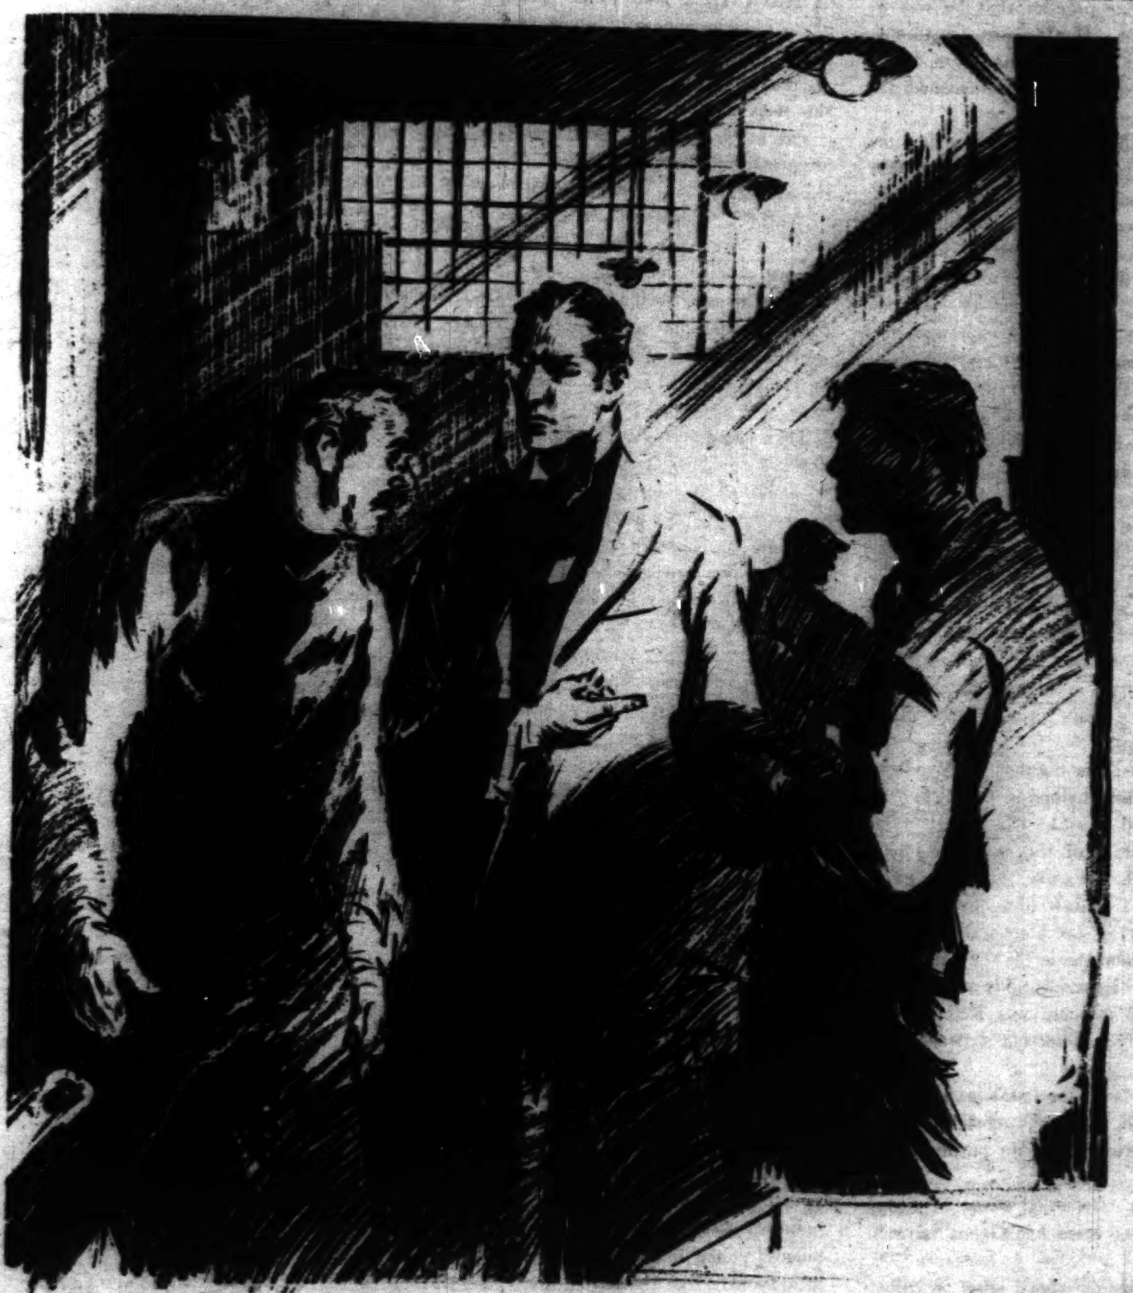
"I've chucked it," he announced with an air of relief. "I'm not fit to shoot today. Never touched a feather in that last drive, and they were streaming over my head. It makes a chap like me sick to watch you, Paule," he went on enviously. "Nerves again, I suppose, because you don't get nearly the practice that I do. I'm going to sit and see how you take 'em at this next drive. I may have a pop at the pheasants after lunch."

Samuel was obviously a fixture, and disposed to be conversational. Judith lingered for a few moments, and then turned listlessly away to rejoin Amberleys. Samuel, looking more pudgy than ever in his well cut-but ill chosen shooting suit of the roughest tweed and thick fleecy stockings, walked off by Paule's side.

"I wish you'd take Judith in hand," he said, confidentially.

"Take Lady Judith in hand?" Paule repeated. "What the mischief do you mean?"

"Give her a little good advice and that sort of thing," Samuel explained. "She takes a lot of notice of what you say, and I don't mind telling you that I am worried about her. She was never one of the stay-at-home kind—always ready for any beano that was going and that sort of thing—but she's overdoing it, Paule, overdoing it badly. She's in with a fast set, too. Smartest people in town, I'll admit, but wrong 'uns. 'A. D.G's,' Freddy Amberleys christened 'em. Absinthe in the afternoon, drugs at night, and groans in the morning. Not bad that for Freddy!"



"Show this person out," he directed, "and see that he is never allowed to enter the works again."

"I gather that Lord Amberleys does not approve," Paule observed, pausing to take a long but ineffectual shot at a pigeon.

"Approve! My God, no!" Samuel exclaimed, as they continued their walk. "He's a bear of the whole show—hates it like poison. Thinks Judith's doing herself no end of harm getting mixed up with such a crowd. You know some of 'em, I dare say—Dollie Bradshaw, Aggie Stuart, that Leperton woman—the best names and the worst morals in England. Judith can take care of herself, of course, but a girl who's engaged to be married and to a fellow like Amberleys—a future marquis, you know, and that sort of thing—doesn't need to get herself talked about. Freddy's awfully sore about it."

"After all, it's no one's business except their own, is it?" Paule remarked, as he reached his stand and opened out his shooting stick.

"No one's actual business, of course," Samuel agreed, following his companion's example. "What I thought, though, was that you might have a talk with Judith on the health side of the question. It would be a knock down blow for the old man, too, if this marriage didn't come off. There isn't much money, of course, but that doesn't matter a damn to uncle. His father bought the title all right and it's 'Your Lordship' wherever he goes, but he's no fool. He knows the difference between the eleventh marquis and the second baron."

"Throw your cigaret away, there's a good fellow, and stop talking," Paule enjoined sharply. "The horn's blown and there's a covey coming down at the right already."

THEY were on their way back to the house for luncheon when they met Rachel in a bath chair drawn by a small pony. She was watching some builders at work on the site of Hegg's old cottage. Paule stopped to wish her good morning, and she detained him.

"You see what we are doing there," she pointed out. "You know the story?"

"I have heard it," he admitted.

"We are having Hegg's cottage rebuilt. My husband was very difficult about it. I was determined. I always felt that Israel Fernham laid a curse upon this place when he pulled down that cottage stone by stone and swore that it should never be put up again. All these years it has lain waste and the curse has fallen. Now I am going to have it restored, and the garden planted again with flowers. I am going to have some homeless person live there—with children, if possible. I want the birds to build in the trees again. Later on they are making a pigeon house. Only a few days ago I read somewhere that curses flourish in the wilderness and where weeds are, but they fade away where children's voices are heard."

She paused, and Paule was conscious of her earnest, almost strained regard. She was watching him as though eager for his comment.

"I am a scientific man and a materialist, you know, Lady Honerton," he said. "I do not believe in curses."

She shook her head slowly.

"You are too clever a man," she objected, "to be a materialist. You could not live in so small a world. You could not cramp your brain so far as that. You know that Heggs the keeper was hanged and that Israel, Joseph's father, could have saved him if he would?"

"I have heard that story," he admitted.

"It is the truth," she declared. "Heggs sat in his cell with his Bible in his hand, waiting for the reprieve that never came. When they went to take him to the scaffold, he dashed the Bible he had been reading to the ground and he cursed Israel and his whole family in the words of the Old Testament. When they hanged him the words were still on his lips."

"It is a terrible story," Paule said coldly. "You dwell upon it too much, Lady Honerton. In any case, as I have told you, I do not believe in curses. I believe instead in retribution. I believe in the main that man reaps as he has sown."

She lay back in her chair. They were approaching the front door of the house, and the luncheon gong was sounding. She suddenly gripped his arm with long, feverish fingers whose clutch he felt through his thick shooting coat.

"Listen," she whispered. "The others would think I am mad. You know. In my dreams I have stepped over the edge of the world. I have seen Ernest. I have heard him speak. He is very different, but he is alive."

Paule looked at her intently. He had not the air of one humoring an hysterical woman.

"Tell me something actual," he suggested. "Tell me what clothes he wore? What sort of condition was he in?"

She fell back in her chair. She was obviously on the point of exhaustion. Joseph came fussily down the steps.

"Come along, come along, Paule!" he called out. "Luncheon is being served quickly. Middleton wants us out again in three-quarters of an hour. Rachel, you're overtired. I wish you'd keep away from that damned building."

Paule handed his gun to one of the keepers.

"I shan't keep you waiting," he promised.

In Which a Wire-Haired Gentleman Is Arbiter of Certain Complications Pertaining to an Inheritance

CATCHUM looked at his plate of bones with distaste. Of course, the woman meant well by bringing them, but what does a wire haired gentleman care for bones when his entire universe has been suddenly upset?

A week ago he had been a gay and important young dog running the world for his pal, rushing, at the first sound of her golden voice, on urgent business with her about the house and garden, or stalking through the spring woods to protect her from the perils of the way.

Although his pal was a creature of silken ankles and swishing skirts and gentle hand, I'd have you know that Catchum was no lady's pet. His pal would have scorned such an encumbrance. She was proud of his manly beauty, but far prouder that he was a brainy chap, a dog of ideas. Her present treatment of him, therefore, was to Catchum the more inexplicable. She had basely deserted him, vanished in a night without any explanation.

In the past when she had gone away for a day or two it had been to Catchum's regret, but always with his knowledge and permission. He was not an unreasonable dog. In her absence he had lived a busy life, stalking the dragon housekeeper and pursuing his feud with Gaunt the gardener until the glorious moment of his pal's return.

This time, however, there had been no farewell, no dragon housekeeper left behind for his supervision, and even Gaunt was kind. Catchum didn't like it at all. The long gray house slept in the sunshine, but its eyes that used to blink at him so merrily were shuttered and cold. A little wind blew the daisies over the lawn, but Catchum, watching dolefully, head on paws, was not even moved this morning to join in the chase.

They had taken his pal. Somebody or something had taken her. Catchum was vague about the form of this monster, but after his long daily searches for him he caught him in his dreams and growled.

"He's fretting for her, that's what he's doing," said Mrs. Gaunt, the lady of the bones, profoundly. "You wouldn't half think he knew."

Mrs. Gaunt had removed his nightly headquarters to her warm kitchen, because, chained in the little garden outside, he had howled to wake the dead, as she put it. Of old, in his corner of the garage, he had been subjected to no such indignity, but alas, even the garage yard was closed against him now.

Rising languidly, he sniffed his bones, then buried them for future reference, and made for the little gate that opened on the drive. Unaccountably it was shut fast, however, and beyond it there was Mrs. Gaunt, keys jangling and red of face, escorting a tweed clad stranger.

Was this the monster who had taken his pal? Catchum barked, growled, whined, scratched, and finally tried to leap the gate, but to no purpose. He was a prisoner.

Ages later, waking from a troubled sleep, he heard Mrs. Gaunt came back, and with her Gaunt himself, heavy and lumbering.

"Sort of cold and unfriendly that's what 'e called the place," she was telling him with brisk hostility. "Said 'e'd thought it would 'a' been open and ready for him with a staff of servants; and, mind you, not a word of the young lady that he's pushed out at a moment's notice."

"Well, I never," said Gaunt the gardener.

"And who lives about here, he wants to know," proceeded the hostile voice, "at the manor, he says. 'O, there's new people there,' I told him short. 'The gentry's gone from all the old places now,' I said, and hope he liked it."

"Well, I never," said Gaunt the gardener.

"He's looking over the village an' you're to get out the big car, he says, for he'll drive back to London; and 'may you break your neck,' thinks I, and very near says it."

"Lor'!" said Gaunt the gardener.

The gate was open at last and Mrs. Gaunt, coming in, was too much engrossed in her own indignation to notice Catchum as he shot out on business of his own.

So it was that a wire haired gentleman, vainly scouring the gardens in his daily search for this unknown enemy who had stolen his pal, came to the garage gates half an hour later and not only found them open, but saw inside something that set him quivering with excitement and delight. Long and shining, bright in the sun, the big car was out of the garage, ready for a journey.

She must be coming back, then. They were going to meet his pal. Catchum knew a thing or two about what happened when the big car went out. Following an immemorial game into which his glorious pal had always entered with zest, he jumped into the back of the car and, crouching on the floor where Gaunt would be unlikely to notice him, he waited.

THROUGH a land which spring had touched with a pale loveliness of green and gold, Captain Anthony Paris drove the big car lovingly, a light hand on the wheel, humoring at first, coaxing a little until she responded with a gentle purr of comprehension.

The heart of Captain Paris, chilled for days past by alien glances, warmed to this shining creature as to a friend at last, and, whistling softly, he lifted his gaze to feathery woods and a road deep hedged and winding, and saw again that country which in far places he had called home.

The whistle grew louder, and a wire haired stowaway cocked an ear and quivered with delight. Then, feeling that all must surely be well with the world again, he jumped on to the back seat and rode like a gentleman.

They came to a signpost and the shining car slowed down to read its friendly message. One arm pointed to London, fifty-seven miles away, but Captain Anthony Paris looked at it with a hostile eye. Cold welcome in cold London he had discovered two days ago.

The other sign directed him to Golden Amberley, five and a quarter miles, down a twilight-lit road under an arch of beeches, with a little river running alongside and primroses and daffodils starring the grasses.

"Fishing!" said Captain Anthony Paris, peering at the green waters with the eyes of an expert. "Damn London!" and turned the shining car toward Golden Amberley.

Having metaphorically shaken his fist at London, he felt pleased with himself, for he was an impulsive young man who had not for a long time been able to follow his impulses in this satisfactory fashion.

Every now and then during the last month he had awakened like this to the glorious fact that he was no longer the slave of circumstances and the colonial office, but a person of property and independence.

The cable which had brought this stupendous news had pursued him for five weeks about central Africa, where he was doing a job of work for a paternal government that wouldn't have known his name if it heard it. The cable informed him that Sir John Paris of Greentrees, Sussex, having died intestate, he was heir to the estate valued at forty thousand pounds. Letter following.

Letter was probably following him still, for what impulsive young man would wait for his correspondence in a country like that, with home and fortune calling? He had never seen Sir John Paris, nor Greentrees in Sussex, but he felt it was a kindly act of the old boy to die intestate and thereby rescue a young relative from the danger of being eaten by lions or deafened by nigger minstrelsy.

"Jolly decent of the old lad," said Captain Anthony Paris, dashing homeward as fast as the ship would carry him.

At Aden he had bethought himself to cable the solicitors: "Arriving England 10th. Please have Greentrees in readiness."

He had been rather pleased with that phrase "in readiness." Sounded so large and comprehensive, as though he was a person accustomed to owning vast estates.

The solicitor, however, seemed to have no such delusion regarding him. He had been kept waiting half an hour to see the senior partner of Braithwaite, Simpson & Jones, and then ushered into the presence as one who is about to bow before royalty. (He had been informed by an obliging clerk in the interval that Messrs. Braithwaite, Simpson & Jones had departed this life half a century ago and the present senior partner's name was Mr. Scorer—a sinister touch!)

Mr. Scorer was one of those conservative old gentlemen who have never been out of England and therefore regard all "foreign" countries and the people benighted as to inhabit them with suspicion. This theory had been strengthened by young Captain Paris's telegram from Aden. Mr. Scorer could conceive no country so lost to all sense of decency that a cable to Braithwaite, Simpson & Jones, London, would not reach the cable-ee within a day or two. Nor did he know that "letter following" had been a fairly description of that important document. Believing Captain Paris to be fully conversant with the circumstances of his inheritance, his high handed order to have Greentrees in readiness had seemed merely a p of poor taste.

AS a lifelong friend of the late Sir John Paris, Mr. Scorer knew exactly what his intention had been with regard to Greentrees, and rescuing young from the lions had not been one of them. Sir John's death on the hunting field, between the destruction of one will and the signing of another, had defeated a purpose very near his heart—so near, indeed, that it would have been effected long before but for his ability to believe that a man of his robust health think of dying for many years to come.

So, when a large, bronzed young man was into his presence, Mr. Scorer was not to be moved by disarming grin and a rather deprecating He thought instead of the girl, inadvertantly ited through his old friend's carelessness, and

"We—ah—hardly thought you would wish to take possession of Greentrees so soon—under the circumstances, Captain Paris," he informed him in a tone of reproof. "At such short notice it has been tically impossible to have the place in actual However, the—ah—present occupant has vacated house so that you will be able to make what ments you wish.

"There are," continued Mr. Scorer, giving the man no opportunity to interrupt, "numerous calities to be gone into, as no doubt you fully ciate. However, that you inherit the estate stock, and barrel, through my old friend's accident, makes them simpler than they might been. I have sent for Brawn, the Greentrees' to meet you here at eleven a. m. on Thursday, can then get some of the business settled. I will suit your convenience."

Captain Anthony Paris, feeling rather like a boy up before the head, muttered:

"Thanks very much, sir. Of course, any time— I mean is—I don't want to hurry anybody."

"Quite," said Mr. Scorer, who read in this statement a belated and weak apology for turning "the present occupant." "You'll pardon me a —what is it, Jobson?"

Jobson, who had entered after a discreet knock, proached the throne and murmured a few words.

"Ah!" said Mr. Scorer, beaming at Jobson. tell the duchess I shall not keep her waiting minutes."

Then as Jobson withdrew, the senior partner held out a cold hand to his erring visitor.

"You'll excuse me, I know—an important client Thursday at eleven, then. Good-day."

Captain Anthony Paris, recalling this interview he drove to Golden Amberley, suddenly threw back head and laughed.

"Duchess, indeed! That's the stuff to give Don't believe the old blighter's got a duchess," decided.

Duchess or no duchess, he was determined the interview would drag him back to town on now. Let 'em wait and wonder. He felt in his it would do Braithwaite, Simpson & Jones, plus good to wait and wonder.

It was quiet on this twilit road and Captain Paris drove slowly, sniffing the scent of damp earth young bracken and whistling as he drove.

Bye and bye a cyclist came into view, and impulse he stopped the car and waited for him.

"I say—any chance of some fishing about here, you know?" he asked.

The man jumped off his bicycle.

"Yes, sir. You keep on to Golden Amberley. die of the 'Bolden Arms' 'as the rights to a stretch of water. He puts up gentlemen for the regular, does Brodie. Thank you, sir—fine dog you there."

"Eh?" said Captain Anthony Paris.

nodding toward the back of the car. "Pedigree, I'll [illegible]. You can't miss 'em."

So Captain Anthony Paris looked behind him, and met the bright eyes of his wire haired passenger.

Catchum had his tongue out and was panting contentedly. He grinned his best dog grin at this god who was driving him to find his pal.

"O, er, yes, rather," said the god, with great presence of mind. "Fine dog, aren't you, old boy?"

Catchum, panting with pleasure, promptly planted two paws on the back of the seat next the driver, after the invariable custom in this game as played by himself and his pal.

"Come along, then, you rascal," invited the god with prompt understanding, and the next moment Catchum was over into the seat beside him.

"E'll do," said the cyclist, with admiration and, touching his cap, was off.

Captain Paris sat and grinned at his passenger. Here at least was something friendly in a cold and hostile land. How in the world the dog had come there he hadn't the faintest idea, nor at the moment did he greatly care. He held out an inviting hand to the little beggar.

"Shake, old bean," he said. Catchum shook and licked his face.

This ceremony, of course, disclosed a small silver plate on his collar, and in a moment the god was reading:

PARIS, GREENTREES, SUSSEX.

"By Jove," he said, and suddenly recalled the frigid words of Mr. Scorer—"lock, stock, and barrel." "Then you're mine, old dog—go with the place, do you. My hat, that's the best news I've had for a month."

Catchum wagged an ecstatic tail.

SYLVIA IVERY sat in Mrs. Gaunt's parlor, her pretty head held high, and heard that lady's story—with astonishment—of the new owner's comments on and contempt for beautiful Greentrees.

It had been her home for years and but for her godfather's procrastination and untimely death would now have been her own property.

Sylvia loved the place, but at first she had not shared the anger of her friends against the young man who, through no fault of his own, had won what she had lost. The solicitor had persuaded her in all likelihood he would not choose to live at Greentrees for some time to come at least, and might in the exceptional circumstances be expected to allow her the use of the house, at a rent she could easily afford.

They did not tell her that they had put the matter to him even more strongly than that, pressing her moral—though not legal—claim to a portion of the estate, for Miss Sylvia Ivery was a young lady of independent spirit who would have indignantly forbidden such a course.

She was angry with herself now that she had stayed at Greentrees at all, for Anthony Paris' cable from Aden, coming as they supposed it did, after receipt of the solicitor's letter regarding the tenantship of Greentrees, seemed like a deliberate snub. She had packed up at once and departed, extracting meanwhile from Mr. Scorer a reluctant promise that he would not mention her to the heir in any way again.

Catchum, her godfather's last gift to her, had been left behind meanwhile, in care of Mrs. Gaunt, until she could make arrangements to have him with her, and this morning she had come back to claim him, before the new owner should arrive.

He, of course, had already come and gone again, driving the big car as large as life, Mrs. Gaunt assured her, painting this villain of the piece in lurid colors. "Bold as brass 'e is—not one of our sort, Miss, as I says to Gaunt, and if you can see your way, Miss, once you're settled, we'll be proud to serve you."

Sylvia, gazing wistfully out of the window toward the old house she had loved so well, smiled her thanks, then turned startled eyes to the gardener's wife.

"He's coming back—Gaunt's coming back, and he doesn't seem to have found Catchum."

Gaunt hadn't found him, and soon he and his wife and Sylvia and half the village were scouring the countryside in search of him.

It was Sylvia who met the cyclist toiling toward Greentrees. He was not a local man who would know Catchum, she was sorry to see, but she stopped him with the little smile that made most of the world her friend at sight.

"I've lost my dog—a wire haired terrier," she explained. "I suppose you haven't seen him along the road?"

"No, miss—not on the road I haven't," answered the man. "I did see a wire haired—away back, but he was in a big car with a gentleman, sitting up in the back seat he was. That wouldn't have been your dog."

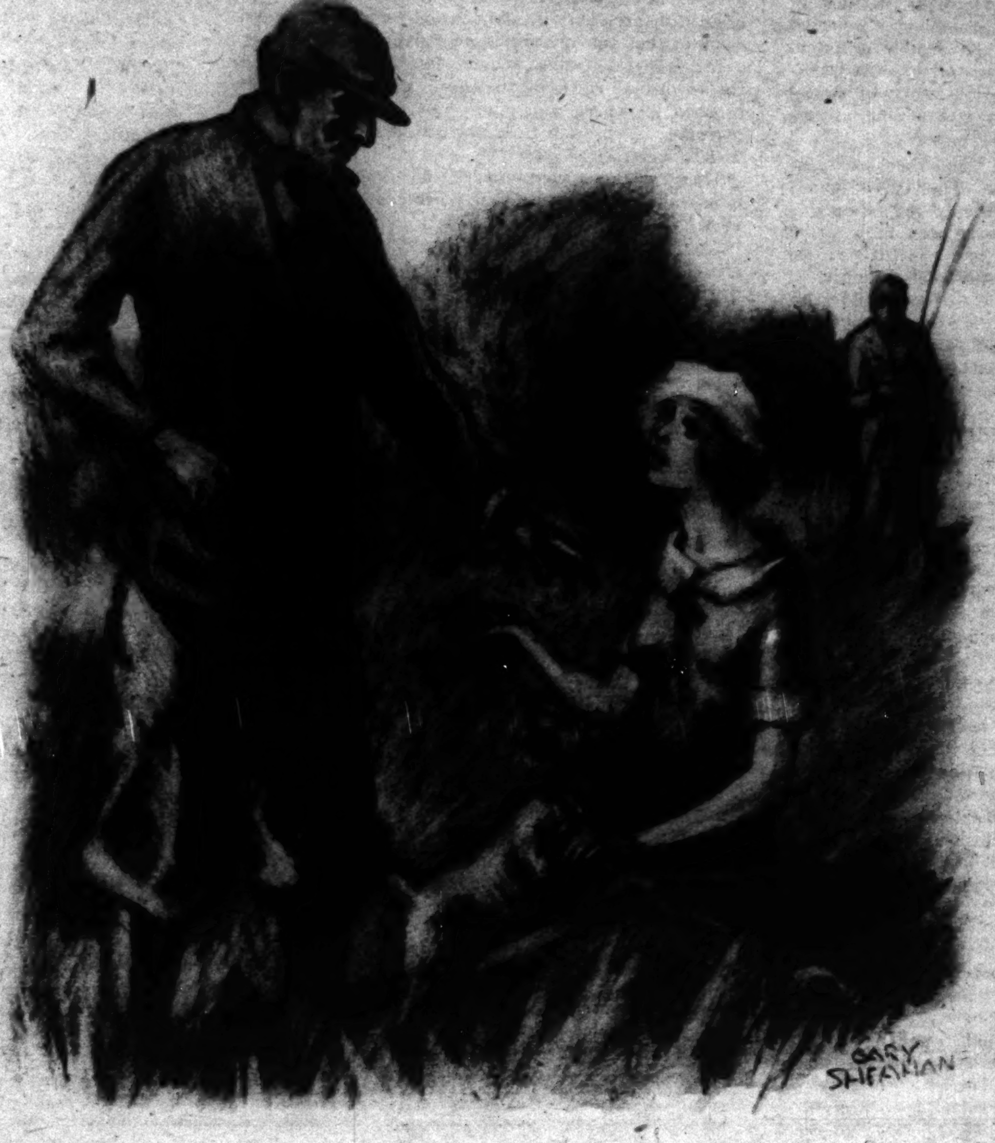
"O," said Sylvia, suddenly white. "Driving the big car as large as life," Mrs. Gaunt had said.

"Sitting up in the back seat he was."

In a flash she saw it all. She and a wire haired gentleman had so often played this game.

"I suppose the car was going toward London," she said to the man.

"No, miss. 'Twas on the road to Amberley. The gentleman asked me if there was fishing thereabouts an' I sent him to Brodie at the 'Golden Arms,' but I wouldn't be thinking that was your dog. 'E seemed to know the gentleman all right—jumped over and sat beside him, 'e did."



"He's my dog—you've taken my dog!" she cried.

"Thank you very much," she managed to smile, and went on hurriedly up the road.

It was Catchum, for a certainty, and there was no help for it, she must go after him without losing a moment. A quarter of a mile on there was a little inn where she knew she might get a motor of sorts. Ten minutes later, this ancient chariot was hurrying her to Golden Amberley.

CAPTAIN ANTHONY PARIS found the "Golden Arms" all that it had been represented. Brodie was able to provide rod and tackle, and, after a decently cooked luncheon, his new patron, with Catchum at heel, departed for the golden pool in the best of spirits. Catchum didn't know this new part of the game, but he was trustfully certain that the god would produce his pal in good time. The god had a voice and manner that spoke to the heart of a discerning dog, though solicitors and gardeners' wives might be less understanding.

And so, when, through the green twilight that hedged the pool, there came suddenly the sound of a familiar footstep, Catchum knew his faith in the god had been justified, and nearly went mad in his excitement and delight.

"Catchum! Catchum, darling old man," exclaimed his pal, hugging him violently. Then she turned upon the god with blazing eyes.

"He's my dog—you've taken my dog," she said.

Captain Anthony Paris had thrown his tackle down and was gazing at her in stunned admiration. She was tall and slim and dressed in a cream sports suit and little cream hat from under which a pair of bright dark eyes had blazed at him indignantly. Captain Anthony Paris liked this, and determined to make them blaze again.

"Not on your life," he denied, cheerfully. "That's my dog. If you don't believe me, look on his collar—'Paris, Greentrees, Sussex'—my name and address."

"I am not interested in your name and address," said the lady, coldly. "My godfather gave the dog to me."

"Not this dog!"

"It is this dog. Perhaps you don't realise who I am."

"Diana of the Wood, of course," said Captain Anthony Paris.

"There is no occasion to be funny."

"I didn't think it was funny," confessed the young man, plaintively, "but I did think it was rather poetical."

"My name," she told him freezingly, "is Sylvia Ivery."

"By Jove! That's better still," said Captain Paris, with delight.

He looked so frankly pleased and so much astonished that for a moment Sylvia softened.

"You may not have meant to steal him, I know," she said, "but when you found him in the car you might at least have sent him back. He hid in the back of it, of course. He always does when we go out in that particular car."

"O, come, you know," protested Captain Paris, "now you're trying to persuade me it is your car as well as your dog."

"That," said Miss Ivery, flushing scarlet, "is in very poor taste."

"I say!" the young man suddenly became sober. "You know, I was only ragging, but you are so determined this is your dog. I daresay you have one like him. It's an awfully decent pattern for a dog," conceded Captain Anthony Paris with his engaging grin, "but just take a look at his collar."

"You can have the collar," said Miss Ivery, unfastening it from Catchum's neck with trembling fingers and flinging it indignantly at the young man's feet. "And I'll send you a check for the dog, even though he was a present, as you're so determined to claim everything. Perhaps you will expect me to pay for the pearls my godfather gave me, too."

With this parting shot, she picked up Catchum and haughtily departed.

"Great guns!" said Captain Anthony Paris, staring after her.

SHE knew his name, then. Who in hades was the girl and what was it all about? "As you're determined to claim everything," she had said—"The pearls my godfather gave me." Was the poor girl mad or——

"By Jove!" exclaimed the young man, and sprinted after her.

"Hi, Miss Ivery, I say. Do wait a moment," he begged her boyishly, and Catchum struggled out of her arms and barked his approval. He hadn't quite liked this desertion of the god who had found his pal. It wasn't sporting in the eyes of a wire haired gentleman.

"I'm sure we've been talking at cross purposes," Anthony said to the girl. "I daresay you'll think I'm an awful mug, but I give you my word I don't know what it's all about."

Miss Ivery said coldly:

"I've told you that my godfather gave me the dog."

"Yes, but who is your godfather?"

"You know that perfectly well."

"Look here," said Anthony patiently, "I've never been in this part of the country in my life before today. I've been almost continuously out of England since the early days of the war, and I only came back to it yesterday. Now will you believe that I don't know what you're talking about?"

Miss Ivery looked at him. It was a very level glance, and in spite of herself she instinctively liked and trusted what she saw.

"My godfather was Sir John Paris," she said at last.

"Good Lord!"

Anthony dropped on to a fallen tree trunk, then jumped to his feet again and said: "I say, do sit down and talk this over. Of course, that accounts for it, but you do believe I hadn't the faintest notion who you were, don't you? You see, I didn't know the old boy from Adam, though we were distantly related, and it was the most unexpected stroke of luck for me—coming into the estate. I knew he had no family, and I didn't even know he had a god-daughter."

"But I've lived at Greentrees since I was ten," said Sylvia. "The solicitors wrote and explained all that

A SKYSCRAPER IN SPAIN - - - - By Carroll K. Michener

There was a discreet pause in the promenade. Some one on the skirts of the crowd called tentatively for the police, but those in the immediate foreground evaded all contact with the moment's violence.

THE Chilean whose stick had descended so ruthlessly upon the boy's head concerned himself indifferently with the refastening of a glove. He would have moved on into the disentangling knot of spectators had not Vanderbee confronted him with a phrase that would scan badly as verse. A limited Spanish vocabulary was exposed by this phrase, but at least it proved the speaker's knowledge of the word for "dog."

Vanderbee held no diploma in the manly art. He was not, in fact, built with pugilistic design. His adversary overtopped him by a good many inches, and there was a look of indolent strength in the lines of the man's body. A livid tint of passion was reflected in the Chilean's face. It held the leonine droop of melancholia common to Spanish aristocracy. And combined with it was the unleashed ferocity of Andes Indian or of Bedouin chief. It was a countenance capable of any cruelty.

Of these formidable qualities Vanderbee was conscious in the instant of action. They gave him a midriff sensation that was not wholly reassuring.

Courage, however—as he may have been dimly aware—is an institution of the mind and has little to do with muscular tissue. It exists independently of esthetic lips that have a tendency to twitch and grow pale under the stress of anger. It is a quality as likely to lurk behind the mild eyes and poetic brows of an evaporated milk salesman as underneath the thick frontal of one better fitted by nature for the business of a thug.

To indulge in fisticuffs violated Vanderbee's notion of Spanish heroics. He could not countenance himself in any rôle less classic than that of "rapiers clashing." But of rapiers he had no more than a dull pocket knife. A doubled fist was the sole arbiter left to him after the exhaustion of his vocabulary. With his right, therefore, he thrust at the Chilean's eye, and with his left he found a point indelicately close to his adversary's tenderest circumference.

All would have been well, no doubt, if it had not been for another belated flash of that spark of Spanish drama for which Vanderbee had looked with a perverse disappointment. Recoiling momentarily, the Chilean had time to unscrew the head of his stick, extract from it a knife slender and vicious as the tooth of a serpent, and leap forward to bloody retaliation.

When Vanderbee was once more aware of his surroundings he looked up at a hazily spiritual, dimly angelical creature clad in a mantilla, and murmured weakly:

"Who are you?"

"Dulcinea," she answered.

"Del Toboso?"

His voice wavered upon a note of querulous protest. He remembered the doubtful charms over which Don Quixote had sighed.

"O, no," said she.

He imagined a half-humorous, half-tearful look in the eyes that were so near to his own as she added: "Only the foolish Señorita Fulano de Tal."

There was something too fanciful about all this. Her answer was English. And the name! It was the universal abstract—Miss Doe, Miss Anyone-at-all. Possibly she herself was as ambiguous as that—no more than a stray cobweb of the imagination.

He closed his eyes for a moment to regulate his impressions. But when he opened them again there she was still. His head lay in her lap and her hands pressed his temples. She gazed at him with a gratifying tenderness, as if hers were some intimate and remorseful responsiblity.

Other faces pressed toward him, whitely, out of the shadows. There were palmettoes in the background and a starry sky. The clock in the plaza tower gave him an inebriated nod.

A CLANGOR suddenly distressed him, for it was the unmistakable alarm of an ambulance. The chorus of faces parted, and he understood that it was for him that the uniformed attendants had come.

Dulcinea's caressing fingers clung to his shoulders for an instant as they lifted him. Her black mantilla brushed his cheek and made him faint with a thick perfume. A rose fell from her hair, and he clutched it with a lucky hand.

There was one countenance that lingered as they took him away. It was that of the captain of police, Don Eusebio Castellanos.

"When one walks into adventure," he muttered, reproachfully, "it is likely, as I have said, that there will be the flash of a knife. And that, as I have likewise observed, brings regrettable interruption to affairs of my own. I was sitting comfortably over a bottle, and there was a dancer from Valparaiso——"

But the ambulance rumbled away. Vanderbee was temporarily in the midst of a ballet of angels who wore high back combs.

The rose was still clutched tightly in his hand when he returned from this pastime to contemplation of worldly affairs. There were other roses like it upon a table beside his bed. A vase filled with them diluted the odor of antiseptics with a fragant recollection of Dulcinea. Presently a hospital attend[illegible] in view and appraised him, then retired [illegible] to you. They seemed to think as you were out in Africa you would probably not want the place immediately, and would perhaps allow me to stay on as a tenant until I could make other arrangements. You know they wrote."

"My hat!" said Captain Paris, aghast. "Then I've sort of turned you out?"

He remembered Mr. Scorer's chilly welcome, the cold and unfriendly eyes of Greentrees, and the hostility of Mrs. Gaunt and suddenly felt a new liking for the lot of them.

"As a matter of fact, I haven't had that letter yet," he explained. "The cable said letter following, but the cable itself had been following me for over a month, and I didn't wait for any letter. I pushed straight home. You must have thought me a cad, and I'll bet old Scorer thought so, too. I went straight to see him yesterday, but he said he had a duchess to see, and sent me packing. I was to come back tomorrow like a good little boy. Look here, you do believe me, don't you?"

"Of course I do," said Sylvia Ivery, and smiled.

Catchum, scenting a suddenly friendlier atmosphere between his pal and the god, signified his approval of this state of affairs by jumping on the log and sitting up between them with his tongue out.

Sylvia smiled at Anthony over the head of a wire haired gentleman.

"Sorry I was such a beast," she said, "but you know your telegram from Aden—in reply as we supposed to the solicitor's letter—did seem rather a snub. 'Get this woman out of my house at once,' and all that."

"It's appalling," said Anthony, "and, of course, you shan't go out of the house."

"I've gone," smiled Sylvia.

"But I won't have it. You must go back again immediately. In fact, I'm not sure you aren't legally bound to go back. You belong to Greentrees and Greentrees belongs to me. Q. E. D. Sir John was your godfather and guardian, so I must be your godfather and guardian."

"Very ingenious," smiled Sylvia, "but you see I happen to be of age."

"I can't help that," said Captain Anthony Paris, in a determined manner. "I'm not going to have my step-goddaughter wandering homeless about the world. Joking apart, do be a sportsman, Miss Ivery, and help a poor chap out of a hole. I'm not only a stranger to the neighborhood, but to the whole business of a lord of the manor. If you leave Greentrees and I go and live there I'll be hated on sight. It's only natural, and I shall most certainly make a mess of things. But if you'd stay on for at least a bit, until I find my feet, it would be doing me a real kindness. And then perhaps you'd let me come down occasionally and meet people in a friendly way instead of as a sort of interloper. You know they do think me an interloper now, don't they?"

There was guile in this question, for Captain Anthony Paris was by no means dull and he was pretty certain now that his inheritance had been more or less at the expense of this girl, though he naturally could not ask her that. Her answer convinced him.

"You know how idiotic and illogical some people are," she said.

"Splendid," said Anthony. "Then that means you are neither and you're going to help me like a pal. Come along. I'm going to drive you back to Greentrees at once."

"But it's shut up," said Sylvia. "The servants have gone except one or two who live in the village. Please don't think that was my fault," she added pleadingly. "I truly tried to make them stay and have the place in readiness for you, but they had nearly all be[illegible] us for years, and you know how those people [illegible] change."

"Then they shan't have a change," said An[illegible] "Good Lord, if you've got some genuine family [illegible] tainers, hang on to 'em, for heaven's sake. The[illegible] telegraph office at Amberley, I suppose. Come [illegible] we'll wire to the whole bang lot of them to [illegible] at once, delay fatal. That settles it, and you'll [illegible] have to help me. How could I give orders to [illegible] and housemaids and housekeepers? Now, honestly, [illegible] I look as though I could?"

Sylvia considered him.

"You look," she said at last, smiling faintly, [illegible] though you could do anything you set out to do."

"Hooray!" cried Captain Anthony Paris, [illegible] up his hat. Catchum flew after it and brought it [illegible] to the feet of the god with a smile of triumph[illegible] satisfaction.

WHEN Captain Anthony Paris said goodby [illegible] Catchum and his pal at Greentrees [illegible] afternoon and left to catch his train for London [illegible] old house had opened its eyes again and through [illegible] dusk they glowed at him, no longer hostile [illegible] friendly and kind. Mrs. Gaunt had scoured the [illegible] for help, made fires and performed miracles, [illegible] Sylvia had come home again, for the present at [illegible]

The girl would give him no more definite [illegible] than that, but Anthony was content. And as he [illegible] for a last glimpse of Greentrees, he smiled a [illegible] smile.

Sylvia was part of Greentrees, and Green[illegible] was his.

"Lock, stock, and barrel," said Captain An[illegible] Paris.

HEY, MOON, I'VE DECIDED TO TAKE OUT THAT ACCIDENT INSURANCE POLICY.
MOON MULLINS.
HELLO, ANNIE - MEET MY OLD PAL, MOON MULLINS - HE JUST TALKED ME INTO TAKING OUT A $2500 LIFE INSURANCE POLICY
WELL, OF COURSE I SHALL BE GLAD TO COLLECT THE MONEY - BUT I THINK YOU ENTIRELY OVERESTIMATE YOUR OWN VALUE, EDGAR.
SAY, EDGAR - RUN IN AN TELL YOUR OLD LADY YOU'RE GOIN' OVER TO DOC WILLIAMS OFFICE TO GET EXAMINED. IT'LL BE A GOOD EXCUSE FOR YOU TO GET A NIGHT OUT WITH TH' GANG -
OH - MY WIFE NEVER QUESTIONS WHERE I GO WHEN I'M OUT, MOON - YEH - SHE. JES TAGS ALONG AN' SEES FOR HERSELF.
COME IN, EDGAR.
WHOA, SISTER! ME AN YOU HAS GOTTA STAY OUT HERE.
Z Z Z SAW Z Z Z SOO-OP! Z
WOT TH-?
C'MON, EDGAR, DOC'S GOING WITH US - WE CAN SHOOT A FEW GAMES AN' THEN COME BACK AN' WAKE HER UP - SHE'LL NEVER KNOW TH' DIFFERENCE.
I WILL PUT THIS SHEET OVER HER SO SHE WONT CATCH COLD -
Z Z Z Z
OW!
YOW! MURDER!
FEVVEN'S SAKE!
YOU GENTS JUST MISSED TH' RIOT - SOME WOMAN WENT NUTTY IN THAT OFFICE BUILDING AN' PUT A SHEET OVER HER HEAD LIKE A GHOST - TH' COLORED PORTER GOT SO SCARED HE JUMPED THROUGH TH' FRONT DOOR WITHOUT STOPPIN' TO UNLOCK IT.
GOOD GRIEF - IT'S ANNIE! WE SHOULDN'T HAVE STAYED AWAY SO LONG, MOON - GO SQUARE THIS FOR ME WITH HER OR SHE'LL WRING MY NECK.
I AINT GOT TH HEART..
WRITE TH' INSURANCE COMPANY AN' LET THEM WORRY ABOUT YOU, EDGAR THEY GOT $2,500. TIED UP IN YOU.

Little Orphan Annie
WAIT TILL I GET INTO THAT EASTER PARADE WITH THIS NEW BONNET- I BETCHA I STOP THE SHOW-
WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT THAT? SOMETHING TERRIBLE MUST HAVE HAPPENED- BIDDY'S GONE AND ALL THE EGGS ARE BUSTED-SUFFERIN' SUNFISH! NOW I KNOW- ALL THOSE EGGS HAVE HATCHED- BUT LOOK AT THOSE LITTLE NINNYS IN THAT WATER- HOW DO YOU SUPPOSE THEY FELL IN THERE?
CLUCK! CLUCK! CLUCK!
THEY'LL GET DROWNED SURE IF I DON'T DO SOMETHING QUICK-
I ALWAYS HEARD CHICKENS WERE FOOLISH BUT I SUPPOSED THEY HAD MORE SENSE THAN TO FOOL AROUND THE WATER LIKE THAT- MIGHT KNOW THEY'D FALL IN-
MAYBE IT'S 'CAUSE THEY'RE TOO YOUNG TO KNOW BETTER- YOU'D THINK THEIR MOTHER WOULD KEEP 'EM AWAY FROM DANGER BUT MAYBE THEY'RE LIKE LOTS OF SMART ALECK KIDS AND WON'T MIND THEIR MA-
DON'T YOU WORRY, BIDDY- I'LL FISH 'EM OUT FOR YOU- GEE WHISKERS- LOOK WHAT BIG BILLS THEY'VE GOT- I BETCHA THEY'LL BE BIG CHICKENS WHEN THEY GROW UP-
WHAT IN THE NAME OF MORNING GLORY! LOOK AT THAT- I JUST REACHED FOR IT AND IT SUNK!
SAY- WHAT ARE YOU TRYING TO DO? KID ME? YOU MUST HAVE SWALLOWED A CORK-
QUACK!
I'VE SURE GOTTA WORK FAST- IF THEY GO DOWN THE THIRD TIME THEY'RE GONE-
DON'T YOU KNOW THIS POND'S DEEP? COME HERE TO ME- I'VE GOT YOU NOW-HELP!
THERE- AND THAT'S THE THANKS I GET- BUT I SAVED 'EM ANYWAY- THEY'LL NEVER KNOW HOW CLOSE THEY CAME TO A WAT'RY GRAVE-CLUCK!
QUACK

YOU SEE SNIP, PEG HAD TO HAVE A NEW HAT FOR EASTER SO MAMA HAS TO FIX UP HER OLD ONE.
SIP GOT HAT
WE'LL JUST TOUCH IT UP HERE AND THERE AND PRETTY SOON WE'LL FIX IT UP JUST LIKE A NEW ONE.
PAINT
MA, I GOT THE SWEETEST HAT YOU EVER SAW.
THE LITTLE MILLINER I GOT IT FROM IS A BEAR - SHE JUST PUT THE RIGHT TOUCH TO IT
MATTY NOOSH ALWAYS MADE MY HATS FOR ME WHEN I WAS A GIRL AND SHE WAS A WONDER ISN'T IT ADORABLE! IT'S JUST THE COLOR OF MY NEW COAT.
ONE DAY A WOMAN'S HAT BLEW OFF. IT LANDED IN THE ROAD, A HORSE TRAMPED ON IT, AND THEN IT BLEW ACROSS THE STREET JUST AS MATTY CAME ALONG.
OF COURSE MY HAIR ISN'T FIXED RIGHT, BUT IT'S JUST THE HAT FOR ME.
WELL, MATTY PICKED UP THE WOMAN'S HAT. SHE PULLED A TWIG OFF A TREE AND WITH A BIT OF RIBBON, SHE HAD IN HER BAG, SHE RETRIMED THE HAT BY THE TIME THE WOMAN CROSSED THE STREET.
ISN'T IT ADORABLE!
WELL SIR, THE WOMAN WAS SO PLEASED THAT MATTY SENT HER A BILL FOR TWO DOLLARS.
POOR MATTY! SHE WAS ALWAYS PUTTING THINGS IN HER MOUTH AND FINALLY SHE GOT A APPENDICITIS.
NOW I WANT TO SHOW YOU THE REST OF THE THINGS I GOT
WHEN THE DOCTOR TOOK OUT MATTY'S APPENDIX THEY FOUND IT CONTAINED 23 PINS, ONE THIMBLE, TWO PARIS LABELS, HALF A SAFTY PIN AND A PIECE OF BUCKRAM.
I GOT A LOVELY PAIR OF GLOVES JUST MATCH MY HAT.
SIP PAINT PEG HAT NICE LIKE MAMAS

SKEEZIX INC. JUNK DEALER.
-King
WHAT DOES A MAN DO, UNCA WALT? HE TAKES A LOTTA OL' WHEELS AN' THINGS IN A CART.
THAT'S THE JUNK MAN, SKEEZIX. HE TAKES ALL THAT OLD IRON AND SELLS IT AND GETS MONEY FOR IT.
HA! THAT'S GOOD! SKEEZIX GOING TO BE A JUNK MAN WHEN HE GROWS UP.
SKEEX GOIN' TO BE JUNK MAN
SKEEX AIN'T GOIN' TO BE JUNK MAN WHEN HE GROW UP. HE BE JUNK MAN NOW.
DOC, I CAME OVER TO GET THAT PIPE WRENCH I LENT YOU THURSDAY.
I RETURNED IT YESTERDAY. BUT SAY, I JUST MISSED A SOCKET WRENCH SET AND A SPOTLIGHT. DID YOU BORROW THEM, BILL?
NO, I DIDN'T. YOU DIDN'T SEE MY TIRE IRON EITHER DID YOU?
NO I DIDN'T AND I WOULDN'T GIVE YOU A DIME FOR BOTH OF THEM.
AHA! IN MY GARAGE EH? I JUST ACCUSED DOC OF BORROWING SOME THINGS. MAYBE IT'S YOU!
NO BILL, I JUST THOUGHT YOU MIGHT HAVE COME AND GOT MY JACK. IT'S GONE.
YEH, I LOST A JACK AND A GREASE GUN.
I CAN'T FIND MY CHAINS ANYWHERE!
868
HAVE YOU MISSED ANYTHING FROM YOUR GARAGE, WALT?
HAVE I? A RING GEAR AND TWO MONKEY WRENCHES HAVE TURNED UP MISSING.
THE OTHER FELLOWS HAVE BEEN FINDING TOOLS AND THINGS GONE TOO WE'D BETTER LOOK INTO THIS!
THERE'S MY JACK!
UNCA WALT. WHERE DO JUNK MAN SELL ALLA JUNK AND GET SOME MONEY?
THERE'S THE BORROWER!
ALL EXCEPT MY TIRE IRON AND PIPE WRENCH IT CERTAINLY IS JUNK!
